Notice of Proposed Rule Making

ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY

[42 CFR Part 466]

STANDARDS OF PERFORMANCE FOR NEW STATIONARY SOURCES

Proposed Standards for Five Categories

Pursuant to section 111 of the Clean Air Act, as amended, the Administrator published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of March 31, 1971 (36 F.R. 5931), an initial list of five stationary source categories which contribute significantly to air pollution which causes or contributes to the endangerment of public health or welfare. Publication of the list constituted an announcement of the Administrator's intention of establishing, under section 111, standards of performance applicable to new sources within the listed categories. The regulations proposed herein set forth the standards of performance applicable to the five categories. As required by section 111 of the Act, it is the Administrator's intent that standards of performance "reflect the degree of emission reduction which (taking into account the cost of achieving such reduction) the Administrator determines has been adequately demonstrated". The standards of performance set forth herein are based on stationary source testing conducted by the Environmental Protection Agency and/or contractors and on data derived from various other sources, including the available technical literature. Summaries of the pertinent data, including cost-effectiveness data, are available free of charge from the Office of Air Programs, Environmental Protection Agency, Research Triangle Park, N.C. 27711. Any additional data, including cost-effectiveness data, which can be obtained within the period for comment on these proposed regulations will be taken into consideration prior to promulgation of the standards of performance.

Pursuant to section 114 of the Act, these proposed regulations set forth requirements and establish procedures related to the implementation and enforcement of standards of performance. The test methods to be used in determining compliance with the standards of performance proposed herein are described in detail. It should be noted that the test method applicable to particulate emissions differs from the particulate test method of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. The particulate test method set forth herein is designed to permit measurement of particulate matter under conditions approximating as closely as possible the conditions under which determination is made of the concentrations of particulate matter in ambient air.

Among other things, these regulations would also establish certain requirements for the installation, use, and maintenance of emission monitoring instruments; certain performance specifications applicable to such instruments are set forth. Additional guidance on the selection and use of such instruments will be provided at a later date.

These proposed regulations do not include provisions for implementation of section 111(d) of the Act, under which States would be expected to establish emission standards for existing stationary sources of certain pollutants. It is anticipated that such regulations will be published for comment at the time that the Administrator promulgates the standards of performance proposed herein.

Also omitted from the proposed regulations are provisions for delegations of authority to States under section 111(c). Nevertheless, it is the Administrator's intention to encourage States to assume the principal responsibility for enforcement of standards of performance. Toward this end, procedures for delegating authority will be established early next year, after the States have submitted their plans for implementation of national ambient air quality standards.

In accordance with section 117(f) of the Act, publication of these proposed standards was preceded by consultation with appropriate advisory committees, independent experts, and Federal departments and agencies.

Interested persons may participate in this rule making by submitting written comments in triplicate to the Office of Air Programs, Environmental Protection Agency, Research Triangle Park, N.C. 27711, Attention: Mr. Goodwin. The Administrator will welcome comments on all aspects of the proposed regulations, including economic and technological issues, and on the proposed test methods. All relevant comments received not later than 45 days after the date of publication of this notice will be considered. Receipt of comments will be acknowledged, but the Office of Air Programs will not provide substantive responses to individual comments. The standards, modified if and as the Administrator deems appropriate after consideration of comments, will be promulgated no later than 90 days from the date of publication of this notice, as required by the Act.

This notice of proposed rule making is issued under the authority of section 111 and section 114 of the Clean Air Act; Public Law 91-604, 84 Stat. 1713.

Dated: August 3, 1971.

ROBERT W. FRI,
Acting Administrator,

Appendix—Test Methods

Method 1—Sample and Velocity Traverses for Stationary Sources

1. Principle and applicability.

1.1 Principle. A sampling site and the number of traverse points are selected to aid in the extraction of a representative sample.

1.2 Applicability. This method should be applied only when specified by the test procedures for determining compliance with New Source Performance Standards. This method is not intended to apply to gas streams other than those emitted directly to the atmosphere without further processing.

2. Procedure.

2.1 Selection of a sampling site and minimum number of traverse points.

2.1.1 Select a sampling site that is at least eight stack or duct diameters downstream and two diameters upstream from any flow disturbance such as a bend, expansion, contraction, or visible flame. For a rectangular cross section, determine an equivalent diameter from the following equation:

2.1.2 When the above sampling site criteria can be met, the minimum number of traverse points is twelve (12).

2.1.3 Some sampling situations render the above sampling site criteria impractical. When this is the case, choose a convenient sampling location and use Figure 1-1 to determine the minimum number of traverse points.

2.1.4 To use Figure 1-1 first measure the distance from the chosen sampling location to the nearest upstream and downstream disturbances. Determine the corresponding number of traverse points for each distance from Figure 1-1. Select the higher of the two numbers of traverse points, or a greater value, such that for circular stacks the number is a multiple of four, and for rectangular stacks the number follows the criteria of section 2.2.2.

2.2 Cross sectional layout and location of traverse points.

not be used in the case of nondirectional flow.

2. Apparatus.

2.1 Pitot tube—Type S (Figure 2-1), or equivalent.

2.2 Differential pressure gauge—Inclined manometer, or equivalent, to measure velocity head to within 10 percent of the minimum value.

2.3 Temperature gauge—Thermocouples, bimetallic thermometers, liquid filled systems, or equivalent, to measure stack temperature to within 1.5 percent of the minimum absolute stack temperature.

2.4 Pressure gauge—Mercury-filled U-tube manometer, or equivalent, to measure stack pressure to within 0.1 in. Hg.

2.5 Barometer—To measure atmospheric pressure to within 0.1 in. Hg.

2.6 Gas analyzer—To analyze gas composition for determining molecular weight.

2.7 Pitot tube—Standard type, to calibrate Type S pitot tube.

3. Procedure.

3.1 Set up the apparatus as shown in Figure 2-1. Make sure all connections are tight and leak free. Measure the velocity head at the traverse points specified by Method 1.

3.2 Measure the temperature of the stack gas. If the total temperature variation with time is less than 50° F, a point measurement will suffice. Otherwise, conduct a temperature traverse.

3.3 Measure the static pressure in the stack.

3.4 Determine the stack gas molecular weight by gas analysis and appropriate calculation as indicated in Method 3.

4. Calibration.

4.1 To calibrate the pitot tube, measure the velocity head at some point in a flowing gas stream with both a Type S pitot tube and a standard type pitot tube with known coefficient. The velocity of the flowing gas stream should be within the normal working range.

4.2 Calculate the pitot tube coefficient using Equation 2-1.

$$C_{p_{test}} = C_{p_{std}} \sqrt{\frac{\Delta P_{std}}{\Delta P_{test}}} \quad \text{equation 2-1}$$

$C_{p_{test}}$ = Pitot tube coefficient of Type S pitot tube.

$C_{p_{std}}$ = Pitot tube coefficient of standard type pitot tube (if unknown, use 0.99).

ΔP_{std} = Velocity head measured by standard type pitot tube.

ΔP_{test} = Velocity head measured by Type S pitot tube.

4.3 Compare the coefficients of the Type S pitot tube determined first with one leg and then the other pointed downstream. Use the pitot tube only if the two coefficients differ by no more than 0.01.

5. Calculations.

Use Equation 2-2 to calculate the stack gas velocity.

$$V_s = K_p C_p \sqrt{\frac{T_s \Delta_p}{P_s M_s}} \quad \text{equation 2-2}$$

$K_p = 85.48 \frac{\text{ft.}}{\text{sec.}} \left(\frac{\text{lb.}}{\text{lb. mole} - °\text{R}}\right)^{1/2}$ when these units are used.

Δ_p = Velocity head of stack gas, in. H_2O (see fig. 2-2).

P_s = Absolute stack gas pressure, in Hg.

M_s = Molecular weight of stack gas, lb./lb.-mole.

2.11 Pilot tube—Type S, or equivalent, attached to probe so that the sampling flow rate can be regulated proportional to the stack gas velocity when velocity is varying with time or a sample traverse is conducted.

3. Procedure.

3.1 Place about 5 ml. distilled water in each impinger and weigh the impinger and contents to the nearest 0.1 g. Assemble the apparatus without the probe as shown in Figure 4-1. Leak check by plugging the inlet to the first impinger and drawing a vacuum. Insure that flow through the dry gas meter is less than 1 percent of the sampling rate.

3.2 Connect the probe, and sample at a constant rate of 0.075 c.f.m. or at a rate proportional to the stack gas velocity not to exceed 0.075 c.f.m. Continue sampling until the dry gas meter registers 1 cu. ft. or until visible liquid droplets are carried over from the first impinger to the second. Record temperature, pressure, and dry gas meter reading as required by Figure 4-2.

3.3 After collecting the sample, weigh the impingers and their contents again to the nearest 0.1 g.

3. Reagents.

3.1 Sampling

3.1.1 Filters—Glass fiber, MSA 1106 BH, or equivalent, numbered for identification and preweighed.

3.1.2 Silica gel—Indicating type, 6 to 16 mesh, dried at 175° C. (350° F.) for 2 hours.

3.1.3 Water—Deionized, distilled.

3.1.4 Crushed ice.

3.2 Sample recovery

3.2.1 Water—Deionized, distilled.

3.2.2 Acetone—Reagent grade.

3.3 Analysis

3.3.1 Water—Deionized, distilled.

3.3.2 Chloroform—Reagent grade.

3.3.3 Ethyl ether—Reagent grade.

3.3.4 Desiccant—Drierite,[1] indicating.

4. Procedure.

4.1 Sampling.

4.1.1 After selecting the sampling site and the minimum number of sampling points, determine the stack pressure, temperature, moisture, and range of velocity head.

4.1.2 Preparation of collection train. Weigh to the nearest gram approximately 200 g. of silica gel. Label a filter of proper diameter, desiccate[3] for at least 24 hours and weigh to the nearest 0.5 mg. in a room where the relative humidity is less than 50 percent. Place 100 ml. of water in each of the first two impingers, leave the third impinger empty, and place approximately 200 g. of preweighed silica gel in the fourth impinger. Save a portion of the water for use as a blank in the sample analysis. Set up the train without the probe as in Figure 5-1. Leak check the sampling train at the sampling site by plugging the inlet to the filter holder and pulling a 15-in. Hg vacuum. A leakage rate not in excess of 0.02 c.f.m. at a vacuum of 15-in. Hg is acceptable. Attach the probe and adjust the heater to provide a gas temperature of about 250° F. at the probe outlet. Turn on the filter heating system. Place crushed ice around the impingers. Add more ice during the run to keep the temperature of the gases leaving the last impinger at 70° F. or less.

4.1.3 Particulate train operation. For each run record the data required on the example sheet shown in Figure 5-2. Take readings at each sampling point at least every 5 minutes and when significant changes in stack conditions necessitate additional adjustments in flow rate. To begin sampling, position the nozzle at the first traverse point with the tip pointing directly into the gas stream. Immediately start the pump and adjust the flow to isokinetic conditions. Maintain isokinetic sampling throughout the sampling period. Nomographs are available which aid in the rapid adjustment of the sampling rate without other computations. APTD-0576 details the procedure for using these nomographs. Turn off the pump at the conclusion of each run and record the final readings. Remove the probe and nozzle from the stack and handle in accordance with the sample recovery process described in section 4.2.

4.2 Sample recovery. Exercise care in moving the collection train from the test site to the sample recovery area to minimize the loss of collected sample or the gain of extraneous particulate matter. Set aside portions of the water and acetone used in the sample recovery as blanks for analysis. Place the samples in containers as follows:

Container No. 1. Remove the filter from its holder, place in this container, and seal.

Container No. 2. Place loose particulate matter and acetone washings from all sample-exposed surfaces prior to the filter in this container and seal. Use a razor blade, brush, or rubber policeman to loosen adhering particles.

Container No. 3. Measure the volume of water from the first three impingers and place the water in this container. Place water rinsings of all sample-exposed surfaces between the filter and fourth impinger in this container prior to sealing.

Container No. 4. Transfer the silica gel from the fourth impinger to the original container and seal. Use a rubber policeman as an aid in removing silica gel from the impinger.

Container No. 5. Thoroughly rinse all sample-exposed surfaces between the filter and fourth impinger with acetone, place the washings in this container, and seal.

4.3 Analysis. Record the data required on the example sheet shown in Figure 5-3. Handle each sample container as follows:

Container No. 1. Transfer the filter and any loose particulate matter from the sample container to a tared glass weighing dish, desiccate, and dry to a constant weight. Report results to the nearest 0.5 mg.

Container No. 2. Transfer the acetone washings to a tared beaker and evaporate to dryness at ambient temperature and pressure. Dessicate and dry to a constant weight. Report results to the nearest 0.5 mg.

Container No. 3. Extract organic particulate from the impinger solution with three 25 ml. portions of chloroform. Complete the extraction with three 25 ml. portions of ethyl ether. Combine the ether and chloroform extracts, transfer to a tared beaker and evaporate at 70° F. until no solvent remains. Dessicate, dry to a constant weight, and report the results to the nearest 0.5 mg.

Container No. 4. Weigh the spent silica gel and report to the nearest gram.

3.3.2 Isopropanol.

3.3.3 Thorin indicator—1-(o-arsonophenylazo)-2-naphthol-3, 6-disulfonic acid, disodium salt (or equivalent). Dissolve 0.20 g. in 100 ml. distilled water.

3.3.4 Barium perchlorate (0.01*N*)—Dissolve 1.95 g. of barium perchlorate [$Ba(ClO_4)_2 \cdot 3H_2O$] in 200 ml. distilled water and dilute to 1 liter with isopropanol. Standardize with sulfuric acid.

3.3.5 Sulfuric acid standard (0.01*N*)—Purchase or standardize against a primary standard to ±0.0002*N*.

4. Procedure.

4.1 Sampling.

4.1.1 Preparation of collection train. Pour 15 ml. of 80 percent isopropanol into the midget bubbler and 15 ml. of 3 percent hydrogen peroxide to each of the first two midget impingers. Leave the final midget impinger dry. Assemble the train as shown in Figure 6–1. Leak check the sampling train at the sampling site by plugging the probe inlet and pulling a 10-in. Hg vacuum. A leakage rate not in excess of 1 percent of the sampling rate is acceptable. Carefully release the probe inlet plug and turn off the pump. Place crushed ice around the impingers. Add more ice during the run to keep the temperature of the gases leaving the last impinger at 70° F. or less.

4.1.2 Sample collection. Adjust the sample flow rate proportional to the stack as velocity. Take readings at least every 5 minutes and when significant changes in stack conditions necessitate additional adjustments in flow rate. To begin sampling, position the nozzle with the tip pointing directly into the gas stream and start the pump. Sample proportionally throughout the run. At the conclusion of each run, turn off the pump and record the final readings. Remove the probe from the stack and disconnect it from the train. Drain the ice bath and purge the remaining part of the train by drawing clean ambient air through the system for 15 minutes.

4.2 Sample recovery. Disconnect the impingers after the purging period. Discard the contents of the midget bubbler. Pour the contents of the midget impingers into a polyethylene shipment bottle. Rinse the three midget impingers and the connecting tubes with distilled water and add these washings to the same storage container.

4.3 Sample analysis. Transfer the contents of the storage container to a 50-ml. volumetric flask. Dilute to the mark with deionized, distilled water. Pipette a 10 ml. aliquot of this solution to a 125-ml. erlenmyer flask. Add 40 ml. of isopropanol and 2 to 4 drops of thorin indicator. Titrate to a pink endpoint using 0.01*N* barium perchlorate. Run a blank with each series of samples.

5. Calibration.

5.1 Use standard methods and equipment approved by the Administrator to calibrate the orifice meter, pitot tube, dry gas meter, and probe heater.

5.2 Standardize the sulfuric acid with potassium acid phthalate as a primary standard. Standardize the barium perchlorate with 25 ml. of standard sulfuric acid containing 100 ml. of isopropanol.

3.3.5 Water—Deionized, distilled.

3.3.6 Phenoldisulfonic acid solution—Dissolve 25 g. of pure white phenol in 150 ml. concentrated sulfuric acid on a steam bath. Cool, add 75 ml. fuming sulfuric acid, and heat at 100° C. for 2 hours. Store in a dark, stoppered bottle.

4. Procedure.

4.1 Sampling.

4.1.1 Pipette 25 ml. of absorbing solution into a sample flask. Insert the flask valve stopper into the flask with the valve in the "purge" position. Assemble the sampling train as shown in Figure 7–1 and place the probe at the sampling point. Turn the flask valve and the pump valve to their "evacuate" positions. Evacuate the flask to at least 3-in. Hg absolute pressure. Turn the pump valve to its "vent" position and turn off the pump. Check the manometer for any fluctuation in the mercury level. If there is a visible change over the span of 1 minute, check for leaks. Record the initial volume, temperature, and barometric pressure. Turn the flask valve to its "purge" position, and then do the same with the pump valve. Purge the probe and the vacuum tube using the squeeze bulb. If condensation occurs in the probe and flask valve area, heat the probe and purge until the condensation disappears. Then turn the pump valve to its "vent" position. Turn the flask valve to its "sample" position and allow sample to enter the flask for about 15 seconds. After collecting the sample, turn the flask valve to its "purge" position and disconnect the flask from the sampling train. Shake the flask for 5 minutes.

4.2 Sample recovery.

4.2.1 Let the flask sit for a minimum of 16 hours and then shake the contents for 2 minutes. Connect the flask to a mercury filled U-tube manometer, open the valve from the flask to the manometer, and record the flask pressure and temperature along with the barometric pressure. Transfer the flask contents to a container for shipment or to a 250-ml. beaker for analysis. Rinse the flask with two portions of water (approximately 10 ml.) and add to the same amount of rinse water as in the sample. For a blank use 25 ml. of absorbing solution and the solution in a container for shipment or in a 250-ml. beaker for analysis. Prior to shipping or analysis, add sodium hydroxide (1*N*) dropwise into both the sample and the blank until alkaline to litmus paper (about 25 to 35 drops in each).

4.3 Analysis.

4.3.1 If the sample has been shipped in a container, transfer the contents to a 250 ml. beaker using a small amount of water. Evaporate the solution to dryness on a steam bath and then cool. Add 2 ml. phenoldisulfonic acid solution to the dried residue and triturate thoroughly with a glass rod. Make sure the solution contacts all the residue. Add 1 ml. water and 4 drops of concentrated sulfuric acid. Heat the solution on a steam bath for 3 minutes with occasional stirring. Cool, add 20 ml. water, mix well by stirring, and add concentrated ammonium hydroxide dropwise with constant stirring until alkaline to litmus paper. Transfer the solution to a 100-ml. volumetric flask and wash the beaker three times with 4- to 5-ml. portions of water. Dilute to the mark and mix thoroughly. If the sample contains solids, transfer a portion of the solution to a clean, dry centrifuge tube and centrifuge, or filter a portion of the solution. Measure the absorbance of each sample at 420 mμ using the blank solution as a zero. Dilute the sample and the blank with a suitable amount of distilled water if absorbance falls outside the range of calibration.

5. Calibration.

4. Procedure.

4.1 Sampling.

4.1.1 After selecting the sampling site and the minimum number of sampling points, determine the stack pressure, temperature, moisture, and range of velocity head.

4.1.2 Preparation of collection train. Place 100 ml. of 80 percent isopropanol in the first impinger, 100 ml. of 3 percent hydrogen peroxide in both the second and third impingers, and about 200 g. of silica gel in the fourth impinger. Retain a portion of the reagents for use as blank solutions. Assemble the train without the probe as shown in Figure 8–1 with a filter between the first and second impingers. Leak check the sampling train at the sampling site by plugging the inlet to the first impinger and pulling a 15-in. Hg vacuum. A leakage rate not in excess of 0.02 c.f.m. at a vacuum of 15 in. Hg is acceptable. Attach the probe and turn on the probe heating system. Adjust the probe heater setting during sampling to prevent any visible condensation. Place crushed ice around the impingers. Add more ice during the run to keep the temperature of the gases leaving the last impinger at 70° F. or less.

4.1.3 Train operation. For each run record the data required on the example sheet shown in Figure 8–2. Take readings at each sampling point at least every 5 minutes and when significant changes in stack conditions necessitate additional adjustments in flow rate. To begin sampling, position the nozzle at the first traverse point with the tip pointing directly into the gas stream. Start the pump and immediately adjust the flow to isokinetic conditions. Maintain isokinetic sampling throughout the sampling period. Nomographs are available which aid in the rapid adjustment of the sampling rate without other computations. APTD–0576 details the procedure for using these nomographs. At the conclusion of each run, turn off the pump and record the final readings. Remove the probe from the stack and disconnect it from the train. Drain the ice bath and purge the remaining part of the train by drawing clean ambient air through the system for 15 minutes.

4.2 Sample recovery.

4.2.1 Transfer the isopropanol from the first impinger to a 250-ml. graduated cylinder. Rinse the probe, first impinger, and all connecting glassware before the filter with 80 percent isopropanol. Add the rinse solution to the cylinder. Dilute to 250 ml. with 80 percent isopropanol. Add the filter to the solution, mix, and transfer to a suitable storage container. Transfer the solution from the second and third impingers to a 500-ml. graduated cylinder. Rinse all glassware between the filter and silica gel impinger with deionized, distilled water and add this rinse water to the cylinder. Dilute to a volume of 500 ml. with deionized, distilled water. Transfer the solution to a suitable storage container.

4.3 Analysis.

4.3.1 Shake the container holding isopropanol and the filter. If the filter breaks up, allow the fragments to settle for a few minutes before removing a sample. Pipette a 100-ml. aliquot of sample to a 250-ml. erlenmeyer flask and add 2 to 4 drops of thorin indicator. Titrate the sample with barium perchlorate to a pink end point. Make sure to record volumes. Repeat the titration with a second aliquot of sample. Shake the container holding the contents of the second and third impingers. Pipette a 25 ml. aliquot of sample to a 250-ml. erlenmeyer flask. Add 100 ml. of isopropanol and 2 to 4 drops of thorin indicator. Titrate the sample with barium perchlorate to pink end point. Repeat the titration with a second aliquot of sample. Analyze the blanks in the same manner as the samples.

5. Calibration.

5.1 Use standard methods and equipment approved by the Administrator to calibrate the orifice meter, pitot tube, dry gas meter, and probe heater.

5.2 Standardize the sulfuric acid with potassium acid phthalate as a primary standard. Standardize the barium perchlorate with 25 ml. of standard sulfuric acid containing 100 ml. of isopropanol.

6. Calculations.

6.1 Dry gas volume. Correct the sample volume measured by the dry gas meter to standard conditions (70° F., 29.92 in Hg) by using Equation 8–1.

METHOD 9—DETERMINATION OF THE OPTICAL DENSITY OR OPACITY OF VISIBLE EMISSIONS FROM STATIONARY SOURCES

1. Principle and applicability.

1.1 Principle. The relative optical density or opacity of an emission from a stationary source is determined visually by a qualified observer.

1.2 Applicability. This method is applicable for the determination of the relative optical density or opacity of visible emissions from stationary sources only when specified by test procedures for determining compliance with New Source Performance Standards.

2. Procedures.

2.1 Black or gray smoke. The qualified observer stands at least two stack heights but not more than a quarter of a mile from the base of the stack with the sun to his back. From a vantage point perpendicular to the plume, the observer studies the point of greatest optical density in the plume. Record the data required in Figure 9-1 every 15 to 30 seconds. Read to the nearest quarter Ringelmann number.

2.2 Smoke other than gray or black. The qualified observer goes through the same procedure as depicted in section 2.1 except readings of opacity are recorded instead of Ringelmann numbers.

3. Qualifications.

3.1 To qualify as an observer, a candidate must complete a smoke-reading course conducted by OAP, or equivalent. The candidate must be able to assign Ringelmann numbers to the nearest quarter of a Ringelmann number to 25 different smoke plumes, with an error not to exceed 15 percent on any one reading and an average error not to exceed 7.5 percent on all 25 readings. The smoke generator used to train the observers should be equipped with a calibrated smoke indicator or light transmission meter located in the source stack of the smoke generator to determine the actual Ringelmann number or opacity of the emissions. All qualified observers must pass this test every year in order to be recertified.

3.2 To pass the test for certification for observing opacity, one must assign opacity readings in 5 percent increments to 25 different plumes, with an error not to exceed 15 percent on any one reading and an average error not to exceed 7.5 percent on all 25 readings. All qualified observers must pass this test every year in order to be recertified.

Proclamation: Imposition of Supplemental Duty for Balance of Payments Purposes

Executive Order: Providing for Stabilization of Prices, Rents, Wages, and Salaries

Title 3—The President

PROCLAMATION 4074

Imposition of Supplemental Duty for Balance of Payments Purposes

By the President of the United States of America

A Proclamation

WHEREAS, there has been a prolonged decline in the international monetary reserves of the United States, and our trade and international competitive position is seriously threatened and, as a result, our continued ability to assure our security could be impaired;

WHEREAS, the balance of payments position of the United States requires the imposition of a surcharge on dutiable imports;

WHEREAS, pursuant to the authority vested in him by the Constitution and the statutes, including, but not limited to, the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended (hereinafter referred to as "the Tariff Act"), and the Trade Expansion Act of 1962 (hereinafter referred to as "the TEA"), the President entered into, and proclaimed tariff rates under, trade agreements with foreign countries;

WHEREAS, under the Tariff Act, the TEA, and other provisions of law, the President may, at any time, modify or terminate, in whole or in part, any proclamation made under his authority;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, RICHARD NIXON, President of the United States of America, acting under the authority vested in me by the Constitution and the statutes, including, but not limited to, the Tariff Act, and the TEA, respectively, do proclaim as follows:

A. I hereby declare a national emergency during which I call upon the public and private sector to make the efforts necessary to strengthen the international economic position of the United States.

B. (1) I hereby terminate in part for such period as may be necessary and modify prior Presidential Proclamations which carry out trade agreements insofar as such proclamations are inconsistent with, or proclaim duties different from, those made effective pursuant to the terms of this Proclamation.

(2) Such proclamations are suspended only insofar as is required to assess a surcharge in the form of a supplemental duty amounting to 10 percent ad valorem. Such supplemental duty shall be imposed on all dutiable articles imported into the customs territory of the United States from outside thereof, which are entered, or withdrawn from warehouse, for consumption after 12:01 a.m., August 16, 1971, provided, however, that if the imposition of an additional duty of 10 percent ad valorem would cause the total duty or charge payable to exceed the total duty or charge payable at the rate prescribed in column 2 of the Tariff Schedules of the United States, then the column 2 rate shall apply.

C. To implement section B of this Proclamation, the following new subpart shall be inserted after subpart B of part 2 of the Appendix to the Tariff Schedules of the United States:

SUBPART C—TEMPORARY MODIFICATIONS FOR BALANCE OF PAYMENTS PURPOSES

Subpart C headnotes:

1. This subpart contains modifications of the provisions of the tariff schedules proclaimed by the President in Proclamation 4074.

2. Additional duties imposed—The duties provided for in this subpart are cumulative duties which apply in addition to the duties otherwise imposed on the articles involved. The provisions for these duties are effective with respect to articles entered on and after 12:01 a.m., August 16, 1971, and shall continue in effect until modified or terminated by the President or by the Secretary of the Treasury (hereinafter referred to as the Secretary) in accordance with headnote 4 of this subpart.

3. Limitation on additional duties—The additional 10 percent rate of duty specified in rate of duty column numbered 1 of item 948.00 shall in no event exceed that rate which, when added to the column numbered 1 rate imposed on the imported article under the appropriate item in schedules 1 through 7 of these schedules, would result in an aggregated rate in excess of the rate provided for such article in rate of duty column numbered 2.

4. For the purposes of this subpart—

(a) Delegation of authority to Secretary—The Secretary may from time to time take action to reduce, eliminate or reimpose the rate of additional duty herein or to establish exemption therefrom, either generally or with respect to an article which he may specify either generally or as the product of a particular country, if he determines that such action is consistent with safeguarding the balance of payments position of the United States.

(b) Publication of Secretary's actions—All actions taken by the Secretary hereunder shall be in the form of modifications of this subpart published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Any action reimposing the additional duties on an article exempted therefrom by the Secretary shall be effective only with respect to articles entered on and after the date of publication of the action in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(c) Authority to prescribe rules and regulations—The Secretary is authorized to prescribe such rules and regulations as he determines to be necessary or appropriate to carry out the provisions of this subpart.

5. Articles exempt from the additional duties—In accordance with determinations made by the Secretary in accordance with headnote 4(a), the following described articles are exempt from the provisions of this subpart:

* * * * *

Item	Article	Rates of duty
948.00	Articles, except as exempted under headnote 5 of this subpart, which are not free of duty under these schedules and which are the subject of tariff concessions granted by the United States in trade agreements.....	10% ad val.... (See headnote 3 of this subpart.)	No change.

D. This Proclamation shall be effective 12:01 a.m., August 16, 1971.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand this fifteenth day of August in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and seventy-one, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and ninety-sixth.

Title 7—AGRICULTURE

Chapter IX—Consumer and Marketing Service (Marketing Agreements and Orders; Fruits, Vegetables, Nuts), Department of Agriculture

PART 919—PEACHES GROWN IN MESA COUNTY, COLO.

Expenses and Rate of Assessment

On July 30, 1971, notice of rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (36 F.R. 14142) regarding proposed expenses and the related rate of assessment for the period December 1, 1970, through November 31, 1971, pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 919, as amended (7 CFR Part 919), regulating the handling of peaches grown in Mesa County, Colo. This notice allowed interested persons 10 days during which they could submit data, views, or arguments pertaining to these proposals. None were submitted. This regulatory program is effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674). After consideration of all relevant matters presented, including the proposals set forth in such notice which were submitted by the Administrative Committee (established pursuant to said marketing agreement and order), it is hereby found and determined that:

§ 919.210 Expenses and rate of assessment.

(a) Expenses. Expenses that are reasonable and likely to be incurred by the Administrative Committee during the period December 1, 1970, through November 31, 1971, will amount to $2,000.

(b) Rate of assessment. The rate of assessment for said period, payable by each handler in accordance with § 919.41 is fixed at $0.01 per cwt. of peaches.

It is hereby further found that good cause exists for not postponing the effective date hereof until 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 553) in that (1) shipments of peaches are now being made, (2) the relevant provisions of said marketing agreement and this part require that the rate of assessment herein fixed shall be applicable to all assessable peaches handled during the aforesaid period; and (3) such period began on December 1, 1970, and said rate of assessment will automatically apply to all such peaches beginning with such date.

Dated: August 12, 1971.

Director, Fruit and Vegetable Division, Consumer and Marketing Service.

SUBCHAPTER A—GENERAL REGULATIONS

[FHA Instruction 410.1]

PART 1801—RECEIVING AND PROCESSING APPLICATIONS

Part 1801, Title 7, Code of Federal Regulations (31 F.R. 14112), is revised to read as follows.

Sec.
1801.1 General.
1801.2 Receiving applications.
1801.3 Processing applications.
1801.4 Reaching an understanding.
1801.5 Persons entitled to veterans' preference.
1801.6 Veterans unable to obtain FO or RH loans.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 1801 issued under sec. 339, 75 Stat. 318, 7 U.S.C. 1989; sec. 510, 63 Stat. 436, 42 U.S.C. 1479; sec. 602, 78 Stat. 252, 42 U.S.C. 2000d–1; Orders of the Secretary of Agriculture, 32 F.R. 6650.

§ 1801.1 General.

This part prescribes the policies and procedures for receiving and processing loan or grant applications and for informing applicants and other interested individuals relative to the services of the Farmers Home Administration (FHA) and credit available from other credit sources.

(a) The qualifications of applicants for FHA assistance will be considered without regard to race, creed, color, sex, or national origin.

(b) The County Supervisor is responsible for seeing that all persons making inquiry about FHA services are given information relative to such services. This information may be provided by individual interviews, correspondence, or distribution of pamphlets, leaflets, and other written statements.

(c) Wherever the term "applicant" appears herein, it shall be construed to mean applicant family.

(d) The term "organization" as used herein means any corporation, association, company, or other group not eligible as a natural person for assistance.

§ 1801.2 Receiving applications.

Applications for FHA assistance will ordinarily be filed in the county office serving the area in which the farm to be operated is located. Applications for Rural Housing (RH) loans will be filed in the county office serving the area where the farm or nonfarm tract is located.

(a) All persons seeking FHA assistance who are not indebted to the Agency will be encouraged to file written applications. The filing of written applications will be encouraged even though funds may not be currently available since applications will be considered in the order received. Applicants for RH loans who are clearly not eligible may file an application but should not be encouraged to do so. Applications will be normally handled as follows:

(1) Form FHA 410–4, "Application for Rural Housing Loans (Nonfarm Tract)," will be used by applicants for RH loans on nonfarm tracts who depend primarily on off-farm income.

(2) Form FHA 410–1, "Application for FHA Services," will be used by all other applicants. This will include persons applying for RH loans on farms or nonfarm tracts who derive a major portion of their income from farming. If such an applicant also receives a substantial amount of off-farm income, Form FHA 410–2, "Supplement to Application for FHA Services (For Applicants Who Depend on Off-Farm Income)," will be used to show his employment record.

(b) Requests by FHA borrowers or previous borrowers for additional assistance from the Agency will be processed as follows:

(1) Applicants applying for an Operating or Emergency (EM) loan who recently paid such loans in full or who are presently indebted to the FHA will not be required to execute or complete an application if there is a Form FHA 431–2, "Farm and Home Plan," in their County Office case file that reasonably reflects their current status. In cases where Form FHA 410–1 is not required the applicant's name and the date will be entered in columns 1 and 2, respectively, of Form FHA 405–4, "Application and Processing Card—Individual," when the decision is made to proceed with the processing of the loan.

(2) Applicants for a Farm Ownership (FO), Recreation (RL), Individual Soil and Water (SW), or Individual Labor Housing (LH) loan who are presently indebted to the FHA will be required to complete only items of Form FHA 410–1 or Form FHA 410–4 which pertain to the applicant's name, the purpose of the loan, the applicant's total cash income last year, and the date and signature of the applicant provided there is a Form FHA 431–2, Form FHA 431–3, "Family Budget," or Form FHA 410–4 in their County Office case file that reasonably reflects their current status. If information about their current status is not available, applicants should fully complete Form FHA 410–1 or Form FHA 410–4.

(c) Applications for Watershed (WS) loans will be received and processed in accordance with Subpart L of Part 1823 of this chapter.

(d) Applications for LH loans to organizations, Rural Rental Housing (RRH), Rural Cooperative Housing (RCH), Rural Housing Site (RHS) loans, Conditional Commitments, and technical assistance will be handled in accordance with Part 1822 of this chapter.

(e) County office clerks ordinarily will be responsible for receiving loan applications and giving a preliminary explanation of services available through the FHA. Applicants will be requested to complete the appropriate application form as fully as possible. Applicants who complete Form FHA 410–1 will also complete Form FHA 410–2 when substantial off-farm income is being received. The employee receiving the application will make sure that it is properly completed, dated, and signed and will give whatever assistance is necessary.

(f) Supervisory personnel will discuss with each applicant the type of assistance that appears best suited to his particular needs. The nature of the discussion and the type of information given will vary with the individual depending upon what the applicant already knows about the FHA and the interviewing employee's knowledge of the applicant. In some instances, the kind of assistance best suited to the applicant's needs and for which he may be eligible will be evident. In such a case, it will not be necessary to discuss with him all types of assistance that are available. On the other hand, a full explanation regarding the various types of assistance available that may meet the applicant's needs and for which he may be eligible should be given in any case where there is some question about the type of service best suited to his particular situation. As much additional information about the family as feasible also will be obtained.

(g) If after discussing with the applicant his credit needs it appears that he may be able to obtain credit to meet his needs from some other credit source, the County Supervisor should inform him of the availability of such credit and provide him with needed assistance in contacting the credit agency.

(h) All applications including those from applicants assisted in obtaining credit from other credit sources will be listed and reported in accordance with current FHA guidelines.

§ 1801.3 Processing applications.

In obtaining information concerning applicants and evaluating their qualifications, FHA personnel will be governed by established policies for the various types of assistance offered by the FHA.

(a) Applications will be investigated and submitted to the County Committee for consideration and otherwise processed in the order received except as modified by veterans' preference policies. The County Supervisor will verify the information furnished by the applicant including any off-farm employment, record and assemble additional information needed to evaluate properly the applicant's qualifications and credit needs. Information may be obtained and verified from county office records through the use of Form FHA 410–5, "Request for Verification of Employment," by use of credit reports as provided in current FHA guidelines by personal contacts with or letters to informed sources such as creditors, bankers, merchants, employers, and landlords, and visits by supervisory personnel to the applicant's farm. The information obtained as a result of personal inquiries and observations will be recorded as the beginning running record. The information obtained by means of correspondence will be attached to the related application Form FHA 410–1, or Form FHA 410–4. It is the responsibility of the County Supervisor to see that the County Committee has sufficient information concerning an applicant to determine whether he is eligible for the type of assistance requested. The information which the County Supervisor will furnish to the County Committee before the application is considered usually will cover, as a minimum, the following:

(1) The applicant's reputation for honesty and meeting his obligations. This will include specific information as to the experiences and opinions of others concerning the applicant and the sources of the information.

(2) The applicant's financial condition in relation to the requirements of local creditors, and the efforts that have been made and the results of the applicant's efforts to obtain credit to meet his needs from other credit sources. If the applicant has obtained financing from other creditors in substantial amounts, careful consideration should be given to the possibility of his being able to continue to obtain credit from such sources.

(3) If the applicant will operate the farm, specific information concerning his farm training and experience. This will include a descriptive history of the applicant's farm background, such as whether he was reared on a farm; the number of years he has farmed as a sharecropper, tenant, and owner; the types of enterprises he has conducted and his success with each, and the diligence with which he has conducted his farming operations in the past.

(4) The size and quality of the particular farm which the applicant plans to operate, the approximate acreages of crop and pasture lands, the types and conditions of building, and the suitability of the farm for the proposed type of farming operations.

(5) The other resources available to the applicant and the approximate amount of credit which will be required.

(6) Any adverse health conditions.

(b) The County Supervisor will analyze the applicant's request, giving careful consideration to his experience, abilities, resources, and credit needs, and will tentatively determine which type of FHA assistance will most effectively meet the applicant's needs.

(c) After tentatively determining which type of assistance will most effectively meet the applicant's needs, the County Supervisor will present the application to the County Committee for consideration. It is expected that the necessary preliminary investigation will be made and the application will be presented to the Committee for consideration at its next meeting. Ordinarily, the preliminary investigation should be completed and the application presented to and acted upon by the Committee within 15 days after it is filed, and in any event within 30 days. When possible, all necessary information should be obtained and presented to the County Committee so that a final decision can be made at the time the application is initially considered. If unusual circumstances, such as the need for additional information, prevent final Committee action within the 30-day period after the application is filed, the applicant will be notified of the circumstances causing the delay. The Committee will interview applicants whenever it is considered necessary for arriving at proper recommendations. This will be done by having the applicant appear at the Committee meeting. After the interview with the applicant is completed and all pertinent facts have been considered, the Committee, in the absence of the applicant, will take action on the application. Committee actions regarding the eligibility of all applicants will be taken in Committee meetings attended by at least two members.

(d) The County Supervisor will take the following action immediately after the County Committee's decision regarding the applicant's qualifications:

(1) If the Committee action is favorable, the County Supervisor will proceed promptly in accordance with the applicable loan processing guidelines. When favorable action has been taken on an application the applicant will be notified. Care should be exercised to be sure that the applicant understands that Committee action does not constitute approval of his loan. In notifying the applicant of favorable Committee action, the County Supervisor also, when practicable, will arrange a meeting with the family to proceed with developing the loan docket. If a letter is used for this purpose, see applicable FHA guidelines.

(i) When sufficient information about the applicant's farm, his credit needs, or the amount of the loan is not available to complete the certification on Form FHA 440–2, "County Committee Certification or Recommendation," but where, in the opinion of the County Committee, the applicant is otherwise eligible, the County Supervisor will notify the applicant that preliminary action has been taken on his application but final action will be delayed until the necessary information is available. A notation of the County Committee's favorable action will be recorded on Form FHA 410–1 or Form FHA 410–4 by the County Supervisor and dated.

(2) When the applicant has been determined eligible for assistance and additional information becomes available that indicates the original determination may be in error, the County Committee will be asked to reconsider the application taking the new information into account.

(3) If it is found that for reasons other than eligibility, the assistance requested cannot be given, the discussion between the County Supervisor and the applicant should result in a clear understanding of the reasons why it cannot be given. A brief letter confirming the discussion and conclusions should be adequate. However, the running record should be in sufficient detail to disclose clearly the efforts made to work out a satisfactory plan and a concise statement of the reasons why a sound plan could not be developed.

(4) If the Committee determines that the applicant is not eligible, the Committee certification on Form FHA 440–2 will not be completed and the reasons for the rejection will be given in the blank space immediately above the space for the signatures of the County Committee members. The form will be dated and the Committee members will sign in the space provided.

(i) If a loan is refused because of information in a credit report, the County Supervisor will inform the applicant in writing that he was denied credit because of information contained in a credit report; and, supply him with the name and address of the company that made the credit report. The applicant will not be informed as to the specific information provided by the report, but will be informed that the contents of the report may be obtained from the company.

(ii) If a loan is refused because of information obtained from a source other than a credit reporting company, the County Supervisor will notify the applicant in writing of the action and the reasons therefor. The letter to the applicant will include:

(a) A statement of the consideration given and the action taken.

(b) The specific reason why the applicant did not meet the requirements for the assistance requested; however, when personal factors are involved such as honesty and integrity, the letter will contain an invitation to call at the County Office for the purpose of discussing in detail with the County Supervisor the reasons for the rejection and, when appropriate, the corrective actions the applicant may take to qualify. In such cases, the letter will follow current FHA guidelines.

(e) Those applications received when funds are not available will be investigated and presented to the County Committee for consideration. Applicants who are ineligible will be advised accordingly as outlined in paragraph (d)(3) of this section. Those for whom Committee action is favorable will be notified that funds are presently exhausted but that their application will be held for consideration until funds are available. In addition, the required certification for Operating and EM loans will be executed by the County Committee. When funds become available for such applicants, they will be so notified by letter. Such notice will also provide that he should advise the County Office within 15 days if he is still interested in obtaining the assistance originally applied for otherwise his application may be withdrawn. If the applicant still indicates a desire to obtain assistance, the County Supervisor will review the application with him and if there have been any significant changes that would affect the eligibility of the applicant, the County Supervisor will obtain necessary current information and present the application to the County Committee for reconsideration.

(f) Applications will remain in effect until withdrawn, disapproved, expired, or the loan or grant is made. An applicant may voluntarily withdraw his application at any time. When a loan or grant will not be made for such reasons as the applicant's obtaining credit from another source, lack of further interest on the part of the applicant, or similar justifiable reasons, the applicant will be so notified and advised that his application will be considered withdrawn unless the County Office receives a notice within 15 days that he desires further consideration.

(g) Applications for FO, RL, RH, RRH, RCH, and LH loans received during any fiscal year will remain active during the remainder of that fiscal year and the subsequent fiscal year unless withdrawn or disapproved or unless the loan is closed. However, an expiring application for which a loan has been approved but not closed will be considered active until the loan is closed or canceled. During June of each year, the County Committee in consultation with the County Supervisor will select from the expiring applications those applicants who appear to be eligible and who may wish to renew their applications. The County Supervisor will notify the applicant that it will be necessary to file a new application if he wishes further consideration for an FO or RH loan.

§ 1801.4 Reaching an understanding.

FHA lending experience has clearly demonstrated that success in helping farm families depends in large measure on reaching a thorough understanding with each applicant before a loan is approved. A proper understanding will be obtained with all applicants with respect to the basic loan making and servicing policies, the responsibilities of borrowers, and the benefits that may be expected from FHA assistance. To obtain a proper understanding, explanations may need to be repeated in some instances. The applicant should not be rushed into a decision but should be given time to make all necessary basic decisions.

(a) Proper understandings may be reached with applicants through:

(1) Individual interviews with County Office personnel. The process of arriving at an understanding will begin on the occasion of the first interview with the applicant. He will be given an attentive and sympathetic hearing with ample time to discuss fully his problems and needs. County Office personnel will explain clearly how his needs may be met and his situation improved through the services of the FHA. Arrangements will be made for subsequent discussions until the County Supervisor is satisfied the applicant has obtained a proper understanding.

(2) Applicants interviews with the Committee. If an applicant requests an opportunity to appear before the County Committee to discuss any questions relating to his application or the FHA program he will be permitted to do so.

(3) Group meetings. An effective method of assisting applicants to obtain a proper understanding of the FHA program is through group meetings. Effective group meetings can be held with three or more applicants. Through group meetings, applicants get the benefit of explanations given to questions raised by other applicants. Requirements can be presented more impersonally in group meetings and they generally are more acceptable when applicants know that all borrowers must meet the same requirements.

(b) Before loans are made, County Supervisors will make every effort to see that an understanding is reached with the applicant on the following points as they apply to the type of assistance involved:

(1) Farm and home planning;
(2) Family budgeting;
(3) Recordkeeping;
(4) FHA visits;
(5) Analysis of income and expenses;
(6) Supervised bank accounts;
(7) Planning and performing development work;
(8) Use of funds;
(9) Security requirements;
(10) Care and maintenance of security;
(11) Accounting for security property;
(12) Repayment of loans;
(13) Graduating to other credit sources; and
(14) Direct payment to the Finance Office, when applicable.

§ 1801.5 Persons entitled to veterans' preference.

(a) Farmer loans. Veterans' preference will be extended to any person applying for an FO, SW, Recreation, or Operating loan, who has been discharged or released from the active forces of the U.S. Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps, or Coast Guard under conditions other than dishonorable, and served on active duty in any such forces: (1) During the period of April 6, 1917, through March 31, 1921; (2) during the period of December 7, 1941, through January 31, 1955; or (3) for a period of 180 days or more, any part of which occurred after January 31, 1955.

(b) Rural housing loans. Veterans' preference will be extended to any person applying for an RH loan who has been discharged or released from the active forces of the U.S. Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps, or Coast Guard under conditions other than dishonorable, and served in any such forces during (1) the period of April 6, 1917, through March 31, 1921, or (2) the period of December 7, 1941, through January 31, 1955. The spouses and children of deceased servicemen also will be given preference. "Deceased servicemen" means men or women who died in service during one of the periods specified in this paragraph.

§ 1801.6 Veterans unable to obtain FO or RH loans.

Section 512(a)(D) of the Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944, as amended, provides that in order to quality for a direct housing loan from the Veterans Administration a veteran must show "that he is unable to obtain a loan for such purposes from the Secretary of Agriculture under the Consolidated Farmers Home Administration Act of 1961, as amended, or the Housing Act of 1949, as amended."

(a) Whenever, in the opinion of the Loan Guaranty Officer of the Veterans Administration, a veteran who has applied for a direct housing loan from the Veterans' Administration may qualify for a loan under the Consolidated Farmers Home Administration Act of 1961, as amended, or under title V of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended, the Loan Guaranty Officer will request the applicant to apply for a loan from the FHA.

(b) If the veteran is unable to obtain such a loan from the FHA, the County Supervisor will, upon request, furnish the applicant with a rejection letter to be presented to the Loan Guaranty Officer. The Loan Guaranty Officer may consult with the County Supervisor regarding the investigation of the veterans' application by the FHA and the specific reasons for rejection.

Title 9—ANIMALS AND ANIMAL PRODUCTS

Chapter III—Consumer and Marketing Service (Meat Inspection), Department of Agriculture

PART 317—LABELING, MARKING DEVICES, AND CONTAINERS

Use of Common or Usual Names

On March 23, 1971, there was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (36 F.R. 5435) a notice regarding a petition by a group of Texas goat industry representatives for the Department to allow goat meat to be labeled under the Federal meat inspection regulations (9 CFR Chapter III, Subchapter A) with the name "Mutton" or "Chevon."

The notice provided 30 days in which all interested parties could submit their views and comments.

One hundred and forty-six written comments were received.

Based upon the views and opinions expressed and accepted definitions, the Department has concluded that "Goat Meat" and "Chevon" are acceptable names for the meat of goats.

Therefore, § 317.8(b) of the regulations is amended by adding thereto a new subparagraph (29) to read:

§ 317.8 False or misleading labeling or practices generally; specific prohibitions and requirements for labels and containers.

* * * * * * *

(b) * * *

(29) Meat of goats shall be identified as goat meat or chevon.

(Sec. 21, 34 Stat. 1264, as amended, 21 U.S.C. 621)

The foregoing amendment relieves a restriction and shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (8-18-71).

Done at Washington, D.C., on August 13, 1971.

RICHARD E. LYNG,
Assistant Secretary.

Title 14—AERONAUTICS AND SPACE

Chapter I—Federal Aviation Administration, Department of Transportation

[Airworthiness Docket No. 70-SW-66, Amdt. 39-1270]

PART 39—AIRWORTHINESS DIRECTIVES

Aerostar Models 600 and 601 Airplanes

Amendment 39-1109 (35 F.R. 17533), AD 70-23-4, requires installation of new flap tracks on Aerostar Models 600 and 601 airplanes. After issuing Amendment 39-1109 the agency determined that additional instructions are necessary for clarification. Therefore, the AD is being amended to provide additional instructions.

Since this amendment provides a clarification only and imposes no additional burden on any person, notice and public procedure hereon are unnecessary and the amendment may be made effective in less than 30 days.

In consideration of the foregoing and pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (31 F.R. 13697), § 39.13 of Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations, Amendment 39-1109 (35 F.R. 17533), AD 70-23-4 is amended by adding the following note to paragraph b:

NOTE: Additional holes must be drilled in the wing mount brackets (wing fairing rib) in accordance with Drawing No. A200094 before accomplishing item III A of SB 600-23.

This amendment becomes effective August 23, 1971.

(Secs. 313(a), 601, 603 of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, 49 U.S.C. 1354(a), 1421, 1423; sec. 6(c), Department of Transportation Act, 49 U.S.C. 1655(c))

Issued in Fort Worth, Tex., on August 10, 1971.

Acting Director, Southwest Region.

PART 39—AIRWORTHINESS DIRECTIVES

Aerostar Models 600 and 601 Airplanes

There have been failures of the inboard wing fairing ribs (which serve as the wing flap attachment structure) on certain Aerostar Models 600 and 601 airplanes which have been modified in compliance with Amendment 39-1109 (35 F.R. 17533), AD 70-23-4. Such failures have apparently resulted from the incorrect installation on these airplanes of Aerostar Kit No. 600-23-1 where all rivets called for on Drawing A200094 have not been installed. Since this condition could exist on other airplanes of the same model, an airworthiness directive is being issued to restrict flap operation until the ribs are inspected and corrected where necessary.

Since a situation exists that requires immediate adoption of this regulation, it is found that notice and public procedure hereon are impracticable and good cause exists for making this amendment effective in less than 30 days.

In consideration of the foregoing, and pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (31 F.R. 13697), § 39.13 of Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended by adding the following new airworthiness directive:

AEROSTAR. Applies to Models 600 and 601 airplanes, Serial Numbers 60-001 through 60-0056 and 61-0001 through 61-0070 with Aerostar Kit No. 600-23-1 installed in accordance with AD 70-23-4.

Compliance required as indicated unless already accomplished. To prevent failure of the inboard wing flap attachment ribs accomplish the following before further flight using flaps and within the next 10 hours time in service after the effective date of this AD.

a. Inspect for cracks in the cutout radius of the inboard wing fairing ribs (P/N A200094) in the area shown on the attached drawing. Cracked parts should be replaced with new parts using procedures shown in Aerostar Service Bulletin 600-23 or by an equivalent method approved by the Chief, Engineering and Manufacturing Branch, Southwest Region, FAA, Fort Worth, Tex.

b. Inspect for missing or incorrectly located rivets attaching the inboard flap tracks to the wing fairing ribs as shown on the attached drawing No. A200094.[1] The installation should be corrected where necessary to conform to this drawing or by an equivalent method approved by the Chief, Engineering and Manufacturing Branch, Southwest Region, FAA, Fort Worth, Tex.

This amendment becomes effective to all known owners of Aerostar Models 600 and 601 airplanes upon receipt of individual copies mailed August 13, 1971, and to all other persons on August 23, 1971.

Issued in Fort Worth, Tex., on August 10, 1971.

PART 71—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS, AREA LOW ROUTES, CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, AND REPORTING POINTS

Alteration of Additional Control Area

The purpose of this amendment to Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is to alter the description of Control 1148.

To avoid possible pilot/controller confusion between the Millville, N.J., VORTAC and the Millville RBN, the name of the Millville RBN will be changed to Rainbow RBN on October 14, 1971. The identifier will be changed from MIV to RNB. The location and frequency will not be changed. Since the description of Control 1148 is based, in part, on the Millville RBN, action is taken herein to show the name change.

Since this amendment is editorial in nature and no substantive change in the regulation is effected, notice and public procedure thereon are unnecessary.

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended, effective 0901 G.m.t., October 14, 1971, as hereinafter set forth.

Section 71.163 (36 F.R. 2048) is amended as follows:

In Control 1148, the phrase "Millville, N.J., RBN" is deleted and the phrase "Rainbow, N.J., RBN" is substituted therefor. Also, the phrase "Millville RBN" is deleted wherever it appears and the phrase "Rainbow RBN" is substituted therefor.

PART 71—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS, AREA LOW ROUTES, CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, AND REPORTING POINTS

Alteration of Federal Airway Segment

On June 25, 1971, a notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (36 F.R. 12112) stating that the Federal Aviation Administration was considering an amendment to Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations that would realign VOR Federal airway No. 35 west alternate segment between Sugarloaf Mountain, N.C., and Holston Mountain, Tenn.

Interested persons were afforded an opportunity to participate in the proposed rule making through the submission of comments. All comments received were favorable.

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended, effective 0901 G.m.t., October 14, 1971, as hereinafter set forth.

PART 71—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS, AREA LOW ROUTES, CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, AND REPORTING POINTS

Alteration of Federal Airway Segments

On May 7, 1971, a notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (36 F.R. 8524) stating that the Federal Aviation Administration was considering amendments to Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations that would alter segments of VOR Federal airway Nos. 12, 81, and 280 in the vicinity of Amarillo, Tex.

Interested persons were afforded an opportunity to participate in the proposed rule making through the submission of comments. A comment was received from the Air Transport Association of America (ATA). No other comments were received.

The ATA concurred with the basic airway proposal with exception of the alignment of V-81 west alternate segment between Amarillo and Dalhart, Tex. They recommended that this airway segment be aligned through use of the Amarillo 301°T (290°M) radials so as to reduce the en route mileage between these points. The FAA concurs with the ATA recommendation and has adopted it herein.

Since this amendment is minor in nature and no substantive change in the regulation is effected, notice and public procedure thereon are unnecessary.

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended, effective 0901 G.m.t., October 14, 1971, as hereinafter set forth.

1. Section 71.123 (36 F.R. 2010, 5211, 10781) is amended as follows:

Alteration of Positive Control Area

On May 4, 1971, a notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (36 F.R. 8317) stating that the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) was considering an amendment to Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations that would expand the positive control area (PCA) from flight level 240 to 18,000 feet MSL in the southern and eastern portions of the United States. Expansion of area positive control in the southern and eastern United States establishes a common floor of 18,000 feet MSL within the 48 conterminous States, accordingly, the airspace description used herein includes all amendments issued to establish the common floor.

Although not mentioned in the notice, Jet Advisory Areas contained within positive control are no longer required. Deletion of the Jet Advisory Areas is an editorial change, therefore, notice and public procedure are unnecessary.

Interested persons were afforded an opportunity to participate in the proposed rule making through the submission of comments. Twenty comments were received in response to the notice. Five commentators concurred with the proposal. For the most part, the adverse comments were addressed to the area positive control concept rather than the airspace area proposed in the notice. The comments were identical to those submitted in response to the notice published for the designation of area positive control in other sections of the United States. Several commentators stated that designation of area positive control in the southern and eastern United States was unnecessary and would impose an operational handicap to operations. One commentator was concerned about curtailment of soaring operations where gliders and sail planes were operating.

The FAA for reasons stated in previous rule-making issuances, and in the notice (Airspace Docket Nos. 68-WA-3 (36 F.R. 5675), 71-WA-10 (36 F.R. 11081), and 71-WA-12 (36 F.R. 12005)), has maintained that the risk of midair collision is less likely in a positive control environment than anywhere else in the system. The ever increasing closure speeds of aircraft make the "see and avoid" type of separation less effective, since aircraft can be upon each other before pilots are able to detect other aircraft and maneuver to avoid collision. Designation of this stratum as positive control airspace area would augment the "see and avoid" concept with provision of air traffic control services including radar. This will increase air safety.

The FAA believes that the fear of glider enthusiasts that soaring would be seriously curtailed are unfounded. Currently, several areas have been allocated for soaring activities. Air traffic control facilities have executed letters of procedures with soaring organizations to enable them to operate with minimum interference. In addition, waivers have been granted for special soaring operations in other positive control airspace. The requirement to coordinate special flight into positive control airspace remains the same. It is the opinion of the FAA that the possible inconvenience to soaring activities caused by lowering the ceiling of the APC is offset by the safety considerations involved.

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended, effective 0901 G.m.t., October 14, 1971, as hereinafter set forth.

1. Section 71.193 (36 F.R. 11081, 12005) is amended by deleting all after "Continental positive control area" and substituting therefor: "That airspace within the continental control area from 18,000 feet MSL to and including flight level 600 within the 48 contiguous States and District of Columbia excluding the Santa Barbara Island, Farallon Island, and the portion south of lat. 25°04'00" N."

2. Section 75.200 (36 F.R. 2389) is amended as follows: Jet Route Nos. 62, 68 and 97 Jet Advisory Areas are revoked.

3. Section 75.300 (36 F.R. 2390) is amended as follows: Boston, Mass. Jet Advisory Area is revoked.

PART 73—SPECIAL USE AIRSPACE

Alteration of Restricted Area and Transition Areas

The purpose of these amendments to Parts 71 and 73 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is to redesignate Restricted Areas R-2908 Pensacola, Fla., and R-2909 Pensacola, Fla., as joint use restricted areas.

Since these amendments are minor in nature and ones in which the public is not particularly interested, notice and public procedure hereon are unnecessary and for that reason these amendments may be made effective in less than 30 days.

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 73 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended, effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (8-18-71) as hereinafter set forth.

Section 73.29 (36 F.R. 2333) is amended as follows:

1. R-2908 Pensacola, Fla., is amended by adding "Controlling Agency: Federal Aviation Administration, Pensacola RATCC."

2. R-2909 Pensacola, Fla., is amended by adding "Controlling Agency: Federal Aviation Administration, Pensacola RATCC."

Section 71.181 (36 F.R. 2140) is amended as follows:

1. Alabama is altered by deleting "R-2103 and R-2908" and "R-2103" is substituted therefor.

PART 75—ESTABLISHMENT OF JET ROUTES AND AREA HIGH ROUTES

Designation of Area High Routes

On March 3, 1971, F.R. Doc. 71-2822 was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (36 F.R. 4044) with an effective date of April 29, 1971, amending Part 75 by adding Area High Route J80R2 which was amended to J802R in F.R. Doc. 71-5781 published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (36 F.R. 7846) on April 27, 1971.

Subsequent to the publication of these amendments, it has been determined that the name of the waypoints listed as Hartsburg, Ill., and Emerald, Nebr., should be changed to Bradford, Ill., and Lincoln, Nebr., respectively because their location coincides with air navigation aids (VORTAC) so named. The purpose of this amendment is to make these waypoint name changes.

Since this amendment is editorial and minor in nature and no substantive change in the regulation is effected, notice and public procedure thereon are unnecessary. However, since it is necessary that sufficient time be allowed to permit appropriate changes to be made on aeronautical charts, this amendment will become effective more than 30 days after publication.

In consideration of the foregoing, F.R. Doc. 71-2822 (36 F.R. 4044) is further amended, effective 0901 G.m.t., October 14, 1971, as hereinafter set forth.

In J802R waypoint name "Hartsburg, Ill." is deleted and "Bradford, Ill." is substituted therefor. Also, waypoint name "Emerald, Nebr." is deleted and "Lincoln, Nebr." is substituted therefor.

PART 75—ESTABLISHMENT OF JET ROUTES AND AREA HIGH ROUTES

Designation of Area High Routes

On June 23, 1971, F.R. Doc. 71-8765 was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (36 F.R. 11907) amending Part 75 of the Federal Aviations Regulations, effective August 19, 1971, by adding Area High Route J-950R. On July 24, 1971 (36 F.R. 13778) F.R. Doc. 71-8765 was amended by changing the waypoint name Cole, Okla., to Dibble, Okla.

The purpose of this amendment to F.R. Doc. 71-8765 is to change the first waypoint to be compatible with present terminal procedures at Houston, Tex.

Since this amendment is minor in nature and no substantive change in the regulation is effected, notice and public procedures thereon are unnecessary. However, since it is necessary that sufficient time be allowed to permit appropriate changes to be made on aeronautical charts, this amendment will become effective more than 30 days after publication.

In consideration of the foregoing, F.R. Doc. 71-8765 (36 F.R. 11907) is further amended, effective 0901 G.m.t., October 14, 1971, as hereinafter set forth.

In J-950R Houston, Tex., to Oklahoma City, Okla., the first waypoint "Huffman, Tex. 30°03'21''/95°09'16'' Humble, Tex." is deleted and "Refinery, Tex. 30°17'26''/95°19'55'' Humble, Tex." is substituted therefor.

Chapter II—Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, Department of Justice

PART 301—REGISTRATION OF MANUFACTURERS, DISTRIBUTORS, AND DISPENSERS OF CONTROLLED SUBSTANCES

PART 308—SCHEDULES OF CONTROLLED SUBSTANCES

Transfer of Eskatrol to Schedule II

A final order was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on July 7, 1971 (36 F.R. 12734) transferring amphetamines and methamphetamine and their salts, optical isomers, and salts of their optical isomers from Schedule III to Schedule II of the Comprehensive Drug Abuse Prevention and Control Act of 1970 (Public Law 91-513), with certain exceptions.

Application of the order to Eskatrol, a combination product for which a hearing was requested, was reserved pending review by the Bureau. Eskatrol, which contains 15 mg. of dextroamphetamine sulfate and 7.5 mg. of prochlorperazine, is manufactured by Smith Kline & French Laboratories.

A notice was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on July 23, 1971 (36 F.R. 13689) scheduling a hearing regarding the transfer of Eskatrol to Schedule II for 10 a.m., on August 16, 1971, in Room 1210, 1405 Eye Street NW., Washington, D.C.

Smith Kline & French Laboratories withdrew its request for a hearing on Eskatrol on August 9, 1971 after a consultation with members of the Bureau.

Therefore, it is ordered, That:

1. Reservation of the application of the Bureau's order published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on July 7, 1971, be rescinded as to Eskatrol;

2. Eskatrol be transferred to Schedule II; and

3. The additional requirements imposed upon Eskatrol by virtue of its reclassification into Schedule II become effective as follows:

(a) Labeling and packaging. All labels and seals on commercial containers of, and all labeling of, the above controlled substance, which is packaged more than 180 days following the effective date of this order, shall comply with requirements of 21 CFR Part 302.

(b) Order forms. All distributions of the above controlled substance shall comply with the order form requirements of 21 CFR Part 305 by October 1, 1971.

(c) Records and inventories. All separate and other recordkeeping requirements of 21 CFR Part 304 for the above controlled substance shall be complied with by October 1, 1971. Records maintained and inventories taken prior to the above compliance date, which are in compliance with the recordkeeping requirements for Schedule III, shall not be affected by this order. No new inventories of the above controlled substance, in addition to that of May 1, 1971, is required as a result of this order. Where a positive conflict exists between the recordkeeping requirements of State and Federal laws and regulations, so that the two cannot stand together, Federal law governs in accordance with Section 708 of the Comprehensive Drug Abuse Prevention and Control Act of 1970 (21 U.S.C. 903).

(d) Prescriptions. All prescriptions for the above controlled substance shall comply with 21 CFR § 306.01-306.15 within 30 days of the effective date of this order. Any prescription for the above controlled substance, which is entitled to be refilled under § 306.22 shall not be entitled to such refill in accordance with § 306.12 on and after the above compliance date.

(e) Importation and exportation. All importation and exportation of the above controlled substance shall be in compliance with 21 CFR Part 312, specifically as to import and export permits, within 30 days of the effective date of this order.

(f) Security. Since only the proposed order on security regulations for Schedule II controlled substances has been published, compliance with the present security requirements shall be deemed adequate pending publication of the final order on security regulations.

It is further ordered, That the hearing regarding the transfer of Eskatrol to Schedule II is hereby canceled.

This order is effective on the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (8-18-71).

Dated: August 10, 1971.

(a) Aliens eligible to apply. Under the conditions prescribed in this section a consular officer assigned to a consular office in Canada may issue a nonresident alien border crossing identification card, as that term is defined in section 101(a)(6) of the Act, to a nonimmigrant alien who satisfactorily establishes that he:

(1) Has been admitted to Canada for permanent residence as a "Landed Immigrant";

(b) Application for Canadian border crossing identification cards. Application for a nonresident alien Canadian border crossing identification card shall be made on Form FS-257a, accompanied by evidence of the applicant's "Landed Immigrant" status in Canada; a valid or expired passport or other travel document showing his origin, identity, and nationality, if any, and containing a photograph of the bearer if over the age of 14; and a photograph 1½ inches square if the applicant is over the age of 14. Personal appearance of the applicant may be waived at the discretion of the consular officer.

(c) Issuance and format of border crossing cards. A nonresident alien Canadian border crossing identification card shall consist of a stamp placed in the alien's passport or other travel document by a consular officer in Canada. (f) Cancellation of border crossing identification cards. (1) A nonresident alien border crossing identification card shall be canceled by a consular officer if information is developed indicating that the holder of such a card is ineligible to receive a nonimmigrant visa or by a District Director of the Immigration and Naturalization Service if he finds that the alien has violated the conditions of his admission into the United States.

(2) In canceling such a card the counsular officer shall write or stamp the word "Canceled" plainly across the face of the border crossing card stamp, shall show the location of the consular office concerned and shall follow the procedures set forth in § 41.130.

(3) In canceling such a card the District Director shall write or stamp the word "Canceled" plainly across the face of the border crossing card stamp and shall show the location of the District Office of the Immigration and Naturalization Service concerned.

Effective date. The amendments to the regulations contained in this order shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (8-18-71).

The provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act (80 Stat. 383; 5 U.S.C. 553) relative to notice of proposed rule making are inapplicable to this order because the regulations contained herein involved foreign affairs functions of the United States.

Title 31—MONEY AND FINANCE: TREASURY

Chapter IV—Secret Service, Department of the Treasury

PART 408—DESIGNATION OF TEMPORARY RESIDENCE OF THE PRESIDENT AND TEMPORARY OFFICES OF THE PRESIDENT AND HIS STAFF—RULES GOVERNING INGRESS OR EGRESS

AUGUST 13, 1971.

This amendment designates the buildings and grounds which constitute the temporary residences of the President and the temporary offices of the President and his staff, and prescribes regulations governing ingress or egress to such buildings and grounds, or to posted, cordoned off, or otherwise restricted areas where the President is or will be temporarily visiting. The designation of the buildings and grounds and the regulations governing ingress or egress contained in this amendment are promulgated pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of the Treasury by the Act of January 2, 1971, 84 Stat. 1891 (18 U.S.C. 1752), and the authorization provided by Treasury Department Order No. 190, Rev. 7 (34 F.R. 15846).

Title V of the Act of January 2, 1971, 84 Stat. 1891 (18 U.S.C. 1752) provides for the exercise of Federal criminal jurisdiction over certain conduct relating to the buildings and grounds designated in this amendment and to posted, cordoned off, or otherwise restricted areas where the President is or will be temporarily visiting. It was enacted to enhance the physical security of the President and to provide for the orderly conduct of executive business when the President is absent from the Executive Mansion in Washington, D.C.

The Department finds, in accordance with 5 U.S.C. 553, that notice and public procedure are impracticable, unnecessary, and contrary to the public interest since this amendment relates to the ongoing protection of the President and the orderly functioning of his office.

Accordingly, Chapter IV, Title 31 of the Code of Federal Regulations, is amended by adding the following part:

Sec.

Title 32—NATIONAL DEFENSE

Chapter I—Office of the Secretary of Defense

SUBCHAPTER E—DEFENSE CONTRACTING

PART 169a—OPERATION OF COMMERCIAL OR INDUSTRIAL ACTIVITIES

The Deputy Secretary of Defense approved the following revision to Part 169a on July 16, 1971:

Sec.
169a.1 Purpose and applicability.
169a.2 Scope.
169a.3 Definitions.
169a.4 Review procedures.
169a.5 Inventory report.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 169a issued under Title 5 U.S.C. 301 and Title 5 U.S.C. 552.

§ 169a.1 Purpose and applicability.

This part implements the policies established in Part 169 of this subchapter and OMB Circular A–76 and establishes procedures and criteria for use by the Military Departments and Defense Agencies in making determinations whether to start, continue, curtail, or discontinue commercial or industrial activities which they operate and manage.

§ 169a.2 Scope.

The provisions of this part apply to all products or services listed in Enclosure 1[1] used by the DOD Components in the United States, its territories and possessions, the District of Columbia, or the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, except:

(a) Products or services obtainable from other Federal agencies which are authorized or required by law to furnish them.

(b) Products or services procured in accordance with treaties or international agreements.

[1] Filed as part of original.

(c) Commissaries, post exchanges and nonappropriated fund activities.

(d) Managerial advisory services such as those normally provided by an office of general counsel, a management and organization staff, automatic data processing staff, or a systems analysis unit.

§ 169a.3 Definitions.

(a) DOD commercial or industrial activities. Activities (functional areas as listed in Enclosure 1) [1] operated and managed by DOD components to provide products or services for Government use which are obtainable from private commercial sources. Government-owned contractor-operated manufacturing and production plants are excluded from the provisions of this part; however, see approval requirements of DOD Directive 4275.5, "Industrial Facility Expansion and Replacement," November 14, 1966.[2]

§ 169a.4 Review Procedures.

(b) Private commercial sources. Private business concerns which provide products or services available to Government agencies, and which are located in the United States, its territories and possessions, the District of Columbia, or the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico.

(c) Contract support services. Services procured from private commercial sources in support of DOD functions, as specifically listed in Enclosure 1.[1]

(d) New start. (1) New start includes the following:

(i) A newly established DOD commercial or industrial activity involving additional capital investment of $25,000 or more or additional annual costs of production of $50,000 or more.

(ii) A reactivation, expansion, modernization or replacement of an activity involving additional capital investment of $50,000 or more or additional annual costs of production of $100,000 or more.

(iii) Construction, replacement or reactivation of bakery, laundry and dry cleaning facilities and scrap metal facilities are subject to provisions of DOD Directives 5126.8, "Delegation of Authority with Respect to Certification of Construction, Replacement or Reactivation of Bakery, Laundry or Dry Cleaning Facilities," March 13, 1970 and 5126.15, "Delegation of Authority with Respect to Facilities and Equipment for Metal Scrap Baling or Shearing or for Melting or Sweating Aluminum Scrap," March 13, 1970 (35 F.R. 7441). Attention is invited to the additional approval required by the Assistant Secretary of Defense in these cases.

NOTE: Telecommunications projects and services associated with subdivisions (i) and (ii) of this subparagraph are also subject to the provisions of DOD Directive 4630.1, "Programming of Major Telecommunications Requirements," April 24, 1968.[2]

(2) Consolidation of two or more in-house activities without increasing the over-all total amount of products or services provided is not a new start.

(3) In a new start, we are concerned with an entire activity. The modernization of such an activity wherein the productive machinery, or a major part of such machinery, is being replaced to update, modernize or expand the productive capacity would constitute a new start, and should be submitted to the appropriate Secretarial level for approval in accordance with the provisions of Part 169 of this subchapter. Normal repair of an existing approved activity, including replacement of individual parts or machinery even though this cost may exceed $50,000, are not to be considered as constituting new starts if the productive capacity is not increased. Likewise, structural changes in buildings which are not directly related to increasing productive capacity or usable space, such as the addition of air conditioning to a building or plumbing additions for sanitation, health or convenience, are not to be considered as new starts.

§ 169a.4 Review Procedures.

(a) General. (1) A wide range of services, as listed in Enclosure 1,[1] are provided by DOD commercial or industrial activities and by contract support services. Significant savings can be achieved by a systematic cost effectiveness review of these services to determine whether their best and most economical method of performance is by contract or by Government employees. In making this determination, strict limitations (as cited in paragraph (6) of this section) are imposed on the type and scope of in-house services that may be performed, and specific guidelines for cost comparisons are provided. Contract is the preferred method of performance, unless excess cost from commercial sources or other circumstances (as cited in paragraph (6) of this section) in-house performance. A systematic review of service functions will be conducted on a time-phased basis and will cover the specific services listed in Enclosure 1.[1]

(2) Some DOD commercial or industrial activities are engaged in the output of products, as distinguished from services. A systematic cost-effectiveness review of these in-house DOD production activities will also be carried out covering the production items listed in Enclosure 1 [1] under Codes X931 through X945.

(b) Criteria. Section 169.4 of this subchapter outlines the only circumstances under which commercial or industrial activities may be operated and managed by DOD components. In reaching determinations as to the applicability of these circumstances to individual activities, the following criteria will be used:

(1) Procurement of a product or service from a commercial source would disrupt or materially delay an agency's program. (i) DOD components will continue to conduct those functions and operations which they must perform in order to retain essential control and responsibility for their programs and personnel. For example, DOD will not rely upon private commercial sources to assume managerial responsibility for selection, training and direction of Government personnel, assignment of organizational responsibilities, planning of programs, establishment of performance goals and priorities, and evaluation of performance. However, where required, commercial contract sources may be used to provide support services related to these internal functions, provided that the Government's fundamental responsibility for controlling and managing its programs is not compromised or weakened.

(ii) Security requirements may be involved in determinations under this criterion. However, as many commercial contract operations are regularly performed under proper security safeguards, any justification for conducting a DOD commercial or industrial activity because of security requirements must clearly show that commercial performance would introduce unacceptable risks.

(2) It is necessary for the Government to conduct a commercial or industrial activity for purposes of combat support or for individual and unit retraining of military personnel or to maintain or strengthen mobilization readiness. This criterion includes the need for troop units to conduct training and retraining in order to achieve and maintain self-sufficient military capability for the operation and direct maintenance support of their mission-essential equipment, and the requirement for DOD components to retain an in-being depot level maintenance capability, as outlined in DOD Directive 4151.1, "Use of Contractor and Government Resources for Maintenance of Materiel," June 20, 1970,[2] also see Part 170 of this subchapter, and an installation level capability to operate, maintain and accomplish emergency repair of combat-essential facilities and utilities. Industrial facility requirements will conform to the policies of DOD Directive 4275.5, "Industrial Facility Expansion and Replacement," November 14, 1966.[2] Contract Engineering Technical Services activities will conform to the policies of Part 168 of this subchapter.

(3) A satisfactory commercial source is not available and cannot be developed in time to provide a product or service when it is needed. Before making determinations under this criterion, all reasonable efforts will be made to induce private enterprise to provide the product or service. These efforts will be supplemented as appropriate by obtaining assistance from the General Services and Small Business Administrations or the Bureau of Domestic Commerce. Urgency of a requirement is not an adequate reason for starting or continuing a DOD commercial or industrial activity unless there is conclusive evidence that commercial sources are unable to meet the schedule need.

(4) The product or service is not available from another Federal agency nor from commercial sources. This criterion requires that, in addition to meeting the criterion in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph, DOD components actively seek, wherever feasible and economical, in conformity with DOD Directive 4000.19, "Basic Policies and Principles for Interservice and Interdepartmental Logistic Support," August 5, 1967,[2] to obtain the required product or service through cross-servicing from an existing activity under Government control before reaching a decision to continue a DOD commercial or industrial activity, or requesting approval for a new start. This includes efforts to merge or consolidate, wherever practicable, similar in-house activities being operated separately within Military Departments or Defense Agencies. Activities being operated solely or primarily to provide products or services to another U.S. Government Department or Agency should be transferred to that Department or Agency, or discontinued if their operation does not meet the criteria specified in subparagraphs (1), (2), (3), and (5) of this paragraph.

(5) Procurement of the product or service from a commercial source will result in higher total cost to the Government. (i) Utilization of this criterion as justification for continuing, or initiating a new start, of a DOD commercial or industrial activity is authorized only if a comparative cost analysis, in conformity with Enclosure 3,[1] indicates that the product or service can be provided from in-house services at an over-all total cost to the Government which is less than from a private commercial source. In conducting these cost comparisons, all reasonable efforts will be made to obtain satisfactory prices from existing commercial sources and to develop other competitive commercial sources.

(ii) In reaching determinations under this criterion, the disadvantages, risks and uncertainties of starting or continuing a DOD commercial or industrial activity (as detailed in section II. A. of Enclosure 3) [1] must be carefully considered and the amount of the cost savings to be achieved by in-house operation must be sufficient to justify those disadvantages, risks and uncertainties. The exact amount of these savings will vary based on individual circumstances, as detailed in section II.C. of Enclosure 3.[1]

(c) Compliance. In order to effectively implement the policy issued in Part 169 of this subchapter and OMB Circular A–76, the operating management and direction and the DOD management policy implementation and administration of this program will be exercised through the existing management and organizational structures of the Military Departments and Defense Agencies. The Secretaries of the Military Departments and the Directors of Defense Agencies, or their designees, shall:

(1) Conduct a continuing program for improving management and cost effectiveness in the performance of DOD commercial or industrial activities and contract support service functions.

(2) Develop and carry out a systematic and continuing review program covering (i) all commercial or industrial activities which they operate and manage, and (ii) all contract support services being procured. This review program will be impartial and thorough, and its objectives will be to assure that the full requirements of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section and this paragraph (c) are met with regard to reaching decisions to continue, discontinue or curtail DOD commercial or industrial activities and contract support services.

(3) Document each review so as to clearly show the rationale and the data upon which the decision was reached to continue, discontinue or curtail each activity. (See also Enclosure 3, II.E.1.) [1]

(4) Require that requests for authority to establish proposed new starts will be approved by the Secretaries of Military Departments and Directors of Defense Agencies, or by an Assistant Secretary (or an official of equivalent rank) to whom such decision-making authority has been delegated.

(5) Conduct the internal review program so that the respective functional areas listed in Enclosure 1 [1] (unless specifically exempted by ASD(I&L)) are reviewed in conformity with the three-phase cycle cited in Enclosure 1.[1]

(6) Organize internal reviews so that in addition to meeting the needs of subparagraphs (2), (3), and (4) of this paragraph, the reviews will provide the following information:

(i) Availability from private business sources of the products and services being obtained from a DOD commercial or industrial activity.

(ii) Feasibility of using private business sources in lieu of DOD commercial or industrial activities (see Part 22 of this chapter).

(iii) A comparative cost analysis, prepared in conformity with Enclosure 3,[1] in the event the review discloses that a DOD commercial or industrial activity involving an annual cost of production of $50,000 or more is being continued because procurement of the products or services from the private commercial sources would result in a higher total cost to the Government. (Discontinuance of a DOD commercial or industrial activity having an annual cost of less than $50,000 is generally required when the reason for its operation is that procurement from private commercial sources would result in a higher total cost to the Government; see section III.B.2. of Enclosure 3.) [1]

(iv) Reviews of Contract Engineering Technical Service activities will be conducted annually in accordance with the provisions of Part 168 of this subchapter. (Functional category T813.)

(7) Approve or disapprove new start requests under provision of paragraph (b) (1) through (5) of this section. This approval authority does not include industrial facility modernization and expansion projects which require ASD (I&L) approval in accordance with DOD Directive 4275.5, "Industrial Facility Expansion and Replacement," November 14, 1966.[2] Where authority for funds for construction are required before a new start can be initiated, approval of the new start will be obtained prior to inclusion of the project in an annual authorization request or the annual budget estimates submitted to the Office of Management and Budget.

(8) Perform a comparative cost analysis before procuring products or services from private commercial sources when the procurement will cause the Government to finance directly or indirectly more than $50,000 for costs of facilities and equipment to be constructed to Government specifications. Cost comparison reviews are also required prior to procurement from private commercial sources under certain other circumstances to assure that commercial procurement is economically justified; see section III.A.3. of Enclosure 3.[1]

(9) Compile and maintain, as required by section 7a of OMB Circular A–76, an inventory report (see § 169a.5) of commercial or industrial activities which they operate and manage and the contract support services which they procure.

(10) Assure, in instances where existing DOD commercial or industrial activities are to be discontinued or curtailed, that:

(i) Reasonable scheduling in the timing of such actions is planned in order to minimize economic dislocations and personal hardships of affected personnel.

(ii) Proper employee and community advance notification is provided and full assistance is given to career employees in obtaining other positions, in accordance with DOD Directives 1400.20, "Program for Stability of Civilian Employment in the DOD," January 27, 1969: 5410.10, "Coordination and Clearance of Announcements of Personnel Reductions, Closures of Installations, and Reduction of Contract Operations Within the United States," February 2, 1960; and 5410.12, "Policies and Procedures for Minimizing Economic Impact on Communities Resulting from Adjustments in Defense Programs," October 20, 1961.[2]

(iii) Satisfactory and reliable contract or other arrangements are made in advance so that the continuity of essential functions is not impaired.

§ 169a.5 Inventory report.

The inventory report specified in § 169a.4(c)(9) will be prepared using punched cards or magnetic tape according to instructions in Attachment 1 to Enclosure 2.[1] Also, a separate list of commercial or industrial activities and contract support services which have been discontinued, curtailed (15 percent or more), or converted to another method of performance during the Fiscal Year will be provided. The list will include:

(a) DOD functional area number.

(b) Description of the function.

(c) Name of installation.

(d) Reason(s) for discontinuance, curtailment or conversion.

(e) Degree to which function has been curtailed expressed in a percentage of total annual cost.

(f) Number of military and civilian personnel transferred or separated as a

(c) Insofar as practicable, and with appropriate consideration of assigned missions and of economic and technical factors, programs and sections of all DOD Components shall be planned, initiated, and carried out in a manner to avoid adverse effects on the quality of the human environment. When this is not feasible, all reasonable measures shall be taken to neutralize or mitigate any adverse environmental impact of the actions.

(d) Whenever an environmental assessment of a recommendation or report on a proposal for legislation or of a proposed or continuing major action indicates under the criteria in § 214.5 that the resulting action may significantly affect the quality of the human environment or may be highly controversial with regard to environmental impact, a detailed environmental statement shall be prepared and processed pursuant to the guidance contained in § 214.8(f) "Statements on Major Federal Actions Affecting the Environment" and in § 214.6. (4) Maintain liaison with the Council on Environmental Quality (CEQ), the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) with respect to the environmental policies affecting the entire Department of Defense.

(5) Revise and supplement §§ 214.5, 214.6, 214.7, and 214.8 or add additional sections as may be required to implement more effectively the policies set forth in this part.

(6) Retain a copy of each draft and final environmental statement prepared within the Office of the Secretary of Defense for review by members of the public when such review is requested.

(b) The Director of Defense Research and Engineering, Assistant Secretaries of Defense, and Assistants to the Secretary of Defense shall:

(1) Monitor the application of policies contained in this part with respect to the environmental aspects of continuing and proposed programs and projects within their functional responsibilities.

(2) Insure that environmental statements required for actions within their respective offices are prepared and processed.

(3) Coordinate as appropriate with other elements of the Department of Defense to preclude duplication or inconsistencies in the preparation of environmental statements for programs or projects within their respective functional responsibilities.

(4) Designate a single point of contact within their offices for matters pertaining to this part.

(5) Assist ASD (H. & E.) in the review of environmental statements.

(6) Coordinate proposed directives and instructions that have environmental implications with ASD (H. & E.).

(c) The Secretaries of the Military Departments, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Directors of Defense Agencies for operations under their jurisdiction, shall:

(1) Establish procedures for assessing environmental consequences of continuing and proposed programs and actions, in accordance with the policies contained in this part, and for the preparation and processing of environmental statements required for actions within their respective DOD Components.

(2) Establish procedures to insure that all regulations, directives, instructions, and other major policy publications are reviewed for environmental consequences, and, when such consequences are significant, withhold publication of issuances until compliance with section 102(2)(C) of Public Law 91-190 has been accomplished.

(3) Review environmental statements in their areas of expertise in accordance with § 214.8(f).

(4) Designate a single point of contact for matters pertaining to this part.

(5) Designate, in implementing directives, an official responsible for making draft and final environmental statements available to the public.

§ 214.5 Determinations of requirement for environmental statements.

(a) General. (1) Section 102(2)(C) of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (Public Law 91-190) requires that a detailed environmental statement be included in "every recommendation or report on proposals for legislation and other major Federal actions significantly affecting the quality of the human environment."

(2) Executive Order 11514, March 7, 1970 § 214.8(d) directs the Council on Environmental Quality to issue guidelines to Federal agencies for the preparation of the environmental statements required by section 102(2)(C) of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969.

(3) On April 23, 1971, the Council on Environmental Quality published guidelines for the preparation of environmental statements (Statements on Major Federal Actions Affecting the Environment, 36 F.R. 7724, 1971) § 214.8(f). These guidelines contain general guidance for determining when an environmental statement is required.

(4) This § 214.5 interprets and amplifies the general guidelines of the Council on Environmental Quality for Department of Defense actions.

(b) Geographical location of actions. (1) Environmental statements are required for actions described in paragraphs (c) and (d) of this section conducted anywhere in the world, except when conducted in, or partly in, areas which are in or under the jurisdiction of a nation other than the United States. In these latter cases, the DOD Component responsible for the action shall provide to the ASD(H. & E.) full particulars, a recommendation as to whether or not a statement should be prepared, reasons for the recommendation, and an assessment of the effect of a statement on U.S. foreign relations. The ASD (H. & E.) shall coordinate these latter cases as appropriate, and shall furnish procedural instructions to the responsible DOD Component.

(2) Environmental statements are not required for multi-national activities (such as NATO) when the DOD Component involved does not have primary decision-making authority, or for combat or combat-related activities in a combat zone. (See paragraph (d)(3)(v) of this section.)

(3) The DOD Component shall comply with applicable environmental laws and policies, even though an environmental statement is not required. In countries or areas not under U.S. control or administration, projects or activities are subject to the environmental laws, regulations, and stipulations of the foreign government concerned.

(c) Actions included. (1) The legislative history of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 and the guidelines of the Council on Environmental Quality define major actions as including, but not limited, to the following:

(i) Recommendations or favorable reports relating to legislation, including that for appropriations.

(ii) Policies, regulations, and procedures-making.

(iii) Projects and continuing activities:

(a) Directly undertaken by Federal agencies;

(b) Supported in whole or in part through Federal contracts, grants, subsidies, loans, or other forms of funding assistance; and

(c) Involving a Federal lease, permit, license, certificate, or other entitlement for use.

(2) Each of the above categories of actions requires somewhat different considerations in determining whether an environmental statement is required.

(d) Evaluation of requirement for environmental statement—(1) Proposals for legislation, annual authorization requests, and favorable reports on legislation—(i) Proposals for legislation (other than requests for inclusion in annual authorization requests). Prior to preparing a legislative proposal, the DOD Component shall assess the environmental consequences of the proposal using the factors in § 214.6. If it is determined that the proposal would significantly affect the environment, an environmental statement is required and shall be submitted with the proposal.

(ii) Annual authorization requests. (a) Prior to submitting authorizing legislation requests pursuant to section 412, Public Law 86-149, as amended, § 214.8 (l), or the annual Military Construction Authorization Bill, the environmental consequences of each item requested for inclusion shall be assessed by the DOD Component making the requests using the factors in § 214.6. Further, the component is required to prepare an environmental statement for each item that will significantly affect the environment unless the item is part of a continuing project or program for which an environmental statement has previously been processed, and the environmental consequences of the item are not expected to deviate significantly from those identified in the prior statement.

(b) Three copies of each required draft statement shall be submitted with the requests (see § 214.7(c)).

(iii) Favorable reports on legislation. (a) If the Department of Defense is not the Federal agency that has primary responsibility for the subject matter involved in the legislative item, no environmental statement is required from the Department of Defense. If it is not clear from the legislative item whether the Department of Defense is the primary Federal agency responsible for the subject matter involved in the legislative item, advice should be sought from the General Counsel, Department of Defense.

(b) If the Department of Defense is the Federal agency that has primary responsibility for the subject matter involved in the legislative item, the DOD component responsible for preparing the DOD report on the item shall assess the environmental consequences of the proposal, using the factors in § 214.6. If the assessment indicates that the proposal would significantly affect the quality of the human environment, and environmental statement is required and should accompany the report.

(2) Policy, regulations, and procedure making. (i) This shall be construed to apply to publications including, but not limited to, directives, instructions, regulations, manuals, or major policy statements of all DOD components.

(ii) The DOD component shall assess the environmental consequences, using the factors in § 214.6, for each proposed publication. If it is determined that actions generated by the publication will significantly affect the environment, an environmental statement is required unless the publication is an implementation of a publication from another DOD component and the environmental consequences will not deviate significantly from those of the basic publication. In these latter cases, the DOD component responsible for the basic publication has the responsibility for assessing the environmental consequences of its publication and preparing an environmental statement.

(iii) If a proposed publication of a DOD component is to be published for the purpose of implementing a Federal law or a publication of an agency outside of the Department of Defense, and actions resulting from the law or publication will significantly affect the quality of the environment, and environmental statement is required unless an environmental statement which covers the environmental impact of the DOD component's publication was submitted in connection with adoption of the law or the other agency's publication.

(3) Projects and continuing activities. (i) This category includes the majority of the operations and activities of DOD components. The components are encouraged to develop plans, programs, and procedures for routine projects and continuing activities having an impact on the environment. Environmental statements should be prepared for these plans, programs, and procedures rather than for particular or individual actions taken pursuant to these plans, programs, or procedures. Only when a particular proposed action involves a potential impact on the environment not considered in the environmental statement for the applicable plan, program, or procedure, will it be considered necessary to prepare an impact statement on that individual or particular proposed action.

(ii) Each proposed project or activity shall be assessed for environmental consequences, using the factors in § 214.6, and:

(a) If it is determined that the action will not significantly affect the environment, any written assessment of the environmental aspects of an anticipated action shall be retained by the Component making the assessment until the action is completed. (See § 214.6(d).)

(b) If it is determined that the action will have a significant effect on the environment, a statement is required, unless it is excepted by subdivisions (iii), (iv), and (v) of this subparagraph.

(iii) If an environmental statement was submitted for a project or activity in accordance with subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, no additional environmental statement is required for that project or activity unless it appears that there will be significant adverse environmental consequences from the project or activity that were not covered by the environmental statement.

(iv) If a project or activity is being carried out pursuant to a publication for which an environmental statement was submitted in accordance with subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, no environmental statement is required for that project or activity unless it appears that there will be significant adverse environmental consequences from that project or activity that were not covered by the environmental statement.

(v) Combat or combat-related activities in a combat zone, riot control activities, and other emergency activities do not require environmental statements. However, the intentional disposal of hazardous substances or of other materials in the oceans shall not be construed to be combat or combat-related activities.

(vi) On occasion, laws other than the National Environmental Policy Act, such as those in § 214.8(c), require the Department of Defense to gain approval of another Federal agency before commencing certain types of actions that may have environmental consequences. Compliance with the requirements of such laws does not relieve the responsible official from preparing and processing an environmental statement if the proposed action is a major action that would significantly affect the quality of the human environment. However, insofar as practicable, the draft environmental statement format should be used in complying with other laws to minimize duplication of efforts.

§ 214.6 Major action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment.

(a) It is impossible to list categorically all DOD projects or activities that are "major Federal actions significantly affecting the quality of the human environment." In making a judgment in a particular case, it will be necessary for the proponent of the action to assess the expected environmental effects of the action in conjunction with the intent of the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) as implemented by the Council on Environmental Quality (CEQ). It is essential that all the environmental effects of an action be assessed, whether those effects are adverse or beneficial. In determining whether or not the effects of an action are significant, the proponent must evaluate the nature and degree of all effects on the environment. These may be significant even though the net environmental effect of the proposed action will be beneficial.

(b) DOD components shall insure that a decision is not made until the environmental consequences of the decision have been assessed. If the assessment indicates that the decision will either affect the environment on a large geographical scale or have a serious environmental effect in a more restricted geographical area, the proposed action shall be considered a Major Action Significantly Affecting the Quality of the Human Environment (MASAQHE), and the decision shall be deferred until Federal agencies possessing special expertise or persons affected by the environmental effects of the decision have had an opportunity to present their views. It is necessary to consider not only the degree of the effect on the environment but also the scope of the action and the potential effect of the action on other persons.

(1) If a DOD component or a major military command intends to take an action that will influence subactivities in many subordinate units, and the subactivities will each affect the environment, the action is probably a MASAQHE even though a single subactivity may not be in that category. For example, a limited maneuver or training exercise by small elements of a military department might not be a major action nor would it normally affect the environment significantly. However, if a military department intended to publish a regulation that includes provisions prescribing the environmental considerations that were to be given to the planning of all training exercises or maneuvers of the DOD component for an indefinite period of time, then it might be expected that such a regulation would have a significant effect on the quality of the environment because it would govern numerous activities which individually would have some effect on the environment. Thus, the regulation should be construed to be a MASAQHE.

(2) An example of an action that should be classified as a MASAQHE because of a localized effect is an extremely noisy activity conducted by a DOD component near a residential area, where the resulting noise might seriously affect the comfort of residents of the area. In keeping with the intent of NEPA, no decision should be made to take any action until those residents have been given an opportunity to present their views, and their views have been carefully considered.

(c) Just as it is impossible to categorize all actions, so is it impossible to list in advance all of the environmental factors to be considered. The proponent of the action should consider all aspects of the action to determine if it will interfere unreasonably with the living conditions of man, wildlife, or marine life, or with any ecosystems on an immediate, short-range or long-range basis. Examples of factors to be considered are:

(1) Effect on water. (i) Will the action:

(a) Introduce toxic or hazardous substances or significant amounts of chemicals, organic substances or solid wastes into bodies of water,

(b) Significantly increase sedimentation in a body of water, or

(c) Significantly alter the temperature of a body of water?

(ii) Will the action improve the quality of a body of water?

(2) Effect on atmosphere. (i) Will the action result in emissions into the atmosphere of toxic or hazardous substances or significant amounts of other pollutants?

(ii) Will the action result in the creation of excessive noise, considering the proximity of and the likely effects of the noise on humans or wildlife?

(iii) Will the action tend to reduce the amount of pollution in the atmosphere?

(3) Effect on natural resources. (i) Will the action result in significant destruction of vegetation, wildlife or marine life?

(ii) Will the action enhance the quality of vegetation, wildlife or marine life?

(iii) Will the action significantly affect soil quality?

(iv) Will the action result in contamination or deterioration of food or food sources?

(4) Other values. (i) Will the action significantly affect, beneficially or adversely, the health or welfare of man, including aesthetic considerations?

(ii) Will the action significantly affect, beneficially or adversely, other forms of life or ecosystems of which they are a part?

(d) Certain types of actions require close environmental scrutiny because of the possibility that they may either affect the quality of the environment or create environmental controversy. It may be desirable in such cases to have a complete presentation of the environmental aspects of the proposed action available for any interested party. For these reasons, consideration shall be given to assessing the environmental effects of the following types of actions in writing even though a detailed assessment indicates that the action is not a MASAQHE.

(1) Development or purchase of a new type of aircraft, ship or vehicle, or of a substantially modified propulsion system for any aircraft, ship or vehicle.

(2) Development or purchase of a new weapon system.

(3) Real estate acquisitions or outleases of land.

(4) Construction projects.

(5) New installations (bases, posts, etc.).

(6) Disposal of biological or chemical munitions, pesticides or herbicides other than in the manner in which they are intended to be used.

(7) Intentional disposal of any substances in a significant quantity or on a continuing or periodic basis.

(8) Mission changes which increase the number of personnel in an area to a degree that will tax the environmental capability of the local civilian community.

(9) Any action which, because of real, potential or purported adverse environmental consequences, is a subject of controversy among people who will be affected by the action, or which, although not the subject of controversy, is likely to create controversy when the proposed action becomes known by the public.

(e) Even though a written assessment supports the conclusion that an action is not a MASAQHE, an environmental impact statement should be written on a proposed action which becomes highly controversial because of environmental aspects. The environmental statement may be based on the information contained in the assessment.

§ 214.7 Preparation and processing of environmental statements.

(a) General. Preparation of environmental statements shall be based on considerations discussed in the guidelines of the Council on Environmental Quality (CEQ) and the following guidance. These directions are intended to assure consistency of effort in preparing statements.

(1) A careful, objective detailing of environmental impacts, alternatives, and implications of proposed projects and activities should give reviewers both within and outside the Department of Defense insight into the particulars associated with the action. The general public, environmental action groups, special interest associations, governmental agencies, and Congressional Committees will expect the statements to be a valid source of information on proposed actions, as well as a reflection of how the DOD component views environmental factors and seeks to accommodate them. Since the statements must whenever possible be made available to the public, it must be assumed that they will receive careful scrutiny. The statements should be systematic presentations of environmental impacts.

(2) A statement should describe physical and environmental aspects sufficiently to permit evaluation and independent appraisal of the favorable and adverse environmental effects of each proposal. It should be simple and concise, yet should include all pertinent facts. Length will depend upon the particular proposal and the nature of its impacts.

(3) A statement should not be limited to ultimate conclusions, but should contain in support of such conclusion a thorough evaluation of all factors affecting the potential environmental impact of the proposal.

(4) Rather than serving as a means for assisting or supporting project justification, a statement should include a complete and objective appraisal of the environmental effects, beneficial and adverse, and of available alternatives. In no case should adverse effects, either real or potential, be ignored or slighted in an attempt to justify an action previously recommended. Similarly, care must be taken to avoid overstating favorable effects.

(5) In developing and obtaining the necessary information to prepare a statement, consultation with other Federal, State, and local agencies is encouraged.

(b) Content of statement. The body of an environmental statement shall contain the following separate sections with the length of each being adequate to identify and develop the required information.

(1) Project description. Describe the proposal by name and specific location and summarize its objectives and the activities which will ensue if it is adopted. Provide technical data adequate to permit a careful assessment of environmental impact by commenting agencies. Where relevant, maps should be provided.

(2) The probable environmental impact of the proposed action. (i) Identify the probable direct and secondary environmental consequences of the proposed action. This shall include commentary on the direct impact on man's health and welfare and his surroundings through such media as air, water, or food. Threats to other forms of life and their ecosystems shall be included. Examples of primary and secondary environmental consequences that should be identified are the primary noise impact on a community from proposed military aircraft operations and the secondary impact on future land use which may result from such operations.

(ii) Discuss both the beneficial and detrimental aspects of the environmental changes, placing some relative value on the impacts described.

(iii) Identify remedial and protective measures which could be taken in response to adverse effects of environmental impacts. Such measures taken for the minor or short-lived negative aspects of the project shall be discussed in this section. The adverse effects which cannot be satisfactorily dealt with shall be considered in greater detail along with their abatement and mitigation measures in the following section.

(3) Any probable adverse environmental effects which cannot be avoided should the proposal be implemented. Discuss the unavoidable adverse effects and the implications thereof, and identify the abatement measures proposed to rectify these and an estimation of their effectiveness. In addition to an evaluation of damage to the natural environment, this would include an evaluation of the extent to which human health or safety, aesthetically or culturally valuable surroundings, standards of living, and other aspects of life will be sacrificed or endangered.

(4) Alternatives to the proposed action. Describe the various alternatives considered, their general environmental impact, and the reason(s) why each was not recommended. Identify alternatives as to their beneficial and detrimental effects on the environmental elements, specifically taking into account the alternative of no action. Include with these alternatives economic, technical, and operational considerations, as well as their environmental impact. Discuss any other pertinent points not previously mentioned such as requirements of statutes or DOD directives that influence or limit alternatives.

(5) The relationship between local short-term use of man's environment and the maintenance and enhancement of long-term productivity. Assess the cumulative and long-term impacts of the proposed action with the view that each generation is a trustee of the environment for succeeding generations. Give special attention to considerations that would narrow the range of beneficial uses of the environment or pose long-term risks to health or safety. The propriety of any action should be weighed against the potential for damage to man's life support system—the biosphere—thereby guarding against the short-sighted foreclosures of future options or needs.

(6) Any irreversible and irretrievable commitments of resources which would be involved in the proposed action should it be implemented. Discuss irrevocable uses of resources, changes in land use, destruction of archeological or historical sites, unalterable disruptions in ecosystems, and other effects that would curtail the diversity and range of beneficial uses of the environment should the proposal be implemented.

(7) Summary sheet. The environmental statement shall be accompanied by a summary sheet which must provide the following information.

(i) Indicate whether the statement is draft or final.

(ii) Give the name of the action and indicate whether it is an administrative or legislative action.

(iii) Provide a brief description of the action and indicate what geographical region (States and counties) is particularly affected.

(iv) Summarize the environmental impact and adverse environmental effects.

(v) List alternatives considered.

(vi) (a) (For draft statements) List all Federal, State, and local agencies from which comments have been requested.

(b) (For final statements) List all Federal, State, and local agencies and other sources from which written comments have been received.

(vii) Provide the dates the draft statement and final statement were made available to the CEQ and the public.

(c) Draft statement. (1) Draft statements are those statements that have been prepared in accordance with the guidance of this § 214.7 and for which review comments will be requested from other DOD components, the CEQ, and appropriate Federal, State, and local agencies.

(i) Three (3) copies of draft statements relating to section 412, Public Law 86–149, as amended (§ 214.8(l)) or the annual Military Construction Bill must accompany the recommendation through agency review procedures. Distribution to other agencies and to the public for comments shall be withheld until the legislative request has been forwarded to the Congress. At that time, statements relating to specific items included in the proposals shall be distributed, by the DOD component, as appropriate, for comment.

(ii) In other cases where premature release would be contrary to existing administrative procedures or otherwise be inappropriate, distribution to other agencies and to the public for comments shall be made at the earliest appropriate time.

(iii) Normally it should not be necessary for a DOD component to obtain OASD(H&E) approval prior to distributing the draft environmental statement outside the Department of Defense. This procedure does not alter any requirement that may exist to coordinate the action itself within OSD prior to public release or to follow appropriate security review procedures.

(iv) The advice of the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Public Affairs) shall be obtained through established command channels before routing outside of the Department of Defense environmental statements that have significant public affairs implications. The official designated by a DOD component to make determinations regarding release of draft environmental statements outside of the Department of Defense should consult with Public Affairs' officers to familiarize himself with the subject matter they consider to be newsworthy and to advise them of all requests from the news media.

(2) Subject to the requirements of § 214.8 (m) and (n) pertaining to the identification, safeguarding, and dissemination of classified information and to § 214.8(o) pertaining to security review for public release approval, distribution of the draft statement shall be as follows:

(i) Three (3) copies to OASD(H&E). (These copies are in addition to those required by paragraph (c)(1)(i) of this section.)

(ii) Ten (10) copies to the CEQ.
(iii) Five (5) copies to the EPA.
(iv) Two (2) copies to appropriate Federal agencies having jurisdiction by law or special expertise with respect to any environmental impact involved. (Appendix II of the CEQ Guidelines.)
(v) Two (2) copies to State and local agencies authorized to develop and enforce environmental standards when the proposed action affects matters within their jurisdiction. These copies shall be sent to the appropriate State and regional or metropolitan clearinghouses in accordance with the procedures prescribed in OMB Circular No. A–95 unless the Governor of the State involved has designated some other point of contact for obtaining the State and local agency review. The clearinghouses are listed in the Directory of State, Metropolitan, and Regional Clearinghouses under OMB Circular No. A–95 (Revised) of April 19, 1971 (§ 214.8(k)).
(vi) At such time as the draft statement is forwarded to the CEQ, other Federal, State, and local agencies, it shall be made available to the public (to any organization or individual upon request) in accordance with § 214.8(p). In appropriate cases, the DOD component shall solicit the views of public organizations and hold public hearings on the proposed action. Views of public organizations and public hearings are appropriate in the following situations:
(a) Where the proposed action by the agency will have a direct or pecullar impact on the people residing in a particular geographical area.
(b) Where public organization or members of the public possess expertise concerning the impact of the action that may not otherwise be available.
(c) Where no overriding consideration of national security or time makes it illegal or impracticable to involve such organizations or members of the public in the consideration of a proposed action in which there is evidence of wide public interest. No public hearings need be held in connection with proposed legislation in view of the opportunity for public hearing in connection with congressional consideration of the bill. Public hearings shall be conducted informally and need not be prolonged beyond a reasonable time necessary to obtain a representative view of the various segments of public interest.
(vii) The DOD component seeking review comments may establish time limits of not less than 30 days for reply except that whenever an action related to air or water quality, noise abatement and control, pesticide regulation, solid waste disposal, radiation criteria and standards, or other provisions of the authority of the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency is involved, a period of 45 days shall be allowed for review. If the agency consulted does not reply within the established time limit, it may be presumed that the agency has no comment to make, unless a request for a specified extension of time has been made. DOD components should endeavor to comply with request for extensions of time up to 15 days.

(d) Final statement. (1) Final statements are prepared after receipt of review comments provided by other agencies. In many cases the final statements can be prepared by making minor revisions to the draft statement and attaching the review comments received from other sources. In other cases, it may be necessary to make major revisions to the draft statement. In either case, it may be appropriate to provide a discussion of problems and objections raised by other Federal, State, and local agencies and by private organizations and individuals and the disposition of the issues involved. Along with the comments received, this discussion should be attached to the final text of the environmental statement.
(2) Subject to the requirements of § 214.8 (m) and (n) pertaining to the identification, safeguarding and dissemination of classified information and of § 214.8(o), pertaining to security review for public release approval, distribution of the final statement shall be as follows:
(i) One (1) copy to OASD(H&E).
(ii) Ten (10) copies to the CEQ.
(iii) Five (5) copies of final statements relating to section 412, Public Law 86–149, as amended (§ 214.8(l)), or the Annual Military Construction Authorization Bill to the appropriate Congressional Committees of the Senate and of the House of Representatives.
(iv) The final statement also shall be made available to the public in accordance with § 214.8(p).
(e) Waiting period before an action can be taken. (1) It is important that draft environmental statements be prepared and circulated for comment and furnished to the CEQ early enough in the review process before an action is taken in order to permit meaningful consideration of the environmental issues involved. To the maximum extent practicable no administrative action (i.e., any proposed action to be taken other than proposals for legislation or reports on legislation) shall be taken sooner than 90 days after a draft environmental statement has been circulated for comment and furnished to the CEQ, and, except where advance public disclosure will result in significantly increased costs of procurement, made available to the public. Neither shall such administative action be taken sooner than 30 days after the final text of the environmental statement (together with comments) has been made available to the CEQ and the public. Consequently, the minimum waiting period after submission of the draft statement is 90 days because the 30-day period and 90-day period may run concurrently to the extent that they overlap.
(2) When it is not practical for a DOD component to comply with the time requirements contained in subparagraph (1), of this paragraph, the DOD component shall request the Council on Environmental Quality to waive a portion of the time requirement for that specific action. If negotiations in this regard are not successful, the DOD component shall advise ASD(H&E).
(3) If it is impossible for an agency to comply with the time requirements of paragraph (c)(2), of this section, the DOD component shall forward the draft environmental statement with an explanation of the facts and circumstances that preclude adherence to the time requirements to ASD(H&E), who shall attempt to resolve the issues involved. The proposed action shall not be initiated until the time problem has been satisfactorily resolved unless such action is authorized by the Secretary or Deputy Secretary of Defense.
(f) Classified environmental statements. The fact that a proposed action is of a classified nature does not relieve the proponent of the action from complying with the requirements of this part. Environmental statements, both draft and final, shall be prepared, safeguarded, and disseminated in accordance with the usual requirements applicable to classified information (§ 214.8 (m) and (n)). When feasible, these statements shall be organized in such a manner that classified portions can be included as annexes, so that the unclassified portions can be made available to the public.
(g) Processing environmental statements originated by other Federal agencies. (1) Environmental statements will be referred to the Department of Defense by other Federal agencies for two reasons:
(i) Where a proposed action may affect matters over which Department of Defense has jurisdiction by law.
(ii) Where a proposed action may have environmental effects in an area where a DOD component has been designated in Appendix II of the CEQ Guidelines as possessing special expertise.
(2) Comments of a DOD Component on an environmental statement prepared by another Federal agency should normally be restricted to the aspect of the action for which the statement was referred.
(3) When a request for review and comment on an environmental statement prepared by another Federal agency is received by OASD(H&E), it shall determine which DOD Component should review the environmental statement.
(i) When it has been determined that a single DOD Component should be responsible for the review, OASD(H&E) shall request that the DOD Component reply directly to the agency involved. The DOD Component shall provide one (1) copy of the reply to OASD(H&E) and ten (10) copies to the CEQ.
(ii) When it has been determined that more than one DOD Component should review the statement, the OASD(H&E) shall prepare a consolidated review report or designate the DOD Component with primary interest to prepare such a report. The OASD(H&E) shall forward the consolidated report to the requesting agency and provide ten (10) copies to the CEQ.
(4) When a request for review and comment on an environmental statement from another Federal agency is received directly by a DOD Component, that DOD Component shall reply directly to the requesting agency. Also, that Component shall forward one (1) copy of the reply to OASD(H&E) and ten (10) copies to the CEQ.

[SEAL] HAROLD T. SWARTZ,
Acting Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

In order to revise the rules under the Income Tax Regulations (26 CFR Part 1) under section 152 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, such regulations are amended as follows:

Paragraph (d)(3) of § 1.152–4 is amended to read as follows:

§ 1.152–4 Support test in case of child of divorced or separated parents.

* * * * *

(d) Exceptions. * * *

(3) Actual support. A noncustodial parent who provides $1,200 or more support for the child (or if there is more than one child for which he claims an exemption, $1,200 or more for the combined support for all of such children) shall be treated as having provided more than half the support for the child (or children) notwithstanding any provision to the contrary contained in a decree of divorce or separation or in a written agreement, unless the custodial parent clearly establishes that the custodial parent provided, in fact, more for the support of the child during the calendar year than the noncustodial parent. Under section 152(e)(2)(B) and this subparagraph, if the noncustodial parent establishes that he has provided $1,200 or more for support of the child, then the custodial parent has the burden of establishing by a clear preponderance of the evidence that the custodial parent has provided more for the support of the child than has been established by the noncustodial parent in order to be treated as having provided over half of the support of the child. See paragraph (e) of this section with regard to notification and submission of itemized statements.

[7 CFR Part 725]

FLUE-CURED TOBACCO

Notice of Determinations To Be Made With Respect to Marketing Quotas for 1972–73 Marketing Year

Pursuant to the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended (7 U.S.C. 1281 et seq., hereinafter referred to as the "Act"), the Secretary under section 317 is preparing to determine and announce on an acreage-poundage basis, with respect to flue-cured tobacco for the 1972–73 marketing year, (a) the amount of the national marketing quota, (b) the national average yield goal, (c) the national acreage allotment, (d) the reserve acreage for making corrections in farm acreage allotments, adjusting inequities, and for establishing allotments for new farms, (e) the national acreage factor, and (f) the national yield factor. Flue-cured tobacco farmers approved marketing quotas on an acreage-poundage basis for the 1971–72, 1972–73, and 1973–74 marketing years (35 F.R. 13076).

Section 317(a) of the Act contains, for the purposes of section 317, the following definitions:

(1) "National marketing quota" for any kind of tobacco for a marketing year means the amount of the kind of tobacco produced in the United States which the Secretary estimates will be utilized during the marketing year in the United States and will be exported during the marketing year, adjusted upward or downward in such amount as the Secretary, in his discretion, determines is desirable for the purpose of maintaining an adequate supply or for effecting an orderly reduction of supplies to the reserve supply level. Any such downward adjustment shall not exceed 15 per centum of such estimated utilization and exports.

(2) "National average yield goal" for any kind of tobacco means the yield per acre which on a national average basis the Secretary determines will improve or insure the usability of the tobacco and increase the net return per pound to the growers. In making this determination the Secretary shall give consideration to such Federal-State production research data as he deems relevant.

(3) "National acreage allotment" means the acreage determined by dividing the national marketing quota by the national average yield goal.

(4) "Farm acreage allotment" for a tobacco farm, other than a new tobacco farm, means the acreage allotment determined by adjusting uniformly the acreage allotment established for such farm for the immediately preceding year, prior to any increase or decrease in such allotment due to undermarketings or overmarketings and prior to any reduction under subsection (f), so that the total of all allotments is equal to the national acreage allotment less the reserve provided in subsection (e) of this section with a further downward or upward adjustment to reflect any adjustment in the farm marketing quota for overmarketing or undermarketing and to reflect any reduction required under subsection (f) of this section, and including any adjustment for errors or inequities from the reserve.

(5) The "community average yield" means for Flue-cured tobacco the average yield per acre in the community designated by the Secretary as a local administrative area under the provisions of section 8(b) of the Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Act, as amended, which is determined by averaging the yields per acre for the 3 highest years of the 5 years 1959 to 1963, inclusive, except that if the yield for any of the 3 highest years is less than 80 per centum of the average for the 3 years then that year or years shall be eliminated, and the average of the remaining years shall be the community average yield.

(6) (A) "Preliminary farm yield" for Flue-cured tobacco means a farm yield per acre determined by averaging the yield per acre for the 3 highest years of the 5 consecutive crop years beginning with the 1959 crop year except that if that average exceeds 120 per centum of the community average yield the preliminary farm yield shall be the sum of 50 per centum of the average of the 3 highest years and 50 per centum of the national average yield goal but not less than 120 per centum of the community average yield, and if the average of the 3 highest years is less than 80 per centum of the community average yield the preliminary farm yield shall be 80 per centum of the community average yield. In counties where less than 500 acres of Flue-cured tobacco were allotted for 1964, the county may be considered as one community. If Flue-cured tobacco was not produced on the farm for at least 3 years of the 5-year period the average of the yields for the years in which tobacco was produced shall be used instead of the 3-year average. If no Flue-cured tobacco was produced on the farm in the 5-year period but the farm is eligible for an allotment because Flue-cured tobacco was considered to have been produced under applicable provisions of law, a preliminary farm yield for the farm shall be determined under regulations of the Secretary taking into account preliminary farm yields of similar farms in the community.

(7) "Farm yield" means the yield of tobacco per acre for a farm determined by multiplying the preliminary farm yield by a national yield factor which shall be obtained by dividing the national average yield goal by a weighted national average yield computed by multiplying the preliminary farm yield for each farm by the acreage allotment determined pursuant to paragraph (4) for the farm prior to adjustments for overmarketing, undermarketing, or reductions required under subsection (f) and dividing the sum of the products by the national acreage allotments.

(8) "Farm marketing quota" for any farm for any marketing year shall be the number of pounds of tobacco obtained by multiplying the farm yield by the acreage allotment prior to any adjustment for undermarketing or overmarketing, increased for undermarketing or decreased for overmarketing by the number of pounds by which marketings of tobacco from the farm during the immediately preceding marketing year, if marketing quotas were in effect under the program established by this section, is less than or exceeds the farm marketing quota for such year: Provided, That the farm marketing quota for any marketing year shall not be increased for undermarketing by an amount in excess of the number of pounds determined by multiplying the acreage allotment for the farm for the immediately preceding year prior to any increase or decrease for undermarketing or overmarketing by the farm yield. If on account of excess marketings in the preceding marketing year the farm marketing quota for the marketing year is reduced to zero pounds without reflecting the entire reduction required, the additional reduction required shall be made for the subsequent marketing year or years.

Section 317(d) of the Act requires the Secretary to determine and announce the national marketing quota, national acreage allotment, and national average yield goal for the 1972–73 marketing year for Flue-cured tobacco not later than December 1, 1971.

Section 317(e) provides: "No farm acreage allotment or farm yield shall be established for a farm on which no tobacco was produced or considered produced under applicable provisions of law for the immediately preceding 5 years. For each marketing year for which acreage-poundage quotas are in effect under this section the Secretary in his discretion may establish a reserve from the national acreage allotment in an amount equivalent to not more than 1 per centum of the national acreage allotment to be available for making corrections of errors in farm acreage allotments, adjusting inequities, and for establishing acreage allotments for new farms, which are farms on which tobacco was not produced or considered produced during the immediately preceding 5 years. The part of the reserve held for apportionment to new farms shall be allotted on the basis of land, labor, and equipment available for the production of tobacco, crop rotation practices, soil and other physical factors affecting the production of tobacco and the past tobacco-producing experience of the farm operator. The farm yield for any farm for which a new farm acreage allotment is established shall be determined on the basis of available productivity data for the land involved and farm yields for similar farms, and shall not exceed the community average yield."

Section 317(f) provides: "Only the provisions of the last two sentences of subsection (g) of section 313 of this Act shall apply with respect to acreage-poundage programs established under this section. The acreage reductions required under the last two sentences shall be in addition to any other adjustments made pursuant to this section, and when acreage reductions are made the farm marketing quota shall be reduced to reflect such reductions. The provisions of the next to the last sentence of such subsection pertaining to the filing of any false report with respect to the acreage of tobacco grown on the farm shall also be applicable to the filing of any false report with respect to the production or marketings of tobacco grown on a farm for which an acreage allotment and a farm yield are established as provided in this section. In establishing acreage allotments and farm yields for other farms owned by the owner displaced by acquisition of his land by an agency, as provided in section 378 of the Act, increases or decreases in such acreage allotments and farm yields as provided in this section shall be made on account of marketings below or in excess of the farm marketing quota for the farm acquired by the agency. * * *"

Section 317(g) provides, in part, that if the Secretary, in his discretion, determines it is desirable to encourage the marketing of grade N_2 tobacco, or any grade of tobacco not eligible for price support, in order to meet the normal demands of export and domestic markets, he may authorize the marketing of such tobacco in a marketing year without the payment of penalty or deduction from subsequent quotas to the extent of 5 per centum of the farm marketing quota for the farm on which the tobacco was produced.

The Act (7 U.S.C. 1301(b)) defines the "reserve supply level" of Flue-cured tobacco as the normal supply plus 5 per centum thereof. "Normal supply" is defined as a normal year's domestic consumption and exports, plus 175 per centum of a normal year's domestic consumption and 65 per centum of a normal year's exports. A "normal year's domestic consumption" is defined as the yearly average quantity produced in the United States and consumed in the United States during the 10 marketing years immediately preceding the marketing year in which such consumption is determined, adjusted for current trends in such consumption. A "normal year's exports" is defined as the yearly average quantity produced in the United States which was exported from the United States during the 10 marketing years immediately preceding the marketing year in which such exports are determined, adjusted for current trends in such exports.

The subjects and issues involved in the proposed determinations with respect to Flue-cured tobacco for the 1972–73 marketing year are:

1. The amount of the national marketing quota on an acreage-poundage basis.
2. The amount of the national average yield goal.
3. The amount of the national acreage allotment.
4. The amount of acreage to be reserved from the national acreage allotment for making corrections in farm acreage allotments, adjusting inequities, and for establishing acreage allotments for new farms.
5. The national acreage factor.
6. The national yield factor.
7. Whether the Secretary should implement the provision in Section 317(g) relating to N_2 or other grades of tobacco not eligible for price support.

The community average yields, as computed in 1965 (30 F.R. 6207, 9875, 14487), will be used for the 1972–73 marketing year.

Consideration will be given to data, views, and recommendations pertaining to the proposed determinations, rules, and regulations covered by this notice which are submitted in writing to the Director, Tobacco Division, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

All written submissions made pursuant to this notice will be made available for public inspection at such times and places and in a manner convenient to the public business (7 CFR 1.27(b)). All submissions, must, in order to be sure of consideration, be postmarked not later than 30 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Signed at Washington, D.C., on August 12, 1971.

U.S. STANDARDS FOR GRADES OF ONIONS (OTHER THAN BERMUDA-GRANEX-GRANO AND CREOLE TYPES) [1]

Notice of Proposed Rule Making

Notice is hereby given that the U.S. Department of Agriculture is considering the amendment of U.S. Standards for Grades of Onions (Other than Bermuda-Granex-Grano and Creole types) (7 CFR §§ 51.2830 through 51.2854). These grade standards are issued under authority of the Agricultural Marketing Act of 1946 (60 Stat. 1087, as amended; 7 U.S.C. 1621–1627), which provides for the issuance of official U.S. grades to designate different levels of quality for the voluntary use of producers, buyers, and consumers. Official grading services are also provided under this act upon request of any financially interested party and upon payment of a fee to cover the cost of such services.

All persons who desire to submit written data, views or arguments for consideration in connection with the proposal should file the same, in duplicate, not later than September 15, 1971, with the Hearing Clerk, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Room 112, Administration Building, Washington, D.C. 20250, where they will be available for public review during official hours of business (7 CFR § 1.27(b).)

Statement of considerations leading to the proposed amendment of the grade standards. The present "Application of Tolerances" section of the standards provides that individual packages of more than 10 pounds may have decay up to double the lot tolerance, or at least one decayed onion, provided the average percentage for the lot is within the tolerance specified.

Onion growers and shippers in the Northwest States have requested that this allowance be increased to three onions for jumbo onions in packages of 50 pounds or more. They state that the allowance of one decayed onion is too restrictive. For example, two or three large onions may weigh enough to exceed the container tolerance of 4 percent for decay. In such a case an entire lot would fail to meet the specified grade because of decay in a single sack, even though the average for the entire lot may be well below the specified tolerance.

The proposed amendment making the requested changes would reduce the possibility of lots failing to meet grade because of such a technicality in that it would allow, en route or at destination, up to 3 onions affected by decay or wet sunscald, or 4 percent, whichever is the larger amount, in any package of at least 50 pounds containing onions packed to meet a minimum size of 3 inches or larger.

There should be no adverse effect upon consumers or receivers inasmuch as no change would be made in the lot tolerance.

As proposed to be amended, § 51.2839 is set forth below:

§ 51.2839 Application of tolerances.

(a) Except for tolerances for off-size in the U.S. Export No. 1 grade, the contents of individual packages in the lot, based on sample inspection, are subject to the following limitations:

REDUCED FREEBOARDS FOR STEAMERS ON GREAT LAKES VOYAGES HAVING SUPERIOR CONSTRUCTION AND OPERATIONAL FEATURES

Notice of Proposed Rule Making

The Coast Guard is considering amending the loadline regulations to reduce the winter freeboard requirements for a steamer over 440 feet in length on a Great Lakes voyage.

Interested persons may participate in this proposed rule making by submitting written data, views, or arguments to the U.S. Coast Guard (CMC), Washington, D.C. 20591. Each person submitting comments should include his name and address, identify the notice (CGFR 71-82), and give reasons for any recommendations. Comments received will be available for examination by interested persons in Room 8234, Department of Transportation, Nassif Building, 400 Seventh Street SW., Washington, DC.

The Commandant, U.S. Coast Guard, will evaluate all communications received before September 15, 1971, and take final action on this proposal. The proposed regulations may be changed in the light of comments received.

Section 45.15-100 of Title 46, Code of Federal Regulations permits a steamer (as defined by 46 CFR 45.05-1) over 440 feet in length engaged on Great Lakes voyages to have a reduced basic minimum summer freeboard, by the substitution of the tabular values prescribed by Table 45.15-100(a) for those prescribed by Table 45.15-97(a), if the vessel has superior design and operational features and complies with the usual conditions of assignment. This reduced requirement for the summer, intermediate, and midsummer seasons was published in the July 26, 1969 issue of the FEDERAL REGISTER (34 F.R. 12342) and for two shipping seasons qualified vessels have successfully utilized the modified freeboards with no resultant problems. Coast Guard research has indicated that the freeboard of a larger vessel may be modified if the vessel is structurally suited for the changed loading conditions.

In consideration of the foregoing, the Coast Guard proposes to amend § 45.15-100 by permitting a steamer that qualifies for the reduced basic minimum summer freeboard to modify its winter limitation. The minimum freeboard for the winter season would be obtained by the use of a factor of 0.50 in the formula prescribed by 46 CFR 45.15-95. The proposed factor derives from a recommendation of the Working Group of the United States/Canadian Joint Technical Committee. In addition, a new heading to the section, which appropriately describes its contents, is proposed.

Accordingly, it is proposed to amend Part 45 of Title 46, Code of Federal Regulations as follows:

1. By revising the heading and paragraph (a) of § 45.15-100 to read as follows:

§ 45.15-100 Reduced basic minimum freeboards for steamers on Great Lakes voyages.

(a) A reduced freeboard may be computed for each steamer over 440 feet in length on a Great Lakes voyage for the summer, midsummer and intermediate season using the lesser tabular values prescribed by Table 45.15-100(a) and for the winter season, using a factor of 0.50 in the formula prescribed by § 45.15-95 if the vessel complies with—

(1) The conditions of assignment prescribed by Subpart 45.10; and

(2) The additional requirements prescribed by paragraph (b) of this section.

* * * * *

This proposal is made under the authority of section 2, 49 Stat. 888, as amended, section 6(b)(1), 80 Stat. 937; 46 U.S.C. 88a, 49 U.S.C. 1655(b)(1); 49 CFR 1.46(b).

CORROSIVE LIQUIDS

Supplement to Notice of Proposed Rule Making

In the Friday, June 11, 1971, issue of the FEDERAL REGISTER (36 F.R. 11302), the Coast Guard published a notice of proposed rule making (CGFR 71-53) which proposed amendments to the regulations governing corrosive hazards. Included among the proposals was an amendment to 46 CFR 146.23-100 which would adopt packaging requirements proposed by the Hazardous Materials Regulations Board of the Department of Transportation in the same issue of the FEDERAL REGISTER (36 F.R. 11304).

By a separate document published at page 15762 of this issue of the FEDERAL REGISTER, the Hazardous Materials Regulations Board issued a supplemental notice to their proposal of June 11, 1971, to clarify the packaging requirements. The reason for the clarification is fully stated in the Board's supplemental notice.

The hazardous materials regulations of the Department of Transportation in Title 49 apply to shippers by water, air, and land, and to carriers by air and land. The adoption to Title 46 of the proposed amendments, as supplemented would make the substance of the amendments of the Hazardous Materials Regulations Board applicable to carriers by water.

In consideration of the foregoing, CGFR 71-53 is supplemented by a proposal to amend § 146.23-100 by adopting the requirements of the proposed amendment to 49 CFR 173.245b(a)(6).

CONTROL ZONE AND TRANSITION AREA

Proposed Alteration

The Federal Aviation Administration is considering amendments to Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations that would alter the descriptions of the Miles City, Mont., control zone and transition area.

Interested persons may participate in the proposed rule making by submitting such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to the Chief, Airspace and Procedures Branch, Federal Aviation Administration, 5651 Manchester Avenue, Post Office Box 92007, Worldway Postal Center, Los Angeles, CA 90009. All communications received within 30 days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendments. No public hearing is contemplated at this time, but arrangements for informal conferences with Federal Aviation Administration officials may be made by contacting the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief. Any data, views, or arguments presented during such conferences must also be submitted in writing in accordance with this notice in order to become part of the record for consideration. The proposals contained in this notice may be changed in light of comments received.

A public docket will be available for examination by interested persons in the office of the Regional Counsel, Federal Aviation Administration, 5651 West Manchester Avenue, Los Angeles, CA 90045.

The airspace requirements for Miles City Airport, Mont., have been revised in accordance with criteria contained in the U.S. Standard for Terminal Instrument Procedures. Accordingly, it is necessary to alter the control zone and transition areas to adequately protect aircraft executing these approach procedures and to comply with the control zone and transition area criteria.

In consideration of the foregoing, the FAA proposes the following airspace actions.

In § 71.171 (36 F.R. 2055) the description of the Miles City, Mont., control zone is amended to read as follows:

MILES CITY, MONT.

Within a 5-mile radius of Miles City Airport (latitude 46°25'40" N., longitude 105°-53'10" W.); within 3 miles each side of the 252° bearing from the Horton RBN, extending from the 5-mile-radius zone to 8 miles west of the RBN; within 3 miles each side of the Miles City VORTAC 225° radial, extending from the 5-mile-radius zone to 8 miles southwest of the VORTAC.

In § 71.181 (36 F.R. 2140) the description of the Miles City, Mont., transition area is amended to read as follows:

MILES CITY, MONT.

That airspace extending upward from 700 feet above the surface within a 7-mile radius of Miles City Airport (latitude 46°25'40" N., longitude 105°53'10" W.); within 5 miles each side of the 252° bearing from the Horton RBN, extending from the 7-mile-radius area to 11 miles southwest of the RBN; within 3.5 miles each side of the Miles City VORTAC 225° radial, extending from the 7-mile-radius area to 11 miles southwest of the Miles City VORTAC; within 3.5 miles each side of the Miles City VORTAC 047° radial, extending from the 7-mile-radius area to 22 miles northeast of the VORTAC; and that airspace extending upward from 1,200 feet above the surface within a 17-mile radius of Miles City VORTAC south of V–120 and within a 25-mile radius of Miles City VORTAC north of the south edge of V–120, and within 9.5 miles southeast and 4.5 miles northwest of the Miles City VORTAC 225° radial extending from the VORTAC to 18½ miles southwest of the VORTAC.

These amendments are proposed under the authority of section 307(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended (49 U.S.C. 1348(a)), and of section 6(c) of the Department of Transportation Act (49 U.S.C. 1655(c)).

Issued in Aurora, Colo., on August 6, 1971.

Director, Rocky Mountain Region.

TRANSPORTATION OF HAZARDOUS MATERIALS

Proposed Classification of Corrosive Liquids

On June 11, 1971, the Hazardous Materials Regulations Board published Docket No. HM–57; Notice No. 71–17 (36 F.R. 11304), relating to the classification of corrosive hazards. The purpose of this supplemental notice is to clarify § 173.245b, as that section was proposed in Notice No. 71–17.

Notice 71–17 did not specifically prescribe in § 173.245b that fiber drums would be an authorized packaging for corrosive solids. A comment recently filed with the Board contends that this omission may be interpreted as an indication of intention not to allow this packaging for corrosive solids. This was not the Board's intention.

The packaging proposed in Notice 71–17 was intended to reflect packaging known by the Board to be currently in use for corrosive solids. On the basis of comments to be received on Notice 71–17, the Board may add other packaging demonstrated to be in use for these materials. Of course, the Board expects comments of this nature to state that the packaging has proven to be satisfactory and to provide adequate support for that statement. This intent may not have been stated clearly in Notice 71–17 and has evidently caused difficulties for some container manufacturers including suppliers of fiber drums. The Board does not propose at this time to make substantive changes to packaging currently in use.

Based on these considerations, Notice 71–17 is supplemented by a proposal to amend 49 CFR 173 as follows:

In § 173.245b, subparagraph (a)(6) would be added to read as follows:

§ 173.245b Corrosive solids not specifically provided for.

(6) Fiber drums not exceeding 550 pounds net weight, made tight against sifting and moisture.

This proposal is made under the authority of sections 831–835 of title 18, United States Code, section 9 of the Department of Transportation Act (49 U.S.C. 1657), and title VI and section 902(h) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 1421–1430 and 1472(h)).

Issued in Washington, D.C. on August 13, 1971.

Chairman, Hazardous Materials Regulations Board.

AGREEMENT WITH AMERICAN SHEEP PRODUCERS COUNCIL, INC.

Determination of Approval by Producers in Referendum

Pursuant to section 708 of the National Wool Act of 1954, as amended (7 U.S.C. 1787), a referendum was held among sheep and wool producers in the United States to determine whether they approved a proposed new agreement by the Secretary of Agriculture with the American Sheep Producers Council, Inc., for developing and conducting advertising and sales promotion programs for wool and lamb and for deductions from payments to such producers to be made pursuant to the Act for the marketing years 1971, 1972, and 1973. Notice of the referendum (36 F.R. 8337) published May 4, 1971, included the text of the proposed agreement.

In the referendum held pursuant to the notice, 86.9 percent of the voting producers who were engaged in the production for market of sheep or wool (i.e., anyone who, continuously during a single period of at least 30 days during the calendar year 1970, owned in the United States sheep or lambs 6 months of age or older) voted in favor of the agreement, and the producers voting in favor owned 87.3 percent of the sheep or lambs owned by all the voting producers. The 1970 calendar year is a representative period of production.

Accordingly, I hereby determine that the agreement has the approval of the number of producers required by the National Wool Act of 1954 since more than two-thirds of the total number of producers, and producers of more than two-thirds of the total volume of production, represented in the referendum, indicated approval of the agreement.

I have this day signed the agreement and it became effective upon my signature.

Office of the Secretary

FEDERAL BOAT SAFETY ACT OF 1971

Exemption to Preserve Certain State and Local Boat Safety Laws and Regulations

On August 10, 1971, the President signed into law the "Federal Boat Safety Act of 1971" (Public Law 92-75).

Section 10 of the Act, "Federal Preemption", provides that:

Unless permitted by the Secretary under section 9 of this Act, no State or political subdivision thereof may establish, continue in effect, or enforce any provision of law or regulation which establishes any boat or associated equipment performance or other safety standard, or which imposes any requirement for associated equipment, except, unless disapproved by the Secretary, the carrying or using of marine safety articles to meet uniquely hazardous conditions or circumstances within the State, which is not identical to a Federal regulation issued under section 5 of this Act.

Section 9 of the Act, "Exemptions," provides that:

The Secretary may, if he considers that boating safety will not be adversely affected, issue exemptions from any provision of this Act or regulations and standards established thereunder, on terms and conditions as he considers appropriate.

Many States and political subdivisions of States have enacted laws and issued regulations governing boat safety equipment requirements. Some have promulgated boat and equipment safety standards.

Boating safety will not be adversely affected by continuing in effect those existing laws and regulations of the various States and political subdivisions until new boating safety regulations are issued under the Federal Boat Safety Act of 1971. Accordingly, under the authority vested in me by sections 9 and 10 of the Federal Boat Safety Act of 1971, I hereby exempt each State of the United States, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Guam, American Samoa, and the District of Columbia and political subdivisions thereof from the provisions of section 10 of the Federal Boat Safety Act of 1971 that prohibit any of those jurisdictions from continuing in effect or enforcing any provision of law or regulation that is not identical to a Federal regulation. This exemption applies only to laws and regulations in effect on the effective date of the Federal Boat Safety Act of 1971 and remains in effect until expressly superseded, revoked, or otherwise terminated.

This exemption is effective on August 11, 1971.

Issued in Washington, D.C., on August 11, 1971.

JOHN A. VOLPE,
Secretary of Transportation.

CIVIL AERONAUTICS BOARD

[Docket No. 23354; Order 71-8-58]

ALOHA AIRLINES, INC., AND HAWAIIAN AIRLINES, INC.

Order Approving Agreement Regarding Schedules

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D.C. on the 12th day of August 1971.

Agreement of Aloha Airlines, Inc., and Hawaiian Airlines, Inc., relating to schedules over their respective routes.

By Order 71-6-124, June 24, 1971, the Board granted, subject to conditions, the application of Aloha Airlines, Inc. (Aloha) which requested authority from the Board to engage in scheduling discussions with Hawaiian Airlines, Inc. (Hawaiian).

A discussion meeting was held on July 13, 1971,[1] and as a result thereof, the instant agreement of July 15, 1971, has been filed with the Board for approval under section 412 of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended (the Act) and pursuant to ordering paragraph 7 of Order 71-6-124, supra.

The agreement provides that: Hawaiian will decrease its proposed fall 1971 schedules by four daily one-way segment flights (excluding cargo flights) in one or more of the four major markets;[2] Aloha may add four daily flights in those markets to its proposed fall 1971 schedules; the carriers will continue to exchange traffic data as has been their practice in the past; if either carrier intends to increase the total number of seats offered in the four major markets during any service period over the level offered during the same period of the prior year, it must serve such proposed filing upon the other carrier 60 days in advance; if the other carrier objects to the proposed schedule increase, it is to notify the filing carrier, the Board, and the State of Hawaii, and the parties shall meet on not less than 7 days' notice "to attempt to resolve the dispute";[3] and the agreement shall be of no effect unless it is both approved by the Board upon conditions which are not reasonably objectionable to either carrier, and the agreement is acceptable to the Board as constituting a settlement or dismissal of the enforcement cases in Dockets Nos. 21604 and 21695. In addition, the application requests the Board to authorize the carriers to engage in discussions as contemplated by the agreement over a 2-year period, or for such period as the Board deems proper, upon appropriate notice and under such procedural safeguards as the Board shall establish. The schedules contemplated by the agreement have an effective date of September 7, 1971.

In support of the agreement, the carriers state that the reasons and justifications for the agreement are adequately set forth in the transcript.

Comments have been received from the State of Hawaii supporting the agreement.

Upon consideration of the material contained in the record, we have decided to approve the agreement for a period of 90 days, with the exception of paragraph (9)(b); and to defer action on paragraph (9)(b) pending the filing by the carriers of appropriate amendments to the agreement.[4]

In approving this agreement,[5] we find that the September schedules proposed by this agreement are not unreasonable, that the service provided to the public will not be impaired,[6] and that the agreement will make a substantial contribution to the maintenance of viable competition in the intra-Hawaiian markets. Pursuant to the agreement, Aloha will be operating 43.6 percent of the fall schedules in the four major markets. Absent the changes in fall schedules contemplated by this agreement, Aloha's share will be only 39.5 percent. The implementation of the schedules proposed in this agreement should allow Hawaiian to operate at a profit and greatly decrease the magnitude of Aloha's losses. Absent this agreement, and failing alternative Board action, Aloha's chances for survival would be significantly less. Should Aloha fail, the public would, at least initially, be deprived of the significant benefits of a competitive intra-Hawaiian service. Thus, we believe that the agreement is required by an important transportation need.

We note, however, two major defects in the agreement. First, this agreement may not relieve the overcapacity problem that could exist next summer. Second, the agreement provides no procedure for resolving disputes over schedule increases that the parties are unable to resolve during the scheduling talks provided for in the agreement.

The agreement provides for schedule discussions if either carrier increases the number of seats offered in the four major markets over the level provided during the same period of the previous year. Under this agreement, Hawaiian would be able to reproduce this summer's schedules next summer without triggering the scheduling talks. Since Aloha has alleged, possibly with some merit, that Hawaiian has overscheduled this summer, we believe the agreement to be deficient in this respect. Accordingly, we believe the public interest in approval of these extraordinary measures beyond the period of the proposed September schedules requires further consideration by the parties with respect to reasonable capacity to be provided for the forthcoming summer season.

The agreement is also defective in that it does not provide machinery for resolution of disputes if, after discussions, the parties are unable to agree. The absence of such a provision subjects the entire agreement to abuse, and poses the threat

[1] The meeting was attended by a representative of the State of Hawaii as well as by observers for the Board.

[2] The four major markets are Honolulu-Hilo, Honolulu-Kauai, Honolulu-Maui, and Maui-Kona.

[3] The agreement further provides that no limitations will be placed on extra sections, but if either carrier objects to the number being operated, they will meet under the same procedures for resolving increased schedules.

[4] Paragraph (9)(b) of the agreement provides that the agreement shall not be effective unless it is acceptable to the Board as constituting a settlement for dismissal of the enforcement cases in Dockets Nos. 21604 and 21695.

[5] Our approval of this agreement in no way lessens the repugnance to us generally of joint efforts to limit schedules by mutual agreement. We do so here, as in a previous instance, recognizing the destructive competition which has characterized intra-Hawaiian service by these carriers, which constitutes a sui generis circumstance, the elimination or reduction of which fulfills a serious transportation need namely the maintenance of competition in the intra-Hawaiian service.

[6] Since the cuts in Hawaiian's September schedules will be offset by increases in Aloha's schedules, service to the affected communities would not be decreased.

of resumption of the destructive competition which has so imperiled competitive intra-Hawaiian service. This defect is particularly important in that the carriers wish this agreement to be considered as a settlement to the enforcement proceedings in Dockets Nos. 21604 and 21695. Were those enforcement proceedings prosecuted to a successful conclusion, a cease and desist order prohibiting the carriers from engaging in overscheduling could result. Such an order would be applicable to future instances of overscheduling.

In our view, some reasonable method of assuring that overscheduling will not occur in the future is essential if the enforcement actions are to be dismissed. The instant agreement does not provide the Board with such assurances. It is for this reason, in light of the other defect we have noted, that we have decided to defer action on paragraph (9)(b) of the agreement. We believe that the 90-day approval of the other portions of this agreement will provide the parties with ample time to negotiate satisfactory modifications of this agreement. In our view, negotiation between the parties is the best method for resolving the defects in this agreement.

In view of the foregoing, we find that the agreement will not be adverse to the public interest or in violation of the Act, and should be approved for a 90-day period, with the exception of paragraph (9)(b). We emphasize that our action approving this agreement is predicated upon the unique circumstances surrounding the agreement and affecting the operations of Aloha and Hawaii, and the necessity for extraordinary measures to preserve competitive intra-Hawaiian service. In deferring consideration of paragraph (9)(b) of the agreement, it is our expectation that Aloha and Hawaii will resubmit this agreement with appropriate amendments designed to remedy the defects discussed above. When such an amended agreement is filed, we will consider approving paragraph (9)(b), dismissing the enforcement proceedings in Dockets Nos. 21604 and 21695, and approving the arrangement for a longer period.

Accordingly, it is ordered, That:

1. Agreement CAB 22539, with the exception of paragraph (9)(b) of that agreement, be and it hereby is approved for a period of 90 days;

2. Action on paragraph (9)(b) of Agreement CAB 22539 be and it hereby is deferred;

3. Aloha and Hawaiian be and they are hereby authorized to engage in discussions, for the purpose of amending this agreement, or in implementation thereof during the period approved herein, pursuant to the terms and conditions of Order 71-6-124, dated June 24, 1971;

4. The approvals granted herein shall expire within 90 days after the effective date of this order; and

5. Pursuant to 49 U.S.C. 1382(b), the Board will retain continuing jurisdiction over this agreement and may modify or amend its approval of, or disapprove the agreement at any time without a hearing, or take whatever other action may be deemed appropriate.

This order shall be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

[Dockets Nos. 22364, 23660; Order 71-8-62]

BRANIFF AIRWAYS, INC.

Order of Suspension Regarding Fare Reductions

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D.C., on the 13th day of August 1971.

U.S. Mainland-Hawaii fare reductions proposed by Braniff Airways, Inc.

By tariff revisions [1] marked to become effective August 15, 1971, Braniff Airways, Inc., (Braniff) proposes to reduce its coach fares between Honolulu and Dallas, Houston, and New Orleans, to the level of economy fares now applicable in these markets. As a result of Braniff's practice of common faring with either the Dallas or Houston fares, coach fares in 12 additional markets would likewise be reduced. Braniff also proposes to reduce its first-class fares and to add midweek, off-peak, coach fares in these markets. The reductions in coach fares from presently existing single-level fares are $15 to $17 in peak fares, and $23 to $26 in off-peak fares. In addition, Braniff proposes to reduce coach fares at four points—Chicago, Des Moines, Omaha, and St. Louis—to match present coach fares of other carriers which are already at the economy level.

In justification of its proposal, Braniff states that it is returning to the relationship which existed prior to May 15, 1971, when it implemented the recommendations of the Examiner in the U.S. Mainland-Hawaii Fare Investigation. Braniff alleges that it can no longer charge fares for its low class of service which are $30 higher per round trip than fares for competitive service which is offered by Continental Air Lines, Inc. (Continental) with five-abreast seating from Dallas to the West Coast, and on B-747 aircraft beyond.

Continental has filed a complaint requesting that Braniff's proposal be suspended and investigated primarily on the grounds that it represents an attempt to eliminate economy service. Continental states that the question of whether there should be a third level of service in the Hawaiian market is now pending before the Board; and alleges that, should Braniff's proposal be permitted, it will file new economy fares at a level $10 below that of the instant coach fare proposal and will also extend this new level to the Chicago-Honolulu market.[2]

In answer to the complaint and in further justification of its proposal, Braniff states that a Continental complaint against a similar Braniff filing was dismissed by Order 70-11-103 dated November 20, 1970; that Braniff's revised Hawaiian fares were filed for competitive reasons and precisely match the economy fares of the complainant Continental; and that the method chosen by Braniff to meet the diversionary impact of Continental's fares is to meet their level on the same terms as last November, and on the same terms as have consistently been effective and are now effective at Chicago. Braniff also alleges that Continental makes no real distinction between its coach and economy service as to reservations procedures or accommodations, other than a requirement that economy passengers purchase in-flight meal service at a cost which is less than the differential in price between the two services. The carrier further contends that while both Braniff and Continental have nine-abreast seating in B-747 aircraft, Braniff operates a higher density coach section than Continental and has a total of 346 seats on the aircraft as opposed to 295 for Continental. Braniff has also submitted data showing that from December 1970 through May 1971, when its coach fares matched Continental's economy fares, its full-fare traffic as a percent of total traffic was higher by a rather substantial amount than before or since that period, when its coach fares were at a higher level.

Upon consideration of the tariff filing, the complaint and answer thereto, and all relevant matters, the Board has determined that the proposed reductions in coach fares to the level of corresponding economy fares may be unjust or unreasonable, or unjustly discriminatory, or unduly preferential, or unduly prejudicial, or otherwise unlawful, and should be suspended. The proposed fares are already under investigation in the U.S. Mainland-Hawaii Fare Investigation, Docket 22364.

[1] Revisions to Airline Tariff Publishers, Inc., Agent, Tariffs CAB Nos. 136 and 162.

[2] Since filing its complaint, Continental has made such a filing for effect Sept. 4, 1971, and Braniff has filed to match the lower fares at Dallas, Houston, and New Orleans.

At the time the Board instituted the U.S. Mainland-Hawaii Fare Investigation, it suspended several tariff proposals specifically in the belief that their implementation might jeopardize continuation of a three-tier structure during the pendency of that proceeding. It appears likely that Braniff's proposal here could have that same effect or, if it does not, would likely result in a general debasement in the fare level at a time when it is generally acknowledged that the carriers can ill afford a loss in revenues. The Board has just recently decided to review the Examiner's initial decision as it relates to a number of issues in the proceeding including the issue of fare structure.[3] In light of the advanced stage of the investigation, we believe it important to maintain the status quo so as to provide an opportunity for resolution of the matter on the basis of the formal record.

We are aware, as Braniff alleges, that its proposal here is essentially similar to that which the Board permitted in November 1970.[4] However, our action at that time was predicated largely upon the fact that Braniff was using a six-abreast configuration in conventional jets as compared with Continental's five-abreast seating in these aircraft. At the present time, however, most of Braniff's service between Dallas and Honolulu is in B-747 aircraft,[5] while Continental's service continues to be provided in narrow-body jets between Dallas/Houston and Los Angeles with connections to the B-747 service at that point. While Braniff asserts that Continental's B-747 offers less dense seating than its own, there is no difference in the number of seats abreast and there is no showing that the overall difference in seating density is such as to afford Continental a competitive advantage in the eyes of the traveling public.[6] In any event, we note that our action herein need not prevent Braniff from being competitive in price with Continental, since it is always free to institute economy-class service in the markets involved at appropriate fare levels for that service.

[3] Order 71-6-134, June 25, 1971.

[4] Order 70-11-103, Nov. 20, 1970. We also recognize that the present coach fares at Chicago are at the economy level, and have been so since service pursuant to the new route authorizations was implemented in 1969. However, that proposal was one of a number made simultaneously, many of which were initial tariffs and not subject to suspension, and it was felt that selective suspension was not feasible in the circumstances.

[5] The Dallas service is comprised of one daily B-747 flight and one B-707 flight operated on Saturdays and Sundays. Braniff's service between Houston and New Orleans, on the one hand, and Honolulu, on the other, is via Dallas using narrow-body jets in six abreast configurations. These segments represent only a minor portion of the total trip and there is no showing that such service limited to these short segments constitutes a competitive disadvantage.

Accordingly, pursuant to the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, and particularly sections 204(a), 403, 404, and 1002 thereof:

It is ordered, That:

1. Pending hearing and decisions by the Board, the fares and provisions described in Appendix A attached hereto[7] are suspended and their use deferred to and including November 11, 1971, unless otherwise ordered by the Board, and that no changes be made therein during the period of suspension except by order or special permission of the Board;

2. Except to the extent granted herein, the complaint in Docket 23660 is dismissed; and

3. A copy of this order be served upon Braniff Airways, Inc., and Continental Air Lines, Inc.

This order will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Notice of Filing of Petition for Issuance of Formal Ruling

AUGUST 13, 1971.

No. MC-C-7505 (Notice of Filing of Petition for Issuance of Formal Ruling), filed July 19, 1971.

Petitioner: H. T. COKER CONSTRUCTION CO. Petitioner's representative: Charles W. Durrett, Post Office Box 750, 307 11th Street, Alamogordo, NM 88310.

Petitioner requests a formal ruling as to whether a proposed transportation arrangement between petitioner and Artcraft Tile Company, Inc., a Texas corporation, for the reciprocal transportation of property by motor vehicle in interstate commerce, is exempt from regulation by the Commission pursuant to the exemption authorized by section 203 (b)(9) of the Interstate Commerce Act. Petitioner is engaged in the construction of commercial buildings, and Artcraft is engaged in the tile setting business and in the manufacture of decorative panels. Petitioner and Artcraft own or lease trucks which are used to transport their own products, goods, and chattels. Neither party is engaged in for-hire transportation. Petitioner's trucks travel empty to Houston, Tex., and return with a full load to Alamogordo, N. Mex., while Artcraft's vehicles travel loaded to the Lake Charles, La., area and return empty to the El Paso, Tex.-Alamogordo, N. Mex., area. Under the proposed arrangement, petitioner and Artcraft, prior to the transportation of their own products, goods and chattels from or to the El Paso-Alamogordo area or from or to the Houston or Lake Charles area, will contact the other to ascertain whether it would be practicable to transport the other's products, goods, and chattels on the now empty leg. Neither part at any time will be obligated (1) to haul any specific load, and (2) to make regular scheduled trips. Any interested person desiring to participate and to be heard in the matter may file an original and six copies of his written representations, views, or arguments in support of or against the proposal, within 30 days of this publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

By the Commission.

MINIMUM WAGES FOR FEDERAL AND FEDERALLY ASSISTED CONSTRUCTION

Area Wage Determination Decisions for Specified Localities in the States of Michigan, Ohio and Wisconsin

There are set forth below general Area Wage Determination Decisions Nos. AM–373 through AM–441 of the Secretary of of Labor. These decisions specify, in accordance with applicable law and on the basis of information available to the Department of Labor from its study of local wage conditions and from other sources, the basic hourly wage rates and fringe benefit payments which are determined to be prevailing for the described classes of laborers and mechanics employed in construction activity of the character and in the localities specified therein. The decisions are applicable to Federal and federally assisted construction in described localities situated within the States of Michigan, Ohio, and Wisconsin. No general area wage determinations are currently applicable to localities within such States other than those described in these decisions; only determinations for specific projects are made in such other localities.

The determinations in these decisions of such prevailing rates and fringe benefits have been made by authority of the Secretary of Labor pursuant to the provisions of the Davis-Bacon Act of March 3, 1931, as amended (46 Stat. 1494, as amended, 40 U.S.C. 276a) and of other Federal statutes referred to in 29 CFR 1.1 (including the statutes listed at 36 F.R. 306 following Secretary of Labor's Order No. 24–70) containing provisions for the payment of wages which are dependent upon determinations by the Secretary of Labor under the Davis-Bacon Act; and pursuant to the provisions of Part 1 of Subtitle A of Title 29 of the Code of Federal Regulations, Procedure for Predetermination of Wage Rates, and of Secretary of Labor's Orders 13–71 and 15–71 (36 F.R. 8755, 8756). The prevailing rates and fringe benefits determined in these decisions shall, in accordance with the provisions of the foregoing statutes, constitute the minimum wages payable on Federal or federally assisted construction projects to laborers and mechanics of the specified classes engaged in contract work of the character and in the localities described therein.

Good cause is hereby found for not utilizing notice and public procedure thereon prior to the issuance of these determinations as prescribed in 5 U.S.C. 533, and not providing for delay in effective date as prescribed in that section, because the necessity to issue construction industry wage determinations frequently and in large volume causes such procedures to be impractical and contrary to the public interest. These wage determination decisions shall, accordingly, be effective on publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, except as otherwise provided hereinafter.

The wage determinations in these decisions replace all prior general or area wage determinations for localities in the above States, the expiration dates of which were extended by the notice of variation published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on April 3, 1971 (36 F.R. 6467). The replaced determinations are hereby cancelled: Provided, however, That where bids have been opened or will be opened within 10 days from the date of publication of this document in the FEDERAL REGISTER, the expiration date of the prior wage determination decision provided for preparation of such bids may be extended by the contracting agency for an additional 30-day period to permit orderly contracting procedures.

These wage determinations are effective for a period of 120 days from the date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER and are to be used in accordance with the provisions of 29 CFR Part 5. Accordingly, the applicable determination together with any modification issued subsequent to this date during this 120-day period, shall be made a part of every contract for performance of the described work within the geographic area indicated as required by an applicable Federal prevailing wage law and 29 CFR Part 5. The wage rates contained herein shall be the minimum paid under such contract by contractors and subcontractors on the work.

Area wage determination decisions for specific localities in other States, the District of Columbia, and insular possessions will be published in series on August 20, August 25, August 27, and September 3, 1971. Changes in published area decisions will be made as necessary and will appear in Friday issues of the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Any person, organization, or governmental agency having an interest in the wages determined or to be determined as prevailing in any locality is encouraged to submit wage rate information for consideration by the Department. Further information and self-explanatory forms for the purpose of submitting this data may be obtained by writing to the U.S. Department of Labor, Employment Standards Administration, Wage and Hour Division, Division of Wage Determinations, Washington, D.C. 20210.

The area wage determination decisions for localities within the above States are set forth below.

Dated at Washington, D.C., this 11th day of August 1971.

HORACE E. MENASCO, Administrator,
Wage and Hour Division.

Title 3—The President

PROCLAMATION 4075

Year of World Minority Language Groups

By The President of The United States of America

A Proclamation

Among the people of today's world, there are more than two thousand distinct vernacular tongues without an alphabet or written form. Millions of people remain in cultural and linguistic isolation, unable to experience the benefits of modern civilization or to become full participants in the world community.

Thousands of skilled linguists of diverse nationalities are working in some of the most remote areas of the world in cooperation with foreign governments and institutions of higher learning. Living with a single tribe or ethnic grouping, for years in some cases, the linguistic scholar must gradually gain the confidence of a people. He immerses himself in the culture and learns their patterns of thought and styles of expression. Only then can the pioneer of literacy begin to produce an alphabet and to undertake a thorough grammatical analysis of the language. Out of these efforts comes basic literacy, and the end of isolation.

The Congress, by a joint resolution approved August 16, 1971, has requested the President to issue a proclamation calling on the people of the United States to recognize the international effort to provide written languages for minority language groups, and designating 1971 as the "Year of World Minority Language Groups".

NOW, THEREFORE, I, RICHARD NIXON, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate 1971 the Year of World Minority Language Groups.

I urge Americans to honor those dedicated linguists who work throughout the world for literacy, and I invite foreign governments, the governments of our States and communities, and all people to observe the year by continuing appropriate scientific and educational activities.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand this seventeenth day of August in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred seventy-one; and of the Independence of the United States of America, the one hundred ninety-sixth.

Richard Nixon

GENERAL

§ 728.1 Basis and purpose.

(a) The regulations in this subpart provide terms and conditions for the wheat set-aside program for the 1971 through 1973 crops of wheat, respectively, under which wheat marketing certificates are issued to producers who set-aside acreage to approved conservation uses and, in addition, maintain the acreage of cropland on the farm devoted in preceding years to soil-conserving uses (herein called "conserving base"), except to the extent that they elect to devote the set-aside acreage to approved alternate crops in lieu of conservation uses. Wheat marketing certificates are issued under this subpart for the purpose of enabling producers on any farm for which certificates are issued to receive, in addition to the other proceeds from the sale of wheat, an amount equal to the face value of such certificates.

(b) If the operator of the farm elects to participate in the program, certificates shall be made available to the producers on such farm only if such producers set aside in accordance with this subpart an acreage on the farm equal to the number of acres stated on Form ASCS–477, Intention to Participate and Payment Application (herein called "Form 477").

(c) In accordance with section 101 of the Agricultural Act of 1970 and the regulations in Part 795 of this chapter, the total value of certificates which a person shall be entitled to receive annually under the program shall not exceed $55,000.

(d) The program is applicable throughout the United States except in Hawaii and Alaska.

(iii) Any acreage of wheat destroyed by natural causes after the disposition date, if the operator requests reclassification in writing;

(2) Any acreage devoted to a mixture of crops if the county committee determines that the predominant crop is wheat and such acreage meets the requirements of subparagraph (1) of this paragraph as being wheat acreage.

(n) "Wheat planted and considered planted acreage" means the wheat acreage as defined in paragraph (m) of this section and:

(1) Any acreage which the county committee determines was not planted to wheat or failed because of drought, flood, or other natural disaster or condition beyond the control of the operator;

(b) State and county committees, ASCS commodity offices and representatives and employees thereof do not have authority to modify or waive any of the provisions of the regulations in this subpart, as amended or supplemented.

ALLOTMENTS AND YIELDS

§ 728.4 1972 national domestic allotment for wheat.

NOTE: For the text of § 728.4, see 36 F.R. 7317.

§ 728.11 Determination of 1971 domestic allotments.

The farm domestic allotment for the 1971 crop of wheat shall be determined by multiplying the farm allotment established for the 1971 crop under §§ 728.314 to 728.357 by a national allocation percentage of .4529 except that the provisions of § 728.14(e) shall be applicable to new farm domestic allotments established for the 1971 crop. Such national allocation percentage results in a 1971 national domestic allotment of 19.7 million acres which equates to a wheat marketing allocation of 535 million bushels.

§ 728.12 Determination of 1972–1973 domestic allotments for old farms.

The farm domestic allotment for the 1972 and 1973 crops of wheat for old farms shall be determined by the county committee by apportioning the county domestic allotment among old farms in the county on the basis of the farm domestic wheat allotment for the preceding crop adjusted to reflect established crop-rotation practices and such other factors as the Deputy Administrator determines should be considered for the purpose of establishing a fair and equitable allotment.

§ 728.13 Allotment reductions.

Notwithstanding any other provision of this subpart, an old farm wheat domestic allotment shall be reduced:

(a) To the extent requested in writing by the farm owner not later than the closing date for filing Form 477.

(b) To the extent acreage of cropland on the farm is permanently removed from agricultural production, as determined by the county committee.

(c) If the current year's wheat planted and considered planted acreage on the farm is less than 90 percent of the domestic allotment. In such case, the domestic allotment for the succeeding year shall be reduced by the percentage by which the wheat planted and considered planted acreage is less than 90 percent of the domestic allotment for the current year, but such reduction shall not exceed 20 percent of the domestic allotment. If the wheat planted and considered planted acreage is zero for three consecutive years beginning in 1971, the domestic allotment shall be reduced to zero. No domestic allotment shall be reduced or lost through failure to plant if all producers on the farm elect to limit the acres for issuance of certificates to the acreage planted and considered planted to wheat as provided in § 728.41(j).

§ 728.14 Domestic allotments for new farms for 1972 and 1973.

(a) The county committee, with the approval of the State committee, shall determine a domestic allotment for each eligible new farm for 1972 and 1973 for which a domestic acreage allotment is requested in writing prior to July 1 of the year immediately preceding the current year in the winter wheat area, and prior to March 1 of the current year in the spring wheat area. The spring wheat area shall include any area where spring wheat is normally grown, even though winter wheat is also grown in such area. Each request for such domestic allotment shall be made by the farm owner or operator on Form MQ–25, Application for New Farm Allotment, which shall contain statements as to location and identification of the farm, name and address of the farm operator and other data necessary to enable the county committee to determine whether the conditions of eligibility prescribed by paragraph (b) of this section have been met.

(b) Eligibility for a new allotment shall be conditioned upon the following:

(1) The application for a new farm allotment is filed by the farm operator or farm owner at the office of the county committee on or before the applicable closing date.

(2) The farm does not otherwise qualify for a domestic wheat allotment.

(3) Neither the operator nor the owner of the farm covered by the application owns or operates any other farm in the United States for which a domestic wheat allotment is established for the current year.

(4) The type of soil and topography of the land on the farm for which the domestic wheat allotment is requested is suitable for the production of wheat and the production of wheat on the farm will not result in an undue erosion hazard under continuous production.

(5) The operator has adequate equipment and other facilities readily available for the successful production of wheat on the farm.

(6) The operator expects to derive during the current year more than 50 percent of his income from the production of agricultural commodities or products from farming. If the farm operator is a partnership, each partner must expect to derive during the current year, more than 50 percent of his income from the production of agricultural commodities or products. If the farm operator is a corporation, it must have no major corporate purpose other than operation or ownership of such farm, and the officers and general manager of the corporation must expect to derive during the current year more than 50 percent of their current year income, including dividends and salaries from the corporation, from the production of agricultural commodities or products from farming. In estimating the income of the farm operator from farming, no value shall be allowed for the estimated return from the production of the requested allotment. However, credit will be allowed for the estimated value of home gardens, livestock and livestock products, poultry, or the agricultural products produced for home consumption or other use on the farm. The provisions of this subparagraph shall not be applicable if the county committee, with the approval of a representative of the State committee, determines that the income of the operator, from both farming and nonfarming sources, will not provide a reasonable standard of living for the operator and his family. In making such determination, the county committee shall consider such factors as size and type of farming operations, estimated net worth, estimated gross family farm income, estimated family off-farm income, number of dependents, and other factors affecting the operator's ability to provide a reasonable standard of living for himself and his family.

(7) The applicant has at least 2 years' experience producing wheat during the last 5 years including 1 year's experience in the last 3 years: Provided, That the number of years which may be used in determining whether the applicant has at least 2 years experience may be increased from 5 years by the number of years in which the applicant could not grow wheat during such period because (i) the permitted acreage of nonconserving crops was zero on all farms in which the applicant had an interest, or (ii) the applicant was in the armed services.

(8) In the case of a farm which includes land returned to agricultural production after having been acquired by an agency having the right of eminent domain for which the entire domestic wheat allotment (or the entire wheat allotment for crop years prior to 1971) was pooled pursuant to Part 719 of this chapter at least 3 years shall have elapsed from the date the former owner was displaced from the acquired farm to the date the request for a new farm domestic allotment is considered.

(9) If an old farm with a domestic wheat allotment (or a wheat allotment for crop years prior to 1971) is reconstituted and the division of the allotment, as designated by the farm owner, leaves a divided part of the farm with a zero allotment, such part shall not be eligible for a new farm domestic wheat allotment for 3 years beginning with the year in which the reconstitution becomes effective.

(10) If the owner of a farm releases a domestic wheat allotment (or the wheat allotment for crop years prior to 1971), the farm shall not be eligible for a new allotment for 3 years, beginning with the year the release became effective.

(c) In establishing a domestic wheat allotment for a new farm, the county committee shall take into consideration the tillable acres, crop-rotation practices, type of soil, topography, and the farming system to be followed by the operator, including the equipment and other facilities available for the production of wheat under such system, and shall limit the domestic allotment to the wheat acreage planned for the farm for the current year.

(d) The total new farm domestic wheat allotments approved in a State in the current year shall not exceed a reserve established by the State committee of not more than 1 percent of the total domestic wheat allotments for all farms in that State. No part of such reserve for new allotments shall be apportioned to a farm to reflect new cropland brought into production after November 30, 1971.

(e) Notwithstanding any other provision of this part, if the wheat planted and considered planted acreage, for the year the new farm domestic wheat allotment is established is less than 90 percent of the allotment;

(1) The farm domestic allotment for such year shall be reduced to the acreage planted and considered planted to wheat and certificates computed on that basis; and

(2) The allotment for the succeeding year shall not exceed the acreage planted and considered planted to wheat for the prior year.

(f) The planting on a farm of wheat of any crop for which no farm domestic allotment was established shall not make the farm eligible for an old farm domestic allotment nor shall such farm by reason of such planting be considered ineligible for a new farm domestic allotment.

§ 728.15 Farm yields.

(a) Determining yields. The county committee shall determine projected farm wheat yields for old wheat farms in the county on the basis of the yield per harvested acre of wheat on the farm during each of the 3 calendar years immediately preceding the year in which such projected farm yield is determined, adjusted for abnormal weather conditions affecting such yield, for trends in yields and for any significant changes in production practices.

(b) Provable yields. Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph (a) of this section, if reliable records of the actual yield in bushels per harvested acre for each of the 3 years immediately preceding the year in which the yield is determined are available to the county committee, the projected yield per harvested acre of wheat for the farm shall not be less than the average of such yields, with such adjustment as determined necessary to provide a fair and equitable yield.

(c) Yield for new farms. The county committee shall determine a projected wheat yield for each new farm, taking into consideration the yields approved for old wheat farms which are comparable with respect to type of soil, topography, moisture conditions, and current production practices.

§ 728.16 Farms acquired by Federal, State or local agency having the right of eminent domain.

The domestic wheat allotment determined for a farm shall, if the farm is acquired for any purpose other than for the continued production of allotment crops by any Federal, State, or other agency having the right of eminent domain, become available for use in providing domestic allotments for other farms owned by the owner so displaced, and such apportionment shall be made in accordance with Part 719 of this chapter.

§ 728.17 Reconstitution of farms.

Farms shall be reconstituted and domestic allotments established therefor in accordance with Part 719 of the chapter, as amended. Yields for farms which are reconstituted after yields are originally established shall be determined as follows:

(a) Combination. Multiply the domestic allotment by the yield for each parent farm and divide the sum of the results for all parent farms by the sum of the allotments on the parent farms.

(b) Division. Determine a yield in accordance with § 728.15. The weighted average yields for all the farms resulting from the division are limited to the yield for the parent farm, except for rounding.

(c) Notice and date of reconstitution. Any Form 477 filed for a farm before it is reconstituted shall be canceled and the farm operator notified of the cancellation. A corrected Form 477 may be prepared for the farm(s) as properly constituted even though this action is necessary after the final date for filing Form 477 as specified in § 728.37.

§ 728.18 Notice of allotment, conserving base, payment rate, and yield.

Each operator interested in the wheat crop on a farm for which a domestic allotment is established shall be notified in writing of the allotment, the projected yield per acre, the advance per acre payment rate and the conserving base for the farm: Provided, That the notice shall not be mailed to any producer who has filed a written request that he not be furnished the notice, but it shall be filed with the producer's request in the county office. The producer may withdraw his request at any time; however, during the period a request is in effect the producer shall be considered as having been timely and correctly notified of the contents of the notice. Such notice will be on Form ASCS–477–1, Notice of Allotment, Base Acreages, Yields, and Rates (hereinafter called Form 477–1).

NOTE: For the text of § 728.35, see 36 F.R. 1031.

DOMESTIC WHEAT MARKETING CERTIFICATES

§ 728.36 Eligibility requirements.

(a) General. A person is eligible for the program if he is a producer on a farm which meets the requirements of paragraph (b) of this section and he fulfills the requirements of paragraph (c) of this section.

(b) Farm requirements. (1) A Form 477 must be filed for the farm by the operator in accordance with § 728.37.

(2) The set-aside requirement must be met. Under the 1971 program, an acreage equal to 75 percent of the domestic wheat allotment must be set aside from production and devoted to approved conservation uses: Provided, That (i) a person whose payments under the program are reduced because of the $55,000 payment limitation may request a downward adjustment in the set-aside requirement pursuant to the provisions of Part 795 of this chapter, and (ii) if at least 55 percent of the cropland on an established summer fallow farm is devoted to a summer fallow use, no further acreage shall be required to be set aside on the farm.

(3) The acreage set aside from production as stated on Form 477 must be devoted to one or more approved conservation uses specified in Part 792 of this chapter, as amended, or to alternate crops and the operator must comply with the limitations on the use of such acreage also specified in such part.

(4) In addition to the acreage referred to in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph an acreage equal to the conserving base established for the farm under Part 792 of this chapter, as amended, must be devoted to one or more of the conservation uses specified in such part. Acreage designated as diverted or set aside under any other Federal acreage reduction program shall not be counted toward maintaining the conserving base unless authorized in the regulations governing such program or Part 792 of this chapter, as amended.

(5) In the case of any farm participating in the CRP, CCP, CAP, or RCP, the acreage of wheat and other nonconserving crops (other than approved alternate crops on acreage set aside under this program, the feed grain set-aside program and the upland cotton set-aside program) plus the acreages set aside under such programs, shall not exceed the smallest number of acres of nonconserving crops permitted under the CRP, CCP, CAP, and RCP.

(6) Land owned by the Federal Government which has been leased subject to restrictions prohibiting the production of wheat, or requiring the use of land for other purposes, or prohibiting the receipt of Federal payments for diversion or set-aside of such acreage will not be eligible for participation in the program. Any other land owned by the Federal Government which is being occupied without a lease, permit, or other right of possession or land in a national wildlife refuge shall not be eligible for participation in the program.

(7) Producers on a farm shall not be eligible for participation in the program if the county committee determines that (i) the farm would not normally be operated as grain producing farm or (ii) the farm is located in an area considered by the county committee as predominately nonagricultural.

(c) Producer eligibility requirements. (1) The producer must be a person who as landowner, landlord, tenant, or sharecropper shares in the wheat produced in the current year (or the proceeds therefrom) on a farm meeting the requirements of paragraph (b) of this section or would have shared in such commodity if wheat had been produced on such farm in the current year.

(2) A minor will be eligible to participate in the program only if (i) the right of majority has been conferred on him by court proceedings; or (ii) a guardian has been appointed to manage his property and the applicable documents are signed by the guardian; or (iii) a bond is furnished under which a surety guarantees to protect the Commodity Credit Corporation from any loss incurred for which the minor would be liable had he been an adult. Notwithstanding the foregoing, payment may be made to a minor after December 31 of the current year upon a determination by the county committee that the minor has met the requirements of the program.

§ 728.37 Intention to participate in the program.

(a) Who may file. A Form ASCS–477 must be filed by the operator of an eligible farm if he wishes to participate in the program.

(b) Where to file. Form 477 shall be filed with the office of the county committee having jurisdiction over the county where the farm is located.

(c) When to file. Form 477 shall be filed within the period authorized by the Deputy Administrator. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the closing date may be extended by the county committee if the producers on the farm establish to the satisfaction of the county committee that they intended to participate in the program and their failure to file by such date was not due to the fault or negligence of the producers.

(d) Withdrawal and revision. The operator may, upon approval of the county committee, withdraw Form ASCS–477 by filing a written notice of withdrawal of the form with the county committee, except that the form may not be withdrawn after the operator certifies to program acreage on the farm which is found by measurement to be erroneous by an amount exceeding the tolerance, if any, authorized under provisions of Parts 718 and 791 of this chapter, as amended. If Form 477 is withdrawn, the producers on the farm may, not later than the closing date, file a new Form 477. If the farm is reconstituted or if a revised allotment notice is issued for any reason, the operator shall have 15 days after the mailing date of such notice of reconstitution or revised allotment to file a new Form 477.

§ 728.38 Designation, use, and care of set-aside acreage.

The regulations governing the designation, use, and care of land set aside from production under this program and approved conservation uses thereon are set forth in Part 792 of this chapter, as amended.

§ 728.39 Farm conserving base.

The regulations governing the establishment and maintenance of the farm conserving base, Part 792 of this chapter, as amended, shall be applicable to the program.

§ 728.40 Determination of compliance.

(a) Determination of the wheat acreage and acreage designated as set aside shall be made in accordance with Part 718 of this chapter, as amended.

(b) A representative of the county or State committee or any authorized representative of the Secretary shall have the right at any reasonable time to enter a farm, concerning which representations have been made on any forms filed under the program, in order to measure the acreage of wheat and the acreage which the operator designated as devoted to approved conservation uses on the farm, to examine any records pertaining thereto, and otherwise to determine the accuracy of a producer's representations and the performance of his obligations under the program.

§ 728.41 Domestic wheat marketing certificates.

(a) Issuance. Issuance of domestic marketing certificates to the producers on a farm shall be made after they sign Form 477, the farm operator certifies that the farm is in compliance with the requirements of the program and the county committee determines that the producers and farm are in compliance with such requirements. If the certification of compliance is made after May 1 of the year following the current year, it shall not be accepted by the county committee unless prior approval of the State committee is obtained.

(b) Failure to comply fully. Except as otherwise provided herein and in Part 791 of this chapter, as amended, certificates shall not be issued for a farm or to a producer when there is failure to comply fully with the regulations in this subpart.

(c) Amount of domestic marketing certificates. Domestic marketing certificates shall be issued to producers on an eligible farm equal to the number of bushels obtained by multiplying the domestic wheat allotment by the farm projected yield determined in accordance with § 728.15.

(d) Value of domestic marketing certificates. The face value per bushel of domestic marketing certificates for the current year's crop of wheat shall be such amount as, together with the national average market price received by farmers during the first 5 months of the marketing year for such crop, the Secretary determines will be equal to the parity price for wheat as of the beginning of the marketing year for the crop. Such value shall be announced by an amendment to this subpart.

(e) Advance. An advance will be made to producers as soon as practicable after July 1 of the year in which the crop is harvested in an amount equal to 75 percent of the estimated per bushel face value of certificates to be issued to eligible producers. The advance shall be repaid through the withholding of certificates for such crop having a face value equal to such advance. If the face value of the certificates as finally determined is less than the advance, the difference shall not be required to be repaid.

(f) Certificates due a producer. Subject to the provisions of the payment limitation regulations in Part 795 of this chapter, the total amount of certificates due each eligible producer under the program shall be determined by multiplying the total amount of certificates earned for the farm by the producer's share of such certificates. Certificates having a total face value of $3 or less shall be issued to a producer only upon the request of the producer.

(g) Alternate crops. If a producer elects to devote the set aside acreage to approved alternate crops in accordance with §§ 728.1(a) and 728.2(a), a reduction shall be made in the face value of certificates otherwise computed for the farm. The per acre reduction for set-aside acreage devoted to approved alternate crops is $10.

(h) Certificates declined. If a producer declines, for personal reasons, to accept all or any part of his share of the certificates computed for a farm in accordance with the provisions of this section, such certificates or portion thereof shall not become available for any other producer on the farm.

(i) Unearned marketing certificates. Certificates issued to any producer which exceed the total amount of certificates earned by him under the program with respect to any farm shall be returned, or if not returned, the value thereof paid to the Commodity Credit Corporation. If for any reason no certificates are earned, the producer shall pay interest at the rate of 6 percent per annum on the total amount of certificates issued from the issue date to the date the certificates are returned or the value thereof paid. The provisions of the foregoing sentence requiring the payment of interest shall not apply if the producer earns a feed grain program payment on the same farm and in the year to which the refund applies.

(j) Protection of allotment. Producers otherwise eligible to receive certificates may elect to limit the acres for issuance of certificates to the wheat acreage planted and considered planted in order to protect the domestic allotment from reduction due to failure to plant.

§ 728.42 Division of certificates and additional provisions relating to tenants and sharecroppers.

Regulations relating to the division of certificates and additional provisions relating to tenants and sharecroppers are set forth in Part 794 of this chapter, as amended.

§ 728.43 Purchase of certificates by Commodity Credit Corporation.

Domestic marketing certificates, legally held by any person, will be purchased by Commodity Credit Corporation at any time at face value.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

§ 728.46 Successors-in-interest.

(a) In the case of the death, incompetency, or disappearance of any producer whose name appears on Form 477, the certificates due him shall be issued to his successor, as determined in accordance with the regulations in Part 707 of this chapter, as amended.

(b) If any person who had an interest as a producer of wheat or would have had an interest as a producer if wheat had been produced (herein called "predecessor") is succeeded on the farm by another producer (herein called "successor") after Form 477 has been filed, the certificates due the predecessor and successor shall be divided on such basis as they agree is fair and equitable. If such persons are unable to agree to a division of the certificates, the certificates shall be issued to the producer who has the interest in the crop at the time of harvest, and if the crop is completely destroyed prior to harvest, the certificates shall be issued to the producer who had the interest at the time of destruction of the crop.

(c) In any case where any certificates due any successor producer has previously been issued to the producer who filed Form 477, such certificates shall not be issued to the successor producer unless it is recovered from the producer to whom they have been issued or issuance is authorized by the Deputy Administrator.

§ 728.47 Scheme or device and fraudulent representation.

(a) A producer who is determined by the State committee, or the county committee with the approval of the State committee, to have adopted any scheme or device which tends to defeat the purpose of the wheat set-aside program shall not be entitled to receive wheat marketing certificates under the program for the year with respect to which the scheme or device was adopted and shall return any certificates received by him, or pay the value, thereof, to the Commodity Credit Corporation.

(b) The making of a fraudulent representation by a person in the program documents or otherwise for the purpose of obtaining wheat marketing certificates shall render the person liable to return the certificates received by him (or to pay the value thereof) to the Commodity Credit Corporation with respect to which the fraudulent representation was made.

(c) A producer who is determined by the State committee, or the county committee with the approval of the State committee, to have knowingly (1) made a false report of the wheat, feed grain, or upland cotton acreage on a farm participating in the programs for such commodities, (2) falsely certified compliance with other provisions of the wheat, feed grain, or upland cotton set-aside program, or (3) obstructed the county committee's efforts to determine compliance with the wheat, feed grain, or upland cotton set-aside program, shall not be entitled to receive program benefits under the wheat set-aside program, the feed grain set-aside program, and the upland cotton set-aside program for the year in which such action occurred and shall return any wheat marketing certificates (or pay the value thereof) and shall refund any payment received by him under such programs to the Commodity Credit Corporation.

(d) The provisions of this section shall be applicable in addition to any liability under criminal and civil frauds statutes.

§ 728.48 Setoffs and assignments.

(a) Producer indebtedness. The regulations issued by the Secretary governing setoffs and withholdings, Part 13 of this title, as amended, shall be applicable to this program.

(b) Assignments. The right to receive wheat marketing certificates under the regulations in this subpart may be assigned only to the Farmers Home Administration in accordance with instructions issued by the Deputy Administrator.

§ 728.49 Appeals.

A producer may obtain reconsideration and review of determinations made under this subpart in accordance with the Appeal Regulations, Part 780 of this chapter, as amended.

§ 728.50 Performance based on advice or action of a representative of a county or State committee.

The provisions of Part 790 of this chapter, as amended, relating to performance based upon action or advice of an authorized representative of the Secretary shall be applicable to this subpart.

§ 728.51 Release of prior years' excess wheat.

(a) Underproduction. Notwithstanding any other provisions of this title, the amount of any excess wheat stored by a producer under section 379c(b) of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, and the regulations contained in this title prior to the 1971 crop of wheat may be reduced by the amount by which the actual total production of the 1971, 1972, or 1973 wheat crop on the farm is less than the number of bushels determined by multiplying three times the domestic allotment for such crop on the farm by the yield established for the farm under the program for such crop: Provided, That (1) the conditions of paragraph (b) of the section are met and (2) if a producer having an interest in the excess wheat in storage no longer shares in the wheat crop on the farm, such producer may obtain the release of his share of the stored excess wheat to the extent of underproduction in the amount specified in the foregoing provisions of this paragraph on any other farm on which he shares in the wheat crop multiplied by his percent share of the wheat crop on such other farm.

(b) Conditions of release. Release of stored excess wheat by the county committee under paragraph (a) of this section is subject to the following conditions: (1) A producer having an interest in the excess wheat files a written request for release of the stored excess on or before December 31 of the year of harvest in which the underproduction occurred, (2) the producer establishes actual production to the satisfaction of the county committee and if the county committee determines a farm and warehouse visit is necessary to verify production, the producer remits a service fee to cover cost of such visit, and (3) the required amount of excess wheat is in the storage at the time of application.

§ 728.52 Supervisory authority of the State committee.

The State committee may take any action required by these regulations which has not been taken by a county committee. The State committee may also (a) correct, or require a county committee to correct, any action taken by such county committee which is not in accordance with the regulations in this subpart, or (b) require a county committee to withhold taking any action which is not in accordance with the regulations of this subpart.

§ 728.53 Delegation of authority.

No delegation herein to a State or county committee shall preclude the Administrator, ASCS, or his designee, from determining any question arising under the program or from reversing or modifying any determination made by a State or county committee.

Effective date. It is essential that the foregoing amendment to the regulations governing the Wheat Set-Aside program for crop years 1971–73 be made effective as soon as possible. It is hereby found and determined that compliance with the notice, public procedure, and 30-day effective date provisions of 5 U.S.C. 553 is impracticable and contrary to the public interest. Accordingly, this amendment shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (8–19–71).

Proposals for amendment or modification of the amendment insofar as it relates to the 1972 and 1973 crop years are invited. The proposals may be addressed to the Deputy Administrator, State and County Operations, ASCS, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250. All proposals should be accompanied by a written statement in explanation and support of the proposals and mailed within 30 days of the date of publication of this amendment in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Signed at Washington, D.C., on August 12, 1971.

[Valencia Orange Reg. 362]

PART 908—VALENCIA ORANGES GROWN IN ARIZONA AND DESIGNATED PART OF CALIFORNIA

Limitation of Handling

§ 908.662 Valencia Orange Regulation 362.

(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 908, as amended (7 CFR Part 908, 35 F.R. 16625), regulating the handling of Valencia oranges grown in Arizona and designated part of California, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674), and upon the basis of the recommendations and information submitted by the Valencia Orange Administrative Committee, established under the said amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of handling of such Valencia oranges, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this section until 30 days after publication hereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 553) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, and a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions hereof effective as hereinafter set forth. The committee held an open meeting during the current week, after giving due notice thereof, to consider supply and market conditions for Valencia oranges and the need for regulation; interested persons were afforded an opportunity to submit information and views at this meeting; the recommendation and supporting information for regulation during the period specified herein were promptly submitted to the Department after such meeting was held; the provisions of this section, including its effective time, are identical with the aforesaid recommendation of the committee, and information concerning such provisions and effective time has been disseminated among handlers of such Valencia oranges; it is necessary, in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act, to make this section effective during the period herein specified; and compliance with this section will not require any special preparation on the part of persons subject hereto which cannot be completed on or before the effective date hereof. Such committee meeting was held on August 17, 1971.

(b) Order. (1) The respective quantities of Valencia oranges grown in Arizona and designated part of California which may be handled during the period August 20, 1971, through August 26, 1971, are hereby fixed as follows:

(i) District 1: 144,000 cartons;

(ii) District 2: 456,000 cartons;

(iii) District 3: Unlimited.

(2) As used in this section, "handler," "District 1," "District 2," "District 3," and "carton" have the same meaning as when used in said amended marketing agreement and order.

PART 967—CELERY GROWN IN FLORIDA

Limitation of Handling

Notice of rule making with respect to a proposed limitation of handling regulation to be made effective under Marketing Agreement No. 149 and Order No. 967, both as amended (7 CFR Part 967), regulating the handling of celery grown in Florida, was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER July 13, 1971 (36 F.R. 13035). This program is effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.). The notice afforded interested persons an opportunity to file with the Hearing Clerk written data, views, or arguments pertaining thereto not later than the 30th day after its publication. None was filed.

After consideration of all relevant matters, including the proposal set forth in the aforesaid notice, the data, views, and recommendations of the Florida Celery Committee, and other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of handling regulation, as hereinafter set forth, including the establishment of the Marketable Quantity, and the determination of the Uniform Percentage, as provided in §967.38 (a) will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act by establishing and maintaining such orderly marketing conditions for celery as will tend to increase returns to producers of such celery.

The regulation as hereinafter set forth is based on the appraisal of the expected supply and prospective market conditions for the 1971/72 season.

During recent years, the annual celery production from the acreage planted in Florida and California without some type of weather problems would have exceeded the capacity of the United States, Canadian, and export market.

For the 1970–71 season recently ended, Florida's fresh market celery sales were approximately 7.5 million crates. This compares with about 6,133,000 crates in 1969–70, and 7,000,000 crates in 1968–69. About 1,000 acres were abandoned for economic or other reasons in 1970–71, compared with 1,612 in 1969–70, and 975 in 1968–69.

It is estimated Florida celery producers will plant 13,000 acres in 1971–72, slightly more than the previous year. With an average yield of 657 crates per acre, there would be a potential supply of 8,541,000 crates. Florida producers cannot expect to economically market such a quantity under normal conditions.

The marketable quantity herein established is at a level which will provide ample opportunity for the industry to strive to market the greatest number of crates at reasonable prices to consumers, while at the same time providing the possibility of a reasonable return to growers for their efforts and investment.

This marketable quantity is a more than 1.3 million crate reduction from the total base quantities of present producers. Therefore, in accordance with § 967.37(d)(1), no reserve is established for additional base quantities.

Based on these and other reasons contained in the committee's marketing policy statement and other available information it is believed that these regulations are necessary to maintain orderly marketing and increase returns to growers, and will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Act.

However, the committee is required to review, prior to November 1, the marketing policy it has adopted for the 1971–72 season and, as changes are indicated, the committee may recommend an appropriate upward revision in the regulation.

It is hereby found that good cause exists for not postponing the effective date of this section until 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 553) in that (1) notice was given of the proposed limitation regulation set forth in this section through publicity in the production area and by publication in the July 13, 1971, FEDERAL REGISTER, (2) as provided in said marketing agreement and order, this regulation applies to celery marketed during the 1971–72 season, (3) compliance with this section will not require any special preparation by handlers which cannot be completed prior to the time actual handling of harvested celery begins, approximately the latter part of October, (4) prompt promulgation of this regulation will be beneficial to all interested parties because it should afford producers and handlers maximum time to plan their operations accordingly, and (5) no useful purpose will be served by postponing such promulgation.

It is therefore ordered:

§ 967.307 Marketable quantity for 1971/72 season; uniform percentage; and limitation on handling.

(a) The marketable quantity for the 1971–72 season is established, pursuant to § 967.36(a), as 7,887,375 crates.

(b) As provided in § 967.38(a), the uniform percentage for the 1971–72 season is determined as 84.312 percent.

(c) During the 1971–72 season no handler may handle, as provided in § 967.36 (b)(1), any harvested celery unless it is within the marketable allotment for the producer of such celery.

(d) No reserve for base quantities for the 1971–72 season is established.

(e) Terms used herein shall have the same meaning as when used in the said marketing agreement and order.

(Secs. 1–19, 48 Stat. 31, as amended, 7 U.S.C. 601–674)

SUBCHAPTER C—INTERSTATE TRANSPORTATION OF ANIMALS AND POULTRY

[Docket No. 71-590]

PART 76—HOG CHOLERA AND OTHER COMMUNICABLE SWINE DISEASES

Areas Quarantined

Pursuant to provisions of the Act of May 29, 1884, as amended, the Act of February 2, 1903, as amended, the Act of March 3, 1905, as amended, the Act of September 6, 1961, and the Act of July 2, 1962 (21 U.S.C. 111–113, 114g, 115, 117, 120, 121, 123–126, 134b, 134f), Part 76, Title 9, Code of Federal Regulations, restricting the interstate movement of swine and certain products because of hog cholera and other communicable swine diseases, is hereby amended in the following respects:

In § 76.2, the reference to the State of Mississippi in the introductory portion of paragraph (e) and paragraph (e)(3) relating to the State of Mississippi are deleted, and paragraph (f) is amended by adding thereto the name of the State of Mississippi.

(Secs. 4–7, 23 Stat. 32, as amended, secs. 1 and 2, 32 Stat. 791–792, as amended, secs. 1–4, 33 Stat. 1264, 1265, as amended, sec. 1, 75 Stat. 481, secs. 3 and 11, 76 Stat. 130, 132; 21 U.S.C. 111, 112, 113, 114g, 115, 117, 120, 121, 123–126, 134b, 134f; 29 F.R. 16210, as amended)

Effective date. The foregoing amendment shall become effective upon issuance.

The amendment excludes a portion of Chickasaw County, Miss., from the areas quarantined because of hog cholera. Therefore, the restrictions pertaining to the interstate movement of swine and swine products from or through quarantined areas as contained in 9 CFR Part 76, as amended, will not apply to the excluded area, but will continue to apply to the quarantined areas described in § 76.2(e). Further, the restrictions pertaining to the interstate movement of swine and swine products from nonquarantined areas contained in said Part 76 will apply to the excluded area. No areas in Mississippi remain under the quarantine.

The amendment adds Mississippi to the last of hog cholera eradication States in § 76.2(f), and the special provisions pertaining to the interstate movement of swine and swine products from or to such eradication States are applicable to Mississippi.

Insofar as the amendment relieves certain restrictions presently imposed but no longer deemed necessary to prevent the spread of hog cholera, it must be made effective immediately to be of maximum benefit to affected persons. Insofar as it imposes restrictions it should be made effective promptly in order to prevent the spread of hog cholera. It does not appear that public participation in this rule making proceeding would make additional relevant information available to this Department. Accordingly, under the administrative procedure provisions in 5 U.S.C. 553, it is found upon good cause that notice and other public procedure with respect to the amendment are impracticable and unnecessary, and good cause is found for making it effective less than 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Done at Washington, D.C., this 13th day of August 1971.

Acting Administrator, Agricultural Research Service.

Title 12—BANKS AND BANKING

Chapter I—Bureau of the Comptroller of the Currency, Department of the Treasury

PART 1—INVESTMENT SECURITIES REGULATION

Securities Eligible for Underwriting and Unlimited Holding

The following new sections are added to Part 1 of Title 12:

Sec.
1.310 Kent County, Michigan, Airport Improvement Bonds.
1.311 City of Roseville Community Hospital Addition Corporation Leasehold Mortgage Bonds.
1.312 City of Walnut Creek Aquatic Facilities, Inc.
1.313 Placer County-Roseville Civic Center Improvement Authority.
1.314 Contra Costa County Juvenile Facilities Corporation Leasehold Mortgage Bonds.
1.315 Fox Chapel Area School Authority (Pennsylvania).
1.316 Contra Costa Education Center Authority.
1.317 Sacramento Community Center Authority.

AUTHORITY: §§ 1.310–1.317 issued under R.S. 324 et seq., as amended, paragraph Seventh of R.S. 5136, as amended; 12 U.S.C. 1 et seq., 24(7), unless otherwise noted.

§ 1.310 Kent County, Michigan, Airport Improvement Bonds.

(a) Request. The Comptroller of the Currency has been requested to rule on the eligibility of the $2 million County of Kent, State of Michigan, Airport Improvement Revenue Bonds, Series II, for purchase, dealing in, underwriting and unlimited holding by national banks under paragraph Seventh of 12 U.S.C. 24.

(b) Opinion. (1) Political subdivisions are authorized by the laws of Michigan to acquire, establish, construct and enlarge airports and related facilities, to finance such projects through the issuance of revenue bonds, to pledge airport revenues as security for such bonds and to agree that if pledged funds are insufficient for the payment of principal and interest when due, moneys sufficient to make up the deficiency will be advanced from the general funds of the political subdivision.

(2) The County of Kent is issuing these bonds to finance the acquisition and construction of additions, extensions, and improvements to Kent County Airport which it owns and operates. The bonds, and the $6,300,000 bonds of Series I, are payable primarily from and are secured by a first lien on the net revenue of the Airport.

(3) The County of Kent, which possesses general powers of taxation, has made the authorized agreement to advance moneys out of its general funds and thus committed its faith and credit in support of the bonds.

(c) Ruling. It is our conclusion that the $2 million County of Kent, State of Michigan, Airport Improvement Revenue Bonds, Series II, are general obligations of a State or a political subdivision thereof under paragraph Seventh of 12 U.S.C. 24 and accordingly are eligible for purchase, dealing in, underwriting, and unlimited holding by national banks. This ruling is applicable to State member banks under 12 U.S.C. 335. (Comptroller's letter dated May 20, 1971.)

§ 1.311 City of Roseville Community Hospital Addition Corporation Leasehold Mortgage Bonds.

(a) Request. The Comptroller of the Currency has been requested to rule on the eligibility of the $5,500,000 City of Roseville Community Hospital Addition Corporation Leasehold Mortgage Bonds for purchase, dealing in, underwriting and unlimited holding by national banks under paragraph Seventh of 12 U.S.C. 24.

(b) Opinion. (1) The City of Roseville Community Hospital Addition Corporation, a California non-profit corporation acting for the city of Roseville, was created to issue its leasehold mortgage bonds to finance the construction of an addition to the existing Roseville Community Hospital which is owned by the city of Roseville. The addition will be constructed on a city-owned site leased to the Corporation specifically for that purpose. The Corporation is issuing these bonds to finance the construction. When completed the addition will be leased by the Corporation to the city.

(2) The Hospital which opened in 1952 now has 156 rooms. The new addition will add 92 beds and more than double the available space. There remains outstanding debt incurred by the city for hospital construction and improvement in the amount of $540,000 consisting of $60,000 in general obligations issued in 1951 and $680,000 in revenue bonds issued in 1958 and 1963.

(3) The city has unconditionally promised in the lease rental agreement to pay annual lease rentals to the Corporation in an amount sufficient to meet annual interest and principal payments on these bonds, as well as other necessary expenses. The city, which possesses general powers of taxation, has thus committed its faith and credit in support of the bonds.

(c) Ruling. It is our conclusion that the $5,500,000 City of Roseville Community Hospital Addition Corporation Leasehold Mortgage Bonds are general obligations of a State or a political subdivision thereof under paragraph Seventh of 12 U.S.C. 24 and accordingly are eligible for purchase, dealing in, underwriting, and unlimited holding by national banks. (Acting Comptroller's letter dated June 4, 1971.)

§ 1.312 City of Walnut Creek Aquatic Facilities, Inc.

(a) Request. The Comptroller of the Currency has been requested to rule on the eligibility of the $650,000 City of Walnut Creek Aquatic Facilities, Inc. Bonds for purchase, dealing in, underwriting and unlimited holding by national banks under paragraph Seventh of 12 U.S.C. 24.

(b) Opinion. (1) The City of Walnut Creek Aquatic Facilities, Inc., a California non-profit corporation acting for the city of Walnut Creek was created to issue its bonds to finance the acquisition, construction and improvement of public recreational and aquatic facilities for the city on land leased to it by the city. The completed facilities will be leased to and operated by the city. The Corporation is issuing these bonds to finance the construction of a swimming center consisting of three pools, a building and related facilities in Heather Farms City Park.

(2) The city has unconditionally promised in the lease rental agreement to pay annual lease rentals to the Corporation in an amount sufficient to meet annual interest and principal payments on these bonds, as well as other necessary expenses. The city, which possesses general powers of taxation, has thus committed its faith and credit in support of the bonds.

SUBCHAPTER A—BOARD OF GOVERNORS OF THE FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

[Reg. Z]

PART 226—TRUTH IN LENDING

Charges for Membership in Open End Credit Plan

§ 226.407 Charges for membership in open end credit plan.

(a) A credit card issuer charges the cardholder an annual fee for membership in the credit plan and for issuance of a credit card for use in conjunction with the plan. The payment of the fee is required as a condition of membership in the plan, whether or not the cardholder uses his card for the purpose of obtaining credit. The question arises whether these fees are finance charges under § 226.4(a) of Regulation Z.

(b) Since such fees are imposed as a qualification of membership in the plan and for the issuances of a credit card, and not as incident to or as a condition of any specific extension of credit, they do not fall within the definition of a "finance charge" under § 226.4(a) of Regulation Z.

Title 14—AERONAUTICS AND SPACE

Chapter I—Federal Aviation Administration, Department of Transportation

SUBCHAPTER E—AIRSPACE

[Airspace Docket No. 71-EA-71]

Alteration of Federal Airway Segments

On May 19, 1971, a notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (36 F.R. 9075) stating that the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) was considering amendments to Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations that would alter segments of VOR Federal airway Nos. 12, 37, and 276.

Interested persons were afforded an opportunity to participate in the proposed rule making through the submission of comments. Comments were received from the Air Transport Association of America (ATA) and the Air Line Pilots Association (ALPA).

The ATA objected to the proposed airway alterations and questioned the justification for the actions taken. The ALPA recommended that the proposals be withdrawn and that the present designated airway structure be retained.

It is the policy of the FAA to provide a minimum system of en route airways and routes that will provide for the efficient and safe movement of instrument flight rule air traffic. The adoption of such a national policy is necessary to ensure that en route IFR traffic may be accommodated with at least a basic airway structure and still not compromise the arrival/departure needs of the terminal areas. The mere designation of airway segments reflects no adverse effect on a given air traffic operation. It is the prudent utilization of the designated airways and established procedures by air traffic control facilities which dictate how efficient and safe air traffic can be accomplished in a given terminal area. The lack of a basic airway structure within the Pittsburgh terminal area has imposed additional mileage on the IFR users of the system, and has complicated navigation for pilots. The establishment of a basic structure through the Pittsburgh complex should minimize the need for radar vectors of enroute aircraft and reduce conversation on the already congested frequencies employed by Air Traffic Service.

The FAA is of the opinion that the designation of basic airway structure within the Pittsburgh terminal complex will have no adverse effect on the movement of the IFR arrival and departure traffic provided the structure is utilized procedurally by air traffic control consistent with the traffic flows which prevail at any given time.

Subsequent to the publication of the notice, it has been determined that the alignment of V-37 segment north of Morgantown, W. Va., requires use of the Morgantown 336° T (341° M) radial in lieu of the 337° T (342° M) radial published in the notice. This one degree alignment correction made herein will permit the centerline of V-37 to lie over the Garard, Pa., intersection.

Since these amendments are minor in nature and no substantive change in the regulation is effected, notice and public procedure thereon are unnecessary.

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended, effective 0901 G.m.t., October 14, 1971, as hereinafter set forth.

1. Section 71.123 (36 F.R. 2010) is amended as follows:

a. In V-12 all between "Newcomerstown, Ohio;" and "Johnstown, Pa.;" is deleted and "Allegheny, Pa.;" is substituted therefor.

b. In V-37 all between "Morgantown, W. Va.;" and "Erie, Pa.;" is deleted and "INT Morgantown 336° and Ellwood City, Pa., 117° radials; Ellwood City;" is substituted therefor.

c. In V-276 "From Clarion, Pa.;" is deleted and "From Erie, Pa., via Franklin, Pa.; Clarion, Pa.;" is substituted therefor.

Sec. 307(a), Federal Aviation Act of 1958, 49 U.S.C. 1348(a); sec. 6(c), Department of Transportation Act, 49 U.S.C. 1655(c))

Issued in Washington, D.C., on August 12, 1971.

H. B. HELSTROM,
Chief, Airspace and Air Traffic Rules Division.

SUBCHAPTER F—AIR TRAFFIC AND GENERAL OPERATING RULES

[Reg. Docket No. 11315; Amdt. 95-210]

PART 95—IFR ALTITUDES

Miscellaneous Amendments

The purpose of this amendment to Part 95 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is to make changes in the IFR altitudes at which all aircraft shall be flown over a specified route or portion thereof. These altitudes, when used in conjunction with the current changeover points for the routes or portions thereof, also assure navigational coverage that is adequate and free of frequency interference for that route or portion thereof.

As a situation exists which demands immediate action in the interest of safety, I find that compliance with the notice and procedure provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act is impracticable and that good cause exists for making this amendment effective within less than 30 days from publication.

In consideration of the foregoing and pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (24 F.R. 5662), Part 95 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended, effective September 16, 1971, as follows:

(Sec. 6, 38 Stat. 721; 15 U.S.C. 46. Interprets or applies sec. 5, 38 Stat. 719, as amended; 15 U.S.C. 45) [Cease and desist order, Gerald Blanchard et al., Memphis, Tenn., Docket No. C–1966, July 7, 1971]

In the Matter of Gerald Blanchard, an Individual, Trading and Doing Business as Domestic Sewing Center, and Formerly Trading and Doing Business as National Electronics and as National Electronics Distributors

Consent order requiring a Memphis, Tenn., individual selling and distributing new and used sewing machines and other merchandise to cease using deceptive games of chance, misrepresenting the customary retail price of his merchandise, failing to maintain records to support savings claims, using "bait" methods of selling, implying that articles offered for sale have been repossessed, misusing the word "automatic" to describe any sewing machine, falsely guaranteeing any of his products, failing to notify purchaser that his promissory note may be discounted to a finance company, and making any sales or credit instrument which shall become effective prior to midnight of the third day after execution.

The order to cease and desist, including further order requiring report of compliance therewith, is as follows:

It is ordered, That respondent Gerald Blanchard, an individual, trading and doing business as Domestic Sewing Center, and formerly trading and doing business as National Electronics and as National Electronics Distributors or under any other trade name or names, and respondent's agents, representatives and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in connection with the advertising, offering for sale, sale or distribution of sewing machines or other products or services, in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, do forthwith cease and desist from:

1. Representing, directly or by implication, that names of winners are obtained through drawings, contests or by chance when all of the names selected are not chosen by lot; or misrepresenting, in any manner, the method by which names are selected.

2. Representing, directly or by implication, that a sweepstakes or other type of game of chance is being conducted to determine a winner or winners of a prize or prizes, unless such sweepstakes or other type of game of chance is in fact designed to select a winner or winners of a bona fide prize or prizes.

3. Representing, directly or by implication, that awards or prizes are of a certain value or worth when recipients thereof are not in fact benefited by or do not save the amount of the represented value of such awards or prizes.

4. Representing, directly or by implication, that any amount is respondent's usual and customary retail price for an article of merchandise, product or service when such amount is in excess of the price or prices at which such article of merchandise, product or service has been sold or offered for sale in good faith by respondent at retail for a reasonably substantial period of time in the recent, regular course of his business.

5. Representing, directly or by implication, that any savings, discount, credit or allowance is given purchasers as a reduction from respondent's selling price for a specified article of merchandise, product or service unless such selling price is the amount at which said article of merchandise, product or service has been sold or offered for sale in good faith by respondent at retail for a reasonably substantial period of time in the recent, regular course of his business.

6. Using the words "extra savings", "example of your savings" or any other words or word of similar import or meaning as descriptive of any price amount; provided, however, that nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit the use of such words or word where such price constitutes a substantial reduction from the price at which an article of merchandise, product or service was sold or offered for sale in good faith by respondent at retail for a reasonably substantial period of time in the recent, regular course of his business.

7. Failing to maintain adequate records (a) which disclose the facts upon which any savings claims, including former pricing claims and comparative value claims, and similar representations of the type described in paragraphs 3 through 6 of this order are based, and (b) from which the validity of any savings claims and comparative value claims, and similar representations of the type described in paragraphs 3 through 6 of this order can be determined.

8. Representing, directly or by implication, that an offer of any article of merchandise, product or service is, (a) limited as to time; (b) made to a limited number of persons; or (c) restricted or limited in any other manner, unless such represented limitations or restrictions were actually in force and in good faith adhered to.

9. Advertising or offering any products for sale for the purpose of obtaining leads or prospects for the sale of different products unless the advertised products are capable of adequately performing the function for which they are offered and respondent maintains an adequate and readily available stock of said products.

10. Disparaging in any manner or refusing to sell any product advertised.

11. Using any advertising, sales plan or procedure involving the use of false, deceptive or misleading statements or representations which are designed to obtain leads or prospects for the sale of other merchandise.

12. Representing, directly or by implication, that any products or services are offered for sale when such offer is not a bona fide officer to sell said products or services.

13. Representing, directly or by implication, that any article of merchandise or product has been repossessed, has been partially paid for by the previous purchaser or is being offered for sale for the unpaid balance of the purchase price, unless such representations are true and factual; or misrepresenting, in any manner, the status, kind, quality, or price of an article of merchandise or product being offered.

14. Using the word "automatic" or any other word or term of similar import or meaning to describe any sewing machine either in its entirety or as to its overall function or operation, or using any illustration or depiction which represents that such a machine is automatic in its entirety or as to its overall function or operation; Provided, however, That nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit the use of the word or term "automatic" in describing a sewing machine's specific attachment or component or function thereof, which after activation and by self-operation, will perform without human intervention the mechanical function indicated.

15. Representing, directly or by implication, that respondent's products are guaranteed unless the nature, extent and duration of the guarantee, the identity of the guarantor and the manner in which the guarantor will perform thereunder are clearly and conspicuously disclosed in immediate conjunction therewith; and unless respondent does in fact perform each of his obligations directly or impliedly represented under the terms of such guarantee.

16. Failing to disclose orally prior to the time of sale of any article of merchandise, product or service that an instrument of indebtedness executed by a purchaser may, at respondent's option and without notice to the purchaser, be discounted, negotiated or assigned to a finance company or other third party to which the purchaser will thereafter be indebted and against which the purchaser's claims or defenses may not be available.

17. Failing to obtain their customers' signed statement saying that they have received, read and understood the following:

IMPORTANT NOTICE

If you are obtaining credit in connection with this contract, you will be required to sign a promissory note. This note may be purchased by a bank, finance company, or any other third party. If it is purchased by another party, you will be required to make your payments to the purchaser of the note. You should be aware that if this happens, you may have to pay the note in full to the new owner of the note even if this contract is not fulfilled.

18. (a) Contracting for any credit sale, whether in the form of a trade acceptance, conditional sales contract, promissory note, or otherwise, which shall become binding on the buyer prior to midnight of the third day, excluding Sundays and legal holidays, after date of execution.

(b) Negotiating any conditional sales contract, promissory note, trade acceptance, or other instrument of indebtedness to a finance company or other third party prior to midnight of the third day, excluding Sundays and legal holidays, after the date of execution by the buyer.

19. Placing in the hands of others any means or instrumentalities whereby they may mislead purchasers or prospective purchasers as to any of the matters or things prohibited by this order.

It is further ordered, That the respondent herein shall forthwith deliver a copy of this order to cease and desist to all present and future salesmen or other persons engaged in the sale of respondent's merchandise, products or services, and shall secure from each such salesman or other person a signed statement acknowledging receipt of said order.

It is further ordered, That the respondent shall notify the Commission within fifteen (15) days subsequent to any change in this business organization such as dissolution, assignment, incorporation or sale resulting in the emergence of a successor corporation or partnership or any other change which may affect compliance obligations arising out of this order.

It is further ordered, That the respondent herein shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon him of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing setting forth in detail the manner and form in which he has complied with this order.

Consent order requiring a Littleton, Colo., individual engaged in the business of an advertising and promotional consultant for operators of furniture and other retail stores to cease misrepresenting the customary retail price of his customers' merchandise, deceptively using the words "half price" and "less than half price," using such words as "unprecedented public sale" and similar expressions to import distress selling, and misrepresenting savings available to purchasers.

The order to cease and desist, including further order requiring report of compliance therewith, is as follows:

It is ordered, That respondent Tommy M. Buffington, an individual doing business as T. Buff Sales, T. 2. Using or causing to be used the words "half price", "less than half price", "up to 78 percent off", or words or symbols of comparable import or meaning, except in specific reference to articles usually and customarily sold or offered for sale in good faith by the advertising retailer, in the recent regular course of business, at prices not less than the indicated multiple of the offering price so described or alluded to.

4. Misrepresenting or causing to be misrepresented in any manner that savings are available to purchasers of a retailer's merchandise, or the amount of such savings.

Macy & Co., Inc., a corporation, its officers, representatives, agents, and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in connection with the offering for sale, sale and distribution of mattress covers, mattress pads, sheets, and pillow cases, in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, do forthwith cease and desist from representing directly or indirectly that said products are flame retardant, or have been treated with a flame retardant finish, and from utilizing any words or depictions of similar import or meaning in connection therewith, unless all uncovered or exposed parts (except sewing threads) will retard and resist flame, flare and smouldering, or have been treated with a finish which will retard and resist flame, flare, and smouldering.

It is further ordered, That in all instances where respondent represents said products to be flame retardant or treated with a flame-retardant finish, warnings be provided in or on the packaging in immediate conjunction with said representations and in type or lettering of equal size and conspicuousness, and on a label affixed to the said products securely and with sufficient permanency to remain in a conspicuous, clear, and plainly legible condition, of any danger from flammability which may result if these products be dry cleaned or washed by other than the recommended means or in excess of a stated number of times.

It is further ordered, That respondent make every reasonable effort to immediately notify in writing all of its customers who have purchased or to whom have been delivered the mattress pads which gave rise to this complaint to alert them to the fact that only the top and skirt portions have been treated with the flame-retardant finish.

It is further ordered, That respondent notify the Commission at least 30 days prior to any proposed changes in the corporate respondent such as dissolution, assignment, or sale resulting in the emergence of a successor corporation, the creation or dissolution of subsidiaries or any other changes in the corporation which may affect compliance obligations arising out of the order.

It is further ordered, That respondent deliver a copy of this order to cease and desist to all personnel of respondent responsible for the preparation, creation, production or publication of advertising, packaging, or labeling of all products covered by this order.

It is further ordered, That respondent herein shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon it of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing setting forth in detail the manner and form of its compliance with this order.

Title 32—NATIONAL DEFENSE

Chapter I—Office of the Secretary of Defense

SUBCHAPTER M—MISCELLANEOUS

PART 213—ACQUISITION OF MAJOR DEFENSE SYSTEMS

The Secretary of Defense has approved the following policy:

Sec.
213.1 Purpose.
213.2 Application.
213.3 Policy.
213.4 Related policy.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 213 issued under 5 U.S.C. 301, 552.

§ 213.1 Purpose.

This part establishes policy for major defense system acquisition in the Military Departments and Defense Agencies (referred to as DOD Components).

§ 213.2 Application.

This part applies to major programs, so designated by the Secretary of Defense/Deputy Secretary of Defense (referred to as SecDef). This designation shall consider

(a) Dollar value (programs which have an estimated RDT&E cost in excess of $50 million, or an estimated production cost in excess of $200 million);

(b) National urgency;

(c) Recommendations by DOD Component Heads or Office of Secretary of Defense (OSD) officials. In addition, the management principles in this Directive are applicable to all programs.

§ 213.3 Policy.

(a) Mode of operation. Successful development, production, and deployment of major defense systems are primarily dependent upon competent people, rational priorities, and clearly defined responsibilities. Responsibility and authority for the acquisition of major defense systems shall be decentralized to the maximum practicable extent consistent with the urgency and importance of each program. The development and production of a major defense system shall be managed by a single individual (program manager) who shall have a charter which provides sufficient authority to accomplish recognized program objectives. Layers of authority between the program manager and his Component Head shall be minimum. For programs involving two or more Components, the Component having dominant interest shall designate the program manager, and his charter shall be approved by the cognizant official within OSD. The assignment and tenure of program managers shall be a matter of concern to DOD Component Heads and shall reflect career incentives designed to attract, retain, and reward competent personnel.

(1) The DOD components are responsible for identifying needs and defining, developing and producing systems to satisfy those needs. Component heads are also responsible for contractor source selection unless otherwise specified by the SecDef on a specific program.

(2) The OSD is responsible for: (i) Establishing acquisition policy, (ii) assuring that major defense system programs are pursued in response to valid needs and (iii) evaluating policy implementation on each approved program.

(3) The OSD and DOD components are responsible for program monitoring, but will place minimum demands for formal reporting on the program manager. Nonrecurring needs for information will be kept to a minimum and handled informally.

(4) The SecDef will make the decisions which initiate program commitments or increase those commitments. He may redirect a program because of an actual or threatened breach of a program threshold stated in an approved Development Concept Paper (DCP). The DCP and the Defense Systems Acquisition Review Council (DSARC) will support the SecDef decisionmaking. These decisions will be reflected in the next submission of the Program Objective Memorandum (POM) by the DOD component.

(b) Conduct of program. Because every program is different, successful program conduct requires that sound judgment be applied in using the management principles of this part. Underlying specific defense system developments is the need for a strong and usable technology base. This base will be maintained by conducting research and advanced technology effort independent of specific defense systems development. Advanced technology effort includes prototyping, preferably using small, efficient design terms and a minimum amount of documentation. The objective is to obtain significant advances in technology at minimum cost.

(1) Program initiation. (i) Early conceptual effort is normally conducted at the discretion of the DOD component until such time as the DOD component determines that a major defense system program should be pursued. It is crucial that the right decisions be made during this conceptual effort; wrong decisions create problems not easily overcome later in the program. Therefore, each DOD component will designate a single individual, such as the Assistant Secretary for R. & D. to be responsible for conceptual efforts on new major programs.

(ii) The considerations which support the determination of the need for a system program, together with a plan for that program, will be documented in the DCP. The DCP will define program issues, including special logistics problems program objectives, program plans, performance parameters, areas of major risk, system alternative and acquisition strategy. The DCP will be prepared by the DOD component, following an agreement between OSD and that component on a DCP outline. The Director, Defense

Research and Engineering (DDR&E) (or the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Telecommunications) for his programs) has the basic responsibility for coordination of inputs for the DCP and its submittal to the DSARC for consideration and to the SecDef for subsequent decision. If approved, the program will be conducted within the DCP threshold.

(2) Full-scale development. When the DOD component is sufficiently confident that program worth and readiness warrant commitment of resources to full-scale development, it will request a SecDef decision to proceed. At that time, the DSARC will normally review program progress and suitability to enter this phase and will forward its recommendations to the SecDef for final decision. Such review will confirm

(i) The need for the selected defense system in consideration of threat, system alternatives, special logistics needs, estimates of development costs, preliminary estimates of life cycle costs and potential benefits in context with overall DOD strategy and fiscal guidance;

(ii) That development risks have been identified and solutions are in hand; and

(iii) Realism of the plan for full-scale development.

(3) Production/deployment. When the DOD component is sufficiently confident that engineering is complete and that commitment of substantial resources to production and deployment is warranted, it will request a SecDef decision to proceed. At that time, the DSARC will again review program progress and suitability to enter substantial production/deployment and forward its recommendations to the SecDef for final decision. Such review will confirm

(i) The need for producing the defense system in consideration of threat, estimated acquisition and ownership costs and potential benefits in context with overall DOD strategy and fiscal guidance;

(ii) That a practical engineering design, with adequate consideration of production and logistics problems is complete;

(iii) That all previously identified technical uncertainties have been resolved and that operational suitabliity has been determined by test and evaluation; and

(iv) The realism of the plan for the remainder of the program. Some production funding for long lead material or effort may be required prior to the production decision. In such cases, the SecDef will decide whether a DSARC review and revised DCP are required. In any event, full production go-ahead will be authorized by approval of the DCP.

(c) Program considerations. (1) System need shall be clearly stated in operational terms, with appropriate limits, and shall be challenged throughout the acquisition process. Statements of need/performance requirements shall be matched where possible with existing technology. Wherever feasible, operational needs shall be satisfied through use of existing military or commercial hardware. When need can be satisfied only through new development, the equivalent needs of the other DOD components shall be considered to guard against unnecessary proliferation.

(2) Cost parameters shall be established which consider the cost of acquisition and ownership: discrete cost elements (e.g., unit production cost, operating and support cost) shall be translated into "design to" requirements. System development shall be continuously evaluated against these requirements with the same rigor as that applied to technical requirements. Practical tradeoffs shall be made between system capability, cost and schedule. Traceability of estimates and costing factors, including those for economic escalation, shall be maintained.

(3) Logistic support shall also be considered as a principal design parameter with the magnitude, scope and level of this effort in keeping with the program phase. Early development effort will consider only those parameters that are truly necessary to basic defense system design, e.g., those logistic problems that have significant impact on system readiness, capability or cost. Premature introduction of detailed operational support considerations is to be avoided.

(4) Programs shall be structured and resources allocated to insure that the demonstration of actual achievement of program objectives is the pacing function. Meaningful relationships between need, urgency, risk and worth shall be thereby established. Schedules shall be subject to tradeoff as much as any other program constraint. Schedules and funding profiles shall be structured to accommodate unforeseen problems and permit task accomplishment without unnecessary overlapping or concurrency.

(5) Technical uncertainty shall be continually assessed. Progressive commitments of resources which incur program risk will be made only when confidence in program outcome is sufficiently high to warrant going ahead. Models, mock-ups and system hardware will be used to the greatest possible extent to increase confidence level.

(6) Test and evaluation shall commence as early as possible. A determination of operational suitability, including logistic support requirements, will be made prior to large-scale production commitments, making use of the most realistic test environment possible and the best representation of the future operational system available. The results of this operational testing will be evaluated and presented to the DSARC at the time of the production decision.

(7) Contract type shall be consistent with all program characteristics including risk. It is not possible to determine the precise production cost of a new complex defense system before it is developed; therefore, such systems will not be procured using the total package procurement concept or production options that are contractually priced in the development contract. Cost type prime and subcontracts are preferred where substantial development effort is involved. Letter contracts shall be minimized. When risk is reduced to the extent that realistic pricing can occur, fixed-price type contracts should be issued. Changes shall be limited to those that are necessary or offer significant benefit to the DOD. Where change orders are necessary, they shall be contractually priced or subject to an established ceiling before authorization, except in patently impractical cases.

(8) The source selection decision shall take into account the contractor's capability to develop a necessary defense system on a timely and cost-effective basis. The DOD component shall have the option of deciding whether or not the contract will be completely negotiated before a program decision is made. Solicitation documents shall require contractor identification of uncertainties and specific proposals for their resolution. Solicitation and evaluation of proposals should be planned to minimize contractor expense. Proposals for cost-type or incentive contracts may be penalized during evaluation to the degree that the proposed cost is unrealistically low.

(9) Management information/program control requirements shall provide information which is essential to effective management control. Such information should be generated from data actually utilized by contractor operating personnel and provided in summarized form for successively higher level management and monitoring requirements. A single, realistic work breakdown structure (WBS) shall be developed for each program to provide a consistent framework for

(i) Planning and assignment of responsibilities,

(ii) Control and reporting of progress, and

(iii) Establishing a data base for estimating the future cost of defense systems. Contractor management information/program control systems, and reports emanating therefrom, shall be utilized to the maximum extent practicable. Government imposed changes to contractor systems shall consist of only those necessary to satisfy established DOD-wide standards. Documentation shall be generated in the minimum amount to satisfy necessary and specific management needs.

§ 213.4 Related policy.

Responsibility for the following policy documents is assigned to the Cognizant Office indicated. In each case, the Cognizant Office shall—

PART 7—SPECIAL REGULATIONS, AREAS OF THE NATIONAL PARK SYSTEM

Grand Teton National Park, Wyo.

A proposal was published at page 9446 of the FEDERAL REGISTER of May 25, 1971, to amend § 7.22 of Title 36 of the Code of Federal Regulations.

The effect of the amendment is to eliminate provisions which are now covered in the general regulations; to include Sawmill Ponds in waters closed to fishing; to provide for additional regulation of stock driving; to prevent overuse of campsites; to revoke regulations that prohibit solo climbing and winter touring; and to apply sound controls to the operation of snowmobiles.

Interested persons were given 30 days within which to submit written comments, suggestions, or objections with respect to the proposed amendment. Two comments, both generally favorable, were received and considered. The proposed amendment is hereby adopted with a minor grammatical change in the second sentence of paragraph (i) and is set forth below. Title 49—TRANSPORTATION

Chapter III—Federal Highway Administration, Department of Transportation

SUBCHAPTER B—MOTOR CARRIER SAFETY REGULATIONS

[Docket No. MC–32; Notice No. 71–20]

INTRACITY OPERATIONS

In § 390.33 of the Motor Carrier Safety Regulations, there is a table providing significant exemptions from the rules in Parts 391, 392, 393, 396, and 397 for drivers and vehicles wholly engaged in operations in urban areas. As presently located and worded, the table may be both confusing and may not provide the best possible notice of the applicability of these exemptions to motor carriers and drivers.

After receiving many inquiries about the applicability of these exemptions, the Director has decided to amend the regulations to make the exemptions clearer for each affected driver or motor vehicle. To supplement the table in § 390.33, a separate definition of an "exempt intracity operation," incorporating the substance of the present exemptions, is now provided in a new § 390.16. Additionally, those parts affected by the table in § 390.33 are individually amended to add language giving notice of the intracity operation exemptions. These changes, which merely distribute the existing exemptions in the § 390.33 table among the affected parts, are made only to better organize existing rules. They do not affect the substance of the rules, and therefore notice and public procedure thereon are unnecessary. The changes are effective on the date of issue set forth below.

In consideration of the foregoing, Subchapter B in Chapter III of Title 49, CFR, is amended as set forth below.

(Sec. 204, Interstate Commerce Act, as amended, 49 U.S.C. 304; sec. 6, Department of Transportation Act, 49 U.S.C. 1655, and 49 CFR 1.48 and 389.4)

The modifications as herein proposed will establish more precise accounting procedures to record the premium, discount and expense of issuance, and the realized gain or loss on the refunding and reacquisition of long-term debt. Additionally, it allows for amortization thereof, in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles and Commission Opinion No. 583. (44 FPC ------)

In order to more properly account for gains and losses on reacquisition of debt securities, the Commission proposes to establish new accounts to allow for the deferral and amortization of such gains and losses. These amounts will be deferred when significant and amortized to income over the remaining life of the reacquired securities, or over the life of the new debt issued to refinance the debt reacquired, as appropriate. These new accounts would also be used to account for the net amount of gains or losses from reacquisitions of long-term debt made prior to the year 1971, when such reacquisitions were not part of a refunding transaction. The accounts to be added are as follows:

189	Unamortized Loss on Reacquired Debt,
257	Unamortized Gain on Reacquired Debt,
428.1	Amortization of Loss on Reacquired Debt, and
429.1	Amortization of Gain on Reacquired Debit—Credit.

Accounts 189 and 257 would be located chronologically with the other deferred debit and deferred credit accounts on the balance sheet while accounts 428.1 and 429.1 would be located with the income accounts relating to interest charges.

In addition, procedures are being proposed to bring the Uniform Systems of Accounts into conformity with generally accepted accounting principles, by presenting unamortized premium and discount on long-term debt (and unamortized gain and loss on reacquired debt) immediately following account 224, Other Long-Term Debt, in the liability section of the balance sheet accounts. These proposed revisions would allow the debt to be reflected at its maturity value, while at the same time stating the effective liability at the balance sheet date. These changes would require the addition of two new balance sheet accounts as follows:

225	Unamortized Premium on Long-Term Debt, and
226	Unamortized Discount on Long-Term Debt—Debit.

These new accounts would be located with the other accounts relating to long-term debt. Present account 181, Unamortized Debt Discount and Expense, would be revised, while account 251, Unamortized Premium on Debt, would be deleted.

Further, more comprehensive accounting procedures for deferred income taxes are proposed to assure that the present income taxes, namely,

409.1	Income Taxes, Utility Operating Income,
409.2	Income Taxes, Other Income and Deductions, and
409.3	Income Taxes, Extraordinary Items.

will include only the State and Federal income tax expense accrued during the period to meet the actual liability for such taxes, while the income tax expense applicable to transactions recognized for general accounting purposes will be correctly reported in the income statement. The above changes are necessary because of other related recent changes in the Uniform Systems of Accounts and in Commission policy, which provide for interperiod income tax allocation in the proper tax account, including the accounting proposed in this rulemaking for the gain or loss on the reacquisition of debt securities.

In general, the proposed changes for interperiod tax allocation are based on the recommendations in Opinion No. 11, Accounting for Income Taxes, of the Accounting Principles Board of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants (APB). This opinion was issued December 1967.

The principal problems in accounting for income taxes arise from the fact that some transactions affect the determination of income for financial accounting purposes and for income tax purposes in different reporting periods, due to the recognition of expenses or losses and revenues or gains either earlier or later for tax purposes than for accounting purposes. As a result, the amount of income taxes determined to be payable for a period does not necessarily represent the appropriate income tax expense applicable to transactions recognized for financial accounting purposes in that period.

Specifically, when a utility defers the charging of extraordinary losses, other losses on sales of property, research and development expenses and certain other items, or recognizes gains or other items of income earlier for accounting purposes than for tax purposes, on the one hand, or defers the crediting of gains or other items of income, or recognizes deductions earlier for accounting purposes than for tax purposes, on the other hand, the amount of income taxes payable does not represent the appropriate income tax expense applicable to transactions recognized for financial accounting purposes unless the tax effect is allocated to the appropriate accounting periods. However, the adjustment necessary to accomplish this allocation could not be properly made directly to present Account 409.1 or 409.2 as the correct tax expense corresponding to the actual tax liability for the current year would not then be shown. It is with this in mind that the Commission proposes to expand the use of present Account 283, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Other, and to revise several other accounts to further provide for an increase or decrease in total tax expense without changing the amounts recorded in Accounts 409.1, 409.2, and 409.3, and to provide for the allocation of these deferred tax amounts to the future periods affected. This will include the addition of a new account on the asset side of the balance sheet, Account 190, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes, to provide for debit balances of deferred taxes.

These recommended changes would thus leave the income tax accounts consistent with the actual accrued income tax liability for the period. Also, this would provide more accurate reporting in the financial schedules of the FPC reports as well as the annual stockholders' reports.

It is also proposed that the credit balance accumulated deferred income tax accounts, 281, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Accelerated Amortization, 282, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Liberalized Depreciation, and 283, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Other, be relocated with the present deferred credit accounts in the Uniform Systems of Accounts, where they will be classified in accordance with their true nature, as deferred credits. The new account 190, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes, for debit balances of deferred income taxes, will be located with the other deferred debit accounts. Such treatment would be in accord with the conclusions reached by the APB in Opinion No. 11, noted above. A related change in reporting would also be necessary.

In addition, it is proposed to eliminate present Accounts 408, Taxes Other Than Income Taxes, 409, Income Taxes, 410, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, 411, Income Taxes Deferred in Prior Years—Credit, 411.3, Investment Tax Credit Adjustments, and 426, Miscellaneous Income Deductions. Except for Account 426, none of these accounts is now used for reporting purposes and they therefore serve no purpose in the systems of accounts. Reporting of amounts in Account 426 will be discontinued and the total charges reported for the year under this caption will in effect be referenced by accounts numbers 426.1, 426.2, 426.3, 426.4, and 426.5, the numbers of the present subaccounts of Account 426.

As a result of these changes, what are now technically subaccounts of Accounts 408, 409, 410, 411, 411.3, and 426 will become primary accounts, resulting in complete consistency in the Uniform Systems of Accounts in this regard. The instructions in the texts of the accounts to be eliminated will remain, with minor revisions, as "Special Instructions" for the several categories of new primary expense accounts.

This rulemaking also contains provisions formally establishing the accounting for the tax effects associated with acquisition adjustments recorded in Account 114, Electric (Gas) Plant Acquisition Adjustments. Such provisions are necessary because acquisition adjustments are normally allowed as part of the depreciable basis of utility property for tax purposes.

Further, included in this proposed rulemaking are amendments and revisions to other accounts throughout the Uniform Systems of Accounts which are required to implement the proposals referred to above.

And finally, in addition to the proposed changes to the Commission's Uniform Systems of Accounts mentioned heretofore, the Commission proposes to establish the accounting for gains and losses from reacquisitions of long-term debt made prior to the year 1971, by inclusion of the following provisions in the order whereby the final amendments resulting from this rule making are instituted:

There shall be adjustments to the retained earnings account for the net amount of gains or losses from reacquisitions of long-term debt made prior to the year 1971, when such reacquisitions were not part of a refunding transaction. The adjustments shall be computed as follows:

(1) The net amount of the gains and losses shall be calculated on each series of debt reacquired, computed as the difference between: The face value, adjusted for any unamortized premium, discount, expense of issuance, and expense of reacquisition; and the amount paid upon reacquisition. Such net amount shall be spread equally over the remaining months of the life of the related debt, beginning at the date of reacquisition.

(2) The net amount found in (1) above shall be adjusted as appropriate (added or subtracted) by the amounts of gains or losses related to the periods prior to 1971.

(3) The balance remaining shall then be the amount of the adjustment to be made to the retained earnings account and to accounts 189, Unamortized Loss on Reacquired Debt, or 257, Unamortized Gain on Reacquired Debt, as appropriate.

The balance of the amounts recorded in accounts 189 and 257 shall ultimately be amortized equally over the remaining life of the related debt to account 428.1, Amortization of Loss on Reacquired Debt, or to account 429.1, Amortization of Gain on Reacquired Debt—Credit, as appropriate.

The tax effect relating to such gains or losses shall be recorded in accordance with the accounting prescribed for gains and losses on reacquired debt, as more specifically stated in the "General Instructions" relating to long-term debt hereby proposed for addition to the Uniform Systems of Accounts. Utilities shall within _____ days after the finalization of the order related to this rulemaking submit to the Commission amended balance sheets and statements of income for a 10-year period, 1961 through 1970, which will show the effect of the above adjustments, amortization, and the related tax effect. Annual stockholders' reports should show the effect of such adjustments for all of the comparative periods shown in such Commission reports.

The proposed amendments to the Commission's Uniform System of Accounts under the Federal Power Act and to FPC Form No. 1 would be issued under authority granted the Federal Power Commission by the Federal Power Act, particularly sections 3, 4, 301, 304, and 309 (41 Stat. 1063, 1065, 1353; 46 Stat. 798; 49 Stat. 838, 839, 854, 855, 858; 61 Stat. 501; 16 U.S.C. 796, 797, 825, 825c, 825h).

The proposed amendments to the Commission's Uniform System of Accounts under the Natural Gas Act and to FPC Form No. 2 would be issued under the authority granted the Federal Power Commission by the Natural Gas Act, particularly sections 8, 10, and 16 (52 Stat. 825, 826, 830 (1938); 15 U.S.C. 717g, 717i, 717o).

Any interested person may submit to the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, not later than October 5, 1971, data, views, comments, or suggestions, in writing, concerning the proposed revised report forms and regulations. Written submittals will be placed in the Commission's public files and will be available for public inspection at the Commission's Office of Public Information, Washington, D.C. 20426, during regular business hours. The Commission will consider all such written submittals before acting on the matters herein proposed. An original and 14 conformed copies should be filed with the Acting Secretary of the Commission. In addition, interested persons wishing to have their comments considered in the clearance of the proposed revisions in the report forms under the provisions of 44 U.S.C. 3501–3511 may, at the same time, submit a conformed copy of their comments directly to the Clearance Officer, Office of Statistical Policy, Office of Management and Budget, Washington, D.C. 20503. Submissions to the Commission should indicate the name, title, address and telephone number of the person to whom communications in regard to the proposal should be addressed, and whether the person filing them requests a conference with the staff of the Federal Power Commission to discuss the proposed revisions in the report forms and regulations. The staff, in its discretion, may grant or deny requests for conference.

(A) The following are proposed amendments and revisions to the Uniform System of Accounts for Class A and Class B Public Utilities and Licensees in Part 101, Chapter I, Title 18 of the Code of Federal Regulations:

1. Amend the General Instructions section as follows:

(a) In instruction "2. Records," amend paragraph "E" by deleting "account 426, Miscellaneous Income Deductions" and substituting account 426.5, Other Deductions therefor.

(b) Immediately following instruction "16. Separate Accounts or Records for Each Licensed Project," add two new general instructions "17. Accounting for Income Taxes" and "18. Long-Term Debt: Premium, Discount, Expense, and Gain or Loss on Reacquisition."

As so amended, these portions of the General Instructions section will read:

General Instructions

* * * * *

2. Records.

* * * * *

E. All amounts included in the accounts prescribed herein for electric plant and operating expenses shall be just and reasonable and any payments or accruals by the utility in excess of just and reasonable charges shall be included in account 426.5, Other Deductions.

* * * * *

17. Accounting for Income Taxes.

A. In those instances where there are differences between the periods in which transactions significantly affect taxable income and the periods in which they enter into the determination of pretax accounting income, the income tax effects of those transactions are to be recognized in the periods in which the differences between pretax accounting income and taxable income arise and in the periods in which the differences reverse using the deferred concept. The resulting income tax expense for the period will include the tax effects of transactions entering into the determination of net income for financial accounting purposes for the period. The resulting deferred tax amounts reflect the tax effects which will reverse in future periods. The measurement of income tax expense becomes thereby a consistent and integral part of the process of matching revenues and expenses in the determination of net income.

B. Tax effects deferred currently will be recorded as deferred debits or deferred credits, in accounts 190, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes, and 283, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Other, as appropriate. The resulting amounts recorded in these accounts shall be amortized as prescribed in this system of accounts or as otherwise authorized by the Commission.

C. In general, interperiod tax allocation will be required whenever transactions enter into the determination of pretax accounting income either earlier or later than they became determinants of taxable income. Some examples of items which cause such timing differences are:

(1) Research and development costs and extraordinary property losses, deducted for tax purposes but deferred and amortized for accounting purposes. (See accounts 182, Extraordinary Property Losses, and 188, Research and Development Expenditures.)

(2) Regulatory commission expenses deducted for tax purposes but deferred and amortized in accounts.

(3) Gains or losses from sale of utility plant, recognized currently for tax purposes but deferred and amortized for accounting purposes. (See accounts 187, Deferred Losses from Disposition of Utility Plant, and 256, Deferred Gains from Disposition of Utility Plant.)

(4) Income or expense attributable to the reacquisition of debt securities, recognized currently for tax purposes but deferred and amortized in accounts. (See accounts 189, Unamortized Loss on Reacquired Debt, and 257, Unamortized Gain on Reacquired Debt.)

(5) Interest and taxes during construction, deducted for tax purposes when incurred and included in the cost of utility plant for accounting purposes.

D. It is intended that there be full interperiod allocation of the income tax effects of transactions which significantly affect income for tax purposes and for accounting purposes in different periods, as explained above. Nothing in this instruction is intended to affect the allocation of the tax effects relating to interest charges between utility and nonutility operations, as directed in the special instructions for the income tax accounts, or to relate to the allocation of income tax savings, resulting from the filing of a consolidated income tax return, among a utility and its affiliates with which it files such a return. (See Special Instructions—Accounts 409.1, 409.2, and 409.3.)

18. Long-term debt: Premium, discount, expense, and gain or loss on reacquisition.

A. General: A separate premium, discount, and expense account shall be maintained for each class and series of long-term debt (including receivers' certificates) issued or assumed by the utility. The premium will be recorded in account 225, Unamortized Premium on Long-Term Debt, the discount will be recorded in account 226, Unamortized Discount on Long-Term Debt—Debit and the expense of issuance shall be recorded in account 181, Unamortized Debt Expense.

The premium, discount, and expense shall be amortized over the life of the respective issues under a plan which will distribute the amounts equitably over the life of the securities. The amortization shall be on a monthly basis, and amounts thereof relating to discount and expense shall be charged to account 428, Amortization of Debt Discount and Expense. The amounts relating to premium shall be credited to account 429, Amortization of Premium on Debt—Credit.

B. Reacquisition: When long-term debt is reacquired or redeemed without being converted into another form of long-term debt and when the transaction is not in connection with a refunding operation, the difference between the amount paid upon reacquisition and the face value; plus any unamortized premium less any related unamortized debt expense and reacquisition costs; or less any unamortized discount, related debt expense and reacquisition costs applicable to the debt redeemed, retired and canceled, shall be included in account 189 Unamortized Loss on Reacquired Debt, or account 257 Unamortized Gain on Reacquired Debt as appropriate. The utility shall amortize the recorded amounts equally on a monthly basis over the remaining life of the respective security issues. The amounts so amortized shall be charged to account 428.1, Amortization of Loss on Reacquired Debt or credited to account 429.1, Amortization of Gain on Reacquired Debt—Credit, as appropriate.

C. Refunding: When the redemption of one issue or series of bonds or other long-term obligations is financed by another issue or series before the maturity date of the first issue, the difference between the amount paid upon refunding and the face value; plus any unamortized premium less related debt expense or less any unamortized discount and related debt expense, applicable to the debt refunded, including the expense of refunding, shall be included in account 189, Unamortized Loss on Reacquired Debt, or account 257, Unamortized Gain on Reacquired Debt, as appropriate. The utility may elect to account for such amounts as follows:

(1) Write them off immediately when the amounts are insignificant.

(2) Amortize them by equal monthly amounts over the remaining life of the respective reacquired securities.

(3) Amortize them by equal monthly amounts over the life of the new issue.

The amounts in (1), (2), or (3) above shall be charged to account 428.1, Amortization of Loss on Reacquired Debt or credited to account 429.1, Amortization of Gain on Reacquired Debt—Credit, as appropriate.

D. Under methods (2) and (3) above, the increase or reduction in current income taxes resulting from the reacquisition should be apportioned over the remaining life of the reacquired securities or over the life of the new issue, as appropriate, as directed in paragraphs E and F below.

E. When the utility recognizes the loss in the year of reacquisition as a tax deduction, account 410.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Utility Operating Income, shall be debited and account 283, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Other, shall be credited with the amount of the related tax effect, such amount to be allocated to the periods affected in accordance with the provisions of account 283.

F. When the utility chooses to recognize the gain in the year of reacquisition as a taxable gain, account 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Utility Operating Income, shall be credited and account 190, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes, shall be debited with the amount of the related tax effect, such amount to be allocated to the periods affected in accordance with the provisions of account 190.

G. When the utility chooses to use the optional privilege of deferring the tax on the gain attributable to the reacquisition of debt by reducing the depreciable basis of utility property for tax purposes, pursuant to section 108 of the Internal Revenue Code, the related tax effects shall be deferred as the income is recognized for accounting purposes, and the deferred amounts shall be amortized over the life of the associated property on a vintage year basis.

Account 410.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Utility Operating Income, shall be debited, and account 283, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Other, shall be credited with an amount equal to the estimated income tax effect applicable to the portion of the income, attributable to reacquired debt, recognized for accounting purposes during the period. Account 283 shall be debited and account 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Utility Operating Income shall be credited with an amount equal to the estimated income tax effects, during the life of the property, attributable to the reduction in the depreciable basis for tax purposes.

H. The tax effects relating to gain or loss shall be allocated as above to utility operations except in cases where a portion of the debt reacquired is directly applicable to nonutility operations. In that event, the related portion of the tax effects shall be allocated to nonutility operations. Where it can be established that reacquired debt is generally applicable to both utility and nonutility operations, the tax effects shall be allocated between utility and nonutility operations based on the ratio of net investment in utility plant to net investment in nonutility plant.

I. Premium, discount, or expense on debt shall not be included as an element in the cost on construction or acquisition of property (tangible or intangible), except under the provisions of account 432, Interest Charged to Construction—Credit. (419.1, Allowance for Funds Used During Construction.)

2. Amend the Chart of the Balance Sheet Accounts as follows:

(a) Change the account title "181, Unamortized Debt Discount and Expense," to read "181, Unamortized Debt Expense."

(b) Immediately following account "188, Research and Development Expenditures," add new accounts 189, Unamortized Loss on Reacquired Debt, and 190, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes.

(c) Immediately following account "224, Other Long-Term Debt," add two new accounts titled, 225, Unamortized Premium on Long-Term Debt, and 226, Unamortized Discount on Long-Term Debt—Debit.

(d) Revoke account "251, Unamortized Premium on Debt."

(e) Immediately following account title "256, Deferred Gains from Disposition of Utility Plant," add account titles 257, Unamortized Gain on Reacquired Debt, 281, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Accelerated Amortization, 282, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Liberalized Depreciation, and 283, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Other.

(f) Immediately following account title "271, Contributions in Aid of Construction," revoke the classification heading "11, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes," and relocate account titles "281, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Accelerated Amortization, 282, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Liberalized Depreciation," and "283, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Other," to a position immediately following account "257, Unamortized Gain on Reacquired Debt."

As so amended, those portions of the Chart of Balance Sheet Accounts will read:

3. Amend and revise the text of the balance sheet accounts as follows:

(a) Amend account "114, Electric Plant Acquisition Adjustments," by adding a new paragraph C and redesignating present paragraph C as paragraph D. As so amended, account 114 will read:

114 Electric plant acquisition adjustments.

* * * * *

C. When the Commission has not authorized the amortization of an amount recorded in this account to operating expenses, but has authorized the inclusion in operating expenses of amounts equivalent to the tax reductions resulting from the inclusion of the acquisition adjustment in the depreciable basis of the related property for income tax purposes, the related tax effects will be deferred as the acquisition adjustment is amortized for accounting purposes, and the deferred amounts will be amortized over the tax life of the property. Account 411.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Other Income and Deductions, shall be credited, and account 190, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes, shall be debited with an amount equal to the estimated income tax effect applicable to that portion of the acquisition adjustment amortized for accounting purposes during the period. Account 190 shall be credited and account 410.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Utility Operating Income, shall be debited with an amount equal to the estimated income tax effects, during the life of the property, attributable to the larger basis for depreciation for tax purposes.

D. The amounts recorded in this account with respect to each property acquisition shall be amortized, or otherwise disposed of, as the Commission may approve or direct.

(b) Revise account title and text of account "181, Unamortized Debt Discount and Expense." As so revised, account 181 will read as follows:

181 Unamortized debt expense.

This account shall include expenses related to the issuance or assumption of debt securities. Amounts recorded in this account shall be amortized over the life of each respective issue under a plan which will distribute the amount equitably over the life of the security. The amortization shall be on a monthly basis, and the amounts thereof shall be charged to account 428, Amortization of Debt Discount and Expense. Any unamortized amounts outstanding at the time that the related debt is prematurely reacquired shall be accounted for as indicated in General Instruction 18.

(c) Amend paragraph B of account "182, Extraordinary Property Losses," by adding a sentence at the end of the paragraph. As amended, this portion of account 182 will read:

182 Extraordinary property losses.

* * * * *

B. * * * Where the Commission has authorized amortization over future periods, the related income tax effects shall be allocated to the periods affected in accordance with General Instruction 17.

(d) Amend paragraph A of account "186, Miscellaneous Deferred Debits," by adding a sentence at the end of the paragraph. As amended, this portion of account 186 will read:

186 Miscellaneous deferred debits.

A. * * * Where amounts recorded in this account are to be amortized over future periods, any related income tax effects shall be allocated to the periods affected in accordance with General Instruction 17.

(e) Amend account "187, Deferred Losses from Disposition of Utility Plant," by revising the third sentence. As amended, this portion of account 187 will read:

187 Deferred losses from disposition of utility plant.

* * * The related income tax effects of amounts recorded in this account shall be allocated to the periods affected in accordance with General Instruction 17. * * *

(f) Amend paragraph C of account "188, Research and Development Expenditures," by amending the second sentence, and by adding an additional sentence at the end of the paragraph. As amended, this portion of account 188 will read:

188 Research and development expenditures.

* * * * *

C. * * * In such a case the portion of such amounts that cause the distortion may be amortized to the appropriate operating expense account over a period not to exceed 5 years unless otherwise authorized by the Commission. Any related income tax effects shall be allocated to the period affected in accordance with General Instruction 17.

(g) Immediately following account "188, Research and Development Expenditures," add two new accounts titled 189, Unamortized Loss on Reacquired Debt, and 190, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes, to read as follows:

189 Unamortized loss on reacquired debt.

This account shall include the losses on long-term debt reacquired or redeemed. The amounts in this account shall be amortized in accordance with General Instruction 18.

190 Accumulated deferred income taxes.

A. This account, when its use has been authorized by the Commission for specific types of tax referrals, shall be debited and account 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Utility Operating Income, or account 411.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, shall be credited with an amount equal to that by which income taxes payable for the year are higher because of the inclusion of certain items in income for tax purposes, which items for general accounting purposes will not be fully reflected in the utility's determination of annual net income until subsequent years. This account shall also be used in instances where an item is deducted in determining income for accounting purposes earlier than it is deducted for income tax purposes.

B. This account shall be credited and account 410.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Utility Operating Income, or account 410.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, shall be debited with an amount equal to that by which income taxes payable for the year are lower because of prior payment of taxes as provided by paragraph A above, because of difference in timing for tax purposes of particular items of income or income deductions from that recognized by the utility for general accounting purposes. Such credit to this account and debit to account 410.1 or 410.2 shall, in general, represent the effect on taxes payable in the current year of the smaller amount of income recognized, or the larger deduction permitted, for tax purposes as compared to the amount recognized in the utility's general accounts with respect to the item or class of items for which deferred tax accounting by the utility was authorized by the Commission.

C. Records with respect to entries to this account, as described above, and the account balance, shall be so maintained as to show the factors of calculation with respect to each annual amount of the item or class of items for which deferred tax accounting by the utility is authorized.

D. The utility is restricted in its use of this account to the purposes set forth above. It shall not make use of the balance in this account or any portion thereof except as provided in the text of this account, without prior approval of the Commission. Any remaining deferred tax account balance with respect to an amount for any prior year's tax deferral, the amortization of which or other recognition in the utility's income accounts has been completed, or other disposition made, shall be debited to account 410.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Utility Operating Income, or account 410.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, or otherwise disposed of as the Commission may authorize or direct.

(h) Revise paragraph B of account "222, Reacquired Bonds." As revised, this portion of account 222 will read as follows:

222 Reacquired bonds.

* * * * *

B. When bonds are reacquired, the difference between face value, adjusted for unamortized discount, expenses, or premium and the amount paid upon reacquisition, shall be included in account 189, Unamortized Loss on Reacquired Debt, or account 257, Unamortized Gain on Reacquired Debt, as appropriate. (See General Instruction 18.)

(i) Immediately following account "224, Other Long-Term Debt," add new accounts titled 225, Unamortized Premium on Long-Term Debt, and 226, Unamortized Discount on Long-Term Debt—Debit to read as follows:

225 Unamortized premium on long-term debt.

A. This account shall include the excess of the cash value of consideration received over the face value upon the issuance or assumption of debt securities.

B. Amounts recorded in this account shall be amortized over the life of each respective issue under a plan which will distribute the amount equitably over the life of the security. The amortization shall be on a monthly basis, with the amounts thereof to be credited to account 429, Amortization of Premium on Debt—Credit. (See General Instruction 18.)

226 Unamortized discount on long-term debt—debit.

A. This account shall include the excess of the face value of long-term debt securities over the cash value of consideration received therefor, related to the issue or assumption of all types and classes of debt.

B. Amounts recorded in this account shall be amortized over the life of the respective issues under a plan which will distribute the amount equitably over the life of the securities. The amortization shall be on a monthly basis, with the amounts thereof charged to account 428, Amortization of Debt Discount and Expense. (See General Instruction 18.)

SPECIAL INSTRUCTION

ACCUMULATED DEFERRED INCOME TAXES

Public utilities and licensees shall use the accounts provided below for prior accumulations of deferred taxes on income and for additional provisions. A copy of the order or other authorization to practice deferred tax accounting of the state public service commission also having jurisdiction shall be filed with the Commission, or, in the absence of a state public service commission having accounting jurisdiction, the public utility or licensee shall file with this Commission a copy of its plan of accounting for deferred taxes on income. The filing of such order or other authorization, or accounting plan, shall constitute permission for additional accumulations of deferred taxes on income. Account 283 is provided for use of those public utilities and licensees which have obtained permission of the Commission for specific types of deferrals of taxes on income other than with respect to accelerated amortization or liberalized depreciation.

NOTE A: The text of the accounts below are designed primarily to cover deferrals of federal income taxes pursuant to provisions of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 but the accounts are also applicable to deferrals of State taxes on income.

NOTE B: Public Utilities and Licensees which, in addition to an electric utility department, have another utility department, gas, water, etc., and nonutility property and which have deferred taxes on income with respect thereto shall classify such deferrals in the accounts provided below so as to allow ready identification of items relating to each utility department and to Other Income and Deductions.

281 Accumulated deferred income taxes—Accelerated amortization.

A. This account shall be credited and account 410.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Utility Operating Income, or 410.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, shall be debited with an amount equal to that by which taxes on income payable for the year are lower because of the use of accelerated (5-year) amortization of (1) certified defense facilities in computing such taxes, as permitted by section 168 of the Internal Revenue Code and (2) certified pollution control facilities in computing such taxes, as permitted by section 169 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as compared to the depreciation deduction otherwise appropriate and allowable for tax purposes according to the straight line or other nonaccelerated depreciation method and appropriate estimated useful life for such property.

B. This account shall be debited and account 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Utility Operating Income or 411.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, shall be credited with an amount equal to that by which taxes on income payable for the year are greater because of the use in prior years of accelerated (5-year) amortization of (1) certified defense facilities and (2) pollution control facilities, instead of nonaccelerated or nonliberalized depreciation otherwise appropriate for income tax purposes, and deferral of taxes in such prior years as described in paragraph A, above. Such debit to this account and credit to account 411.1 or 411.2 shall, in general, represent the effect on taxes payable for the current year of the unavailability of a depreciation deduction for tax purposes, or a reduced amount, with respect to any depreciable property for which accelerated amortization was used in prior years, as compared to the depreciation deduction otherwise available and appropriate for such property, considering its estimated useful life, according to the depreciation method ordinarily used by the utility for similar property in computing depreciation for tax purposes by a nonaccelerated or nonliberalized depreciation method.

C. Records with respect to entries to this account, as described above, and the account balance, shall be so maintained as to show the factors of calculation and the separate amounts applicable to the facilities of each certification or authorization of accelerated amortization for tax purposes.

D. The use of this account and the accounting described above are not mandatory for any utility, which in accordance with a consistent policy elects not to follow deferred tax accounting even though accelerated amortization is used in computing taxes on income. If, however, deferred tax accounting is initiated with respect to any certified defense facility, the accounting shall not be suspended or discontinued on the property covered by that certificate, without approval of the Commission.

E. The utility is restricted in its use of this account to the purposes set forth above. It shall not transfer the balance in this account or any portion thereof to retained earnings or make any use thereof except as provided in the text of this account without prior approval of the Commission. Any remaining balance of accumulated deferred taxes with respect to any certified defense facility for which deferred tax accounting has been followed, shall, upon expiration of the estimated useful life of the facility on which deferred tax calculations were based, or upon retirement of such facility or predominant part thereof, be credited to account 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Utility Operating Income, or 411.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, or otherwise be applied as the Commission may authorize or direct.

F. Upon the sale, exchange, abandonment, premature retirement or taxable transfer of any certified pollution control facility on which there is a related balance herein, this account shall be charged and account 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Utility Operating Income or 411.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, shall be credited with the amount of such balance; provided, however, that if the related income tax attributable to the disposition is significantly less than such related balance, the Commission shall otherwise direct or authorize how the residuals shall be treated. Upon transfers of plant to a wholly owned subsidiary the related balance in this account shall also be transferred. If transfers of plant are made to other than a wholly owned subsidiary and such transfer does not involve a tax transaction, the accounting shall be as authorized or directed by the Commission.

282 Accumulated deferred income taxes—Liberalized depreciation.

A. This account shall be credited and account 410.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Utility Operating Income, or 410.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, shall be debited with an amount equal to that by which taxes on income payable for the year are lower because of the use of liberalized depreciation in computing such taxes, as permitted by Section 167 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as compared to the depreciation deduction otherwise appropriate and allowable for tax purposes for similar property of the same estimated useful life according to the straight line or other nonliberalized method of depreciation.

B. This account shall be debited and account 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit Utility Operating Income, or 411.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, shall be credited with an amount equal to that by which taxes on income payable for the year are greater because of the use in prior years of liberalized depreciation for income tax purposes, and deferral of taxes in such prior years as described in paragraph A above. Such debit to this account and credit to account 411.1 or 411.2 shall, in general, represent the effect on taxes payable for the current year of the smaller amount of depreciation permitted for tax purposes for the current year with respect to any depreciable property for which liberalized depreciation was used in prior years, as compared to the depreciation deduction otherwise appropriate and available for similar property of the same estimated useful life according to the straight line or other nonliberalized depreciation method ordinarily used by the utility in computing depreciation for tax purposes.

C. Records with respect to entries to this account, as described above, and account balance, shall be so maintained as to show the factors of calculation and the separate amounts applicable to the plant additions of each vintage year for each class, group, or unit as to which different liberalized depreciation methods and estimated useful lives have been used. The underlying calculations to segregate and associate deferred tax amounts with the respective vintage years may be based on reasonable methods of approximation, if necessary, consistently applied.

D. The use of this account and the accounting described above are not mandatory for any utility, which in accordance with a consistent policy, elects not to follow deferred tax accounting even though liberalized depreciation is used in computing taxes on income. If however, deferred tax accounting is initiated with respect to any property such accounting shall not be discontinued on that property, without approval of the Commission.

E. The utility is restricted in its use of this account to the purposes set forth above. It shall not transfer the balance in the account or any portion thereof to retained earnings or make any use thereof except as provided in the text of this account without prior approval of the Commission. Any remaining deferred tax balance with respect to any year's plant additions or subdivisions thereof for which liberalized depreciation accounting has been followed upon retirement from service of such property or predominant portion thereof, or upon expiration of the estimated useful life on which the depreciation calculations for tax purposes are based, shall be credited to account 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Utility Operating Income, or 411.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, or otherwise applied as the Commission may authorize or direct.

283 Accumulated deferred income taxes—other.

A. This account, when its use has been authorized by the Commission for specific types of tax deferrals, shall be credited and account 410.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Utility Operating Income, or 410.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, shall be debited with an amount equal to that by which taxes on income payable for the year are lower because of the current use of deductions other than accelerated amortization or liberalized depreciation in the computation of income taxes, which deductions for general accounting purposes will not be fully reflected in the utility's determination of annual net income until subsequent years. This account shall also be used in instances where an item is included in income for accounting purposes earlier than it is recognized for income tax purposes.

B. This account, when its use has been authorized by the Commission, shall be debited and account 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Utility Operating Income, or 411.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, shall be credited with an amount equal to that by which taxes on income payable for the year are greater because of deferral of taxes on income in previous years, as provided by paragraph A, above, because of difference in timing for tax purposes of particular income deductions or items of income from that recognized by the utility for general accounting purposes, other than with respect to accelerated amortization or liberalized depreciation. Such debit to this account and credit to account 411.1 or 411.2 shall, in general, represent the effect on taxes payable in the current year of the smaller deduction permitted, or the larger amount of income recognized, for tax purposes as compared to the amount recognized in the utility's general accounts with respect to the item or class of items for which deferred tax accounting by the utility was authorized by the Commission.

C. Records with respect to entries to this account, as described above, and the account balance, shall be so maintained as to show the factors of calculation with respect to each annual amount of the item or class of items, other than accelerated amortization or liberalized depreciation, for which tax deferral accounting by the utility is authorized by the Commission.

D. The utility is restricted in its use of this account to the purposes set forth above. It shall not transfer the balance in the account or any portion thereof to retained earnings or make any use thereof except as provided in the text of this account, without prior approval of the Commission. Any remaining deferred tax account balance with respect to an amount for any prior year's tax deferral, the amortization of which or other recognition in the utility's income accounts has been completed, or other disposition made, shall be credited to account 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Utility Operating Income, or account 411.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, or otherwise disposed of as the Commission may authorize or direct.

C. The charges to these accounts shall be made or supported so as to show the amount of each tax and the basis upon which each charge is made. In the case of a utility rendering more than one utility service, taxes of the kind includible in these accounts shall be assigned directly to the utility department the operation of which gave rise to the tax in so far as practicable. Where the tax is not attributable to a specific utility department, it shall be distributed among the utility departments or nonutility operations on an equitable basis.

(See general instruction 7.1 for prior period adjustments.)

B. The accruals for income taxes shall be apportioned among utility departments and to Other Income and Deductions so that, as nearly as practicable, each tax shall be included in the expenses of the utility department or Other Income and Deductions, the income from which gave rise to the tax. The income tax effect of amounts recorded in account 439, Adjustments to Retained Earnings shall be recorded in that account. The tax effects relating to Interest Charges shall be allocated between utility and nonutility operations. 15. Accounting for Income Taxes.

A. In those instances where there are differences between the periods in which transactions significantly affect taxable income and the periods in which they enter into the determination of pretax accounting income, the income tax effects of those transactions are to be recognized in the periods in which the differences between pretax accounting and taxable income arise and in the periods in which the differences reverse using the deferred concept. The resulting income tax expense for the period will include the tax effects of transactions entering into the determinaion of net income for financial accounting purposes for the period. The resulting deferred tax amounts reflect the tax effects which will reverse in future periods. The measurement of income tax expense becomes thereby a consistent and integral part of the process of matching revenues and expenses in the determination of net income.

B. Tax effects deferred currently will be recorded as deferred debits or deferred credits, in accounts 190, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes, and 283, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Other, as appropriate. The resulting amounts recorded in these accounts shall be amortized as prescribed in this system of accounts or as otherwise authorized by the Commission.

C. In general, interperiod tax allocation will be required whenever transactions enter into the determination of pretax accounting income either earlier or later than they became determinants of taxable income. Some examples of items which cause such timing differences are:

(1) Extraordinary property losses, deducted for tax purposes but deferred and amortized for accounting purposes. (See account 182, Extraordinary Property Losses.)

(2) Regulatory commission expenses deducted for tax purposes but deferred and amortized in accounts.

(3) Gains or losses from sale of utility plant, recognized currently for tax purposes but deferred and amortized for accounting purposes. (See accounts 187, Deferred Losses from Disposition of Utility Plant, and 256, Deferred Gains from Disposition of Utility Plant.)

(4) Income or expense attributable to the reacquisition of debt securities, recognized currently for tax purposes but deferred and amortized in accounts. (See accounts 189, Unamortized Loss on Reacquired Debt, and 257, Unamortized Gain on Reacquired Debt.)

(5) Allowance for funds used and taxes during construction, deducted for tax purposes when incurred and included in the cost of utility plant for accounting purposes.

D. It is intended that there be full interperiod allocation of the income tax effects of transactions which significantly affect income for tax purposes and for accounting purposes in different periods, as explained above. Nothing in this instruction is intended to affect the allocation of the tax effects relating to interest charges between utility and nonutility operations, as directed in the special instructions for the income tax accounts, or to relate to the allocation of income tax savings, resulting from the filing of a consolidated income tax return, among a utility and its affiliates with which it files such a return. (See Special Instructions—Accounts 409.1, 409.2, and 409.3.)

16. Long-Term Debt: Premium, Discount, Expense, and Gain or Loss on Reacquisition.

A. General: A separate premium, discount, and expense account shall be maintained for each class and series of long-term debt (including receivers' certificates) issued or assumed by the utility. The premium will be recorded in account 225, Unamortized Premium on Long-Term Debt, the discount will be recorded in account 226, Unamortized Discount on Long-Term Debt—Debit, and the expense of issuance shall be recorded in account 181, Unamortized Debt Expense.

The premium, discount and expense shall be amortized over the life of the respective issues under a plan which will distribute the amounts equitably over the life of the securities. The amortization shall be on a monthly basis, and amounts thereof relating to discount and expense shall be charged to account 428, Amortization of Debt Discount and Expense. The amounts relating to premium shall be credited to account 429, Amortization of Premium on Debt—Credit.

B. Reacquisition: When long-term debt is reacquired or redeemed without being converted into another form of long-term debt and when the transaction is not in connection with a refunding operation, the difference between the amount paid upon reacquisition and the face value; plus any unamortized premium less any related unamortized debt expense and reacquisition costs; or less any unamortized discount, related debt expense and reacquisition costs applicable to the debt redeemed, retired and canceled, shall be included in account 189, Unamortized Loss on Reacquired Debt, or account 257, Unamortized Gain on Reacquired Debt, as appropriate. The utility shall amortize the recorded amounts equally on a monthly basis over the remaining life of the respective security issues. The amounts so amortized shall be charged to account 428.1, Amortization of Loss on Reacquired Debt or credited to account 429.1, Amortization of Gain on Reacquired Debt—Credit, as appropriate.

C. Refunding: When the redemption of one issue or series of bonds or other long-term obligations is financed by another issue or series before the maturity date of the first issue, the difference between the amount paid upon refunding and the face value; plus any unamortized premium less related debt expense or less any unamortized discount and related debt expense, applicable to the debt refunded, including the expense of refunding, shall be included in account 189, Unamortized Loss on Reacquired Debt, or account 257, Unamortized Gain on Reacquired Debt, as appropriate. The utility may elect to account for such amounts as follows:

(1) Write them off immediately when the amounts are insignificant.

(2) Amortize them by equal monthly amounts over the remaining life of the respective reacquired securities.

(3) Amortize them by equal monthly amounts over the life of the new issue.

The amounts in (1), (2), or (3) above shall be charged to account 428.1, Amortization of Loss on Reacquired Debt or credited to account 429.1, Amortization of Gain on Reacquired Debt—Credit, as appropriate.

D. Under methods (2) and (3) above, the increase or reduction in current income taxes resulting from the reacquisition should be apportioned over the remaining life of the reacquired securities or over the life of the new issue, as appropriate, as directed in paragraphs E and F below.

E. When the utility recognizes the loss in the year of reacquisition as a tax deduction, account 410.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Utility Operating Income, shall be debited and account 283, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Other, shall be credited with the amount of the related tax effect, such amount to be allocated to the periods affected in accordance with the provisions of account 283.

F. When the utility chooses to recognize the gain in the year of reacquisition as a taxable gain, account 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Utility Operating Income, shall be credited and account 190, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes, shall be debited with the amount of the related tax effect, such amount to be allocated to the periods affected in accordance with the provisions of account 190.

G. When the utility chooses to use the optional privilege of deferring the tax on the gain attributable to the reacquisition of debt by reducing the depreciable basis of utility property for tax purposes, pursuant to section 108 of the Internal Revenue Code, the related tax effects shall be deferred as the income is recognized for accounting purposes, and the deferred amounts shall be amortized over the life of the associated property on a vintage year basis.

Account 410.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Utility Operating Income, shall be debited, and account 283, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Other, shall be credited with an amount equal to the estimated income tax effect applicable to the portion of the income, attributable to reacquired debt, recognized for accounting purposes during the period. Account 283 shall be debited and account 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes-Credit, Utility Operating Income, shall be credited with an amount equal to the estimated income tax effects, during the life of the property, attributable to the reduction in the depreciable basis for tax purposes.

H. The tax effects relating to gain or loss shall be allocated as above to utility operations except in cases where a portion of the debt reacquired is directly applicable to nonutility operations. In that event, the related portion of the tax effects shall be allocated to nonutility operations. Where it can be established that reacquired debt is generally applicable to both utility and nonutility operations, the tax effects shall be allocated between utility and nonutility operations based on the ratio of net investment in utility plant to net investment in nonutility plant.

I. Premium, discount, or expenses on debt shall not be included as an element in the cost of construction or acquisition of property (tangible or intangible), except under the provisions of account 419.1, Allowance for Funds Used During Construction.

2. Amend the Chart of the Balance Sheet Accounts as follows:

(a) Change the account title "181, Unamortized Debt Discount and Expense," to read "181, Unamortized Debt Expense."

(b) Immediately following account "187, Deferred Losses from Disposition of Utility Plant," add two new accounts 189, Unamortized Loss on Reacquired Debt and 190, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes.

C. When the Commission has not authorized the amortization of an amount recorded in this account to operating expenses, but has authorized the inclusion in operating expenses of amounts equivalent to the tax reductions resulting from the inclusion of the acquisition adjustment in the depreciable basis of the related property for income tax purposes, the related tax effects will be deferred as the acquisition adjustment is amortized for accounting purposes, and the deferred amounts will be amortized over the tax life of the property. Account 411.2, Provision for the Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Other Income and Deductions, shall be credited, and account 190, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes, shall be debited with an amount equal to the estimated income tax effect applicable to that portion of acquisition adjustment amortized for accounting purposes during the period. Such credit to this account and debit to account 410.1 or 410.2 shall, in general, represent the effect on taxes payable in the current year of the smaller amount of income recognized, or the larger deduction permitted, for tax purposes as compared to the amount recognized in the utility's general accounts with respect to the item or class of items for which deferred tax accounting by the utility was authorized by the Commission.

C. Records with respect to entries to this account, as described above, and the account balance, shall be so maintained as to show the factors of calculation with respect to each annual amount of the item or class of items for which deferred tax accounting by the utility is authorized.

It shall not make use of the balance in this account or any portion thereof except as provided in the text of this account, without prior approval of the Commission. Any remaining deferred tax account balance with respect to an amount for any prior year's tax deferral, the amortization of which or other recognition in the utility's income accounts has been completed, or other disposition made, shall be debited to account 410.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Utility Operating Income, or account 410.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, or otherwise disposed of as the Commission may authorize or direct.

A. This account shall be credited and account 410.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Utility Operating Income, or 410.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, shall be debited with an amount equal to that by which taxes on income payable for the year are lower because of the use of accelerated (5-year) amortization of (1) certified defense facilities in computing such taxes, as permitted by section 168 of the Internal Revenue Code and (2) certified pollution control facilities in computing such taxes, as permitted by section 169 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as compared to the depreciation deduction otherwise appropriate and allowable for tax purposes according to the straight line or other nonaccelerated depreciation method and appropriate estimated useful life for such property.

B. This account shall be debited and account 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes-Credit, Utility Operating Income or 411.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, shall be credited with an amount equal to that by which taxes on income payable for the year are greater because of the use in prior years of accelerated (5-year) amortization of (1) certified defense facilities and (2) pollution control facilities, instead of nonaccelerated or nonliberalized depreciation otherwise appropriate for income tax purposes, and deferral of taxes in such prior years as described in paragraph A, above. Such debit to this account and credit to account 411.1 or 411.2 shall, in general, represent the effect on taxes payable for the current year of the unavailability of a depreciation deduction for tax purposes, or a reduced amount, with respect to any depreciable property for which accelerated amortization was used in prior years, as compared to the depreciation deduction otherwise available and appropriate for such property, considering its estimated useful life, according to the depreciation method ordinarily used by the utility for similar property in computing depreciation for tax purposes by a nonaccelerated or nonliberalized depreciation method.

C. Records with respect to entries to this account, as described above, and the account balance, shall be so maintained as to show the factors of calculation and the separate amounts applicable to the facilities of each certification or authorization of accelerated amortization for tax purposes.

D. The use of this account and the accounting described above are not mandatory for any utility, which in accordance with a consistent policy elects not to follow deferred tax accounting even though accelerated amortization is used in computing taxes on income. If, however, deferred tax accounting is initiated with respect to any certified defense facility, the accounting shall not be suspended or discontinued on the property covered by that certificate, without approval of the Commission.

E. The utility is restricted in its use of this account to the purposes set forth above. It shall not transfer the balance in this account or any portion thereof to retained earnings or make any use thereof except as provided in the text of this account without prior approval of the Commission. Any remaining balance of accumulated deferred taxes with respect to any certified defense facility for which deferred tax accounting has been followed, shall, upon expiration of the estimated useful life of the facility on which deferred tax calculations were based, or upon retirement of such facility or predominant part thereof, be credited to account 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Utility Operating Income, or 411.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, or otherwise be applied as the Commission may authorize or direct.

F. Upon the sale, exchange, abandonment, premature retirement or taxable transfer of any certified pollution control facility on which there is a related balance herein, this account shall be charged and account 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Utility Operating Income or 411.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, shall be credited with the amount of such balance; provided, however, that if the related income tax attributable to the disposition is significantly less than such related balance, the Commission shall otherwise direct or authorize how the residuals shall be treated. Upon transfers of plant to a wholly owned subsidiary the related balance in this account shall also be transferred. If transfers of plant are made to other than a wholly owned subsidiary and such transfer does not involve a tax transaction, the accounting shall be as authorized or directed by the Commission.

282 Accumulated deferred income taxes—Liberalized depreciation.

A. This account shall be credited and account 410.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Utility Operating Income, or 410.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, shall be debited with an amount equal to that by which taxes on income payable for the year are lower because of the use of liberalized depreciation in computing such taxes, as permitted by Section 167 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as compared to the depreciation deduction otherwise appropriate and allowable for tax purposes for similar property of the same estimated useful life according to the straight line or other nonliberalized method of depreciation.

B. This account shall be debited and account 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes-Credit, Utility Operating Income, or 411.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, shall be credited with an amount equal to that by which taxes on income payable for the year are greater because of the use in prior years of liberalized depreciation for income tax purposes, and deferral of taxes in such prior years as described in paragraph A above. Such debit to this account and credit to account 411.1 or 411.2 shall, in general, represent the effect on taxes payable for the current year of the smaller amount of depreciation permitted for tax purposes for the current year with respect to any depreciable property for which liberalized depreciation was used in prior years, as compared to the depreciation deduction otherwise appropriate and available for similar property of the same estimated useful life according to the straight line or other nonliberalized depreciation method ordinarily used by the utility in computing depreciation for tax purposes.

C. Records with respect to entries to this account, as described above, and account balance, shall be so maintained as to show the factors of calculation and the separate amounts applicable to the plant additions of each vintage year for each class, group, or unit as to which different liberalized depreciation methods and estimated useful lives have been used. The underlying calculations to segregate and associate deferred tax amounts with the respective vintage years may be based on reasonable methods of approximation, if necessary, consistently applied.

D. The use of this account and the accounting described above are not mandatory for any utility, which in accordance with a consistent policy, elects not to follow deferred tax accounting even though liberalized depreciation is used in computing taxes on income. If however, deferred tax accounting is initiated with respect to any property such accounting shall not be discontinued on that property, without approval of the Commission.

E. The utility is restricted in its use of this account to the purposes set forth above. It shall not transfer the balance in the account or any portion thereof to retained earnings or make any use thereof except as provided in the text of this account without prior approval of the Commission. Any remaining deferred tax balance with respect to any year's plant additions or subdivisions thereof for which liberalized depreciation accounting has been followed upon retirement from service of such property or predominant portion thereof, or upon expiration of the estimated useful life on which the depreciation calculations for tax purposes are based, shall be credited to account 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Utility Operating Income, or 411.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, or otherwise applied as the Commission may authorize or direct.

283 Accumulated deferred income taxes—other.

A. This account, when its use has been authorized by the Commission for specific types of tax deferrals, shall be credited and account 410.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Utility Operating Income, or 410.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, shall be debited with an amount equal to that by which taxes on income payable for the year are lower because of the current use of deductions other than accelerated amortization or liberalized depreciation in the computation of income taxes, which deductions for general accounting purposes will not be fully reflected in the utility's determination of annual net income until subsequent years. This account shall also be used in instances where an item is included in income for accounting purposes earlier than it is recognized for income tax purposes,

B. This account, when its use has been authorized by the Commission, shall be debited and account 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Utility Operating Income, or 411.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, shall be credited with an amount equal to that by which taxes on income payable for the year are greater because of deferral of taxes on income in previous years, as provided by paragraph A, above, because of difference in timing for tax purposes of particular income deductions or items of income from that recognized by the utility for general accounting purposes, other than with respect to accelerated amortization or liberalized depreciation.

Such debit to this account and credit to account 411.1 or 411.2 shall, in general, represent the effect on taxes payable in the current year of the smaller deduction permitted, or the larger amount of income recognized, for tax purposes as compared to the amount recognized in the utility's general accounts with respect to the item or class of items for which deferred tax accounting by the utility was authorized by the Commission.

C. Records with respect to entries to this account, as described above, and the account balance, shall be so maintained as to show the factors of calculation with respect to each annual amount of the item or class of items, other than accelerated amortization or liberalized depreciation, for which tax deferral accounting by the utility is authorized by the Commission.

D. The utility is restricted in its use of this account to the purposes set forth above. It shall not transfer the balance in the account or any portion thereof to retained earnings or make any use thereof except as provided in the text of this account, without prior approval of the Commission. Any remaining deferred tax account balance with respect to an amount for any prior year's tax deferral, the amortization of which or other recognition in the utility's income accounts has been completed, or other disposition made, shall be credited to account 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Utility Operating Income, or account 411.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, or otherwise disposed of as the Commission may authorize or direct.

Special Instructions—Accounts 408.1 and 408.2

A. These accounts shall include the amounts of ad valorem, gross revenue or gross receipts taxes, state unemployment insurance, franchise taxes, Federal excise taxes, social security taxes, and all other taxes assessed by Federal, State, county, municipal, or other local governmental authorities, except income taxes.

B. These accounts shall be charged in each accounting period with the amounts of taxes which are applicable thereto, with concurrent credits to account 236, Taxes accrued, or account 165, Prepayments, as appropriate. When it is not possible to determine the exact amounts of taxes, the amounts shall be estimated and adjustments made in current accruals as the actual tax levies become known.

C. The charges to these accounts shall be made or supported so as to show the amount of each tax and the basis upon which each charge is made. In the case of a utility rendering more than one utility service, taxes of the kind includible in these accounts shall be assigned directly to the utility department the operation of which gave rise to the tax in so far as practicable. Where the tax is not attributable to a specific utility department, it shall be distributed among the utility departments or nonutility operations on an equitable basis.

NOTE A: Special assessments for street and similar improvements shall be included in the appropriate utility plant or nonutility property account.

NOTE B: Taxes specifically applicable to construction shall be included in the cost of construction.

B. The accruals for income taxes shall be apportioned among utility departments and to Other Income and Deductions so that, as nearly as practicable, each tax shall be included in the expenses of the utility department or Other Income and Deductions, the income from which gave rise to the tax. The income tax effect of amounts recorded in account 439, Adjustments to Retained Earnings shall be recorded in that account. The tax effects relating to Interest Charges shall be allocated between utility and nonutility operations. The basis for this allocation shall be the ratio of net investment in utility plant to net investment in nonutility plant.

1. Amend the General Instructions section by adding a new general instruction "9. Long-Term Debt: Premium, Discount, Expense, and Gain or Loss on Reacquisition," immediately following instruction "8. Separate Accounts or Records for Each Licensed Project."

As so amended, this portion of the General Instructions section will read:

General Instructions

• • • • • •

9. Long-term debt: premium, discount, expense, and gain or loss on reacquisition.

A. General: A separate premium, discount, and expense account shall be maintained for each class and series of long-term debt (including receivers' certificates) issued or assumed by the utility. The premium will be recorded in account 225, Unamortized Premium on Long-Term Debt, the discount will be recorded in account 226, Unamortized Discount on Long-Term Debt—Debit, and the expense of issuance shall be recorded in account 181, Unamortized Debt Expense.

The premium, discount and expense shall be amortized over the life of the respective issues under a plan which will distribute the amounts equitably over the life of the securities. The amortization shall be on a monthly basis, and amounts thereof relating to discount and expense shall be charged to account 428, Amortization of Debt Discount and Expense. The amounts relating to premium shall be credited to account 429, Amortization of Premium on Debt—Credit.

B. Reacquisition: When long-term debt is reacquired or redeemed without being converted into another form of long-term debt and when the transaction is not in connection with a refunding operation, the difference between the amount paid upon reacquisition and the face value; plus any unamortized premium less any related unamortized debt expense and reacquisition costs; or less any unamortized discount, related debt expense and reacquisition costs applicable to the debt redeemed, retired and canceled, shall be included in account 189 Unamortized Loss on Reacquired Debt, or account 257 Unamortized Gain on Reacquired Debt as appropriate. The utility shall amortize the recorded amounts equally on a monthly basis over the remaining life of the respective security issues. The amounts so amortized shall be charged to account 428.1, Amortization of Loss on Reacquired Debt or credited to account 429.1, Amortization of Gain on Reacquired Debt—Credit, as appropriate.

C. Refunding: When the redemption of one issue or series of bonds or other long-term obligations is financed by another issue or series before the maturity date of the first issue, the difference between the amount paid upon refunding and the face value; plus any unamortized premium less related debt expense or less any unamortized discount and related debt expense, applicable to the debt refunded, including the expense of refunding, shall be included in account 189, Unamortized Loss on Reacquired Debt, or account 257, Unamortized Gain on Reacquired Debt, as appropriate. The utility may elect to account for such amounts as follows:

(1) Write them off immediately when the amounts are insignificant.

(2) Amortize them by equal monthly amounts over the remaining life of the respective reacquired securities.

(3) Amortize them by equal monthly amounts over the life of the new issue.

The amounts in (1), (2), or (3) above shall be charged to account 428.1, Amortization of Loss on Reacquired Debt or credited to account 429.1, Amortization of Gain on Reacquired Debt—Credit, as appropriate.

D. Under methods (2) and (3) above, the increase or reduction in current income taxes resulting from the reacquisition should be apportioned over the remaining life of the reacquired securities or over the life of the new issue, as appropriate, as directed in paragraphs E and F below.

E. When the utility recognizes the loss in the year of reacquisition as a tax deduction, account 410.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Utility Operating Income, shall be debited and account 283, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Other, shall be credited with the amount of the related tax effect, such amount to be allocated to the periods affected in accordance with the provisions of account 283.

F. When the utility chooses to recognize the gain in the year of reacquisition as a taxable gain, account 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Utility Operating Income, shall be credited and account 190, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes, shall be debited with the amount of the related tax effect, such amount to be allocated to the periods affected in accordance with the provisions of account 190.

G. When the utility chooses to use the optional privilege of deferring the tax on the gain attributable to the reacquisition of debt by reducing the depreciable basis of utility property for tax purposes, pursuant to section 108 of the Internal Revenue Code, and related tax effects shall be deferred as the income is recognized for accounting purposes, and the deferred amounts shall be amortized over the life of the associated property on a vintage year basis.

Account 410.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Utility Operating Income, shall be debited, and account 283, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Other, shall be credited with an amount equal to the estimated income tax effect applicable to the portion of the income, attributable to reacquired debt, recognized for accounting purposes during the period. Account 283 shall be debited and account 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Utility Operating Income shall be credited with an amount during the life of the property, attributable to the reduction in the depreciable basis for tax purposes.

H. The tax effects relating to gain or loss shall be allocated as above to utility operations except in cases where a portion of the debt reacquired is directly applicable to nonutility operations. In that event, the related portion of the tax effects shall be allocated to nonutility operations. Where it can be established that reacquired debt is generally applicable to both utility and nonutility operations, the tax effects shall be allocated between utility and nonutility operations based on the ratio of net investment in utility plant to net investment in nonutility plant.

I. Premium, discount, or expense on debt shall not be included as an element in the cost of construction or acquisition of property (tangible or intangible) except under the provisions of account 419.1, Allowance for Funds Used During Construction.

J. See general instruction 7 for accounting for deferred taxes as directed in paragraphs D, E, F, and G above.

A. This account shall include the amortization of the gains realized from reacquisition of debt. Amounts credited to this account shall be charged concurrently to account 257, Unamortized Gain on Reacquired Debt.

B. This account shall be maintained so as to allow ready identification of the gains amortized applicable to each class and series of long-term debt reacquired.

(aa) In account "434, Extraordinary Income" amend the last sentence of the paragraph. As amended this portion of account 434 will read:

434 Extraordinary income.

(D) The following are proposed amendments and revisions to the Uniform System of Accounts for Class A and Class B Natural Gas Companies in Part 201, Chapter I, Title 18 of the Code of Federal Regulations:

1. Amend the General Instructions section as follows:

(a) In instruction "2. Records," amend paragraph "E" by deleting "account 426, Miscellaneous Income Deductions" and substituting account 426.5, Other Deductions therefor.

(b) Immediately following instruction "15. Contingent assets and liabilities" add two new general instructions "16, Accounting for income taxes" and "17, Long-term debt: premium, discount, expense, and gain or loss on reacquisition.

As so amended, these portions of the General Instructions section will read:

General Instructions

* * * * *

2. Records.

* * * * *

E. All amounts included in the accounts prescribed herein for gas plant and operating expenses shall be just and reasonable and any payments or accruals by the utility in excess of just and reasonable charges shall be included in account 426.5, Other Deductions.

* * * * *

16. Accounting for income taxes.

A. In those instances where there are differences between the periods in which transactions significantly affect taxable income and the periods in which they enter into the determination of pretax accounting income, the income tax effects of those transactions are to be recognized in the periods in which the differences between pretax accounting income and taxable income arise and in the periods in which the differences reverse using the deferred concept. The resulting income tax expense for the period will include the tax effects of transactions entering into the determination of net income for financial accounting purposes for the period. The resulting deferred tax amounts reflect the tax effects which will reverse in future periods. The measurement of income tax expense becomes thereby a consistent and integral part of the process of matching revenues and expenses in the determination of net income.

B. Tax effects deferred currently will be recorded as deferred debits or deferred credits, in accounts 190, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes, and 283, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Other, as appropriate. The resulting amounts recorded in these accounts shall be amortized as prescribed in this system of accounts or as otherwise authorized by the Commission.

C. In general, interperiod tax allocation will be required whenever transactions enter into the determination of pretax accounting income either earlier or later than they became determinants of taxable income. Some examples of items which cause such timing differences are:

(1) Research and development costs and extraordinary property losses, deducted for tax purposes but deferred and amortized for accounting purposes. (See accounts 182, Extraordinary Property Losses, and 188, Research and Development Expenditures.)

(2) Regulatory commission expenses deducted for tax purposes but deferred and amortized in accounts.

(3) Gains or losses from sale of utility plant, recognized currently for tax purposes but deferred and amortized for accounting purposes. (See accounts 187, Deferred Losses from Disposition of Utility Plant, and 256, Deferred Gains from Disposition of Utility Plant.)

(4) Income or expense attributable to the reacquisition of debt securities, recognized currently for tax purposes but deferred and amortized in accounts. (See accounts 189, Unamortized Loss on Reacquired Debt, and 257, Unamortized Gain on Reacquired Debt.)

(5) Interest and taxes during construction, deducted for tax purposes when incurred and included in the cost of utility plant for accounting purposes.

(6) Advance payments for gas, deducted currently for tax purposes but deferred and amortized in accounts. (See account 166, Advance Payments for Gas.)

D. It is intended that there be full interperiod allocation of the income tax effects of transactions which significantly affect income for tax purposes and for accounting purposes in different periods, as explained above. Nothing in this instruction is intended to affect the allocation of the tax effects relating to interest charges between utility and nonutility operations, as directed in the special instructions for the income tax accounts, or to relate to the allocation of income tax savings, resulting from the filing of a consolidated income tax return, among a utility and its affiliates with which it files such a return. (See Special Instructions — Accounts 409.1, 409.2, and 409.3).

17. Long-term debt: Premium, discount, expenses, and gain or loss on reacquisition.

A. General: A separate premium, discount, and expense account shall be maintained for each class and series of long-term debt (including receivers' certificates) issued or assumed by the utility. The premium will be recorded in account 225, Unamortized Premium on Long-Term Debt, the discount will be recorded in account 226, Unamortized Discount on Long-Term Debt — Debit, and the expense of issuance shall be recorded in account 181, Unamortized Debt Expense.

The premium, discount and expense shall be amortized over the life of the respective issues under a plan which will distribute the amounts equitably over the life of the securities. The amortization shall be on a monthly basis, and amounts thereof relating to discount and expense shall be charged to account 428, Amortization of Debt Discount and Expense. The amounts relating to premium shall be credited to account 429, Amortization of Premium on Debt—Credit.

B. Reacquisition: When long-term debt is reacquired or redeemed without being converted into another form of long-term debt and when the transaction is not in connection with a refunding operation, the difference between the amount paid upon reacquisition and the face value; plus any unamortized premium less any related unamortized debt expense and reacquisition costs; or less any unamortized discount, related debt expense and reacquisition costs applicable to the debt redeemed, retired and canceled, shall be included in account 189 Unamortized Loss on Reacquired Debt, or account 257 Unamortized Gain on Reacquired Debt as appropriate. The utility shall amortize the recorded amounts equally on a monthly basis over the remaining life of the respective security issues. The amounts so amortized shall be charged to account 428.1, Amortization of Loss on Reacquired Debt or credited to account 429.1, Amortization of Gain on Reacquired Debt—Credit, as appropriate.

C. Refunding: When the redemption of one issue or series of bonds or other long-term obligations is financed by another issue or series before the maturity date of the first issue, the difference between the amount paid upon refunding and the face value; plus any unamortized premium less related debt expense or less any unamortized discount and related debt expense, applicable to the debt refunded, including the expense of refunding, shall be included in account 189, Unamortized Loss on Reacquired Debt, or account 257, Unamortized Gain on Reacquired Debt, as appropriate. The utility may elect to account for such amounts as follows:

(1) Write them off immediately when the amounts are insignificant.

(2) Amortize them by equal monthly amounts over the remaining life of the respective reacquired securities.

(3) Amortize them by equal monthly amounts over the life of the new issue.

The amounts in (1), (2), or (3) above shall be charged to account 428.1, Amortization of Loss on Reacquired Debt or credited to account 429.1, Amortization of Gain on Reacquired Debt—Credit, as appropriate.

D. Under methods (2) and (3) above, the increase or reduction in current income taxes resulting from the reacquisition should be apportioned over the remaining life of the reacquired securities or over the life of the new issue, as appropriate, as directed in paragraphs E and F below.

E. When the utility recognizes the loss in the year of reacquisition as a tax deduction, account 410.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Utility Operating Income, shall be debited and account 283, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Other, shall be credited with the amount of the related tax effect, such amount to be allocated to the periods affected in accordance with the provisions of account 283.

F. When the utility chooses to recognize the gain in the year of reacquisition as a taxable gain, account 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Utility Operating Income, shall be credited and account 190, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes, shall be debited with the amount of the related tax effect, such amount to be allocated to the periods affected in accordance with the provisions of account 190.

G. When the utility chooses to use the optional privilege of deferring the tax on the gain attributable to the reacquisition of debt by reducing the depreciable basis of utility property for tax purposes, pursuant to section 108 of the Internal Revenue Code, the related tax effects shall be deferred as the income is recognized for accounting purposes, and the deferred amounts shall be amortized over the life of the associated property on a vintage year basis.

Account 410.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Utility Operating Income, shall be debited, and account 283, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Other, shall be credited with an amount equal to the estimated income tax effect applicable to the portion of the income, attributable to reacquired debt, recognized for accounting purposes during the period. Account 283 shall be debited and account 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Utility Operating Income shall be credited with an amount equal to the estimated income tax effects, during the life of the property, attributable to the reduction in the depreciable basis for tax purposes.

H. The tax effects relating to gain or loss shall be allocated as above to utility operations except in cases where a portion of the debt reacquired is directly applicable to nonutility operations. In that event, the related portion of the tax effects shall be allocated to nonutility operations. Where it can be established that reacquired debt is generally applicable to both utility and nonutility operations, the tax effects shall be allocated between utility and nonutility operations based on the ratio of net investment in utility plant to net investment in nonutility plant.

I. Premium, discount, or expense on debt shall not be included as an element in the cost on construction or acquisition of property (tangible or intangible), except under the provisions of account 432, Interest Charged to Construction—Credit. (419.1, Allowance for Funds Used During Construction.)

2. Amend the Chart of the Balance Sheet Accounts as follows:

(a) Change the account title "181, Unamortized Debt Discount and Expense," to read "181, Unamortized Debt Expense."

(b) Immediately following account "188, Research and Development Expenditures," add new accounts 189, Unamortized Loss on Reacquired Debt, and 190, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes.

(c) Immediately following account "224, Other Long-Term Debt," add two new accounts titled, 225, Unamortized Premium on Long-Term Debt, and 226, Unamortized Discount on Long-Term Debt—Debit.

(d) Revoke account "251, Unamortized Premium on Debt."

(e) Immediately following account title "256, Deferred Gains from Disposition of Utility Plant," add account titles 257, Unamortized Gain on Reacquired Debt, 281, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Accelerated Amortization, 282, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Liberalized Depreciation, and 283, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Other.

(f) Immediately following account title "271, Contributions in Aid of Construction," revoke the classification heading "11, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes," and relocate account titles "281, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Accelerated Amortization, 282, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Liberalized Depreciation," and "283, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Other," to a position immediately following account "257, Unamortized Gain on Reacquired Debt."

As so amended, those portions of the Chart of Balance Sheet Accounts will read:

3. Amend and revise the text of the balance sheet accounts as follows:

(a) Amend account "114, Gas Plant Acquisition Adjustments," by adding a new paragraph C and redesignating present paragraph C as paragraph D. As so amended, account 114 will read:

114 Gas plant acquisition adjustments.

* * * * *

C. When the Commission has not authorized the amortization of an amount recorded in this account to operating expenses, but has authorized the inclusion in operating expenses of amounts equivalent to the tax reductions resulting from the inclusion of the acquisition adjustment in the depreciable basis of the related property for income tax purposes, the related tax effects will be deferred as the acquisition adjustment is amortized for accounting purposes, and the deferred amounts will be amortized over the tax life of the property. Account 411.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes-Credit, Other Income and Deductions, shall be credited, and account 190, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes, shall be debited with an amount equal to the estimated income tax effect applicable to that portion of the acquisition adjustment amortized for accounting purposes during the period. Account 190 shall be credited and account 410.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Utility Operating Income, shall be debited with an amount equal to the estimated income tax effects, during the life of the property, attributable to the larger basis for depreciation for tax purposes.

D. The amounts recorded in this account with respect to each property acquisition shall be amortized, or otherwise disposed of, as the Commission may approve or direct.

(b) Amend account "166, Advance payments for gas," by adding a sentence at the end of paragraph A. As amended, this portion of Paragraph A of account 166 will read:

A. * * * The related income tax effects of amounts recorded in this account shall be allocated to the periods affected in accordance with general instruction 16.

* * * * *

(c) Revise account title and text of account "181, Unamortized Debt Discount and Expense." As so revised, account 181 will read as follows:

181 Unamortized debt expense.

This account shall include expenses related to the issuance or assumption of debt securities. Amounts recorded in this account shall be amortized over the life of each respective issue under a plan which will distribute the amount equitably over the life of the security. The amortization shall be on a monthly basis, and the amounts thereof shall be charged to account 428, Amortization of Debt Discount and Expense. Any unamortized amounts outstanding at the time that the related debt is prematurely reacquired shall be accounted for as indicated in General Instruction 17.

(d) Amend paragraph B of account "182, Extraordinary Property Losses," by adding a sentence at the end of the paragraph. As amended, this portion of account 182 will read:

182 Extraordinary property losses.

* * * * *

B. * * * Where the Commission has authorized amortization over future periods, the related income tax effects shall be allocated to the periods affected in accordance with General Instruction 16.

(e) Amend paragraph A of account "186, Miscellaneous Deferred Debits," by adding a sentence at the end of the paragraph. As amended, this portion of account 186 will read:

186 Miscellaneous deferred debits.

A. * * * Where amounts recorded in this account are to be amortized over future periods, any related income tax effects shall be allocated to the periods affected in accordance with General Instruction 16.

(f) Amend account "187, Deferred Losses from Disposition of Utility Plant," by revising the third sentence. As amended, this portion of account 187 will read:

187 Deferred losses from disposition of utility plant.

* * * The related income tax effects of amounts recorded in this account shall be allocated to the periods affected in accordance with General Instruction 16. * * *

(g) Amend paragraph C of account "188, Research and Development Expenditures," by amending the second sentence, and by adding an additional sentence at the end of the paragraph. As amended, this portion of account 188 will read:

188 Research and development expenditures.

* * * * *

C. * * * In such a case the portion of such amounts that cause the distortion may be amortized to the appropriate operating expense account over a period not to exceed 5 years unless otherwise authorized by the Commission. Any related income tax effects shall be allocated to the periods affected in accordance with General Instruction 16.

(h) Immediately following account "188, Research and Development Expenditures," add two new accounts titled 189, Unamortized Loss on Reacquired Debt, and 190, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes, to read as follows:

189 Unamortized loss on reacquired debt.

This account shall include the losses on long-term debt reacquired or redeemed. The amounts in this account shall be amortized in accordance with General Instruction 17.

190 Accumulated deferred income taxes.

A. This account, when its use has been authorized by the Commission for specific types of tax deferrals, shall be debited and account 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Utility Operating Income, or account 411.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, shall be credited with an amount equal to that by which income taxes payable for the year are higher because of the inclusion of certain items in income for tax purposes, which items for general accounting purposes will not be fully reflected in the utility's determination of annual net income until subsequent years. This account shall also be used in instances where an item is deducted in determining income for accounting purposes earlier than it is deducted for income tax purposes.

B. This account shall be credited and account 410.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Utility Operating Income, or account 410.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, shall be debited with an amount equal to that by which income taxes payable for the year are lower because of prior payment of taxes as provided by paragraph A above, because of difference in timing for tax purposes of particular items of income or income deductions from that recognized by the utility for general accounting purposes. Such credit to this account and debit to account 410.1 or 410.2 shall, in general, represent the effect on taxes payable in the current year of the smaller amount of income recognized, or the larger deduction permitted, for tax purposes as compared to the amount recognized in the utility's general accounts with respect to the item or class of items for which deferred tax accounting by the utility was authorized by the Commission.

C. Records with respect to entries to this account, as described above, and the account balance, shall be so maintained as to show the factors of calculation with respect to each annual amount of the item or class of items for which deferred tax accounting by the utility is authorized.

D. The utility is restricted in its use of this account to the purposes set forth above. It shall not make use of the balance in this account or any portion thereof except as provided in the text of this account, without prior approval of the Commission. Any remaining deferred tax account balance with respect to an amount for any prior year's tax deferral, the amortization of which or other recognition in the utility's income accounts has been completed, or other disposition made, shall be debited to account 410.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Utility Operating Income, or account 410.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, or otherwise disposed of as the Commission may authorize or direct.

(i) Revise paragraph B of account "222, Reacquired Bond." As revised, this portion of account 222 will read as follows:

222 Reacquired bonds.

* * * * *

B. When bonds are reacquired, the difference between face value, adjusted for unamortized discount, expenses or premium and the amount paid upon reacquisition, shall be included in account 189, Unamortized Loss on Reacquired Debt, or account 257, Unamortized Gain on Reacquired Debt, as appropriate. (See General Instruction 17.)

(j) Immediately following account "224, Other Long-Term Debt," add new accounts titled 225, Unamortized Premium on Long-Term Debt, and 226, Unamortized Discount on Long-Term Debt—Debit to read as follows:

225 Unamortized premimum on long-term debt.

A. This account shall include the excess of the cash value of consideration received over the face value upon the issuance or assumption of debt securities.

B. Amounts recorded in this account shall be amortized over the life of each respective issue under a plan which will distribute the amount equitably over the life of the security. The amortization shall be on a monthly basis, with the amounts thereof to be credited to account 429, Amortization of Premium on Debt—Credit. (See General Instruction 17.)

226 Unamortized discount on long-term debt—debit.

A. This account shall include the excess of the face value of long-term debt securities over the cash value of consideration received therefor, related to the issue or assumption of all types and classes of debt.

B. Amounts recorded in this account shall be amortized over the life of the respective issues under a plan which will distribute the amount equitably over the life of the securities. The amortization shall be on a monthly basis, with the amounts thereof charged to account 428, Amortization of Debt Discount and Expense. (See General Instruction 17.)

(k) Revoke account "251, Unamortized Premium on Debt."

(l) Amend account "253, Other Deferred Credits," by adding a sentence at the end of the paragraph. As amended, this portion of account 253 will read:

253 Other deferred credits.

* * * Where amounts recorded in this account are to be amortized over future periods, any related income tax effects shall be allocated to the periods affected in accordance with General Instruction 16.

(m) Amend paragraphs "A" and "B" of account "255, Accumulated Deferred Investment Tax Credits," to eliminate references to account 411.3, Investment Tax Credit Adjustments, and substitute therefor references to accounts "411.4, Investment Tax Credit Adjustments, Utility Operations," and "411.5, Investment Tax Credit Adjustments, Nonutility Operations." As amended, paragraphs A and B of account 255 will read:

255 Accumulated deferred investment tax credits.

A. This account shall be credited with all investment tax credits deferred by companies which have elected to follow deferral accounting, partial or full, rather than recognizing in the income statement the total benefits of the tax credit as realized. After such election, a company may not transfer amounts from this account, except as authorized herein and in the Special Instructions for accounts 411.4, Investment Tax Credit Adjustments, Utility Operations, and 411.5, Investment Tax Credit Adjustments, Nonutility Operations, and in account 420, Investment Tax Credits, or with approval of the Commission.

B. Where the company's accounting provides that investment tax credits are to be passed on to customers, this account shall be debited and account 411.4 credited with a proportionate amount determined in relation to the average useful life of gas utility property to which the tax credits relate or such lesser period of time as may be adopted and used by the company. • • •

• • • • •

(n) Amend account "256, Deferred Gains from Disposition of Utility Plant," by revising the third sentence. As amended, this portion of account 256 will read:

256 Deferred gains from disposition of utility plant.

• • • The related income tax effects of amounts recorded in this account shall be allocated to the periods affected in accordance with General Instruction 16. • • •

(o) Immediately following account "256, Deferred Gains from Disposition of Utility Plant," add a new account 257, Unamortized Gain on Reacquired Debt, a new subheading Special Instructions—Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes, and immediately following text of this new subheading, add relocated accounts 281, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Accelerated Amortization, 282, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Liberalized Depreciation, and 283, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Other. These relocated accounts are being amended by deleting the reference to account "410, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes," and to account "411, Income Taxes Deferred In Prior Years—Credit," and substituting therefor reference to accounts "410.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Utility Operating Income", "410.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Other Income and Deductions, 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Utility Operating Income," and "411.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Other Income and Deductions". The texts of paragraphs A and B of account "283" are further amended and the note to the account is deleted. As so amended, this portion of the balance sheet accounts will read as follows:

257 Unamortized gain on reacquired debt.

This account shall include the amounts of discount realized upon reacquisition or redemption of long-term debt. The amounts in this account shall be amortized in accordance with General Instruction 17.

SPECIAL INSTRUCTIONS

ACCUMULATED DEFERRED INCOME TAXES

Natural gas companies shall use the accounts provided below for prior accumulations of deferred taxes on income and for additional provisions. A copy of the order or other authorization to practice deferred tax accounting of the State public service commission also having jurisdiction shall be filed with the Commission, or, in the absence of a State public service commission having accounting jurisdiction, the natural gas company shall file with this Commission a copy of its plan of accounting for deferred taxes on income. The filing of such order or other authorization, or accounting plan, shall constitute permission for additional accumulations of deferred taxes on income. Account 283 is provided for use of those natural gas companies which have obtained permission of the Commission for specific types of deferrals of taxes on income other than with respect to accelerated amortization or liberalized depreciation.

NOTE A: The text of accounts below are designed primarily to cover deferrals of Federal income taxes arising under provisions of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 but the accounts are also applicable to deferrals of State taxes on income.

NOTE B: Natural Gas Companies which, in addition to a gas utility department, have another utility department, electric, water, etc., and nonutility property and which have deferred taxes on income with respect thereto shall classify such deferrals in the accounts provided so as to allow ready identification of items relating to each utility department and to Other Income and Deductions.

281 Accumulated deferred income taxes—Accelerated amortization.

A. This account shall be credited and account 410.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Utility Operating Income, or 410.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, shall be debited with an amount equal to that by which taxes on income payable for the year are lower because of the use of accelerated (5-year) amortization of (1) certified defense facilities in computing such taxes, as permitted by section 168 of the Internal Revenue Code and (2) certified pollution control facilities in computing such taxes, as permitted by section 169 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as compared to the depreciation deduction otherwise appropriate and allowable for tax purposes according to the straight line or other nonaccelerated depreciation method and appropriate estimated useful life for such property.

B. This account shall be debited and account 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Utility Operating Income or 411.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, shall be credited with an amount equal to that by which taxes on income payable for the year are greater because of the use in prior years of accelerated (5-year) amortization of (1) certified defense facilities and (2) pollution control facilities, instead of nonaccelerated or nonliberalized depreciation otherwise appropriate for income tax purposes, and deferral of taxes in such prior years as described in paragraph A, above. Such debit to this account and credit to account 411.1 or 411.2 shall, in general, represent the effect on taxes payable for the current year of the unavailability of a depreciation deduction for tax purposes, or a reduced amount, with respect to any depreciable property for which accelerated amortization was used in prior years, as compared to the depreciation deduction otherwise available and appropriate for such property, considering its estimated useful life, according to the depreciation method ordinarily used by the utility for similar property in computing depreciation for tax purposes by a nonaccelerated or non-liberalized depreciation method.

C. Records with respect to entries to this account, as described above, and the account balance, shall be so maintained as to show the factors of calculation and the separate amounts applicable to the facilities of each certification or authorization of accelerated amortization for tax purposes.

D. The use of this account and the accounting described above are not mandatory for any utility, which in accordance with a consistent policy elects not to follow deferred tax accounting even though accelerated amortization is used in computing taxes on income. If, however, deferred tax accounting is initiated with respect to any certified defense facility, the accounting shall not be suspended or discontinued on the property covered by that certificate, without approval of the Commission.

E. The utility is restricted in its use of this account to the purposes set forth above. It shall not transfer the balance in this account or any portion thereof to retained earnings or make any use thereof except as provided in the text of this account without prior approval of the Commission. Any remaining balance of accumulated deferred taxes with respect to any certified defense facility for which deferred tax accounting has been followed, shall, upon expiration of the estimated useful life of the facility on which deferred tax calculations were based, or upon retirement of such facility or predominant part thereof, be credited to account 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Utility Operating Income, or 411.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, or otherwise be applied as the Commission may authorize or direct.

F. Upon the sale, exchange, abandonment, premature retirement or taxable transfer of any certified pollution control facility on which there is a related balance herein, this account shall be charged and account 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Utility Operating Income or 411.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, shall be credited with the amount of such balance; provided, however, that if the related income tax attributable to the disposition is significantly less than such related balance, the Commission shall otherwise direct or authorize how the residuals shall be treated. Upon transfers of plant to a wholly owned subsidiary the related balance in this account shall also be transferred. If transfers of plant are made to other than a wholly owned subsidiary and such transfer does not involve a tax transaction, the accounting shall be as authorized or directed by the Commission.

282 Accumulated deferred income taxes—Liberalized depreciation.

A. This account shall be credited and account 410.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Utility Operating Income, or 410.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, shall be debited with an amount equal to that by which taxes on income payable for the year are lower because of the use of liberalized depreciation in computing such taxes, as permitted by section 167 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as compared to the depreciation deduction otherwise appropriate and allowable for tax purposes for similar property of the same estimated useful life according to the straight line or other nonliberalized method of depreciation.

B. This account shall be debited and account 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Utility Operating Income, or 411.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, shall be credited with an amount equal to that by which taxes on income payable for the year are greater because of the use in prior years of liberalized depreciation for income tax purposes, and deferral of taxes in such prior years as described in paragraph A above. Such debit to this account and credit to account 411.1 or 411.2 shall, in general, represent the effect on taxes payable for the current year of the smaller amount of depreciation permitted for tax purposes for the current year with respect to any depreciable property for which liberalized depreciation was used in prior years, as compared to the depreciation deduction otherwise appropriate and available for similar property of the same estimated useful life according to the straight line or other nonliberalized depreciation method ordinarily used by the utility in computing depreciation for tax purposes.

C. Records with respect to entries to this account, as described above, and account balance, shall be so maintained as to show the factors of calculation and the separate amounts applicable to the plant additions of each vintage year for each class, group, or unit as to which different liberalized depreciation methods and estimated useful lives have been used. The underlying calculations to segregate and associate deferred tax amounts with the respective vintage years may be based on reasonable methods of approximation if necessary, consistently applied.

D. The use of this account and the accounting described above are not mandatory for any utility, which in accordance with a consistent policy, elects not to follow deferred tax accounting even though liberalized depreciation is used in computing taxes on income. If however, deferred tax accounting is initiated with respect to any property such accounting shall not be discontinued on that property, without approval of the Commission.

E. The utility is restricted in its use of this account to the purposes set forth above. It shall not transfer the balance in the account or any portion thereof to retained earnings or make any use thereof except as provided in the text of this account without prior approval of the Commission. Any remaining deferred tax balance with respect to any year's plant additions or subdivisions thereof for which liberalized depreciation accounting has been followed upon retirement from service of such property or predominant portion thereof, or upon expiration of the estimated useful life on which the depreciation calculations for tax purposes are based, shall be credited to account 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Utility Operating Income, or 411.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, or otherwise applied as the Commission may authorize or direct.

283 Accumulated deferred income taxes—other.

A. This account, when its use has been authorized by the Commission for specific types of tax deferrals, shall be credited and account 410.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Utility Operating Income, or 410.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, shall be debited with an amount equal to that by which taxes on income payable for the year are lower because of the current use of deductions other than accelerated amortization or liberalized depreciation in the computation of income taxes, which deductions for general accounting purposes will not be fully reflected in the utility's determination of annual net income until subsequent years. This account shall also be used in instances where an item is included in income for accounting purposes earlier than it is recognized for income tax purposes.

B. This account, when its use has been authorized by the Commission, shall be debited and account 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Utility Operating Income, or 411.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, shall be credited with an amount equal to that by which taxes on income payable for the year are greater because of deferral of taxes on income in previous years, as provided by paragraph A, above, because of difference in timing for tax purposes of particular income deductions or items of income from that recognized by the utility for general accounting purposes, other than with respect to accelerated amortization or liberalized depreciation.

Such debit to this account and credit to account 411.1 or 411.2 shall, in general, represent the effect on taxes payable in the current year of the smaller deduction permitted, or the larger amount of income recognized, for tax purposes as compared to the amount recognized in the utility's general accounts with respect to the item or class of items for which deferred tax accounting by the utility was authorized by the Commission.

C. Records with respect to entries to this account, as described above, and the account balance, shall be so maintained as to show the factors of calculation with respect to each annual amount of the item or class of items, other than accelerated amortization or liberalized depreciation, for which tax deferral accounting by the utility is authorized by the Commission.

D. The utility is restricted in its use of this account to the purposes set forth above. It shall not transfer the balance in the account or any portion thereof to retained earnings or make any use thereof except as provided in the text of this account, without prior approval of the Commission. Any remaining deferred tax account balance with respect to an amount for any prior year's tax deferral, the amortization of which or other recognition in the utility's income accounts has been completed, or other disposition made, shall be credited to account 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Utility Operating Income, or account 411.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, or otherwise disposed of as the Commission may authorize or direct.

1. Amend the General Instructions section as follows:

(a) In instruction "2. Records," amend paragraph "E" by deleting "account 426, Miscellaneous Income Deductions" and substituting account 426.5, Other Deductions, therefor.

(b) Immediately following instruction "14. Gas Well Records" add two new general instructions "15, Accounting for Income Taxes" and "16, Long-Term Debt: Premium, Discount, Expense, and Gain or Loss on Reacquisition."

As so amended, the portions of the General Instructions section will read:

General Instructions

15. Accounting for income taxes.

A. In those instances where there are differences between the periods in which transactions significantly affect taxable income and the periods in which they enter into the determination of pretax accounting income, the income tax effects of those transactions are to be recognized in the periods in which the differences between pretax accounting income and taxable income arise and in the periods in which the differences reverse using the deferred concept. The resulting income tax expense for the period will include the tax effects of transactions entering into the determination of net income for financial accounting purposes for the period. The resulting deferred tax amounts reflect the tax effects which will reverse in future periods. The measurement of income tax expense becomes thereby a consistent and integral part of the process of matching revenues and expenses in the determination of net income.

B. Tax effects deferred currently will be recorded as deferred debits or deferred credits, in accounts 190, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes, and 283, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Other, as appropriate. The resulting amounts recorded in these accounts shall be amortized as prescribed in this system of accounts or as otherwise authorized by the Commission.

C. In general, interperiod tax allocation will be required whenever transactions enter into the determination of pretax accounting income either earlier or later than they became determinants of taxable income. Some examples of items which cause such timing differences are:

(1) Extraordinary property losses deducted for tax purposes but deferred and amortized for accounting purposes. (See account 182, Extraordinary Property Losses.)

(2) Regulatory commission expenses deducted for tax purposes but deferred and amortized in accounts.

(3) Gains or losses from sale of utility plant, recognized currently for tax purposes but deferred and amortized for accounting purposes. (See accounts 187, Deferred Losses from Disposition of Utility Plant, and 256, Deferred Gains from Disposition of Utility Plant.)

(4) Income or expense attributable to the reacquisition of debt securities, recognized currently for tax purposes but deferred and amortized in accounts. (See accounts 189, Unamortized Loss on Reacquired Debt, and 257, Unamortized Gain on Reacquired Debt.)

(5) Allowance for funds used and taxes during construction, deducted for tax purposes when incurred and included in the cost of utility plant for accounting purposes.

D. It is intended that there be full interperiod allocation of the income tax effects of transactions which significantly affect income for tax purposes and for accounting purposes in different periods, as explained above. Nothing in this instruction is intended to affect the allocation of the tax effects relating to interest charges between utility and nonutility operations, as directed in the special instructions for the income tax accounts, or to relate to the allocation of income tax savings, resulting from the filing of a consolidated income tax return, among a utility and its affiliates with which it files such a return. (See Special Instructions—Accounts 409.1, 409.2, and 409.3).

16. Long-term debt: Premium, discount, expense, and gain or loss on reacquisition.

A. General: A separate premium, discount, and expense account shall be maintained for each class and series of long-term debt (including receivers' certificates) issued or assumed by the utility. The premium will be recorded in account 225, Unamortized Premium on Long-Term Debt, the discount will be recorded in account 226, Unamortized Discount on Long-Term Debt—Debit, and the expense of issuance shall be recorded in account 181, Unamortized Debt Expense.

The premium, discount and expense shall be amortized over the life of the respective issues under a plan which will distribute the amounts equitably over the life of the securities. The amortization shall be on a monthly basis, and amounts thereof relating to discount and expense shall be charged to account 428, Amor-tization of Debt Discount and Expense. The amounts relating to premium shall be credited to account 429, Amortization of Premium on Debt—Credit.

B. Reacquisition: When long-term debt is reacquired or redeemed without being converted into another form of long-term debt and when the transaction is not in connection with the refunding operation, the difference between the amount paid upon reacquisition and the face value; plus any unamortized premium less any related unamortized debt expense and reacquisition costs; or less any unamortized discount, related debt expense and reacquisition costs applicable to the debt redeemed, retired and canceled, shall be included in account 189, Unamortized Loss on Reacquired Debt, or account 257, Unamortized Gain on Reacquired Debt, as appropriate. The utility shall amortize the recorded amounts equally on a monthly basis over the remaining life of the respective security issues. The amounts so amortized shall be charged to account 428.1, Amortization of Loss on Reacquired Debt or credited to account 429.1, Amortization of Gain on Reacquired Debt—Credit, as appropriate.

C. Refunding: When the redemption of one issue or series of bonds or other long-term obligations is financed by another issue or series before the maturity date of the first issue, the difference between the amount paid upon refunding and the face value; plus any unamortized premium less related debt expense or less any unamortized discount and related debt expense, applicable to the debt refunded, including the expense of refunding, shall be included in account 189, Unamortized Loss on Reacquired Debt, or account 257, Unamortized Gain on Reacquired Debt, as appropriate. The utility may elect to account for such amounts as follows:

(1) Write them off immediately when the amounts are insignificant.

(2) Amortize them by equal monthly amounts over the remaining life of the respective reacquired securities.

(3) Amortize them by equal monthly amounts over the life of the new issue.

The amounts in (1), (2), or (3) above shall be charged to account 428.1, Amortization of Loss on Reacquired Debt or credited to account 429.1, Amortization of Gain on Reacquired Debt—Credit, as appropriate.

D. Under methods (2) and (3) above, the increase or reduction in current income taxes resulting from the reacquisition should be apportioned over the remaining life of the reacquired securities or over the life of the new issue, as appropriate, as directed in paragraphs E and F below.

E. When the utility recognizes the loss in the year of reacquisition as a tax deduction, account 410.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Utility Operating Income, shall be debited and account 283, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Other, shall be credited with the amount of the related tax effect, such amount to be allocated to the periods affected in accordance with the provisions of account 283.

F. When the utility chooses to recognize the gain in the year of reacquisition as a taxable gain, account 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Utility Operating Income, shall be credited and account 190, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes, shall be debited with the amount of the related tax effect, such amount to be allocated to the periods affected in accordance with the provisions of account 190.

G. When the utility chooses to use the optional privilege of deferring the tax on the gain attributable to the reacquisition of debt by reducing the depreciable basis of utility property for tax purposes, pursuant to section 108 of the Internal Revenue Code, the related tax effects shall be deferred as the income is recognized for accounting purposes, and the deferred amounts shall be amortized over the life of the associated property on a vintage year basis.

Account 410.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Utility Operating Income, shall be debited, and account 283, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Other, shall be credited with an amount equal to the estimated income tax effect applicable to the portion of the income, attributable to reacquired debt, recognized for accounting purposes during the period. Account 283 shall be debited and account 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes-Credit, Utility Operating Income shall be credited with an amount equal to the estimated income tax effects, during the life of the property, attributable to the reduction in the depreciable basis for tax purposes.

H. The tax effects relating to gain or loss shall be allocated as above to utility operations except in cases where a portion of the debt reacquired is directly applicable to nonutility operations. In that event, the related portion of the tax effects shall be allocated to nonutility operations. Where it can be established that reacquired debt is generally applicable to both utility and nonutility operations, the tax effects shall be allocated between utility and nonutility operations based on the ratio of net investment in utility plant to net investment in nonutility plant.

I. Premium, discount, or expense on debt shall not be included as an element in the cost of construction or acquisition of property (tangible or intangible), except under the provisions of account 419.1, Allowance for Funds Used During Construction.

2. Amend the Chart of the Balance Sheet Accounts as follows:

(a) Change the account title "181, Unamortized Debt Discount and Expense," to read "181, Unamortized Debt Expense."

(b) Immediately following account "187, Deferred Losses from Disposition of Utility Plant," add two new accounts 189, Unamortized Loss on Reacquired Debt, and 190, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes.

(c) Immediately following account "224, Other Long-Term Debt," add two new accounts titled, 225, Unamortized Premium on Long-Term Debt, and 226, Unamortized Discount on Long-Term Debt—Debit.

(d) Revoke account "251, Unamortized Premium on Debt."

(e) Immediately following account title "256, Deferred Gains from Disposition of Utility Plant," add account titles 257, Unamortized Gain on Reacquired Debt, 281, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Accelerated Amortization, 282, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Liberalized Depreciation, and 283, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Other.

(f) Immediately following account title "271, Contributions in Aid of Construction," revoke the classification heading "11, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes," and relocate account titles "281, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Accelerated Amortization, 282, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Liberalized Depreciation," and "283, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Other," to a position immediately following account "257, Unamortized Gain on Reacquired Debt."

As so amended, those portions of the Chart of Balance Sheet Accounts will read:

3. Amend and revise the text of the balance sheet accounts as follows:

(a) Amend account "114, Gas Plant Acquisition Adjustments," by adding a new paragraph C and redesignating present paragraph C as paragraph D. As so amended, account 114 will read:

114 Gas plant acquisition adjustments.

* * * * *

C. When the Commission has not authorized the amortization of an amount recorded in this account to operating expenses, but has authorized the inclusion in operating expenses of amounts equivalent to the tax reductions resulting from the inclusion of the acquisition adjustment in the depreciable basis of the related property for income tax purposes, the related tax effects will be deferred as the acquisition adjustment is amortized for accounting purposes, and the deferred amounts will be amortized over the tax life of the property. Account 411.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Other Income and Deductions, shall be credited, and account 190, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes, shall be debited with an amount equal to the estimated income tax effect applicable to that portion of the acquisition adjustment amortized for accounting purposes during the period. Account 190 shall be credited and account 410.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Utility Operating Income, shall be debited with an amount equal to the estimated income tax effects, during the life of the property, attributable to the larger basis for depreciation for tax purposes.

D. The amounts recorded in this account with respect to each property acquisition shall be amortized, or otherwise disposed of, as the Commission may approve or direct.

(b) Revise account title and text of account "181, Unamortized Debt Discount and Expense." As so revised, account 181 will read as follows:

181 Unamortized debt expense.

This account shall include expenses related to the issuance or assumption of debt securities. Amounts recorded in this account shall be amortized over the life of each respective issue under a plan which will distribute the amount equitably over the life of the security. The amortization shall be on a monthly basis, and the amounts thereof shall be charged to account 428, Amortization of Debt Discount and Expense. Any unamortized amounts outstanding at the time that the related debt is prematurely reacquired shall be accounted for as indicated in General Instruction 16.

(c) Amend paragraph B of account "182, Extraordinary Property Losses," by adding a sentence at the end of the paragraph. As amended, this portion of account 182 will read:

182 Extraordinary property losses.

* * * * *

B. * * * Where the Commission has authorized amortization over future periods, the related income tax effects shall be allocated to the periods affected in accordance with General Instruction 15.

(d) Amend account "183, Other Deferred Debits," by adding a new paragraph B and redesignating present paragraph "B" as paragraph C. As amended, this portion of account 183 will read:

183 Other deferred debits.

* * * * *

B. Where amounts recorded in this account are to be amortized over future periods, any related income tax effects shall be allocated to the periods affected in accordance with General Instruction 15.

* * * * *

(e) Amend account "187, Deferred Losses from Disposition of Utility Plant," by revising the third sentence. As amended, this portion of account 187 will read:

187 Deferred losses from disposition of utility plant.

* * * The related income tax effects of amounts recorded in this account shall be allocated to the periods affected in accordance with General Instruction 15. * * *

(f) Immediately following account "187, Deferred Losses from Disposition of Utility Plant," add two new accounts titled 189, Unamortized Loss on Reacquired Debt, and 190, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes, to read as follows:

189 Unamortized loss on reacquired debt.

This account shall include the losses on long-term debt reacquired or redeemed. The amounts in this account shall be amortized in accordance with General Instruction 16.

190 Accumulated deferred income taxes.

A. This account, when its use has been authorized by the Commission for specific types of tax deferrals, shall be debited and account 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Utility Operating Income, or account 411.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, shall be credited with an amount equal to that by which income taxes payable for the year are higher because of the inclusion of certain items in income for tax purposes, which items for general accounting purposes will not be fully reflected in the utility's determination of annual net income until subsequent years. This account shall also be used in instances where an item is deducted in determining income for accounting purposes earlier than it is deducted for income tax purposes.

B. This account shall be credited and account 410.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Utility Operating Income, or account 410.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, shall be debited with an amount equal to that by which income taxes payable for the year are lower because of prior payment of taxes as provided by paragraph A above, because of difference in timing for tax purposes of particular items of income or income deductions from that recognized by the utility for general accounting purposes. Such credit to this account and debit to account 410.1 or 410.2 shall, in general, represent the effect on taxes payable in the current year of the smaller amount of income recognized, or the larger deduction permitted, for tax purposes as compared to the amount recognized in the utility's general accounts with respect to the item or class of items for which deferred tax accounting by the utility was authorized by the Commission.

C. Records with respect to entries to this account, as described above, and the account balance, shall be so maintained as to show the factors of calculation with respect to each annual amount of the item or class of items for which deferred tax accounting by the utility is authorized.

D. The utility is restricted in its use of this account to the purposes set forth above. It shall not make use of the balance in this account or any portion thereof except as provided in the text of this account, without prior approval of the Commission. Any remaining deferred tax account balance with respect to an amount for any prior year's tax deferral, the amortization of which or other recognition in the utility's income accounts has been completed, or other disposition made, shall be debited to account 410.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Utility Operating Income, or account 410.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, or otherwise disposed of as the Commission may authorize or direct.

(g) Revise paragraph B of account "221, Bonds." As revised, this portion of account 221 will read as follows:

221 Bonds.

* * * * *

B. When bonds are reacquired, the difference between face value, adjusted for unamortized discount, expenses or premium and the amount paid upon reacquisition, shall be included in account 189, Unamortized Loss on Reacquired Debt, or account 257, Unamortized Gain on Reacquired Debt, as appropriate. (See General Instruction 16.)

(h) Immediately following account "224, Other Long-Term Debt," add new accounts titled 225, Unamortized Premium on Long-Term Debt, and 226, Unamortized Discount on Long-Term Debt—Debit to read as follows:

225 Unamortized premium on long-term debt.

A. This account shall include the excess of the cash value of consideration received over the face value upon the issuance or assumption of debt securities.

B. Amounts recorded in this account shall be amortized over the life of each respective issue under a plan which will distribute the amount equitably over the life of the security. The amortization shall be on a monthly basis, with the amounts thereof to be credited to account 429, Amortization of Premium on Debt—Credit. (See General Instruction 16.)

226 Unamortized discount on long-term debt—debit.

A. This account shall include the excess of the face value of long-term debt securities over the cash value of consideration received therefor, related to the issue or assumption of all types and classes of debt.

B. Amounts recorded in this account shall be amortized over the life of the respective issues under a plan which will distribute the amount equitably over the life of the securities. The amortization shall be on a monthly basis, with the amounts thereof charged to account 428, Amortization of Debt Discount and Expense. (See General Instruction 16)

(i) Revoke account "251, Unamortized Premium on Debt."

(j) Amend account "253, Other Deferred Credits," by adding a sentence at the end of the paragraph. As amended, this portion of account 253 will read:

253 Other deferred credits.

* * * Where amounts recorded in this account are to be amortized over future periods, any related income tax effects shall be allocated to the periods affected in accordance with General Instruction 15.

(k) Amend paragraphs "A" and "B" of "255, Accumulated Deferred Investment Tax Credits," to eliminate references to account 411.3, Investment Tax Credit Adjustments, and substitute therefor references to accounts "411.4, Investment Tax Credit Adjustments, Utility Operations," and "411.5, Investment Tax Credit Adjustments, Nonutility Operations." As amended, paragraphs A and B of accounts 255 will read:

255 Accumulated deferred investment tax credits.

A. This account shall be credited with all investment tax credits deferred by companies which have elected to follow deferral accounting, partial or full, rather than recognizing in the income statement the total benefits of the tax credit as realized. After such election, a company may not transfer amounts from this account, except as authorized herein and in the Special Instructions for accounts 411.4, Investment Tax Credit Adjustments, Utility Operations, and 411.5, Investment Tax Credit Adjustments, Nonutility Operations, and in account 420, Investment Tax Credits, or with approval of the Commission.

B. Where the company's accounting provides that investment tax credits are to be passed on to customers, this account shall be debited and account 411.4 credited with a proportionate amount determined in relation to the average useful life of gas utility property to which the tax credits relate or such lesser period of time as may be adopted and used by the company. * * *

* * * * *

(l) Amend account "256, Deferred Gains from Disposition of Utility Plant," by revising the third sentence. As amended, this portion of account 256 will read:

256 Deferred gains from disposition of utility plant.

* * * The related income tax effects of amounts recorded in this account shall be allocated to the periods affected in accordance with General Instruction 15. * * *

(m) Immediately following account "256, Deferred Gains from Disposition of Utility Plant," add a new account 257, Unamortized Gain on Reacquired Debt, a new subheading Special Instructions—Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes, and immediately following text of this new subheading, add relocated accounts 281, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Accelerated Amortization, 282, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Liberalized Depreciation, and 283, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Other. These relocated accounts are being amended by deleting the reference to account "410, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes," and to account "411, Income Taxes Deferred In Prior Years—Credit," and substituting therefor references to accounts "410.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Utility Operating Income," "410.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Other Income and Deductions, 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Utility Operating Income," and "411.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Other Income and Deductions. The texts of paragraphs A and B of account "283" are further amended and the note to the account is deleted. As so amended, this portion of the balance sheet accounts will read as follows:

257 Unamortized gain on reacquired debt.

This account shall include the amounts of discount realized upon reacquisition or redemption of long-term debt. The amounts in this account shall be amortized in accordance with General Instruction 16.

SPECIAL INSTRUCTIONS

ACCUMULATED DEFERRED INCOME TAXES

Natural gas companies shall use the accounts provided below for prior accumulations of deferred taxes on income and for additional provisions. A copy of the order or other authorization to practice deferred tax accounting of the state public service commission also having jurisdiction shall be filed with the Commission, or, in the absence of a state public service commission having accounting jurisdiction, the natural gas companies shall file with this Commission a copy of its plan of accounting for deferred taxes on income. The filing of such order or other authorization, or accounting plan, shall constitute permission for additional accumulations of deferred taxes on income. Account 283 is provided for use of those natural gas companies which have obtained permission of the Commission for specific types of deferrals of taxes on income other than with respect to accelerated amortization or liberalized depreciation.

NOTE A: The text of the accounts below are designed primarily to cover deferrals of federal income taxes pursuant to provisions of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 but the accounts are also applicable to deferrals of State taxes on income.

NOTE B: Natural gas companies which, in addition to a gas utility department, have another utility department, electric, water, etc., and nonutility property and which have deferred taxes on income with respect thereto shall classify such deferrals in the accounts provided below so as to allow ready identification of items relating to each utility department and to Other Income and Deductions.

281 Accumulated deferred income taxes—Accelerated amortization.

A. This account shall be credited and account 410.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Utility Operating Income, or 410.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, shall be debited with an amount equal to that by which taxes on income payable for the year are lower because of the use of accelerated (5-year) amortization of (1) certified defense facilities in computing such taxes, as permitted by section 168 of the Internal Revenue Code and (2) certified pollution control facilities in computing such taxes, as permitted by section 169 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as compared to the depreciation deduction otherwise appropriate and allowable for tax purposes according to the straight line or other nonaccelerated depreciation method and appropriate estimated useful life for such property.

B. This account shall be debited and account 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Utility Operating Income or 411.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, shall be credited with an amount equal to that by which taxes on income payable for the year are greater because of the use in prior years of accelerated (5-year) amortization of (1) certified defense facilities and (2) pollution control facilities, instead of nonaccelerated or nonliberalized depreciation otherwise appropriate for income tax purposes, and deferral of taxes in such prior years as described in paragraph A, above. Such debit to this account and credit to account 411.1 or 411.2 shall, in general, represent the effect on taxes payable for the current year of the unavailability of a depreciation reduction for tax purposes, or a reduced amount, with respect to any depreciable property for which accelerated amortization was used in prior years, as compared to the depreciation deduction otherwise available and appropriate for such property, considering its estimated useful life, according to the depreciation method ordinarily used by the utility for similar property in computing depreciation for tax purposes by a nonaccelerated or nonliberalized depreciation method.

C. Records with respect to entries to this account, as described above, and the account balance, shall be so maintained as to show the factors of calculation and the separate amounts applicable to the facilities of each certification or authorization of accelerated amortization for tax purposes.

D. The use of this account and the accounting described above are not mandatory for any utility, which in accordance with a consistent policy elects not to follow deferred tax accounting even though accelerated amortization is used in computing taxes on income. If, however, deferred tax accounting is initiated with respect to any certified defense facility, the accounting shall not be suspended or discontinued on the property covered by that certificate, without approval of the Commission.

E. The utility is restricted in its use of this account to the purposes set forth above. It shall not transfer the balance in this account or any portion thereof to retained earnings or make any use thereof except as provided in the text of this account without prior approval of the Commission. Any remaining balance of accumulated deferred taxes with respect to any certified defense facility for which deferred tax accounting has been followed, shall, upon expiration of the estimated useful life of the facility on which deferred tax calculations were based, or upon retirement of such facility or predominant part thereof, be credited to account 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Utility Operating Income, or 411.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, or otherwise be applied as the Comission may authorize or direct.

F. Upon the sale, exchange, abandonment, premature retirement or taxable transfer of any certified pollution control facility on which there is a related balance herein, this account shall be charged and account 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Utility Operating Income or 411.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, shall be credited with the amount of such balance; provided, however, that if the related income tax attributable to the disposition is significantly less than such related balance, the Commission shall otherwise direct or authorize how the residuals shall be treated. Upon transfers of plant to a wholly owned subsidiary the related balance in this account shall also be transferred. If transfers of plant are made to other than a wholly owned subsidiary and such transfer does not involve a tax transaction, the accounting shall be as authorized or directed by the Commission.

282 Accumulated deferred income taxes—Liberalized depreciation.

A. This account shall be credited and account 410.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Utility Operating Income, or 410.2 Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, shall be debited with an amount equal to that by which taxes on income payable for the year are lower because of the use of liberalized depreciation in computing such taxes, as permitted by section 167 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as compared to the depreciation deduction otherwise appropriate and allowable for tax purposes for similar property of the same estimated useful life according to the straight line or other nonliberalized method of depreciation.

B. This account shall be debited and account 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Utility Operating Income, or 411.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, shall be credited with an amount equal to that by which taxes on income payable for the year are greater because of the use in prior years of liberalized depreciation for income tax purposes, and deferral of taxes in such prior years as described in paragraph A above. Such debit to this account and credit to account 411.1 or 411.2 shall, in general, represent the effect on taxes payable for the current year of the smaller amount of depreciation permitted for tax purposes for the current year with respect to any depreciable property for which liberalized depreciation was used in prior years, as compared to the depreciation deduction otherwise appropriate and available for similar property of the same estimated useful life according to the straight line or other nonliberalized depreciation method ordinarily used by the utility in computing depreciation for tax purposes.

C. Records with respect to entries to this account, as described above, and account balance, shall be so maintained as to show the factors of calculation and the separate amounts applicable to the plant additions of each vintage year for each class, group, or unit as to which different liberalized depreciation methods and estimated useful lives have been used. The underlying calculations to segregate and associate deferred tax amounts with the respective vintage years may be based on reasonable methods of approximation, if necessary, consistently applied.

D. The use of this account and the accounting described above are not mandatory for any utility, which in accordance with a consistent policy, elects not to follow deferred tax accounting even though liberalized depreciation is used in computing taxes on income. If however, deferred tax accounting is initiated with respect to any property such accounting shall not be discontinued on that property, without approval of the Commission.

E. The utility is restricted in its use of this account to the purposes set forth above. It shall not transfer the balance in the account or any portion thereof to retained earnings or make any use thereof except as provided in the text of this account without prior approval of the Commission. Any remaining deferred tax balance with respect to any year's plant additions or subdivisions thereof for which liberalized depreciation accounting has been followed upon retirement from service of such property or predominant portion thereof, or upon expiration of the estimated useful life on which the depreciation calculations for tax purposes are based, shall be credited to account 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Utility Operating Income, or 411.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, or otherwise applied as the Commission may authorize or direct.

283 Accumulated deferred income taxes—other.

A. This account, when its use has been authorized by the Commission for specific types of tax deferrals, shall be credited and account 410.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Utility Operating Income, or 410.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, shall be debited with an amount equal to that by which taxes on income payable for the year are lower because of the current use of deductions other than accelerated amortization or liberalized depreciation in the computation of income taxes, which deductions for general accounting purposes will not be fully reflected in the utility's determination of annual net income until subsequent years. This account shall also be used in instances where an item is included in income for accounting purposes earlier than it is recognized for income tax purposes.

B. This account, when its use has been authorized by the Commission, shall be debited and account 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Utility Operating Income, or 411.2, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Other Income and Deductions, as appropriate, shall be credited with an amount equal to that by which taxes on income payable for the year are greater because of deferral of taxes on income in previous years, as provided by paragraph A, above, because of difference in timing for tax purposes of particular income deductions or items of income from that recognized by the utility for general accounting purposes, other than with respect to accelerated amortization or liberalized depreciation.

Such debit to this account and credit to account 411.1 or 411.2 shall, in general, represent the effect on taxes payable in the current year of the smaller deduction permitted, or the larger amount of income recognized, for tax purposes as compared to the amount recognized in the utility's general accounts with respect to the item or class of items for which deferred tax accounting by the utility was authorized by the Commission.

Records with respect to entries to this account, as described above, and the account balance, shall be so maintained as to show the factors of calculation with respect to each annual amount of the item or class of items, other than accelerated amortization or liberalized depreciation, for which tax deferral accounting by the utility is authorized by the Commission.

D. The utility is restricted in its use of this account to the purposes set forth above. It shall not transfer the balance in the account or any portion thereof to retained earnings or make any use thereof except as provided in the text of this account, without prior approval of the Commission. VOL 36 161 XUM appropriate, as directed in paragraphs E and F below.

E. When the utility recognizes the loss in the year of reacquisition as a tax deduction, account 410.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Utility Operating Income, shall be debited and account 283, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Other, shall be credited with the amount of the related tax effect, such amount to be allocated to the periods affected in accordance with the provisions of account 283.

F. When the utility chooses to recognize the gain in the year of reacquisition as a taxable gain, account 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Utility Operating Income, shall be credited and account 190, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes, shall be debited with the amount of the related tax effect, such amount to be allocated to the periods affected in accordance with the provisions of account 190.

G. When the utility chooses to use the optional privilege of deferring the tax on the gain attributable to the reacquisition of debt by reducing the depreciable basis of utility property for tax purposes, pursuant to section 108 of the Internal Revenue Code, the related tax effects shall be deferred as the income is recognized for accounting purposes, and the deferred amounts shall be amortized over the life of the associated property on a vintage year basis.

Account 410.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes, Utility Operating Income, shall be debited, and account 283, Accumulated Deferred Income Taxes—Other, shall be credited with an amount equal to the estimated income tax effect applicable to the portion of the income, attributable to reacquired debt, recognized for accounting purposes during the period. Account 283 shall be debited and account 411.1, Provision for Deferred Income Taxes—Credit, Utility Operating Income shall be credited with an amount equal to the estimated income tax effects, during the life of the property, attributable to the reduction in the depreciable basis for tax purposes.

H. The tax effects relating to gain or loss shall be allocated as above to utility operations except in cases where a portion of the debt reacquired is directly applicable to nonutility operations. In that event, the related portion of the tax effects shall be allocated to nonutility operations. Where it can be established that reacquired debt is generally applicable to both utility and nonutility operations, the tax effects shall be allocated between utility and nonutility operations based on the ratio of net investment in utility plant to net investment in nonutility plant.

I. Premium, discount, or expense on debt shall not be included as an element in the cost of construction or acquisition of property (tangible or intangible), except under the provisions of account 419.1, Allowance for Funds Used During Construction.

J. See General Instruction 8 for accounting for deferred taxes as directed in paragraph D, E, F, and G above.

B. C. The charges to these accounts shall be made or supported so as to show the amount of each tax and the basis upon which each charge is made. In the case of a utility rendering more than one utility service, taxes of the kind includible in these accounts shall be assigned directly to the utility department the operation of which gave rise to the tax in so far as practicable. Where the tax is not attributable to a specific utility department, it shall be distributed among the utility departments or nonutility operations on an equitable basis.

Concurrent credits for the tax accruals shall be made to account 236, Taxes Accrued, and as the exact amounts of taxes become known, the current tax accruals shall be adjusted by charges or credits to these accounts unless such adjustments are properly includible in account 439, Adjustments to Retained Earnings, so that these accounts as nearly as can be ascertained shall include the actual taxes payable by the utility. (See general instruction 5 for prior period adjustments.)

B. The accruals for income taxes shall be apportioned among utility departments and to Other Income and Deductions so that, as nearly as practicable, each tax shall be included in the expenses of the utility department or Other Income and Deductions, the income from which gave rise to the tax. C. When deferral accounting for all or any part of investment tax credits is adopted, a company may change the apportionment of its annual amortization between these accounts and account 420 in accordance with the above instructions provided that the total annual amortization credit is calculated on a consistent basis such as over the average useful life of the property to which tax credits relate or over a lesser period of time as may be adopted and consistently used by the company.

Activities Not Engaged In for Profit

Notice is hereby given that the regulations set forth in tentative form below are proposed to be prescribed by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury or his delegate. Prior to the final adoption of such regulations, consideration will be given to any comments or suggestions pertaining thereto which are submitted in writing, preferably in quintuplicate, to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Attention: CC:LR:T, Washington, D.C. 20224, by September 20, 1971. Any written comments or suggestions not specifically designated as confidential in accordance with 26 CFR 601.601(b) may be inspected by any person upon written request. Any person submitting written comments or suggestions who desires an opportunity to comment orally at a public hearing on these proposed regulations should submit his request, in writing, to the Commissioner by September 20, 1971. In such case, a public hearing will be held, and notice of the time, place, and date will be published in a subsequent issue of the FEDERAL REGISTER. The proposed regulations are to be issued under the authority contained in section 7805 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 (68A Stat. 917; 26 U.S.C. 7805).

[SEAL] HAROLD T. SWARTZ,
Acting Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

In order to conform the Income Tax Regulations under sections 61, 162, 183, 212, and 270 (26 CFR Part 1) to section 213 of the Tax Reform Act of 1969 (Public Law 91–172, 83 Stat. 571), such regulations are amended as follows:

PARAGRAPH 1. Paragraph (c) of § 1.61–4 is amended to read as follows:

§ 1.61–4 Gross income of farmers.

* * * * *

(c) Special rules for certain receipts. In the case of the sale of machinery, farm equipment, or any other property (except stock in trade of the taxpayer, or property of a kind which would properly be included in the inventory of the taxpayer if on hand at the close of the taxable year, or property held by the taxpayer primarily for sale to customers in the ordinary course of his trade or business), any excess of the proceeds of the sale over the adjusted basis of such property shall be included in the taxpayer's gross income for the taxable year in which such sale is made. See, however, section 453 and the regulations thereunder for special rules relating to certain installment sales. If farm produce is exchanged for merchandise, groceries, or the like, the market value of the article received in exchange is to be included in gross income. Proceeds of insurance, such as hail or fire insurance on growing crops, should be included in gross income to the extent of the amount received in cash or its equivalent for the crop injured or destroyed. See section 451(d) for special rule relating to election to include crop insurance proceeds in income for taxable year following taxable year of destruction. For taxable years beginning after (insert date that these regulations are filed in final form by the FEDERAL REGISTER), where a farmer is engaged in producing crops and the process of gathering and disposing of such crops is not completed within the taxable year in which such crops are planted, the income therefrom may, with the consent of the Commissioner (see section 446 and the regulations thereunder), be computed upon the crop method. For taxable years beginning on or before (insert date that these regulations are filed in final form by the FEDERAL REGISTER), where a farmer is engaged in producing crops which take more than a year from the time of planting to the time of gathering and disposing, the income therefrom may, with the consent of the Commissioner (see section 446 and the regulations thereunder), be computed upon the crop method. In any case in which the crop method is used, the entire cost of producing the crop must be taken as a deduction for the year in which the gross income from the crop is realized, and not earlier.

PAR. 2. § 1.162–12 is amended to read as follows:

§ 1.162–12 Expenses of farmers.

(a) Farms engaged in for profit. A farmer who operates a farm for profit is entitled to deduct from gross income as necessary expenses all amounts actually expended in the carrying on of the business of farming. The cost of ordinary tools of short life or small cost, such as hand tools, including shovels, rakes, etc., may be deducted. The purchase of feed and other costs connected with raising livestock may be treated as expense deductions insofar as such costs represent actual outlay, but not including the value of farm produce grown upon the farm or the labor of the taxpayer. For taxable years beginning after (insert date that these regulations are filed in final form by the FEDERAL REGISTER) where a farmer is engaged in producing crops and the process of gathering and disposal of such crops is not completed within the taxable year in which such crops were planted, expenses deducted may, with the consent of the Commissioner (see section 446 and the regulations thereunder), be determined upon the crop method, and such deductions must be taken in the taxable year in which the gross income from the crop has been realized. For taxable years beginning on or before (insert date that these regulations are filed in final form by the FEDERAL REGISTER), where a farmer is engaged in producing crops which take more than a year from the time of planting to the process of gathering and disposal, expenses deducted may, with the consent of the Commissioner (see section 446 and the regulations thereunder), be determined upon the crop method, and such deductions must be taken in the taxable year in which the gross income from the crop has been realized. If a farmer does not compute income upon the crop method, the cost of seeds and young plants which are purchased for further development and cultivation prior to sale in later years may be deducted as an expense for the year of purchase, provided the farmer follows a consistent practice of deducting such costs as an expense from year to year. The preceding sentence does not apply to the cost of seeds and young plants connected with the planting of timber (see section 611 and the regulations thereunder). For provisions relating to citrus and almond groves, see section 278 and the regulations thereunder. The cost of farm machinery, equipment, and farm buildings represents a capital investment and is not an allowable deduction as an item of expense. Amounts expended in the development of farms, orchards, and ranches prior to the time when the productive state is reached may, at the election of the taxpayer, be regarded as investments of capital. For the treatment of soil and water conservation expenditures as expenses which are not chargeable to capital account, see section 175 and the regulations thereunder. For taxable years beginning after December 31, 1959, in the case of expenditures paid or incurred by farmers for fertilizer, lime, etc., see section 180 and the regulations thereunder. Amounts expended in purchasing work, breeding, or dairy animals are regarded as investments of capital, and shall be depreciated unless such animals are included in an inventory in accordance with § 1.61–4. The purchase price of an automobile, even when wholly used in carrying on farming opertaions, is not deductible, but is regarded as an investment of capital. The cost of gasoline, repairs, and upkeep of an automobile if used wholly in the business of farming is deductible as an expense; if used partly for business purposes and partly for the pleasure or convenience of the taxpayer or his family, such cost may be apportioned according to the extent of the use for purposes of business and pleasure or convenience, and only the proportion of such cost justly attributable to business purposes is deductible as a necessary expense.

(b) Farms not engaged in for profit; taxable years beginning before January 1, 1970—(1) In general. If a farm is operated for recreation or pleasure and not on a commercial basis, and if the expenses incurred in connection with the farm are in excess of the receipts therefrom, the entire receipts from the sale of farm products may be ignored in rendering a return of income, and the expenses incurred, being regarded as personal expenses, will not constitute allowable deductions.

(2) Effective date. The provisions of this paragraph shall apply with respect to taxable years beginning before January 1, 1970.

(3) Cross reference. For provisions relating to activities not engaged in for profit, applicable to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1969, see § 1.183–1 and § 1.183–2.

PAR. 3. There are inserted immediately following § 1.182–6, the following new sections:

§ 1.183 Statutory provisions; activities not engaged in for profit.

SEC. 183. Activities not engaged in for profit—(a) General rule. In the case of an activity engaged in by an individual or an electing small business corporation (as defined in section 1371(b)), if such activity is not engaged in for profit, no deduction attributable to such activity shall be allowed under this chapter except as provided in this section.

(b) Deductions allowable. In the case of an activity not engaged in for profit to which subsection (a) applies, there shall be allowed—

(1) The deductions which would be allowable under this chapter for the taxable year without regard to whether or not such activity is engaged in for profit, and

(2) A deduction equal to the amount of the deductions which would be allowable under this chapter for the taxable year only if such activity were engaged in for profit, but only to the extent that the gross income derived from such activity for the taxable year exceeds the deductions allowable by reason of paragraph (1).

(c) Activity not engaged in for profit defined. For purposes of this section, the term "activity not engaged in for profit" means any activity other than one with respect to which deductions are allowable for the taxable year under section 162 or under paragraph (1) or (2) of section 212.

(d) Presumption. If the gross income derived from an activity for two or more of the taxable years in the period of 5 consecutive taxable years which ends with the taxable year exceeds the deductions attributable to such activity (determined without regard to whether or not such activity is engaged in for profit), then, unless the Secretary or his delegate establishes to the contrary, such activity shall be presumed for purposes of this chapter for such taxable year to be an activity engaged in for profit. In the case of an activity which consists in major part of the breeding, training, showing, or racing of horses, the preceding sentence shall be applied by substituting the period of 7 consecutive taxable years for the period of 5 consecutive taxable years.

§ 1.183–1 Activities not engaged in for profit.

(a) In general. Section 183 provides rules relating to the allowance of deductions in the case of activities (whether active or passive in character) not engaged in for profit by individuals and electing small business corporations, and creates a presumption that an activity is engaged in for profit if certain requirements are met. Whether an activity is engaged in for profit is determined under section 162 and section 212 (1) and (2) except insofar as section 183(d) creates a presumption that the activity is engaged in for profit. If deductions are not allowable under sections 162 and 212 (1) and (2), the deduction allowance rules of section 183(b) and this section apply. Pursuant to section 641(b) of the Code, the taxable income of an estate or trust is computed in the same manner as in the case of an individual, with certain exceptions not here relevant. Accordingly, where an estate or trust engages in an activity or activities which are not for profit, the rules of section 183 and this section apply in computing the allowable deductions of such trust or estate. No inference is to be drawn from the provisions of section 183, this section, and § 1.183–2 that any activity of a corporation (other than an electing small business corporation) is or is not a business or engaged in for profit. For rules relating to deductions of certain corporations which engage in activities not for profit, see section 277 and the regulations thereunder. For the definition of an activity not engaged in for profit, see § 1.183–2.

(b) Deductions allowable—(1) Manner and extent. If an activity is not engaged in for profit, deductions are allowable under section 183(b) in the following order and only to the following extent:

(i) Amounts allowable as deductions during the taxable year under chapter 1 of the Code without regard to whether the activity giving rise to such amounts was engaged in for profit are allowable in full.

(ii) Amounts otherwise allowable as deductions during the taxable year under chapter 1 of the Code, but only if such allowance does not result in an adjustment to the basis of property, determined as if the activity giving rise to such amounts was engaged in for profit, are allowed only to the extent the gross income attributable to such activity exceeds the deductions allowed or allowable under subdivision (i) of this subparagraph.

(iii) Amounts otherwise allowable as deductions for the taxable year under chapter 1 of the Code which result in (or if otherwise allowed would have resulted in) an adjustment to the basis of property, determined as if the activity giving rise to such deductions was engaged in for profit, are allowed only to the extent the gross income attributable to such activity exceeds the deductions allowed or allowable under subdivisions (i) and (ii) of this subparagraph. Deductions falling within this subdivision include such items as depreciation, partial losses with respect to property, partially worthless debts, amortization, and amortizable bond premium.

(2) Rule for deductions involving basis adjustments—(i) In general. If deductions are allowed under subparagraph (1)(iii) of this paragraph, and such deductions are allowed with respect to more than one asset, the deduction allowed with respect to each asset shall be determined separately in accordance with the computation set forth in subdivision (ii) of this paragraph.

(ii) Basis adjustment fraction. The deduction allowed under subparagraph (1)(iii) of this paragraph is computed by multiplying the amount which would have been allowed, had the activity been engaged in for profit, as a deduction with respect to each particular asset which involves a basis adjustment, by the basis adjustment fraction—

(a) The numerator of which is the total of deductions allowable under subparagraph (1)(iii) of this paragraph, and

(b) The denominator of which is the total of deductions which involve basis adjustments which would have been allowed with respect to the activity had the activity been engaged in for profit.

The amount resulting from this computation is the deduction allowed under subparagraph (1)(iii) of this paragraph with respect to the particular asset. The basis of such asset is adjusted only to the extent of such deduction.

(3) Rule for capital gains and losses. (i) In general. For purposes of section 183 and the regulations thereunder, the gross income from any activity not engaged in for profit includes the total of all capital gains attributable to such activity determined without regard to the section 1202 deduction. Amounts attributable to an activity not engaged in for profit which would be allowable as a deduction under section 1202, without regard to section 183, shall be allowable as a deduction under section 183(b)(1) in accordance with the rules stated in this subparagraph.

(ii) Cases where deduction not allowed under section 183. No deduction is allowable under section 183(b)(1) with respect to capital gains attributable to an activity not engaged in for profit if—

(a) Without regard to section 183 and these regulations, there is no excess of net long-term capital gain over net short-term capital loss for the year, or

(b) There is no excess of net long-term capital gain attributable to the activity over net short-term capital loss attributable to the activity.

(iii) Allocation of deduction. If there is both (a) an excess of net long-term capital gain over net short-term capital loss attributable to an activity or activities not engaged in for profit and (b) such an excess attributable to all activities, determined without regard to section 183 and the regulations thereunder, the deduction allowable under section 183(b)(1) attributable to capital gains with respect to each activity not engaged in for profit (with respect to which there is an excess of net-long-term capital gain over net short-term capital loss for the year) shall be an amount equal to the deduction allowable under section 1202 for the taxable year (determined without regard to section 183) multiplied by a fraction the numerator of which is the excess of the net long-term capital gain attributable to the activity over the net short-term capital loss attributable to the activity and the denominator of which is an amount equal to the total excess of net long-term capital gain over net short-term capital loss for all activities with respect to which there is such excess. The amount of the total section 1202 deduction allowable for the year shall be reduced by the amount determined to be allocable to activities not engaged in for profit and accordingly allowed as a deduction under section 183(b)(1).

(iv) Example. The provisions of this subparagraph may be illustrated by the following example:

Example. A, an individual reporting for tax purposes on the cash method on a calendar year basis, has three activities not engaged in for profit. For his taxable year ending on December 31, 1973, A has a $200 net long-term capital gain from activity number 1, a $100 net short-term capital loss from activity number 2, and a $300 net long-term capital gain from activity number 3. In addition, A has a $500 net long-term capital gain from another activity which he engages in for profit. A computes his deductions for capital gains for calendar year 1973 as follows:

Section 1202 deduction without regard to section 183 is determined as follows:
Net long-term capital gain from activity number 1	$200
Net long-term capital gain from activity number 3	300
Net long-term capital gain from activity engaged in for profit	500
Total net long-term capital gain from all activities	1,000
Less: Net short-term capital loss attributable to activity number 2	100
Aggregrate net long-term capital gain over net short-term capital loss from all activities	900
Section 1202 deduction determined without regard to section 183 (½ of $900)	450
Allocation of the total section 1202 deduction among A's various activities:
Portion allocable to activity number 1 which is deductible under section 183(b)(1) ($200 excess net long-term capital gain attributable to activity number 1 over $1,000 total excess net long-term capital gain attributable to all of A's activities with respect to which there is such an excess times $450 amount of section 1202 deduction)	90
Portion allocable to activity number 3 which is deductible under section 183(b)(1) ($300 excess net long-term capital gain attributable to activity number 3 over $1,000 total excess net long-term capital gain attributable to all of A's activities with respect to which there is such an excess times $450 amount of section 1202 deduction)	135
Portion allocable to all activities engaged in for profit ($450 total section 1202 deduction less $225 of section 1202 deduction allowable to activities number 1 and 3	225
Total section 1202 deduction deductible under section 1202 and 183(b)(1)	450

(4) Examples. The provisions of subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph may be illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). A, an individual, maintains a herd of dairy cattle, which is an "activity not engaged in for profit" within the meaning of section 183(c). A sold milk for $1,000 during the year. During the year A paid $300 State taxes on gasoline used to transport the cows, milk, etc., and paid $1,200 for feed for the cows. For the year A also had a casualty loss attributable to this activity of $500. A determines the amount of his allowable deductions under section 183 as follows:

(i) First, A computes his deductions allowable under subparagraph (1)(i) of this paragraph as follows:

State gasoline taxes specifically allowed under section 164(a)(5) without regard to whether the activity is engaged in for profit	$300
Casualty loss specifically allowed under section 165(c)(3) without regard to whether the activity is engaged in for profit ($500 less $100 limitation)	400
Deductions allowable under subparagraph (1)(i) of this paragraph	700

(ii) Second, A computes his deductions allowable under subparagraph (1)(ii) of this paragraph (deductions which would be allowable under chapter 1 of the Code if the activity were engaged in for profit and which do not involve basis adjustments) as follows:

Maximum amount of deductions allowable under subparagraph (1)(ii) of this paragraph:

Income from milk sales	$1,000
Income from hay sales	1,200
Gross income from activity	2,200
Less: deductions allowable under subparagraph (1)(i) of this paragraph	700
Maximum amount of deductions allowable under subparagraph (1)(ii) of this paragraph	1,500
Feed for cows	1,200

(ii) Second, A computes his deductions allowable under subparagraph (1)(ii) of this paragraph (deductions which would be allowed under chapter 1 of the Code if the activity were engaged in for profit and which do not involve basis adjustments) as follows:

Maximum amount of deductions allowable under subparagraph (1)(ii) of this paragraph:

Income from milk sales	$1,000
Gross income from activity	1,000
Less: deductions allowable under subparagraph (1)(i) of this paragraph	700
Maximum amount of deductions allowable under subparagraph (1)(ii) of this paragraph	300
Feed for cows	1,200
Deduction allowed under subparagraph (1)(ii) of this paragraph	300

$900 of the feed expense is not allowed as a deduction under section 183 because the total feed expense ($1,200) exceeds the maximum amount of deductions allowable under subparagraph (1)(ii) of this paragraph ($300). In view of these circumstances, it is not necessary to determine deductions allowable under subparagraph (1)(iii) of this paragraph which would be allowable under chapter 1 of the Code if the activity were engaged in for profit and which involve basis adjustment (the $100 of casualty loss not allowable under subparagraph (1)(i) of this paragraph because of the limitation in section 165(c)(3)) because none of such amount will be allowed as a deduction under section 183.

Example (2). Assume the same facts as in example (1) except that A also had income from sales of hay grown on the farm of $1,200 and that depreciation of $750 with respect to a barn, and $650 with respect to a tractor would have been allowed with respect to the activity had it been engaged in for profit. A determines the amount of his allowable deductions under section 183 as follows:

(i) First, A computes his deductions allowable under subparagraph (1)(i) of this paragraph as follows:

State gasoline taxes specifically allowed under section 164(a)(5) without regard to whether the activity is engaged in for profit	$300
Casualty loss specifically allowed under section 165(c)(3) without regard to whether the activity is engaged in for profit ($500 less $100 limitation)	400
Deductions allowable under subparagraph (1)(i) of this paragraph	700

(ii) Second, A computes his deductions allowable under subparagraph (1)(ii) of this paragraph (deductions which would be allowable under chapter 1 of the Code if the activity were engaged in for profit and which do not involve basis adjustments) as follows:

Maximum amount of deductions allowable under subparagraph (1)(ii) of this paragraph:

Income from milk sales	$1,000
Income from hay sales	1,200
Gross income from activity	2,200
Less: deductions allowable under subparagraph (1)(i) of this paragraph	700
Maximum amount of deductions allowable under subparagraph (1)(ii) of this paragraph	1,500
Feed for cows	1,200

The entire $1,200 of expenses relating to feed for cows is allowable as a deduction under subparagraph (1)(ii) of this paragraph, since it does not exceed the maximum amount of deductions allowable under such subparagraph.

(iii) Last, A computes the deductions allowable under subparagraph (1)(iii) of this paragraph (deductions which would be allowable under chapter 1 of the Code if the activity were engaged in for profit and which involve basis adjustments) as follows:

Maximum amount of deductions allowable under subparagraph (1)(iii) of this paragraph:

Gross income from farming		$2,200
Less: Deductions allowed under subparagraph (1)(i) of this paragraph	$700
Deductions allowed under subparagraph (1)(ii) of this paragraph	1,200	1,900
Maximum amount of deductions allowable under subparagraph (1)(iii) of this paragraph		300

(iv) Since the total of A's deductions under chapter 1 of the Code (determined as if the activity was engaged in for profit) which involve basis adjustments ($750 with respect to barn, $650 with respect to tractor, $100 with respect to limitation on casualty loss) exceeds the maximum amount of the deductions allowable under subparagraph (1)(iii) of this paragraph ($300), A computes his allowable deductions with respect to such assets as follows:

A first computes his basis adjustment fraction under subparagraph (2)(ii) of this paragraph as follows:

The numerator of the fraction is the maximum of deductions allowable under subparagraph (1)(iii) of this paragraph which involve basis adjustments	$300
The denominator of the fraction is the total of deductions that involve basis adjustments which would have been allowed with respect to the activity had the activity been engaged in for profit	$1,500

The basis adjustment fraction is then applied to the amount of each deduction which would have been allowable if the activity were engaged in for profit and which involves a basis adjustment as follows:

Depreciation allowed with respect to barn (300/1,500×$750)	$150
Depreciation allowed with respect to tractor (300/1,500×$650)	$130
Deduction allowed with respect to limitation on casualty loss (300/1,500×$100)	$20

The basis of the barn and of the tractor are adjusted only by the amount of depreciation actually allowed under section 183 with respect to each (as determined by the above computation). The basis of the asset with regard to which the casualty losa was suffered is adjusted only to the extent of the amount of the casualty loss actually allowed as a deduction under subparagraph (1)(i) and (iii) of this paragraph.

(c) Presumption that activity is engaged in for profit—(1) In general. If for—

(i) Any 2 of 7 consecutive taxable years, in the case of an activity which consists in major part of the breeding, training, showing or racing of horses, or

(ii) Any 2 of 5 consecutive taxable years, in the case of any other activity, the gross income derived from an activity exceeds the deductions attributable to such activity which would be allowed or allowable if the activity were engaged in for profit, such activity is presumed, unless the Commissioner establishes to the contrary, to be engaged in for profit. For purposes of this determination the deduction permitted by section 1202 shall not be taken into account. Such presumption applies with respect to the second profit year and all years subsequent to the second profit year within the 5- or 7-year period beginning with the first profit year. This presumption arises only if the activity is substantially the same activity for each of the relevant taxable years, including the taxable year in question. If the taxpayer does not meet the requirements of section 183(d) and this paragraph, no inference that the activity is not engaged in for profit shall arise by reason of the provisions of section 183. For purposes of this paragraph, a net operating loss deduction is not taken into account as a deduction. For purposes of this subparagraph a short taxable year constitutes a taxable year.

(2) Examples. The provisions of this paragraph may be illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). For taxable years 1970–74, A, a calendar year cash method taxpayer, is engaged in the activity of farming. In taxable years 1971, 1973, and 1974, A's deductible expenditures with respect to such activity exceed his gross income from the activity. In taxable years 1970 and 1972 A has income from the sale of farm produce of $30,000 for each year. In each of such years A had expenses for feed for his livestock of $10,000, depreciation of equipment of $10,000, and fertilizer cost of $5,000 which he elects to take as a deduction. A also has a net operating loss carryover to taxable year 1970 of $6,000. A is presumed, for taxable years 1972, 1973, and 1974, to have engaged in the activity of farming for profit, since for 2 years of a 5-consecutive-year period the gross income from the activity ($30,000 for each year) exceeded the deductions (computed without regard to the net operating loss) which are allowable in the case of the activity ($25,000 for each year).

Example (2). For the taxable years 1970 and 1971, B, a calendar year cash method taxpayer, engaged in raising pure-bred Charolais cattle for breeding purposes. The operation showed a loss during 1970. At the end of 1971, B sold a substantial portion of his herd and the cattle operation showed a profit for that year. For all subsequent relevant taxable years B continued to keep a few Charolais bulls at stud. In 1972, B started to raise Tennessee Walking Horses for breeding and show purposes, utilizing substantially the same pasture land, barns, and (with structural modifications) the same stalls. The Walking Horse operations showed a small profit in 1973 and losses in 1972 and 1974 through 1976.

(i) Assuming that under paragraph (d)(1) of this section the raising of cattle and raising of horses are determined to be separate activities, no presumption that the Walking Horse operation was carried on for profit arises under section 183(d) and this paragraph since this activity was not the same activity that generated the profit in 1971 and there are not, therefore, 2 profit years attributable to the horse activity.

(ii) Assuming the same facts as in (i) above, if there were no stud fees received in

VOL 36 161 XUM

1972 with respect to Charolais bulls, but for 1973 stud fees with respect to such bulls exceed deductions attributable to maintenance of the bulls in that year, the presumption will arise under section 183(d) and this section with respect to the activity of raising and maintaining Charolais cattle for 1973 and for all subsequent years within the 5-year period beginning with taxable year 1971, since the activity of raising and maintaining Charolais cattle is the same activity in 1971 and in 1973, although carried on by B on a much reduced basis and in a different manner. Since it has been assumed that the horse and cattle operations are separate activities, no presumption will arise with respect to the Walking Horse operation because there are not 2 profit years attributable to such horse operation during the period in question.

(iii) Assuming, alternatively, that the raising of cattle and raising of horses would be considered a single activity under paragraph (d)(1) of this section, B would receive the benefit of the presumption beginning in 1973 with respect to both the cattle and horses since there were profits in 1971 and 1973. The presumption would be effective through 1977 (and longer if there is an excess of income over deductions in this activity in 1974, 1975, 1976, or 1977 which would extend the presumption) if, under section 183(d) and subparagraph (3) of this paragraph, it was determined that the activity consists in major part of the breeding, training, showing, or racing of horses. Otherwise, the presumption would be effective only through 1975 (assuming no excess of income over deductions in this activity in 1974 or 1975 which would extend the presumption).

(3) Activity which consists in major part of the breeding, training, showing, or racing of horses. For purposes of this paragraph an activity consists in major part of the breeding, training, showing, or racing of horses for the taxable year if the average of the portion of expenditures attributable to breeding, training, showing, and racing of horses for the 3 taxable years preceding the taxable year (or, in the case of an activity which has not been conducted by the taxpayer for 3 years, for so long as it has been carried on by him) was at least 50 percent of the total expenditures attributable to the activity for such prior taxable years.

(4) Transitional rule. In applying the presumption described in section 183(d) and this paragraph, only taxable years beginning after December 31, 1969, shall be taken into account. Accordingly, in the case of an activity referred to in subparagraph (1) (i) or (ii) of this paragraph, section 183(d) does not apply prior to the second profitable taxable year beginning after December 31, 1969, since taxable years prior to such date are not taken into account. See, however, paragraph (b)(1) of § 1.183–2.

(d) Activity defined—(1) Ascertainment of activity. In order to determine whether, and to what extent, section 183 and this section apply, the activity or activities of the taxpayer must be ascertained. For instance, where the taxpayer is engaged in several undertakings, each of these may be a separate activity, or several undertakings may constitute one activity. In ascertaining the activity or activities of the taxpayer, all the facts and circumstances of the case must be taken into account. Generally, the most significant facts and circumstances in making this determination are the degree of organizational and economic interrelationship of various undertakings, the business purpose which is (or might be) served by carrying on the various undertakings separately or together in a trade or business or in an investment setting, and the similarity of various undertakings. Generally, the Commissioner will accept the characterization by the taxpayer of several undertakings either as a single activity or as separate activities. The taxpayer's characterization will not be accepted, however, when it appears that his characterization is artificial and cannot be reasonably supported under the facts and circumstances of the case. If the taxpayer engages in two or more separate activities, deductions and income from each separate activity are not aggregated either in determining whether a particular activity is engaged in for profit or in applying section 183. Where it is established that land was purchased or held primarily with the intent to profit from increase in its value, and the taxpayer also engages in farming on such land, the farming and the holding of the land will be considered a single activity only if the taxpayer expects that the farming activity will reduce the net cost of carrying the land for its appreciation in value. Thus, the farming and holding of the land will be considered a single activity only if the taxpayer intends that the income derived from farming will exceed the deductions attributable to the farming activity which are not directly attributable to the holding of the land (that is, deductions other than those directly attributable to the holding of the land such as interest on a mortgage secured by the land, annual property taxes attributable to the land and improvements, and depreciation of improvements of the land).

(2) Rules for allocation of expenses. If the taxpayer is engaged in more than one activity, an item of expenditure or income may be allocated between two or more of these activities. Where property is used in several activities, and one or more of such activities is determined not to be engaged in for profit, deductions relating to such property must be allocated between the uses on a reasonable basis.

(3) Examples. The provisions of this paragraph may be illustrated by the following example:

Example. (i) A, an individual, owns a small house located near the beach in a resort community. Visitors come to the area for recreational purposes during only 3 months of the year. During the remaining 9 months of the year houses such as A's are not rented. For 2 months of the 3-month recreational season A rents the house to vacationers for $1,000 per month. During the remaining month of the recreational season A occupies the house for his own vacation. The expenses attributable to the house are $1,200 interest, $600 real estate taxes, $600 maintenance, $300 utilities, and $1,200 which would have been allowed as depreciation had the activity been engaged in for profit. Under these facts and circumstances, A is engaged in a single activity, holding the beach house primarily for personal purposes, which is an "activity not engaged in for profit" within the meaning of section 183(c).

(ii) Since the $1,200 of interest and the $600 of real estate taxes are specifically allowable as deductions under sections 163 and 164(a) without regard to whether the beach house activity is engaged in for profit, no allocation of these expenses between the uses of the beach house is necessary. However, since section 262 specifically disallows personal, living, and family expenses as deductions, the maintenance and utilities expenses and the depreciation from the activity must be allocated between the rental use and the personal use of the beach house. Under the particular facts and circumstances, ⅔ (2 months of rental use over 3 months of total use) of each of these expenses are allocated to the rental use, and ⅓ (1 month of personal use over 3 months of total use) of each of these expenses are allocated to the personal use as follows:

	Rental use ⅔—expenses allocable to section 183(b)(2)	Personal use ⅓—expenses allocable to section 262
Maintenance expense $600	$400	$200
Utilities expense $300	200	100
Depreciation $1,200	800	400
Total	1,400	700

The $700 of expenses allocated to the personal use of the beach house are disallowed as a deduction under section 262. In addition, the allowability of each of the expenses and the depreciation allocated to section 183(b)(2) is determined under subparagraph (1) (i) and (ii) of § 1.183–1(b). Thus, the maximum amount allowable as a deduction under section 183(b)(2) is $200 ($2,000 gross income from activity, less $1,800 deductions under section 183(b)(1)). Since the amounts described in section 183(b)(2) ($1,400) exceed the maximum amount allowable ($200), and since the amounts described in subparagraph (1)(ii) of § 1.183–1(b) ($600) exceed such maximum amount allowable ($200), none of the depreciation (an amount described in subparagraph (1)(iii) of § 1.183–1(b)) is allowable as a deduction.

(e) Gross income from activity not engaged in for profit defined. For purposes of this section, gross income derived from an activity not engaged in for profit includes the total of all gains from the sale, exchange, or other disposition of property, and all other gross receipts derived from such activity. Such gross income shall include, for instance, capital gains, and rents received for the use of property which is held in connection with the activity. The taxpayer may determine gross income from any activity by subtracting the cost of goods sold from the gross receipts so long as he consistently does so and follows generally accepted methods of accounting in determining such gross income.

(f) Rule for electing small business corporations. Section 183 and this section shall be applied at the corporate level in determining the allowable deductions of an electing small business corporation.

(g) Effective date; cross references. The provisions of this section apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1969. For provisions applicable to prior years, see section 270 and § 1.270–1.

§ 1.183–2 Activity not engaged in for profit defined.

(a) In general. For purposes of section 183, this section, and § 1.183–1, the term "activity not engaged in for profit" means any activity other than one with respect to which deductions are allowable for the taxable year under section 612 or under paragraph (1) or (2) of section 212. Deductions are allowable under section 162 for expenses of carrying on activities which constitute a trade or business of the taxpayer and under section 212 for expenses incurred in connection with activities engaged in for the production or collection of income or for the management, conservation, or maintenance of property held for the production of income. Except as provided in section 183 and § 1.183–1, no deductions are allowable for expenses incurred in connection with activities which are not engaged in for profit. Thus, for example, deductions are not allowable under section 162 or 212 for activities which are carried on primarily as a sport, hobby, or for recreation. The determination whether an activity is engaged in for profit is to be made by reference to objective standards, taking into account all of the facts and circumstances of each case. Although a reasonable expectation of profit is not required, the facts and circumstances must indicate that the taxpayer entered into the activity, or continued the activity, with the objective of making a profit. In determining whether such an objective exists, it may be sufficient that there is a small chance of making a large profit. Thus it may be found that an investor in a wildcat oil well who incurs very substantial expenditures is in the venture for profit even though the expectation of a profit might be considered unreasonable. In determining whether an activity is engaged in for profit, greater weight is given to objective facts than to the taxpayer's mere statement of his intent.

(b) Relevant factors. In determining whether an activity is engaged in for profit, all facts and circumstances with respect to the activity are to be taken into account. No one factor is determinative in making this determination. In addition, it is not intended that only the factors described in this paragraph are to be taken into account in making the determination, or that any one of the factors (whether or not described in this paragraph) must necessarily be given any more weight than any other factors used in making the determination. Among the factors which should normally be taken into account are the following:

(1) The taxpayer's history of income or losses with respect to the activity. A series of losses during the initial or start-up stage of an activity may not necessarily be an indication that the activity is not engaged in for profit. However, where losses continue to be sustained beyond the period which customarily is necessary to bring the operation to profitable status such continued losses, if not explainable as due to customary business risks or reverses may be indicative that the activity is not being engaged in for profit. Moreover, a high ratio of expenditures to receipts may also be indicative of a lack of profit intent. A declining loss ratio may, however, suggest that profitability is imminent. A series of years in which net income was realized would of course be strong evidence that the activity is engaged in for profit.

(2) The amount of occasional profits, if any, which are earned. The amount of profits in relation to the amount of losses incurred, and in relation to the amount of the taxpayer's investment and the value of the assets used in the activity, may provide useful criteria in determining the taxpayer's intent. An occasional small profit from an activity generating large losses, or from an activity in which the taxpayer has made a large investment, would not generally be determinative that the activity is engaged in for profit. However, substantial profit, though only occasional, would generally be indicative that an activity is engaged in for profit, where the investment or losses are comparatively small. Moreover, an opportunity to earn a substantial ultimate profit in a highly speculative venture is ordinarily sufficient to indicate that the activity is engaged in for profit even though losses or only occasional small profits are actually generated.

(3) The cause of the losses. If losses are sustained because of unforeseen or fortuitous circumstances which are beyond the control of the taxpayer, such as drought, disease, fire, shipwreck, theft, weather damages, or depressed market conditions, such losses would not be an indication that the activity is not engaged in for profit.

(4) The success of the taxpayer in carrying on other similar or dissimilar activities. The fact that the taxpayer has engaged in similar activities in the past and converted them from unprofitable to profitable enterprises may indicate that he is engaged in the present activity for profit, even though the activity is presently unprofitable.

(5) The financial status of the taxpayer. The fact that the taxpayer does not have substantial income or capital from sources other than the activity may indicate that an activity is engaged in for profit. Substantial income from sources other than the activity (particularly if the losses from the activity generate substantial tax benefits) may indicate that the activity is not engaged in for profit.

(6) The time and effort expended by the taxpayer in carrying on the activity. The fact that the taxpayer devotes much of his personal time and effort to carrying on an activity, particularly if the activity does not have substantial personal or recreational aspects, may indicate an intention to derive a profit. A taxpayer's withdrawal from another occupation to devote all his energies to the activity may also be evidence that the activity is engaged in for profit.

(7) The expertise of the taxpayer or his advisors. Preparation for the activity by extensive study of its accepted business, economic, and scientific practices, or consultation with those who are expert therein, may indicate that the taxpayer has a profit motive where the taxpayer carries on the activity in accordance with such practices. Where a taxpayer has such preparation or procures such expert advice, but does not carry on the activity in accordance with such practices, a lack of intent to derive profit may be indicated unless it appears that the taxpayer is attempting to develop new or superior techniques which may result in profits from the activity.

(8) The manner in which the taxpayer carries on the activity. Where an activity is carried on in the same manner as similar activities which are profitable, a profit motive may be indicated. A change of operating methods, adoption of new techniques or abandonment of unprofitable methods in a manner consistent with an intent to improve profitability may also indicate a profit motivation.

(9) Expectation of profit by the taxpayer. The fact that a taxpayer is engaged in an activity which could not reasonably be expected to produce an economic profit may indicate that the taxpayer is not engaged in such activity for profit. The reasonableness of an expectation of profit is not conclusive but is merely some evidence of the intent of the taxpayer.

(10) Expectation that assets used in activity may appreciate in value. The term "profit" encompasses appreciation in the value of assets, such as land, used in the activity. Thus, the taxpayer may intend to derive a profit from the operation of the activity, and may also intend that, even if no profit from current operations is derived an overall profit will result when appreciation in the value of land used in the activity is realized since income from the activity together with land appreciation will exceed expenses of operation. See, however, § 1.183–1(d) for definition of an activity in this connection.

(11) Elements of personal pleasure or recreation. The presence of personal motives in carrying on of an activity may indicate that the activity is not engaged in for profit, especially where there are recreational or personal elements involved. On the other hand, a profit motivation may be inferred where an activity lacks any appeal other than profit. It is not, however, necessary that an activity be engaged in with the exclusive intention of deriving a profit or with the intention of maximizing profits. For example, the availability of other investments which would yield a higher return, or which would be more likely to be profitable, is not evidence that an activity is not engaged in for profit. An activity will not be treated as not engaged in for profit merely because the taxpayer has purposes or motivations other than solely to make a profit. Also, the fact that the taxpayer derives personal pleasure from engaging in the activity is not sufficient to cause the activity to be classified as not engaged in for profit if the activity is in fact engaged in for profit as evidenced by other factors whether or not listed in this paragraph.

(c) Examples. The provisions of this section may be illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). The taxpayer inherited a farm from her husband in an area which was becoming largely residential, and is now nearly all so. The farm had never made a profit before the taxpayer inherited it, and the farm has since had substantial losses in each year. The decedent from whom the taxpayer inherited the farm was a stockbroker, and he also left the taxpayer substantial stock holdings which yield large income from dividends. The taxpayer lives on an area of the farm which is set aside exclusively for living purposes. A farm manager is employed to operate the farm, but modern methods are not used in operating the farm. The taxpayer was born and raised on a farm, and expresses a strong preference for living on a farm. The taxpayer's activity of farming, based on all the facts and circumstances, could be found not to be engaged in for profit.

Example (2). The taxpayer is a wealthy individual who is greatly interested in philosophy. During the past 30 years he has written and published at his own expense several pamphlets, and he has engaged in extensive lecturing activity, advocating and disseminating his ideas. He has made a profit from these activities in only occasional years, and the profits in those years were small in relation to the amounts of the losses in all other years. The taxpayer has very sizable income from securities (dividends and capital gains) which constitutes the principal source of his livelihood. The activity of lecturing, publishing pamphlets, and disseminating his ideas is not an activity engaged in by the taxpayer for profit.

Example (3). The taxpayer, very successful in the business of retailing soft drinks, raise dogs and horses. He began raising a particular breed of dogs many years ago in the belief that the breed was in danger of declining, and he has raised and sold the dogs in each year since. The taxpayer recently began raising and racing thoroughbred horses. The losses from the taxpayer's dog and horse activities have increased in magnitude over the years, and he has not made a profit on these operations during any of the last 15 years. The taxpayer generally sells the dogs only to friends, does not advertise the dogs for sale, and shows the dogs only infrequently. The taxpayer races his horses only at the "prestige" tracks at which he combines his racing activities with social and recreational activities. The horse and dog operations are conducted at a large residential property on which the taxpayer also lives, which includes substantial living quarters and attractive recreational facilities for the taxpayer and his family. Since (i) the activity of raising dogs and horses and racing the horses is of a sporting and recreational nature, (ii) the taxpayer has substantial income from his business activities of retailing soft drinks, (iii) the horse and dog operations are not conducted in a businesslike manner, and (iv) such operations have a continuous record of losses, it could be determined that the horse and dog activities of the taxpayer are not engaged in for profit.

Example (4). The taxpayer inherited a farm of 65 acres from his parents when they died 6 years ago. The taxpayer moved to the farm from his house in a small nearby town, and he operates it in the same manner as his parents operated the farm before they died. The taxpayer is employed as a skilled machine operator in a nearby factory, for which he is paid approximately $8,500 per year. The farm has not been profitable for the past 15 years because of rising costs of operating farms in general, and because of the decline in the price of the produce of this farm in particular. The taxpayer consults the local agent of the State agricultural service from time-to-time, and the suggestions of the agent have generally been followed. The manner in which the farm is operated by the taxpayer is substantially similar to the manner in which farms of similar self, such as fixing fences, planting crops, etc. area are operated. Many of these other farms do not make profits. The taxpayer does much of the required labor around the farm himself, such a fixing fences, planting, crops, etc. The activity of farming could be found, based on all the facts and circumstances, to be engaged in by the taxpayer for profit.

Example (5). A, an independent oil and gas operator developing oil and gas properties, is engaged in the activity of exploring for oil and gas on properties which are not in the immediate vicinity of proven fields. Pursuant to an agreement with the owner of land which is neither near to, nor has been established geologically to be proven oil bearing land, A drills a well. The chances, based on experience in so drilling on similar unproved land which is not near proven land, are strong that A will not find a commercially profitable oil deposit. A frequently engages in the activity of searching for oil on undeveloped and unexplored land which is not near to proven fields. He does so in a manner substantially similar to that of others who engage in the same activity. On the rare occasions that these activities do result in discovering a well, the operator generally realizes a very large return from such activity. Thus, there is a small chance that A will make a large profit from his oil exploration activity. A is engaged in the activity of oil drilling for profit.

Example (6). C, a chemist, is employed by a large chemical company and is engaged in a wide variety of basic research projects for his employer. Although he does no work for his employer with respect to the development of new plastics, he has always been interested in such development and has outfitted a workshop in his home at his own expense which he uses to experiment in the field. He has patented several developments at his own expense but as yet has realized no income from his inventions or from such patents. C conducts his research on a regular, systematic basis, incurs fees to secure consultation on his projects from time to time, and makes extensive efforts to "market" his developments. C has devoted substantial time and expense in an effort to develop a plastic sufficiently hard, durable, and malleable that it could be used in lieu of sheet steel in many major applications, such as automobile bodies. Although there may be only a small chance that C will invent new plastics, the return from any such development would be so large that it induces C to incur the costs of his experimental work. C is sufficiently qualified by his background that there is some reasonable basis for his experimental activities. C's experimental work does not involve substantial personal or recreational aspects and is conducted in an effort to find practical applications for his work. Under these circumstances, C may be found to be engaged in the experimental activities for profit.

The provisions of section 183, § 1.183–1 and § 1.183–2 shall apply only with respect to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1969.

PAR. 3. § 1.212–1 is amended by revising paragraphs (b) and (c) to read as follows:

§ 1.212–1 Nontrade or nonbusiness expenses.

* * * * *

(b) The term "income" for the purpose of section 212 includes not merely income of the taxable year but also income which the taxpayer has realized in a prior taxable year or may realize in subsequent taxable years; and is not confined to recurring income but applies as well to gains from the disposition of property. For example, if defaulted bonds, the interest from which if received would be includible in income, are purchased with the expectation of realizing capital gain on their resale, even though no current yield thereon is anticipated, ordinary and necessary expenses thereafter paid or incurred in connection with such bonds are deductible. Similarly, ordinary and necessary expenses paid or incurred in the management, conservation, or maintenance of a building held primarily for the production of income in the form of rentals, are deductible notwithstanding that there is actually no income therefrom in the taxable year, and regardless of the manner in which or the purpose for which the property in question was acquired. Expenses paid or incurred in managing, conserving, or maintaining property held for investment may be deductible under section 212 even though the property is not currently productive and there is no likelihood that the property will be sold at a profit or will otherwise be productive of income and even though the property is held merely to minimize a loss with respect thereto.

(c) Expenses of nontrade and nonbusiness activities: In the case of taxable years beginning before January 1, 1970, expenses of carrying on transactions which do not constitute a trade or business of the taxpayer and are not carried on for the production or collection of income or for the management, conservation, or maintenance of property held for the production of income, but which are carried on primarily as a sport, hobby, or recreation are not allowable as nontrade or nonbusiness expenses. The question whether or not a transaction is carried on primarily for the production of income or for the management, conservation, or maintenance of property held for the production or collection of income, rather than primarily as a sport, hobby, or recreation, is not to be determined solely from the intention of the taxpayer but rather from all the circumstances of the case. For example, consideration will be given to the record of prior gain or loss of the taxpayer in the activity, the relation between the type of activity and the principal occupation of the taxpayer, and the uses to which the property or what it produces is put by the taxpayer. For provisions relating to activities not engaged in for profit applicable to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1969, see section 183, § 1.183–1 and § 1.183–2.

* * * * *

PAR. 4. Section 1.270 is amended by adding an historical note. Such new provision reads as follows:

§ 1.270 Statutory provisions; limitation on deductions allowable to individuals in certain cases.

* * * * *

[Sec. 270 as repealed by the Tax Reform Act 1969 (83 Stat. 571)]

PAR. 5. § 1.270–1 is amended by adding at the end thereof a new paragraph (f). Such new paragraph reads as follows:

§ 1.270–1 Limitation on deductions allowable to individuals in certain cases.

* * * * *

(f) Effective date; cross reference. The provisions of section 270 and this section apply to taxable years beginning before January 1 , 1970. Thus, for instance, if the taxpayer had a profit of $2,000 attributable to a trade or business in 1965, section 270 and this section would not apply to the taxable years 1966 through 1970, even though he had losses of more than $50,000 in each of the 5 years ending with 1970. For provisions relating to activities not engaged in for profit applicable to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1969, see section 183 and § 1.183–1 and § 1.183–2.

SCHEDULES OF CONTROLLED SUBSTANCES

Proposed Removal of Naloxone Hydrochloride From Control

Based upon the investigations of the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs and upon the scientific and medical evaluation and recommendation of the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, received pursuant to section 201(b) of the Comprehensive Drug Abuse Prevention and Control Act of 1970 (21 U.S.C. 811(b)), the Director of the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs finds that naloxone hydrochloride has a currently accepted medical use in treatment in the United States and does not have sufficient potential for abuse or abuse liability to justify its continued control on any schedule under the Act. SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[17 CFR Part 240]

[Release No. 34–9290]

SECURITIES FIRMS EXPELLED FROM AN EXCHANGE OR NATIONAL SECURITIES ASSOCIATION

Proposal To Disqualify Firms From Engaging in Securities Activities

The Securities and Exchange Commission has announced a proposal to adopt Rule 15b8–2[1] (17 CFR 240.15b8–2) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (Act). The proposed rule would provide that firms which have been expelled or suspended from a registered national securities association or exchange and individuals who have been barred or suspended from association with any member of such an association or exchange would be unqualified to engage in securities activities pursuant to section 15(b)(8) of the Act. In addition, the proposed rule prescribes procedures for obtaining from the Commission, upon an appropriate showing, relief from such disqualification.

[1] Former Rule 15b8–2 was rescinded on May 8, 1968. See Securities Exchange Act Release No. 8308 and the FEDERAL REGISTER for May 11, 1968, at 33 F.R. 7076.

Section 15(b)(8) under the Act provides that no registered broker or dealer during any period in which it is not a member of a registered national securities association[2] (SECO firm) shall engage in securities activities, > • • • unless such broker or dealer and all natural persons associated with such broker or dealer meet such specified and appropriate standards with respect to training, experience and such other qualifications as the Commission finds necessary or desirable.

Under existing provisions, if by reason of misconduct, a firm is expelled or suspended from the NASD or from an exchange or if an individual is barred or suspended from association with any member of the NASD or of an exchange, the firm or individual is not considered unqualified to engage in securities activities as a nonmember unless further action is taken by the Commission in administrative proceedings pursuant to sections 15(b)(5) and (7) of the Act. On the other hand, under the Maloney Act amendments to the Exchange Act (section 15A) and under the NASD's rules, a Commission or exchange imposed expulsion, bar or suspension automatically results in a bar to NASD membership or association. The Commission believes that continued securities activities by such a firm is similarly inconsistent with the public interest and the protection of investors as well as with the purposes of section 15(b)(8) unless the Commission finds to the contrary upon application by the firm or individual.

Commission action. The Commission proposes to amend Part 240 of Chapter II of Title 17 of the Code of Federal Regulation, pursuant to the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, and more particularly sections 15(b)(8) and 23(a) thereof, as indicated below:

§ 240.15b8–2 Disqualification of brokers and dealers who are not members of a registered national securities association and their associated persons.

(a) No nonmember broker or dealer or associated person of a nonmember broker or dealer shall be deemed qualified pursuant to section 15(b)(8) of the Act if, by action of a registered national securities association or exchange, such nonmember broker or dealer or associated person has been and is expelled or suspended from such association or exchange or has been and is barred or suspended from being associated with all members of such association or exchange for violation of any such association or exchange rule which prohibits any act or transaction constituting conduct inconsistent with just and equitable principles of trade or requires any act the omission of which constitutes conduct inconsistent with just and equitable principles of trade.

(b) Upon the written application of any party deemed unqualified to engage in securities activities pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, the Commission may, if it finds it appropriate in the public interest and for the protection of investors and to carry out the purposes of section 15(b)(8), after notice and opportunity for hearing and subject to such terms and conditions as it may determine to be necessary or desirable, find that notwithstanding such association or exchange action such nonmember broker or dealer or associated person may engage in securities activities pursuant to such section.

(c) An application filed pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section, shall set forth the facts with respect to the nature of the association or exchange action, the misconduct found by such association or exchange, the nature of the prospective business or employment in which the broker or dealer or associated person plans to engage, the activities engaged in by such broker or dealer or associated person since such misconduct and action and any other matters the applicant deems relevant: Provided however, That such broker or dealer or associated person shall not be heard to contest any findings made against him or facts admitted by him in the proceeding before such association or exchange upon which the disqualification provided for in paragraph (a) of this section, is predicated unless the Commission in its discretion directs otherwise. If the application contains assertions of material facts that are not a matter of record before the association or exchange, it shall be sworn to or supported by affidavits. The application may be accompanied by a brief.

(d) Where it deems it appropriate to do so, the Commission may grant or deny an application or issue any other findings pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section, on the basis of the papers filed without oral hearing.

(e) The rules of practice shall apply to proceedings under this section to the extent that they are not inconsistent with this section. Attention is directed particularly to § 201.22 of the rules of practice, relating to form of papers and number of copies to be filed.

(f) For purposes of this section:

(1) The term "nonmember broker or dealer" shall mean any broker or dealer, including a sole proprietor, registered under section 15 of the Act, who is not a member of a national securities association registered with the Commission under Section 15A of the Act.

(2) The term "associated person" shall mean any partner, officer, director, or branch manager of a nonmember broker or dealer (or any person occupying a similar status or performing similar functions), or any natural person directly or indirectly controlling or controlled by such nonmember broker or dealer, and shall include any employee of such nonmember broker or dealer (other than employees whose functions are clerical or ministerial), and any nonmember broker or dealer conducting business as a sole proprietor.

All interested persons are invited to submit their views and comments on the proposed rule. Written statements of views and comments should be submitted to the Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549 on or before September 20, 1971. All such communications will be available for public inspection.

(Secs. 15(b)(8), 23(a), 78 Stat. 570, 48 Stat. 901 as amended 49 Stat. 1379, 15 U.S.C. 78o, 78w)

By the Commission.

[SEAL] RONALD F. HUNT,
Acting Associate Secretary.

FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION

[16 CFR Part 422]

GASOLINE DISPENSING PUMPS

Posting of Minimum Octane Numbers

The failure to post minimum octane numbers on gasoline dispensing pumps constitutes an unfair trade practice and an unfair method of competition; Proposed revision of trade regulation rule and postponement of effective date.

On December 30, 1970, the Commission gave notice of its determination that the adoption of the captioned Trade Regulation Rule was in the public interest and set June 28, 1971, as the effective date of this Rule. Notice of this determination, including the Rule, was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on January 12, 1971 (36 F.R. 354).

On April 17, 1971, the Commission published notice of its determination to reopen the public record for the limited purpose of reconsidering that part of the rule which relates to the method of measuring octane number as a basis for posting. In order to enable the Commission to consider the propriety of or an alternate method for measuring octane value, the effective date of this Rule was extended to September 1, 1971 (36 F.R. 7309).

In response to the invitation to interested parties to comment a number of suggestions, criticisms, and objections were received. Upon consideration of the comments and other pertinent information submitted, the Commission hereby publishes a proposed revision of the Rule as hereinafter set forth and extends opportunity to all interested parties to submit their views in writing, including such pertinent information, suggestions, or objections as they may desire to submit. The public record of the Trade Regulation Rule proceeding shall be reopened for receipt of written comment upon the proposed revised Rule and other pertinent data contained in the public record relating to that part of the Rule which concerns the method of measuring octane numbers. All submissions should be sent to the Assistant Director for Industry Guidance, Bureau of Consumer Protection, Federal Trade Commission, Pennsylvania Avenue and Sixth Street NW., Washington, DC 20580, not later than September 21, 1971.

All written submissions referred to above will be available for examination by interested parties in Room 130 of the Division of Legal and Public Records, Federal Trade Commission, Washington, D.C.

The effective date of the final Rule promulgated by the Commission on December 30, 1970, has been postponed indefinitely pending final decision in the matter.

§ 422.1 – The Rule.

In connection with the sale of consignment of motor gasoline for general automotive use, in commerce as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, it constitutes an unfair method of competition and an unfair or deceptive act or practice for refiners or others who sell to retailers, when such refiners or other distributors own or lease the pumps through which motor gasoline is dispensed to the consuming public, to fail to disclose clearly and conspicuously in a permanent manner on the pumps the minimum octane number or numbers of the motor gasoline being dispensed. In the case of those refiners or other distributors who lease pumps, the disclosure required by this section should be made as soon as it is legally practical; for example, not later than the end of the current lease period. Nothing in this section should be construed as applying to gasoline sold for aviation purposes.

NOTE: For the purpose of this section, "octane number" shall mean the octane number derived from the sum of Research (R) and Motor (M) octane numbers divided by two: (R+M)/2. The research octane (R) and motor octane number (M) shall be as described in the American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM) "Standard Specifications for Gasoline" D 439-70, and subsequent revisions, and ASTM Test Methods D 2699 and D 2700.

(38 Stat. 717, as amended; 15 U.S.C. 41-58)

Approved: August 17, 1971.

By direction of the Commission.

Secretary.

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH, EDUCATION, AND WELFARE

Food and Drug Admnistration

[DESI 734; Docket No. FDC-D-321; NDA 734, etc.]

CERTAIN PREPARATIONS CONTAINING HISTAMINE PHOSPHATE

Drugs for Human Use; Drug Efficacy Study Implementation

The Food and Drug Administration has evaluated two reports received from the National Academy of Sciences-National Research Council, Drug Efficacy Study Group, on the following drugs:

1. Histamine Phosphate Injection containing 0.275 mg., 0.55 mg., and 2.75 mg. of histamine phosphate per ml.; Eli Lilly and Co., Post Office Box 618, Indianapolis, Indiana 46206 (NDA 734).

2. Histamine Diphosphate Injection containing histamine phosphate 0.275 mg./ml.; Abbott Laboratories, 14th and Sheridan Road, North Chicago, Illinois 60064 (NDA 2-854).

Such drugs are regarded as new drugs (21 U.S.C. 321(p)). Supplemental new drug applications are required to revise the labeling in and to update previously approved applications providing for such drugs. A new drug application is required from any person marketing such drug without approval.

A. Effectiveness classification. The Food and Drug Administration has considered the Academy's reports, as well as other available evidence, and concludes that histamine phosphate injection should be supplied as separate products according to potency and that:

1. Histamine phosphate injection (0.275 mg./ml.) is effective when labeled for intravenous use in the histamine test for pheochromocytoma.

2. Histamine phosphate injection (2.75 mg./ml.) is effective when labeled for subcutaneous use in the gastric histamine test.

3. All of these drugs are possibly effective when labeled for use in Meniere's disease; cephalalgias; and peripheral vascular diseases.

4. Except for the indications referred to above these drugs are regarded as lacking substantial evidence of effectiveness for their other labeled indications.

B. Conditions for approval and marketing of drugs having an effective classification. The Food and Drug Administration is prepared to approve abbreviated new drug applications and abbreviated supplements to previously approved new drug applications under conditions described herein.

1. Form of drug. These preparations are in sterile aqueous solution form suitable for subcutaneous or intravenous administration.

2. Labeling conditions. a. The labels bear the statement, "Caution: Federal law prohibits dispensing without prescription."

b. The drugs are labeled to comply with all requirements of the Act and regulations. The labeling bears adequate information for safe and effective use of the drug and is in accord with the guidelines for uniform labeling published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of February 6, 1970. The "Indications" sections are as follows: (The possibly effective indications may also be included for 6 months.)

INDICATIONS

(i) Histamine phosphate injection (0.275 mg/ml): May be used intravenously for the presumptive diagnosis of pheochromocytoma.

(ii) Histamine phosphate injection (2.75 mg/ml): May be used subcutaneously for determination of gastric secretory ability.

(These indications should be precisely stated and the doses expressed on a weight basis, i.e., milligrams-per-kilograms.)

3. Marketing status. Marketing of such drugs may be continued under the conditions described in the notice entitled "Conditions for Marketing New Drugs Evaluated in Drug Efficacy Study," published in the FEDERAL REGISTER July 14, 1970 (35 F.R. 11273), as follows:

a. For holders of "deemed approved" new drug applications (i.e., an application which became effective on the basis of safety prior to October 10, 1962), the submission of a supplement for revised labeling, and abbreviated supplement for updating information, and adequate data to show the biologic availability of the drug in the formulation which is marketed as described in paragraphs (a)(1)(i), (ii), and (iii) of the notice of July 14, 1970. Biologic availability data for a drug administered by the intravenous route are not required.

b. For any person who does not hold an approved or effective new drug application, the submission of an abbreviated new drug application, to include adequate data to assure the biologic availability of the drug in the formulation which is or is intended to be marketed, as described in paragraph (a)(3)(ii) of that notice. Biologic availability data for a drug administered by the intravenous route are not required.

c. For any distributor of the drug, the use of labeling in accord with this announcement for any such drug shipped within the jurisdiction of the Act as described in paragraph (b) of that notice.

d. For indications for which the drug has been classified as possibly effective (not included in the "Indications" section above), continued use as described in paragraphs (d), (e), and (f) of that notice.

C. Opportunity for a hearing. 1. The Commissioner of Food and Drugs proposes to issue an order under the provisions of section 505(e) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act withdrawing approval of all new drug applications and all amendments and supplements thereto providing for the indications for which substantial evidence of effectiveness is lacking as described in paragraph A.4 of this announcement. An order withdrawing approval of the applications will not issue if such applications are supplemented, in accord with this notice, to delete such indications. Promulgation of the proposed order may affect any related drug for human use not the subject of an approved new drug application.

2. In accordance with the provisions of section 505 of the Act (21 U.S.C. 355) and the regulations promulgated thereunder (21 CFR Part 130), the Commissioner will give the holders of any such applications, and any interested person who would be adversely affected by such an order, an opportunity for a hearing to show why such indications should not be deleted from labeling. A request for a hearing must be filed within 30 days after the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

3. A request for a hearing may not rest upon mere allegations or denial but must set forth specific facts showing that there is a genuine and substantial issue of fact that requires a hearing, together with a well organized and full factual analysis of the clinical and other investigational data that the objector is prepared to prove in a hearing. Any data submitted in response to this notice must be previously unsubmitted and include data from adequate and well controlled clinical investigations (identified for ready review) as described in § 130.12(a)(5) of the regulations published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of May 8, 1970 (35 F.R. 7250). Carefully conducted and documented clinical studies obtained under uncontrolled or partially controlled situations are not acceptable as a sole basis for approval of claims of effectiveness, but such studies may be considered on their merits for corroborative support of efficacy and evidence of safety.

4. If a hearing is requested and is justified by the response to this notice, the issues will be defined, a hearing examiner will be named, and he shall issue a written notice of the time and place at which the hearing will commence.

D. Conditions for marketing drugs having no indications classified as effective. 1. Within 60 days of the date of publication of this announcement in the FEDERAL REGISTER, the holder of any approved new-drug application for which a drug is classified in paragraph A.4 above as lacking substantial evidence of effectiveness is requested to submit a supplement to his application, as needed, to provide for revised labeling which deletes those indications for which substantial evidence of effectiveness is lacking. Such a supplement should be submitted under the provisions of § 130.9 (d) and (e) of the new-drug regulations (21 CFR 130.9 (d) and (e)) which permit certain changes to be put into effect at the earliest possible time, and the revised labeling should be put into use within the 60-day period. Failure to do so may result in a proposal to withdraw approval of the new-drug application.

2. If any such preparation is on the market without an approved new-drug application, its labeling should be revised if it includes those claims for which substantial evidence of effectiveness is lacking as referenced in paragraph A above. Failure to delete such indications and put the revised labeling into use within 60 days after the date of publication hereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER may cause the drug to be subject to regulatory proceedings.

3. The notice Conditions for Marketing New Drugs Evaluated in Drug Efficacy Study, published in the FEDERAL REGISTER July 14, 1970 (35 F.R. 11273), describes in paragraphs (d), (e), and (f) the marketing status of a drug labeled with those indications for which it is regarded as possibly effective, as stated in paragraph A.3 above.

A copy of the Academy's report has been furnished to each firm referred to above. Any other interested person may obtain a copy by request to the Food and Drug Administration, Press Relations Office (CE-200), 200 C Street SW., Washington, D.C. 20204.

A request for a hearing must be filed within 30 days after the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

3. A request for a hearing may not rest upon mere allegations or denials but must set forth specific facts showing that a genuine and substantial issue of fact requires a hearing, together with a well-organized and full-factual analysis of the clinical and other investigational data that the objector is prepared to prove in a hearing. Any data submitted in response to this notice must be previously unsubmitted and include data from adequate and well-controlled clinical investigations (identified for ready review) as described in § 130.12(a)(5) of the regulations published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of May 8, 1970 (35 F.R. 7250). Carefully conducted and documented clinical studies obtained under uncontrolled or partially controlled situations are not acceptable as a sole basis for approval of claims of effectiveness, but such studies may be considered on their merits for corroborative support of efficacy and evidence of safety.

4. If a hearing is requested and is justified by the response to this notice, the issues will be defined, a hearing examiner will be named, and he shall issue a written notice of the time and place at which the hearing will commence.

POLYMYXIN B SULFATE-LIDOCAINE HYDROCHLORIDE - PROPYLENE GLYCOL OTIC SOLUTION

The Food and Drug Administration has evaluated a report received from the National Academy of Sciences-National Research Council, Drug Efficacy Study Group, on Lidosporin Otic Solution, containing polymyxin B sulfate, lidocaine hydrochloride and propylene glycol; marketed by Burroughs Wellcome & Co., Inc., 3030 Cornwallis Road, Research Triangle Park, N.C. 27709 (NDA 50–171).

The Food and Drug Administration concludes that polymyxin B sulfate with lidocaine hydrochloride and propylene glycol preparations for otic use are possibly effective for the prevention of exacerbations and for the treatment of infection, pain, and itching associated with otitis and furunculosis.

The drug is subject to the antibiotic precedures under section 507 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act. To allow applicants time to obtain and submit data to provide substantial evidence of the effectiveness of the drug in those conditions for which it has been evaluated as possibly effective, batches of preparations containing polymyzins B sulfate with lidocaine hydrochloride and propylene glycol which bear labeling with those indications will continue to be accepted for release under the provisions of section 507(a) by the Food and Drug Administration for a period of 6 months after publication of this announcement in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

To be acceptable for consideration in support of the effectiveness of a drug, any such data must be previously unsubmitted, well-organized, and include data from adequate and well-controlled clinical investigations (identified for ready review) as described in § 130.12(a)(5) of the regulations published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of May 8, 1970 (35 F.R. 7250). Carefully conducted and documented clinical studies obtained under uncontrolled or partially controlled situations are not acceptable as a sole basis for the approval of claims of effectiveness, but such studies may be considered on their merits for corroborative support of efficacy and evidence of safety.

At the end of the 6-month period, any such data will be evaluated to determine whether there is substantial evidence of effectiveness for such uses. After that evaluation the conclusions concerning the drug will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. If no studies have been undertaken or if the studies do not provide substantial evidence of effectiveness, such drug will no longer be eligible for release.

A copy of the Academy's report has been furnished to the firm referred to above. Communications forwarded in response to this announcement should be identified with the reference number DESI 50171, directed to the attention of

PREPARATIONS CONTAINING CHLORAMPHENICOL WITH BENZOCAINE OR TETRACYCLINE HYDROCHLORIDE WITH BENZOCAINE FOR OTIC USE

Drugs for Human Use; Drug Efficacy Study Implementation

The Food and Drug Administration has evaluated reports received from the National Academy of Sciences-National Research Council, Drug Efficacy Study Group, on the folowing drugs:

1. Chloromycetin Otic containing chloramphenicol and benzocaine; Parke, Davis and Co., Joseph Campau at the River, Detroit, Michigan 48232 (NDA 50–205).

2. Achromycin Ear Solution containing tetracycline hydrochloride and benzocaine; Lederle Laboratories Division, American Cyanamid Co., Pearl River, N.Y. 10965 (NDA 50–275).

The Food and Drug Administration concludes that otic solutions containing chloramphenicol with benzocaine are possibly effective for the treatment of superficial bacterial infections of the external ear and that otic solutions containing tetracycline hydrochloride with benzocaine are possibly effective for use in the treatment of acute and chronic otitis externa due to susceptible organisms.

Preparations containing chloramphenicol or tetracycline hydrochloride with benzocaine are subject to the antibiotic certification procedures pursuant to section 507 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act. In order to allow applicants time to obtain and submit data to provide substantial evidence of the effectiveness of the drugs in those conditions for which they have been evaluated as possibly effective, batches of preparations containing chloramphenicol or tetracycline hydrochloride with benzocaine which bear labeling with the possibly effective indications will be accepted for release or certification by the Food and Drug Administration for a period of six months after publication of this announcement in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

At the end of the 6-month period, any such data will be evaluated to determine whether there is substantial evidence of effectiveness for such uses. After that evaluation, the conclusions concerning the drug will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. If no studies have been undertaken, or if the studies do not provide substantial evidence of effectiveness, such drugs will no longer be acceptable for release or certification.

To be acceptable for consideration in support of the effectiveness of a drug, any such data must be previously unsubmitted, well-organized, and include data from adequate and well-controlled clinical investigations (identified for ready review) as described in § 130.12 (a)(5) of the regulations published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of May 8, 1970 (35 F.R. 7250). Embryostat; Notice of Withdrawal of Approval of New Animal Drug Application

A notice of opportunity for a hearing was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of April 3, 1971 (36 F.R. 6446), proposing to withdraw approval of NADA No. 11–081V for the drug Embryostat (a drug containing oxytetracycline hydrochloride).

Chas. Pfizer & Co., Inc., 235 East 42d Street, New York, N.Y. 10017, failed to file a written appearance of election, as provided for in the notice and this is construed as an election not to avail themselves of an opportunity for a hearing.

E. R SQUIBB & SONS, INC.

Penicillin-Streptomycin-Vitamin Mixture for Poultry Drinking Water; Notice of Drug Deemed Adulterated

An announcement concerning Biocin was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of August 25, 1970 (35 F.R. 13537, DESI 0143NV). The announcement set forth the findings of the National Academy of Sciences-National Research Council, Drug Efficacy Study Group, and the Food and Drug Administration that the drug is probably not effective for the treatment and prevention of gastrointestinal and respiratory diseases and for nontherapeutic indications in chickens and turkeys. Said announcement provided the manufacturer of the drug and all interested persons a 6-month period in which to submit new animal drug applications.

E. R. Squibb & Sons, Inc., Agricultural Research Center, Three Bridges, N.J. 08887, manufacturer of this product, did not submit a new animal drug application for the product but responded by advising the Commissioner of Food and Drugs that Biocin has been deleted from their product line.

Based on the foregoing and other information before him, the Commissioner concludes that Biocin is adulterated within the meaning of section 501(a)(5) of the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act, in that it is not the subject of an approved new animal drug application pursuant to section 512 of the act. Therefore, notice is given to E. R. Squibb & Sons, Inc., and to all interested persons that all stocks of said drug within the jurisdiction of the act are deemed adulterated within the meaning of the act and are subject to appropriate regulatory action.

This notice is issued pursuant to provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (secs. 501(a)(5), 512, 52 Stat. 1049, as amended, 82 Stat. 343–351; 21 U.S.C. 351(a)(5), 360b) and under authority delegated to the Commissioner (21 CFR 2.120).

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

[Dockets Nos. 19294–19296; FCC 71–800]

PHIL D. JACKSON ET AL.

Memorandum Opinion and Order Designating Applications for Consolidated Hearing on Stated Issues

In regard applications of Phil D. Jackson, Eureka, Calif., Docket No. 19294, File No. BP–18196, requests: 790 kc., 5 kw., Day; W. H. Hansen, Eureka, Calif., Docket No. 19295, File No. BP–18455, requests: 790 kc., 5 kw., Day; Carroll R. Hauser, Eureka, Calif., Docket No. 19296, File No. BP–18463, requests: 790 kc., 5 kw., Day for construction permits.

1. The Commission has before it for consideration the above-captioned mutually exclusive applications which seek authorization to replace the deleted facilities of former station KDAN.

2. Examination of section IV of W. H. Hansen's application indicates that he has failed to meet the basic requirements set out in our Primer on Ascertainment of Community Problems by Broadcast Applicants, 36 F.R. 4092, 27 FCC 2d 650. Consultations with members of the general public have not been shown nor has the applicant adequately described the programs which he believes will meet the needs and interests of his community. Accordingly, a Suburban issue[1] will be included.

3. W. H. Hansen estimated that $32,500 will be needed to construct and operate the proposed station. Hansen, who owns the former station's physical facilities, allocates only $30,000, however, for operating costs. This amount we believe is inordinately low and disproportionate to operating costs in similar markets. Thus, a substantial question as to Hansen's financial qualifications exists and an appropriate issue will be specified.

4. Since no determination has yet been reached on whether the antenna proposed by W. H. Hansen would constitute a hazard to air navigation, an issue regarding this matter is required.

5. By memorandum opinion and order released October 17, 1968, FCC 68–1013, the Commission designated several applications for hearing including the application for renewal of the licenses of stations KCNO and KDOV, Alturas, Calif., and Medford, Oreg., respectively. Issues were included to determine, inter alia, whether W. H. Hansen had made intentional misrepresentations to the Commission, whether he had participated in an unauthorized transfer of control of KDOV, and whether he had concealed his ownership of KCNO. In an initial decision (FCC 69D–59, released November 25, 1969), the hearing examiner found against Hansen and denied the renewals. Because of these matters, serious questions arise regarding his qualifications and an appropriate issue will be specified. In this connection, official notice may be taken of the record in the Hansen proceeding (Docket No. 18349 et seq.), and only new or additional evidence not adduced in that proceeding may be adduced in this hearing. Finally, in the event Hansen is favored in the forthcoming comparative hearing, dispositive action on his application will be withheld pending Commission action in the above docketed proceeding.

6. Except as indicated by the issues specified below, the applicants are qualified to construct and operate as proposed. However, since the proposals are mutually exclusive, they must be designated for hearing in a consolidated proceeding on the issues specified below.

7. Accordingly, it is ordered, That, pursuant to section 309(e) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the applications are designated for hearing in a consolidated proceeding, at a time and place to be specified in a subsequent order, upon the following issues:

(1) To determine with respect to the application of W. H. Hansen:

(a) The basis for the estimate of the first year's operating expenses and whether such estimate is reasonable.

(b) Whether, in light of the evidence adduced pursuant to (a) above, the applicant is financially qualified.

(2) To determine whether there is a reasonable possibility that the tower height and location proposed by W. H. Hansen would constitute a hazard to air navigation.

(3) To determine the efforts made by W. H. Hansen to ascertain the community needs and interests of the area to be served and the means by which he proposes to meet those needs and interests.

(4) To determine, in the light of the record in Docket No. 18349, et seq., whether W. H. Hansen has the requisite qualifications to be a licensee of the Commission and, if so, the impact of such matters on his comparative qualifications.

(5) To determine which of the proposals would, on a comparative basis, better serve the public interest.

8. It is further ordered, That the Federal Aviation Administration is made a party to the proceeding.

9. It is further ordered, That in the event of a grant of any of the above proposals, the construction permit shall contain the following conditions:

Permittee shall submit with the application for license, antenna resistance measurements made in accordance with § 73.54 of the Commission's rules.

[1] Suburban Broadcasters, 20 RR 951 (1961).

VOL 36 161 XUM

Before program tests are authorized permittee shall submit a proof of performance to establish that the proposed nondirectional radiation pattern is not adversely affected by reradiation from manmade structures.

10. It is further ordered, That in the event W. H. Hansen is favored in this hearing, final action on his application will be withheld until dispositive action is taken on Docket No. 18349 et seq.

11. It is further ordered, That, to avail themselves of the opportunity to be heard, the applicants and parties respondent herein, pursuant to § 1.221(c) of the Commission rules, in person or by attorney, shall within 20 days of the mailing of this order, file with the Commission in triplicate, a written appearance stating an intention to appear on the date fixed for the hearing and present evidence on the issues specified in this order.

12. It is further ordered, That the applicants herein shall, pursuant to section 311(a)(2) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and § 1.594 of the Commission's rules, give notice of the hearing, either individually or, if feasible, and consistent with the rules, jointly, within the time and in the manner prescribed in such rule, and shall advise the Commission of the publication of such notice as required by § 1.594(g) of the rules.

Adopted: August 4, 1971.

VOGEL-ELLINGTON CORP. (WHOD) ET AL.

Order Designating Applications for Consolidated Hearing on Stated Issues

In re applications of Vogel-Ellington Corp. (WHOD), Jackson, Ala., Docket No. 18897, File No. BP-17867, for construction permit; WMAF Radio, Inc. (assignor) and Vogel-McCreery Corp. (assignee), Docket No. 19299, File No. BAL-6992, for assignment of license of Station WMAF, Madison, Fla.; Charles Banks (assignor) and Vogel-Bolen Corp. (assignee), Docket No. 19300, File No. BALH-1448, for assignment of license of Station WNON(FM), Lebanon, Ind.

1. The Commission has before it the above referenced applications.[1] On July 8, 1971, the Commission informed Mr. William R. Vogel, controlling stockholder of the above assignee corporations, that the assignment applications could not be granted without a hearing to resolve certain issues concerning the circumstances surrounding Vogel's acquisition of a number of stations and his pending applications.

2. Mr. Vogel has informed the Commission that he desires to prosecute these applications for assignment of licenses through the hearing process. Mr. Vogel has also requested that the Commission consolidate the WMAF and WNON(FM) assignment applications into the proceeding involving the application of the Vogel-Ellington Corp., licensee of Station WHOD, Jackson, Ala., to change frequency (BP-17867, Docket No. 18897).

3. Mr. Vogel has also requested that the hearing examiner be instructed to expedite the hearing and pursuant to section 409(a) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, certify the record to the Commission. As the statutory language of section 409(a) clearly indicates, this is an exception to the usual procedure and is to be employed only in the most exceptional circumstances. We do not consider the circumstances of this case sufficient to warrant our invoking the requested exceptional procedure. However, the applicant's statements of July 14, 1971, persuade us that some expeditious handling of this matter is in order and we will therefore specify that such hearing shall be expedited by the hearing examiner.

4. Accordingly, It is ordered, That the assignment applications are designated for hearing, at a time and place to be specified in a subsequent order, upon the following issues:

I. To determine the facts and circumstances surrounding William R. Vogel's failure to report:

(a) In applications to acquire stations:

1. WAMA, Selma, Ala.
2. WHOD, Jackson, Ala.
3. WBLO, Evergreen, Ala.
4. WULA, Eufaula, Ala.
5. WIFN, Franklin, Ind.
6. WMPI, Scottsburg, Ind.

his past broadcast interests.

(b) In the application to change facilities of station WHOD, Jackson, Ala., his past and current broadcast interests and his pending applications to acquire stations WMAF, Madison, Fla., and WNON(FM), Lebanon, Ind.

(c) In the applications for assignment of stations WMAF, Madison, Fla., and WNON(FM), Lebanon, Ind., his past broadcast interests and the pending application to change frequency of station WHOD, Jackson, Ala.

II. To determine whether William R. Vogel trafficked and is now trafficking in broadcast authorizations.

III. To determine whether in view of the evidence adduced under the above issues whether William R. Vogel possess the necessary qualifications to be a Commission licensee.

IV. To determine whether grant of the above cited assignment applications will serve the public interest, convenience and necessity.

5. It is further ordered, That pursuant to § 1.227 of the Commission's rules, the applications for assignment of licenses of stations WMAF and WNON(FM) be consolidated with the application of the Vogel-Ellington Corp., licensee of station WHOD, Jackson, Ala., for change in frequency, presently in hearing status (Docket No. 18897).

6. It is further ordered, That to avail themselves of the opportunity to be heard, the applicants, pursuant to § 1.221(c) of the Commission's rules, in person or by attorney, shall, within 20 days of the mailing of this order, file with the Commission in triplicate a written appearance stating an intention to appear on the date fixed for the hearing and present evidence on the issues specified in this order.

7. It is further ordered, That such hearing shall be expedited by the hearing examiner.

8. It is further ordered, That the applicants shall, pursuant to section 311(a)(2) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and § 1.594 of the Commission's rules, give notice of the hearing, within the time and in the manner prescribed in such rule, and shall advise the Commission of the publication of such notice as required by § 1.594(g) of the rules.

COLUMBIA OFFSHORE PIPELINE CO. ET AL.

Notice Postponing Dates for Filing Testimony and Public Hearing Pending Further Commission Action

AUGUST 12, 1971.

Columbia Offshore Pipeline Co., Columbia Gulf Transmission Co., Bonita Transmission Co., and Tennessee Gas Pipeline Co., a division of Tenneco, Inc., Docket No. CP68-231.

Take notice that the dates for filing prepared testimony and for a public hearing in Docket No. CP68-231 are postponed pending further action by the Commission on a supplement to the third amendment to an application pending in Docket No. CP68-231 for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act, which was filed on August 6, 1971 and noticed on August 10, 1971.

With respect to the third amendment to the application pending in Docket No. CP68-231, the Commission on July 27, 1971, issued an order granting interventions, prescribing procedures and setting hearing, in which the applicants were ordered to submit prepared testimony in support of such application on or before August 16, 1971, and hearing was set for August 24, 1971. In light of the material change in the project as now presented by the supplement to the third amendment it would be impractical to adhere to the above dates. It therefore appears reasonable and consistent with the public interest to postpone the dates for the filing of prepared testimony and hearing pending such further action as may be taken by the Commission with respect to the supplemental filing.

If Panhandle finds it necessary to limit deliveries of gas because of pipeline modifications, repairs, etc., it will curtail under section 16.1, as revised, which provides that all interruptible deliveries will first be discontinued followed by curtailment of storage deliveries, with firm deliveries to be the last order of curtailment, in which event, Panhandle reserves the right to curtail deliveries to its direct firm industrials using more than 50 Mcf per day and to require its resale customers to reduce deliveries to their firm industrials using more than 50 Mcf per day before restricting deliveries to firm domestic and commercial consumers.

[Docket No. E-7396]

COMMONWEALTH EDISON CO.

Notice of Application

AUGUST 17, 1971.

Take notice that on July 29, 1971, Commonwealth Edison Co. (applicant) of Chicago, Ill., filed an application seeking authority pursuant to section 204 of the Federal Power Act to extend to not later than December 31, 1974, the final maturity date, and increase to $300 million the maximum amount authorized to be outstanding at any one time, of short-term unsecured promissory notes authorized to be issued under the Commission's order of April 2, 1968, and supplemental order of August 29, 1969, in Docket No. E-7396. In that supplemental order, the Commission authorized the applicant to issue short-term promissory notes in face amounts of up to a maximum of $250 million with final maturities not later than December 31, 1971.

Applicant is incorporated under the laws of the State of Illinois with its principal business office at Chicago, Ill., and is principally engaged in the electric utility business in a service area of approximately 13,000 square miles in northern Illinois, including the city of Chicago.

The notes are to be issued from time to time to commercial banks and to commercial paper dealers, are to have maturities of 12 months or less from the dates of issuance, and in any event are to be payable on or before December 31, 1974. The interest rate (a) for notes issued to commercial banks is to be the prime rate as from day to day in effect, and (b) for commercial paper is to be the prevailing rate at time of issuance for paper of comparable quality and maturity.

The proceeds from the issuance of any notes will be added to working capital for ultimate application toward the cost of gross additions to utility properties and to reimburse the applicant's treasury for construction expenditures. Applicant's construction program as now scheduled calls for plant expenditures of approximately $2,500 million for the 5-year period 1971–1975. The extension of 3 years and the increase in maximum authorized amount are necessary to provide flexibility needed to meet financing requirements.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make protest with reference to the application should, on or before August 27, 1971, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, petitions or protests in accordance with the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10). All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken but will not serve to make the protestants parties to the proceeding. Persons wishing to become parties to a proceeding or to participate as a party in any hearing therein must file petitions to intervene in accordance with the Commission's rules. The application is on file with the Commission and available for public inspection.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said applications should on or before September 7, 1971, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, petitions to intervene or protests in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10). [Docket No. E-7611]

VIRGINIA ELECTRIC AND POWER CO.

Order Approving Rate Increase and Granting Interventions

AUGUST 5, 1971.

Virginia Electric and Power Co. (VEPCO) on March 2, 1971, filed proposed changes in its wholesale rates which would increase charges to its cooperative, municipal, and private company wholesale customers by approximately 9.2 percent or $1,984,000 annually, based on sales estimates for the 12 months ended March 31, 1972. VEPCO requests that the proposed rate increase be made effective July 1, 1970, and requests waiver of the applicable Commission regulations. VEPCO proposes that the retroactive portion of the increase applicable to cooperative customers and municipal customers be collected in six and 12 monthly installments, respectively.

Notice of the filing was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on March 11, 1971 (36 F.R. 4728) with comments or answers due on or before March 18, 1971.

VEPCO's proposed rate increase and its requested effective date of July 1, 1970, were agreed upon between VEPCO and negotiators for the majority of VEPCO's wholesale customers. Submitted with the filing is correspondence indicating the concurrence of VEPCO's 19 cooperative customers (13 in Virginia, six in North Carolina). VEPCO's eight Virginia municipal customers support VEPCO's proposal with seven of these customers[1] joining in a petition to intervene, in which they specifically request that the Commission grant VEPCO's request for a 9.2 percent rate increase retroactive to July 1, 1970. A similar petition was filed by eight of the 13 North Carolina municipals served by VEPCO.[2] The Virginia State Corporation Commission supports the rate increase as well as the proposed effective date. The only investor owned system served by VEPCO, Pamlico Power and Light Co., indicates its agreement to the rate increase and does not oppose the retroactive date.

The town of Windsor, N.C., filed a letter objecting to the proposed retroactive effective date and the municipality of Enfield, N.C. filed a resolution of the commissioners of the municipality opposing the rate increase, as well as the effective date. We will consider both as protests pursuant to § 1.10 of the Commission's rules.

[1] Municipalities of Blackstone, Culpeper, Elkton, Franklin, Harrisonburg, Manassas, and Wakefield, Va.
[2] Municipalities of Belhaven, Elizabeth City, Greenville, Hamilton, Robersonville, Washington, Edenton, and Scotland Neck, N.C.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Inc. (NAACP) filed a petition to intervene and a motion to reject the rate increase or, in the alternative, to suspend and conduct a hearing. NAACP opposes the rate increase on grounds that VEPCO is engaging in discriminatory employment practices in violation of title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, 42 U.S.C. 2000 (e) et seq., the Civil Rights Act of 1866, 42 U.S.C., sections 1981 and 1983 and Executive Order 11246, as amended by Executive Order 11375. Citing statistics which show the number of blacks and whites assigned to various jobs, NAACP charges that VEPCO has arranged its work force along racial lines, with blacks being assigned to the lowest paying and most menial jobs. NAACP also alleges that VEPCO has perpetuated past discriminatory practices by restricting promotion and transfer opportunities of incumbent employees and by its alleged unlawful testing and educational requirements.

The Attorney General of the United States acting under the authority conferred upon him by Congress (42 U.S.C. sec. 2000e-6(a)) sought and secured a preliminary injunction against VEPCO from discriminating against employees of VEPCO in violation of title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964.[3] The employment practices enjoined are those covered by NAACP's motion in the instant case. Under these circumstances, final court action in the suit brought against VEPCO by the Attorney General will resolve the issue raised by NAACP's motion herein. In view of this pending litigation in the U.S. District Court on VEPCO's employment practices, it is unnecessary for this Commission to consider review of the questions raised by NAACP.

Although we cannot review VEPCO's employment practices in the proceeding, we are mindful of the serious problem raised by NAACP of equal opportunity in employment and of the national policy that discrimination in employment is to be eliminated by all elements of our society, public and private. In the license project case of Pacific Gas and Electric Co., Project No. 2687 (order issued November 6, 1970) where similar claims of discriminatory employment practices were made by California Rural Legal Assistance (CRLA) and supported by the NAACP, we expressed our concern in this matter and outlined the steps we have taken to insure implementation of the national policy fully and completely.

VEPCO's supporting cost of service study, based on operation for the 12-month period ended June 30, 1970, shows that the company earned a return of 4.98 percent on sales to municipal customers and 3.84 percent on sales to cooperatives. Under the proposed increased rates, VEPCO's studies show returns of 6.03 percent and 4.82 percent from municipal and cooperative customers respectively. Based upon our review of VEPCO's filing, the comments and responses thereto, we conclude that the increased rates proposed to be effective July 1, 1970, are just and reasonable and in the public interest.

The Commission finds: With respect to VEPCO's request for waiver of the notice requirements, good cause has been shown for such waiver pursuant to the requirements of section 205(d) of the Federal Power Act and § 35.11 of the Commission's regulations thereunder.

The Commission orders:

(A) The increased rates filed by VEPCO on March 2, 1971, are hereby accepted to be effective as of July 1, 1970, with designations as shown in the attachment hereto.

(B) The 30-day notice period provided in section 205(d) of the Federal Power Act is hereby waived with respect to VEPCO's proffered rates and they are hereby allowed to take effect as of July 1, 1970.

(C) Commencing with customer billings for August 1971, service, VEPCO shall collect the retroactive portion of the increase applicable to the cooperatives in six equal monthly installments, and for the municipals, the retroactive increase shall be billed in 12 equal monthly installments.

(D) The petitioners hereinabove set forth are permitted to intervene in this proceeding, subject to the rules and regulations of the Commission: Provided, however, That the participation of such intervenors shall be limited to the matters affecting asserted rights and interest as specifically set forth in their respective petitions to intervene: And provided, further, That the admission of said intervenors shall not be construed as recognition by the Commission that they might be aggrieved because of any order or orders of the Commission entered in this proceeding.

(E) This order is without prejudice to any findings or orders which have been or may hereafter be made by this Commission in any proceeding now pending or hereafter instituted by or against VEPCO or any other persons affected by the rates hereby permitted to be effective.

By the Commission.

[SEAL] KENNETH F. PLUMB, Secretary.

FEDERAL MARITIME COMMISSION

[Independent Ocean Freight Forwarder License No. 808]

E. J. LITTMAN CO.

Order of Revocation

Beginning with March 1969, the Federal Maritime Commission has attempted to contact Edwin J. Littman, doing business as E. J. Littman Co. The Commission has information indicating that this licensed independent ocean freight forwarder was no longer in business. The Commission's letter of March 10, 1969, which was sent to Mr. Littman's last known address was returned unclaimed. All subsequent attempts to contact Mr. Littman have failed.

VOL 36 161 XUM

On October 22, 1970, the St. Paul Fire and Marine Insurance Co., notified this Commission of its election to cancel the independent ocean freight forwarder bond which the St. Paul Mercury Insurance Co., had underwritten in Edwin J. Littman's behalf. The effective date of the termination was November 21, 1970. The Commission was unable to advise Edwin J. Littman of the cancellation because Mr. Littman's current address was unknown.

Section 44(c) Shipping Act, 1916, provides that no independent ocean freight forwarder license shall remain in force unless a valid bond is in effect and on file with this Commission. Rule 510.9 of Federal Maritime Commission General Order 4, further provides that a license shall be automatically revoked or suspended for failure of a licensee to maintain a valid surety bond. Edwin J. Littman, doing business as E. J. Littman Co., has failed to furnish a surety bond.

By virtue of the authority vested in me by the Federal Maritime Commission as set forth in Manual of Orders Commission Order No. 1 (revised) section 7.04(g) (dated September 29, 1970):

It is ordered, That the independent ocean freight forwarder license of Edwin J. Littman, doing business as E. J. Littman Co., is hereby revoked, effective November 21, 1970.

It is further ordered, That the independent ocean freight forwarder license issued to Edwin J. Littman, doing business as E. J. Littman Co., be returned to the Commission.

FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

EMPIRE SHARES CORP.

Notice of Application for Approval of Acquisition of Shares of Bank

Notice is hereby given that application has been made, pursuant to section 3(a)(3) of the Bank Holding Company Act of 1956 (12 U.S.C. 1842(a)(3)) by Empire Shares Corp., which is a bank holding company located in New York, N.Y., for prior approval by the Board of Governors of the acquisition by applicant of 39.9627 percent of the voting shares of Community State Bank, Albany, N.Y., which acquisition would result in applicant's total ownership of 82.6530 percent of that bank's outstanding voting shares.

Section 3(c) of the Act provides that the Board shall not approve:

(1) Any acquisition or merger or consolidation under section 3 which would result in a monopoly, or which would be in furtherance of any combination or conspiracy to monopolize or to attempt to monopolize the business of banking in any part of the United States, or

(2) Any other proposed acquisition or merger or consolidation under section 3 whose effect in any section of the country may be substantially to lessen competition, or to tend to create a monopoly, or which in any other manner would be in restraint of trade, unless the Board finds that the anticompetitive effects of the proposed transactions are clearly outweighed in the public interest by the probable effect of the transaction in meeting the convenience and needs of the the community to be served.

Section 3(c) further provides that, in every case, the Board shall take into consideration the financial and managerial resources and future prospects of the company or companies and the banks concerned, and the convenience and needs of the community to be served.

UNITED BANCORP OF MAINE

Order Approving Acquisition of Bank Stock by Bank Holding Company

In the matter of the application of United Bancorp of Maine, Portland, Maine, for approval of acquisition of 51 percent of the voting shares of Central National Bank, Waterville, Maine, a proposed new bank.

There has come before the Board of Governors, pursuant to section 3(a)(3) of the Bank Holding Company Act of 1956 (12 U.S.C. 1842(a)(3)) and § 222.3(a) of Federal Reserve Regulation Y (12 CFR 222.3(a)), an application by United Bancorp of Maine, Portland, Maine (Applicant), for the Board's prior approval of the acquisition of 51 percent of the voting shares of Central National Bank, Waterville, Maine (Bank), a proposed new bank.

As required by section 3(b) of the Act, the Board gave written notice of receipt of the application to the Comptroller of the Currency, and requested his views and recommendation. The Comptroller recommended approval of the application.

Notice of receipt of the application was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on July 7, 1971 (36 F.R. 12814), providing an opportunity for interested persons to submit comments and views with respect to the proposal. A copy of the application was forwarded to the U.S. Department of Justice for its consideration. Time for filing comments and views has expired and all those received have been considered.

The Board has considered the application in the light of the factors set forth in section 3(c) of the Act, including the effect of the proposed acquisition on competition, the financial and managerial resources and future prospects of the Applicant and the banks concerned, and the convenience and needs of the communities to be served, and finds that:

Applicant, the smallest of four registered bank holding companies and the sixth largest banking organization in the State, controls two banks with total deposits of approximately $116 million, representing 9.2 percent of the State's total deposits. (All banking data are as of December 31, 1970, and reflect holding company acquisitions approved through June 30, 1971.)

Bank will be located in the Waterville banking market. The first and fourth largest banking organizations in the State have seven offices there and control virtually all area deposits. Applicant is not represented in that market; its present subsidiary bank nearest to Bank's site is located 49 miles southwest in Lewiston. Therefore, consummation of the proposal should stimulate competition without having an undue adverse effect on other banks in the market.

The banking factors with respect to applicant, its subsidiaries, and Bank are consistent with approval of the application. Bank is not expected to offer any new banking services not already available in the area. However, the establishment of Bank, which was initiated by a group of local businessmen, would provide an additional banking alternative to residents of the Waterville area. Thus considerations relating to convenience and needs of the community lend some weight in favor of approval of the application. It is the Board's judgment that the proposed acquisition would be in the public interest and that the application should be approved.

It is hereby ordered, On the basis of the Board's findings summarized above, that said application be and hereby is approved, provided that the acquisition so approved shall not be consummated (a) before the 30th calendar day following the date of this order, or (b) later than 3 months after the date of this order, and provided further, that (c) Central National Bank shall be open for business not later than 6 months after the date of this order. The periods described in (b) and (c) hereof may be extended for good cause by the Board, or by the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston pursuant to delegated authority.

By order of the Board of Governors,[1] August 12, 1971.

Deputy Secretary.

As required by section 3(b) of the Act, the Board gave written notice of receipt of the application to the Comptroller of the Currency and to the Texas Commissioner of Banking and requested their views and recommendations. The comptroller and the commissioner recommended approval of the application.

HERITAGE BANCORPORATION

Order Approving Action To Become Bank Holding Company

In the matter of the application of Heritage Bancorporation, Cherry Hill, N.J., for approval of action to become a bank holding company through the acquisition of 100 percent of the voting shares (less directors' qualifying shares) of (1) the successor by merger to South Jersey National Bank, Camden, N.J., and (2) the successor by merger to The First National Iron Bank of New Jersey, Morristown, N.J.

There has come before the Board of Governors, pursuant to section 3(a)(1) of the Bank Holding Company Act of 1956 (12 U.S.C. 1842(a)(1)), and § 222.3(a) of Federal Reserve Regulation Y (12 CFR 222.3(a)), an application by Heritage Bancorporation ("applicant"), Cherry Hill, N.J., for the Board's prior approval of action whereby applicant would become a bank holding company through the acquisition of 100 percent of the voting shares (less directors' qualifying shares) of (1) the successor by merger to South Jersey National Bank ("South Jersey Bank"), Camden, N.J., and (2) the successor by merger to The First National Iron Bank of New Jersey ("Iron Bank"), Morristown, N.J.

The banks into which South Jersey Bank and Iron Bank are to be merged have no significance except as a vehicle for the acquisition of the voting shares of the banks involved. Accordingly, the proposed acquisitions of the shares of the successor organizations are treated as proposed acquisitions of the shares of South Jersey Bank and Iron Bank.

As required by section 3(b) of the Act, the Board gave written notice of receipt of the application to the Comptroller of the Currency, and requested his views and recommendation. The comptroller recommended approval of the application.

Notice of receipt of the application was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of June 16, 1971 (36 F.R. 11617), providing an opportunity for interested persons to submit comments and views with respect to the proposal. A copy of the application was forwarded to the U.S. Deartment of Justice for its consideration. Time for filing comments and views has expired and all those received have been considered.

The Board has considered the application in the light of the factors set forth in section 3(c) of the Act, including the effect of the proposed acquisition on competition, the financial and managerial resources and future prospects of the applicant and the banks concerned, and the convenience and needs of the communities to be served, and finds that:

Upon consummation of the proposal, applicant would become the only bank holding company headquartered in southern New Jersey and, with control of 3.4 percent of total commercial bank deposits in the State of New Jersey, would become the second smallest of six holding companies in the State.[1]

South Jersey Bank (deposits of approximately $347 million), the second largest bank in the Third Banking District on the basis of deposits and eleventh largest in the State, serves the southern New Jersey market areas of Camden, Atlantic City, Vineland, and Hammonton. Iron Bank (deposits of approximately $160 million), the 15th largest bank in the First Banking District and the 25th largest in the State, serves primarily Morris County. There is no present significant competition between the two banks and, in view of the facts of record, notably the 66-mile distance between the two banking districts and the New Jersey law prohibiting branching across district lines, such competition is unlikely to develop in the future. The Board concludes that consummation of the proposal would have no adverse effect on competition in any relevant area and might have a procompetitive effect within the First Banking District by enabling Iron Bank to become a more effective competitor to the larger organizations in that District.

The financial and managerial resources and prospects of applicant and each of the proposed subsidiaries are satisfactory and consistent with approval. There is no evidence that significant banking needs of the communities to be served are not being met. However, consummation of the proposal would enable South Jersey Bank to become a more effective competitor of Philadelphia banks for commercial banking services and Iron Bank a more effective competitor of the New York banks for those services. Considerations relative to the convenience and needs of the communities to be served lend some weight toward approval. It is the Board's judgment that the proposed transaction would be in the public interest and that the application should be approved.

It is hereby ordered, For the reasons summarized above, that said application be and hereby is approved, provided that the acquisitions so approved shall not be consummated (a) before the 30th calendar day following the date of this order, or (b) later than 3 months after the date of this order, unless such period is extended for good cause by the Board or by the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia pursuant to delegated authority.

By order of the Board of Governors,[2] August 12, 1971.

Deputy Secretary.

VOL 36 161 XUM

Fla., for approval of acquisition of 78 percent or more of the voting shares of Commercial National Bank of Broward County, Broward County, Fla.

There has come before the Board of Governors, pursuant to section 3(a)(3) of the Bank Holding Company Act of 1956 (12 U.S.C. 1842(a)(3)), and § 222.3(a) of Federal Reserve Regulation Y (12 CFR 222.3(a)), the application of Pan American Bancshares, Inc., Miami, Fla. ("applicant"), a registered bank holding company, for the Board's prior approval of the acquisition of 78 percent or more of the voting shares of Commercial National Bank of Broward County, Broward County, Fla. ("Commercial Bank").

On October 31, 1970, there was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (35 F.R. 16875) an order of the Board approving applicant's acquisition of at least 80 percent of the voting shares of Commercial Bank. Subsequently, applicant advised the Board that it had failed to receive tenders of their shares from at least 80 percent of the shareholders and applicant amended the application to seek approval to acquire 78 percent of the voting shares of Commercial Bank. Notice of receipt of the amendment to the application was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on April 1, 1971 (36 F.R. 6030) providing an opportunity for interested persons to submit comments and views with respect to the proposal. Time for filing comments and views has expired and all those received have been considered by the Board.

The Board has considered the application in the light of the factors set forth in section 3(c) of the Act, including the effect of the proposed acquisition on competition, the financial and managerial resources and future prospects of the applicant and the banks concerned, and the convenience and needs of the communities to be served. Upon such consideration, the Board finds that:

With one exception, the factors which the Board is required to consider in connection with this application remain as considered in the Board's approval order dated October 23, 1970. This exception is that the original application approved by the Board contemplated an identical exchange offer of applicant's shares to all shareholders of Commercial Bank and the present application involves a cash offer. Upon failure of applicant's tender offer to Commercial Bank shareholders, parties friendly to applicant purchased a 78 percent interest in Commercial Bank for cash. The present application contemplates applicant's acquisition of that interest for cash and a cash offer to the remaining shareholders.

On all holding company acquisitions, the Board has been and remains concerned with the fairness and equity of the offer to minority as well as majority shareholders of the bank to be acquired. In this case, the Board has requested and received applicant's full assurances that the cash offer being made to the remaining shareholders is at least equal to that received by each of the original majority shareholders of Commercial Bank.

The Board finds the offer to be made to be fair and equitable to all minority shareholders of Commercial Bank and further finds the statutory factors to be set forth in its Order of October 23, 1970. It is the Board's judgment that the proposed acquisition is in the public interest and should be approved.

It is hereby ordered, For the reasons set forth in the findings summarized above and in the Board's order of October 23, 1970, that said application be and hereby is approved, provided that the action so approved shall not be consummated (a) before the 30th calendar day following the date of this order, or (b) later than 3 months after the date of this order, unless such time be extended for good cause by the Board, or by the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta pursuant to delegated authority.

By order of the Board of Governors,[1] August 12, 1971.

Deputy Secretary.

COLUMBIA GAS SYSTEM, INC.

Notice of Proposed Acquisition of Common Stock and Installment Notes of Canadian Subsidiary Company To Be Formed To Acquire New Gas Supplies

AUGUST 13, 1971.

In the matter of the Columbia Gas System, Inc., 20 Montchanin Road, Wilmington, Del. 19807.

Notice is hereby given that The Columbia Gas System, Inc. (Columbia), a registered holding company, has filed an application-declaration with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 (Act), designating sections 9, 10, and 12 of the Act and Rules 41, 43, 44, and 45 promulgated thereunder as applicable to the proposed transactions. All interested persons are referred to the application-declaration, which is summarized below, for a complete statement of the proposed transactions.

Columbia, in an effort to supplement its sources of natural gas supply, is making investments designed to obtain gas from the Prudhoe Bay area and the Arctic region of Canada (see File No. 70-5039). Columbia proposes to form a wholly-owned Canadian subsidiary, company, Columbia Gas Development of Canada, Ltd. (Development), under the Federal laws of Canada, whose primary function would be to acquire additional gas supply for and coordinate the program of development for the Columbia system in Canada. Development will be headquartered in Calgary, Alberta. It is stated that under Canadian law, working interests in Canadian oil and gas leases must be held by a Canadian corporation.

Columbia proposes, from time to time during 1971, to acquire from Development 300,000 shares of common stock, par value $25 per share, for $7,500,000 and up to $7,500,000 principal amount of Development's installment promissory notes, which will be unsecured and bear interest from the date of their issuance at a rate approximately equal to the cost of money to Columbia with respect to its last sale of debentures. The principal amount of the notes will be due in 20 equal installments, on October 1 of each of the years 1976 through 1995, with interest payable semiannually on the unpaid principal.

Development will use the proceeds from the sale of its securities to pay $10 million to Dome Petroleum, Ltd. (Dome), a nonaffiliated company, with whom Columbia has agreed to contribute 50 percent or $30 million of the exploration costs on certain of Dome's Canadian acreage principally in the Arctic Islands. As compensation therefor, Columbia will receive a 7½-percent interest in such acreage and the right to purchase an additional 17½ percent of the total gas produced. The remaining $5 million will be used by Development for other exploration and drilling purposes. It is anticipated that Columbia will purchase the Development securities from its general funds.

The application-declaration states that no approval or consent of any regulatory body, other than this Commission, is necessary for the consummation of the proposed transactions. Fees and expenses to be incurred by Columbia in connection with the proposed transactions will be filed by amendment.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than September 1, 1971, request in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues of fact or law raised by said application-declaration, which he desires to controvert; or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request should be served personally or by mail (airmail if the person being served is located more than 500 miles from the point of mailing) upon the applicant-declarant at the above-stated address, and proof of service (by affidavit or, in case of an attorney at law, by certificate) should be filed with the request. At any time after said date, the application-declaration, as filed or as it may be amended, may be granted and permitted to become effective as provided in rule 23 of the general rules and regulations promulgated under the Act, or the Commission may grant exemption from such rules as provided in rules 20(a) and 100 thereof or take such other action as it may deem appropriate. Persons who request a hearing or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered will receive notice of further developments in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

For the Commission, by the Division of Corporate Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority.

DISBRO EQUITY-LEASING CORP.

Notice of Filing of Application for Order Declaring That Company Has Ceased To Be an Investment Company

AUGUST 13, 1971.

In the matter of Disbro Equity-Leasing Corp., 4076 Erie Street, Willoughby, OH 44094.

Notice is hereby given that Disbro Equity-Leasing Corp. (Applicant), an Ohio corporation registered as a closed-end, management investment company under the Investment Company Act of 1940 (Act), has filed an application pursuant to section 8(f) of the Act for an order declaring that Applicant has ceased to be an investment company as defined in the Act. All interested persons are referred to the application on file with the Commission for a statement of the representations contained therein, which are summarized below.

Section 8(f) of the Act provides, in pertinent part, that when the Commission, upon application, finds that a registered investment company has ceased to be an investment company, it shall so declare by order which, if necessary for the protection of investors, may be made upon appropriate conditions, and upon the taking effect of such order the registration of such company shall cease to be in effect.

Section 3(a)(1) of the Act defines as an investment company a company which is or holds itself out as being engaged primarily, or proposes to engage primarily, in the business of investing, reinvesting or trading in securities.

Section 3(a)(3) of the Act further defines an investment company as a company which is engaged or proposes to engage in the business of investing, reinvesting, owning, holding, or trading in securities, and owns or proposes to acquire investment securities having a value exceeding 40 per centum of the value of such issuer's total assets (exclusive of Government securities and cash items) on an unconsolidated basis. For the purpose of section 3(a)(3) the term "investment securities" includes all securities except Government securities, securities issued by employees' securities companies, and securities issued by majority owned subsidiaries of the owner which are not investment companies.

Section 3(b)(2) of the Act excepts from the definition of an investment company, notwithstanding section 3(a)(3), any issuer which the Commission, upon application by such issuer, finds and by order declares to be primarily engaged in a business or businesses other than that of investing, reinvesting, owning, holding, or trading in securities, either directly, through majority-owned subsidiaries, or through controlled companies conducting similar types of business.

Applicant represents that it is not primarily engaged in and does not propose to primarily engage in the business of investing, reinvesting, owning, holding or trading in investment securities within the meaning of section 3(a)(1). Applicant further represents that, although it meets the definition of an investment company as defined in section 3(a)(3), it is primarily engaged through a controlled company in a business other than investing, reinvesting, owning, holding, or trading in investment securities within the meaning of section 3(b)(2).

At March 31, 1971, Applicant's total assets (less cash items) were valued at $692,081, of which the securities of three unaffiliated issuers constituted $99,085 and the securities of a single controlled company, Computer Resources, Inc. (Resources) constituted $581,910. Thus of total assets (less cash items) approximately 85 percent represented the securities of a single controlled company. For the year ended September 30, 1970, Applicant engaged in no securities transactions and had a net operating loss before Federal income taxes of $32,872. The only significant source of income expected to be available to Applicant is dividends paid by Resources.

Resources is an operating company actively engaged in the business of leasing electronic data processing equipment and peripheral devices. Applicant represents that it has been the motivating force in the control of Resources in the past and that it continues to assert a substantial influence on the policy decisions affecting its operations. Mr. Robert M. Disbro, President, Treasurer, and a Director of Applicant, was, with Mr. M. H. Emmerich and Mr. A. J. Rinaldi, one of the founders of Resources in 1967, and is currently a Director, Chairman of the Board of Directors and member of the executive committee of Resources. Applicant owns approximately 30 percent of the outstanding voting securities of Resources, and is the largest stockholder of that company. In addition, Mr. Disbro owns approximately 2 percent of the outstanding voting securities of Resources. While Mr. Emmerich and Mr. Rinaldi are Resources' principal operating officers, together they own less than the amount of stock owned by Applicant. There are several significant shareholder groups represented on Resources' eight-member board of directors, and the cooperation of the different groups has been essential. Applicant, through its representative, Mr. Disbro, has been a key figure in guiding Resources and keeping the board of directors working together as a control group of Resources. Mr. Disbro is called upon to consult with Resources on policy problems several times a week and receives daily financial information concerning the operations of Resources. The time spent by Mr. Disbro on the affairs of Resources is virtually the only corporate activity performed by Applicant, which has no full-time employees and is operated by Mr. Disbro on a part-time basis.

At a meeting held on April 21, 1971, the shareholders of Applicant voted, by unanimous decision of all those present and voting and those represented by proxy, in favor of a proposal that Applicant cease to be an investment company and seek an order of the Commission terminating its registration under the Act.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than August 30, 1971, at 5:30 p.m., submit to the Commission in writing a request for a hearing on the matter accompanied by a statement as to the nature of his interest, the reason for such request, and the issues of fact or law proposed to be controverted, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission shall order a hearing thereon. Any such communication should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request shall be served personally or by mail (airmail if the person being served is located more than 500 miles from the point of mailing) upon the Applicant at the address set forth above. Proof of such service (by affidavit or in case of an attorney at law by certificate) shall be filed contemporaneously with the request. At any time after said date, as provided by Rule 0-5 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the Act, an order disposing of the application herein may be issued by the Commission upon the basis of the information stated in said application, unless an order for hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

For the Commission, by the Division of Corporate Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority.

Acting Associate Secretary.

FOUNDERS MUTUAL DEPOSITOR CORP. ET AL.

Notice of Application to Permit Offer of Exchange and for Exemption

AUGUST 13, 1971.

In the matter of Founders Mutual Depositor Corp., Founders Special Fund, Inc., Founders Growth Fund, Inc., and Founders Income Fund, Inc.

Notice is hereby given that Founders Mutual Depositor Corp. Sponsor), the Sponsor of Founders Mutual Fund (Founders) a unit investment trust registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 (the Act), and Founders Special Fund, Inc. (Special), Founders Growth Fund, Inc. (Growth), and Founders Income Fund, Inc. (Income), all open-end investment companies registered under the Act (herein collectively referred to as "Applicants"), have filed an application pursuant to sections 6(c) and 11(c) of the Act for an order of the Commission permitting an offer of exchange and granting an exemption from section 22(d) of the Act, all as described below. All interested persons are referred to the application on file with the Commission for a statement of the representations made therein which are summarized below.

Founders was organized in 1938 pursuant to a trust agreement between the International Trust Co. (now by consolidation The First National Bank of Denver) (Trustee), the Sponsor, and the registered holders from time to time of Founders certificates. The agreement provides for the issuance of certificates under three plans, the Accumulative Plan, the Income Plan, and the Systematic Payment Plan. The Accumulative Plan and the Income Plan are single purchase plans calling for lump sum payments of $500 or more. Under the current Founders prospectus the maximum single purchase plan sales charge is 8.5 percent. The Systematic Plan is a long-term program which calls for 150 monthly payments. With respect to Systematic Plans sold prior to June 14, 1971, 50 percent of the first year's payments are deducted as a sales charge, and the sales charges after the first year range from 5 percent to 2 percent. With respect to Systematic Plans sold after June 14, 1971, a maximum of 20 percent of the first 3 years payments are deducted as sales charges. The trail rate sales charges on payments made under such plans after the first 3 years will range from 4 percent to 3 percent. Shares of Special Growth, and Income are all sold at a sales load of 8.5 percent, declining in steps thereafter on the basis of the amount of shares purchased.

The trust agreement requires that investments be made in equal dollar amounts in the common stock of 40 designated corporations. Purchases of this group of portfolio securities are made by the Trustee, at the direction of the Sponsor. The investment objectives of Founders is to seek long term growth of capital and income by using the principle of dollar cost averaging in a specified list of quality securities. Dividends are paid by Founders quarterly. Although Founders pays no management fee, it does pay a quarterly supervision and administration fee of three-sixteenths of 1 percent (three-quarters of 1 percent annually) of the aggregate value of its assets which is used to defray expenses incurred by Founders and the Trustee. In recent years, this fee has exceeded aggregate expenses, and the excess has therefore been returned under the terms of the trust agreement to Founders for distribution to investors.

Until 1967, the Sponsor's principal activities were acting as Sponsor and performing bookkeeping and administrative services for Founders. Since 1967 the Sponsor has become investment adviser and principal underwriter to Growth, Income, and Special Funds.

Growth is a diversified investment company with capital appreciation as its objective. Current dividend yield is a minor consideration in the selection of securities. As Growth's investment adviser, the Sponsor receives a management fee of one-half of 1 percent per year of Growth's assets up to $50 million with the fee scaled down as the size of its assets increase. It is expected that a new adviser agreement will be submitted for shareholder approval during 1971, calling for an annual adviser fee of a flat one-half of 1 percent of average daily net asset value. Income is also a diversified investment company. The investment objective is income and capital appreciation, and the current yield on a security is significant in the purchasing of securities for Income. The Sponsor, as investment adviser, receives a management fee of one-half of 1 percent per year of Income's assets up to $75 million with the fee scaled down as the size of Income's assets increases. Special's investment objective is capital appreciation. It intends to engage in short-term trading and may borrow in order to engage in leveraging. The Sponsor, for its investment advisory services, receives a fee based on the performance of Special as compared to the Standard and Poor's Index of 500 stocks. The annual fee may be as little as zero or as much as 4 percent of Special's average net assets. The Sponsor also acts as Sponsor of Founders Growth Plans for the Accumulation of Shares of Founders Growth Fund, Inc., a registered unit investment trust. These plans call for monthly payments over a 15-year period, which, after applicable deductions, are invested in shares of Growth.

Currently, shareholders of Special, Income, and Growth, on application and the payment of a service charge of $5 to the Sponsor per exchange, may exchange shares of their respective fund for shares of one of the other two funds on the basis of the relative net asset values per share at the time of exchange. Each exchange must involve at least $1,000, based on the per share net asset value of the fund which is being exchanged at the time of the transfer. Investors may exchange only into securities which may legally be sold in their State.

Applicants propose to enlarge this exchange privilege to include Founders in order to permit investors in Founders to exchange their certificates upon proper application and payment of the $5 service charge for shares of Special, Income, or Growth (which may be similarly exchanged for single payment Accumulative Plan or Income Plan Certificates of Founders) on the basis of the relative net asset values per share at the time of exchange. Each exchange of certificates of Founders held under the Accumulative or Income Payment Plan for shares of Special, Income, or Growth must involve at least $1,000 based on the per share net asset value of Founders at the time of the exchange. Each exchange of shares of Special, Income, or Growth for single payment Accumulative Plan or Income Plan Certificates of Founders must involve at least $1,000 based on the per share net asset value of the respective shares at the time of the exchange. In addition, holders of Founders noncompleted Systematic Payment Plans issued prior to June 14, 1971, would, after making the first 13 payments called for by their plans, be allowed thereafter to exchange their Founders certificate for shares of Special, Growth, or Income. In the case of plans sold on or after June 14, 1971, the exchange would be permitted only after completion of the first 3 years' payments. In both cases, additional investments up to the face amount of the surrendered Systematic Payment Plan could be made in the fund selected at the trial rate sales charges that would have been applicable to plan payments that would have been made if the Systematic Payment Plan had not been surrendered. Investors would be permitted to exchange only into securities which may legally be sold in their State.

The existence of the exchange privilege would be communicated to shareholders via the prospectuses of the four funds and in their periodic reports. On any exchange from Founders an application detached from the current prospectus of the fund into which the exchange is to be made will be required together with a form to be signed by the exchanging shareholder that indicates that the investor (1) has reviewed the investment objectives and policies of the fund selected, and finds them suitable, (2) has received the current prospectus and latest report to shareholders of that fund, (3) understands that the fund selected pays a management fee to the Sponsor as investment adviser, whereas Founders pays no management fee, (4) understands that the exchange may subject the investor to taxable capital gains; and (5) in the case of noncompleted Systematic Payment Plans, understands his right to make additional payments at reduced sales charges. The form will also provide comparative data covering brokerage expenses, turnover rates, total operating expenses and performance.

Section 11(a) of the Act provides that it shall be unlawful for any registered open-end investment company or any principal underwriter for such a company to make or cause to be made an offer to the holder of a security of such company or of any other open-end company to exchange his security for a security in the same or another such company on any basis other than the relative net asset values of the respective securities to be exchanged, unless the terms of the offer have first been submitted to and approved by the Commission. Section 11(c), insofar as it is applicable, provides that irrespective of the basis of exchange, the provisions of subsection (a) shall be applicable to any offer of exchange of the securities of a registered open-end investment company for the securities of a registered unit investment trust or vice versa.

Applicants represent that the exchange privilege, if permitted, would offer significant economic advantages to Founders planholders and to shareholders of Income, Growth, or Special since they would be able to acquire shares of another fund with different investment objectives which might be more suitable to their current needs and desires without the imposition of a second sales charge.

Section 22(d) of the Act, insofar as it is applicable here, requires the shares of an open-end investment company to be sold at the public offering price of such shares as stated in the company's prospectus. An exemption from section 22(d) is necessary, therefore, to permit Special, Growth, and Income to permit eligible holders of Founders plans to acquire shares of Special, Growth, or Income in amounts equal to the balances remaining unpaid under their plans at the same sales loads as would have been applicable if they had completed such plans.

Section 6(c) of the Act provides that the Commission, by order upon application, may conditionally or unconditionally exempt any person or transaction from any provision or provisions of the Act, if and to the extent that such exemption is necessary or appropriate in the public interest and consistent with the protection of investors and the purposes fairly intended by the policy and provisions of the Act.

Applicants represent that it is appropriate that holders of Founders periodic payment plan certificates be permitted to acquire shares of Special, Growth, or Income to the extent of the balances remaining unpaid under their plans at the same sales loads as would have been applicable under such plans since such planholders previously paid sales loads at a front-end load rate based on the entire amount to be paid under the plans.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than September 3, 1971, at 5:30 p.m., submit to the Commission in writing a request for a hearing on the matter accompanied by a statement as to the nature of his interest, the reason for such request and the issues of fact or law proposed to be controverted, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission shall order a hearing thereon. Any such communication should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request shall be served personally or by mail (airmail if the person being served is located more than 500 miles from the point of mailing) upon Applicants at the address stated above. Proof of such service (by affidavit or in case of an attorney at law by certificate) shall be filed contemporaneously with the request. At any time after said date, as provided by Rule 0–5 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the Act, an order disposing of the application herein may be issued by the Commission upon the basis of the information stated in said application, unless an order for hearing upon said application shall be issued upon request or upon the Commission's own motion. Persons who request a hearing or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered, will receive notice of further developments in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

By the Commission.

MICHIGAN CONSOLIDATED GAS CO.

Notice of Proposed Issue and Sale of Notes to Banks

AUGUST 12, 1971.

In the matter of Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., 1 Woodward, Avenue, Detroit, Mich. 48226; notice of proposed issue and sale of notes to banks.

Notice is hereby given that Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. (Michigan), a gas utility subsidiary company of American Natural Gas Co., a registered holding company, has filed a declaration with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 (Act), designating sections 6 and 7 thereof as applicable to the proposed transactions. All interested persons are referred to the declaration, which is summarized below, for a complete statement of the proposed transactions.

Michigan proposes to issue and sell, as funds are required, commencing in September 1971, pursuant to lines of credit, its unsecured promissory notes in an aggregate face amount not exceeding $30 million outstanding at any one time to the following banks in the respective amounts shown:

National Bank of Detroit, Mich.	$10,000,000
First National City Bank, New York, N.Y.	8,000,000
The Chase Manhattan Bank, New York, N.Y.	5,000,000
Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co., New York, N.Y.	4,000,000
Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit, Mich.	1,500,000
The Detroit Bank & Trust Co., Mich.	1,500,000
Total	30,000,000

Each note will be dated as of the date of issue, will mature August 31, 1972, and will bear interest at the prime rate in effect at First National City Bank on the date of each borrowing, which interest rate will be adjusted to the prime rate in effect at such bank at the beginning of each 90-day period subsequent to the date of the first borrowing. There is no commitment fee, and the notes may be prepaid at any time without penalty. In connection with the lines of credit, Michigan Consolidated is required to maintain compensating balances with the banks, the effect of which is to increase the effective interest cost by approximately 1½ percent above the prevailing prime rate (currently 6 percent).

Michigan proposes to use the proceeds from the sale of the proposed notes to finance, in part, its 1971 construction program estimated at $60 million. The filing states that Michigan contemplates that the notes will be retired with funds from long-term financing and funds generated internally.

Michigan Consolidated also intends to borrow from banks up to an additional $20 million pursuant to the exemption provided by section 6(b) of the Act and such funds will be used to partially finance the purchase of gas placed in underground storage. These borrowings will be paid as inventory gas is sold.

Fees and expenses incident to the proposed transactions are estimated at $1,500, including legal fees of $500. The declaration states that no approval or consent of any regulatory body other than this Commission is necessary for the consummation of the proposed transactions.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than September 3, 1971, request in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues of fact or law raised by said declaration which he desires to controvert; or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request should be served personally or by mail (airmail if the person being served is located more than 500 miles from the point of mailing) upon the declarant at the above-stated address, and proof of service (by affidavit or, in case of an attorney at law, by certificate) should be filed with the request. At any time after said date, the declaration, as filed or as it may be amended, may be permitted to become effective as provided in Rule 23 of the general rules and regulations promulgated under the Act, or the Commission may grant exemption from such rules as provided in Rules 20(a) and 100 thereof or take such other action as it may deem appropriate. Persons who request a hearing or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered will receive notice of further developments in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

For the Commission, by the Division of Corporate Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority.

Acting Associate Secretary.

CERTAIN DROUGHT AREAS IN TEXAS

Transportation of Hay at Reduced Rates

In the matter of relief under section 22 of the Interstate Commerce Act.

Present: Dale W. Hardin, Vice Chairman, to whom the above entitled matter has been assigned for action thereon.

It appearing, that by reasons of drought conditions existing in certain portions of the State of Texas, hereinafter referred to as the disaster area, the Assistant Secretary of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, has requested the

VOL 36 161 XUM

Commission to enter an order under section 22 of the Interstate Commerce Act authorizing railroads subject to the Commission's jurisdiction to transport hay to the disaster area at reduced rates:

It is ordered, That carriers by railroad participating in the transportation of hay to the counties of:

all located in the State of Texas, referred to herein as the disaster area, be, and they are hereby, authorized under section 22 of the Interstate Commerce Act to establish and maintain until March 31, 1972, reduced rates for such transportation, the rates to be published and filed in the manner prescribed in section 6 of the Interstate Commerce Act except that they may be effective 1 day after publication and filing instead of 30.
